"And yet, while the elements of difference which are the bones of our Federal structure must be respected, we cannot afford to permit differences to frustrate the continued development, in a desirable direction, of the nation as a whole.

Robbers Make Dream True

HAMILTON, Jan. 10 (CP) — Mrs. Harry Pugh said today that the robbery in her apartment Monday night by two masked gunmen who escaped with $933 followed the pattern of a dream she had Christmas week.

Harry Pugh, his wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. W. J. Shave of Toronto, were trussed up by the hold-up men with a piece of telephone wire, Pugh's necktie and a tablecloth ripped into strips.

The robbers got $655 from cash boxes—the day's receipts from Pugh's store—$125 from Pugh's wallet, another $125 from Mrs. Pugh's purse and $25 from Mrs Shave's purse.

Chinese Reds Agree To British Recognition

LONDON, Jan. 10—(Reuters)—The Chinese Communist government has agreed to Britain's recognition of its regime, the Communist New China News agency reported in a message received here Monday night.

The agency said that foreign ministers Chou En Lai replied that the Central "People's Government" of China "is willing to establish diplomatic relations with Britain and Northern Ireland on the basis of equality, mutual benefit and mutual respect for territory and sovereignty."

Barking Dog Saves Town's Business Section

BOTHWELL, Jan. 10 (CP)—A barking dog Monday saved the town's main business section from a fire that destroyed two buildings and gutted a third before it was brought under control by three brigades.

Burned were the Lee Restaurant and the Mick Warnich Restaurant. An office building owned by Eric Moorehouse [illegible]don was gutted. Total loss is estimated in excess of $30,000.

A Mr. McClay, recent arrival in town, and tenant of an apartment above the Lee Restaurant, jumped for his life from the second storey when flames cut off his escape from both stairways. He was uninjured.

The three alarm fire was discovered at 3.20 a.m. by Mrs. Joe Venacher, whose husband operates a general store next door to the Moorehouse building. The Venacher store suffered smoke and water damage.

Hears Dog

Mrs. Venacher said she was awakened by the barking of her dog. When she looked out her bedroom window she saw flames shooting out of the rear of the Lee building.

Firemen said only the lack of wind in the freezing temperatures and the dog's warning saved the whole block. When the local brigade arrived the fire had made considerable headway through the Lee building and had already eaten its way into the Warnich Restaurant.

Brigades from Thamesville and Wardsville arrived later and helped bring the blaze under control.

If circumstances require that change should be made, it is essential that change should be possible."

Not In Accord

Mr. St. Laurent recalled in a letter to the Premiers last September he had said consideration was being given to removing the necessity of having to go to the United Kingdom Parliament every time an amendment to the British North America Act was necessary.

Such procedure "did not accord with the status of Canada as a fully autonomous nation. . ."

At the last session, Parliament obtained from the United Kingdom the power to amend the constitution as far as most federal matters were concerned.

He added:

"The present position in regard to the amendment of the constitution, therefore, is that, in purely provincial matters, amendments can be made in Canada by each Provincial Legislature, acting entirely on its own responsibility in accordance with Section 92 (1) of the British North America Act of 1867; and in purely Federal matters, amendments can be made in Canada by the Federal Parliament, in accordance with the new section 91 (1).

"In neither of these cases is there any necessity of applying to parliament at Westminster to give effect to amendments which may be desired.

Must Have Means

"There is, however, no means whereby legislative authorities responsible to the people of Canada can make such amendments as may from time to time be required in the third area of the constitution, namely, the part of our constitution that is of concern to both federal and provincial authorities."

The federal government's aim was to "reach agreement, as soon as possible, on a method of amendment which will relieve the United Kingdom parliament of an embarrassing obligation, and establish within Canada full and final responsibility for all our national affairs."

"We in the federal government believe — and representative spokesmen of all political parties in parliament expressed agreement with this view—that it is desirable that there should be a means by which, if and when amendments are required to this joint portion of our constitution, such amendments can be made in Canada. It is our hope that the representatives of all the provincial governments have the same aim."

Only One Lacking Power

Canada was today the only nation in the Commonwealth lacking full capacity to amend her own constitution, by its own action, and Canada was the only Sovereign State in the world which lacked the amending power.

He suggested the conference has a three-fold purpose:

1. To complete the process of placing within Canada the power to amend the constitution.

2. To provide safeguards for the historic minority rights incorporated in the constitution.

3. To establish adequate guarantees of the federal character of the constitution by providing for the participation of both federal and provincial authorities in the appropriate amending procedure.

Historic minority rights were regarded by Canadians as having a particularly-sacred character. Yet, so far as the law is concerned, they have no more protection than any other provisions of the constitution.

Absolute Protection

"The Federal Government considers absolute protection to be essential, and we would favor the strongest possible legal saftguards anyone could devise," said Mr. St. Laurent.

"That in nowise runs counter to the firm belief in so many of us that there is something stronger than any legal safeguard, and that is the good faith, the mutual tolerance and the common understanding which are the highest glory of most Canadians, regardless of whether English or French happens to be their mother tongue."

The legislation passed at the last session marked the first time that the right to the use of the French and English language was entrenched in the constitution.

He reiterated an earlier statement that regardless of the legal position, nothing placed by the constitution under the jurisdiction of the Provincial Legislatures should be dealt with or altered without provincial participation.

He said it was almost inconceivable that Canada's development will not require constitutional changes from time to time of a character which affect both national and provincial authorities.

"It is out task as Canadians to find a way to make these changes which will preserve the right balance between respect for provincial autonomy and provision for national development."

No Concrete Proposals

The Federal Governemnt did not plan to put forward any concrete proposals to the conference.

"What we have to discuss is the establishment in Canada of a procedure which will involve the appropriate participation of both Federal and Provincial authorities," he said.

"Since it is obvious that the Federal Parliament will participate in any amending procedure, we feel that the representatives of each of provinces should put forward their views as to the most appropriate form of provincial participation.

"It is our hope that the conference may find the means of reconciling the various proposals put forward and reaching a conclusion satisfactory to all."

Norwood Man Missing

NORWOOD, Jan. 10 (ENS)—Ross Woodcock, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Woodcock, Norwood, has been missing from his home since Wednesday. He is an employee of the Peterborough Canoe Company and was last seen Wednesday when he said he was going to meet a friend at the C.P.R. station early in the evening. Efforts of his parents, friends and the Provincial Police to trace him have been unsuccessful.

Ask US Extend Tariff Cuts

OTTAWA, Jan. 10—(CP)—Within the next few days Canada will present the United States with a new list of goods on which she would like to see U.S. tariffs reduced. The list, not expected to be made public before next April, will form the basis of a new round of tariff negotiations between the two countries next September. At that time 33 nations will meet to negotiate a third postwar series of tariff reductions. Although Canada will negotiate directly with most of these countries, trade officials say she will concentrate on the United States. Behind this concentration is government policy to increase exports to the United States. Our present trade deficit is about $400,000,000 a year.

Without disclosing the exact items, officials say the new list of goods deals mostly with processed or manufactured goods on which there still is a prohibitive United States tariff.

Many of Canada's exports to the United States, particularly raw materials, enter duty free as a result of the first postwar round of negotiations in Geneva in 1947 and the second round in Annecy, France, last year.

Some Difficulties

Shippers, therefore, have little difficulty exporting such items as raw aluminum, copper, lead, zinc or such forest products as pulpwood and newsprint.

But they do experience trouble in getting fine notepaper into the United States market, and many manufactured products made of metal.

In the field of fine paper, for example, Canada has built up a production of some 800 or 900 varieties mainly through Canadian demand. Now there is the hope that Canada will be able to expand the industry by selling more in foreign markets, principally in the United States.

6 Unemployed Youths Arrested On Highway

BRADFORD, Jan. 10 (CP) — Six unemployed Toronto youths were arrested on the highway north of here by Provincial Police today and charged with theft of the automobile in which they were riding. The car was reported stolen from a Toronto parking lot.

Arrested after a chase were Melvin Kerr, 18, Robert Hendry, 19, Robert Worsley, 20, Kenneth Mills, 19, Stanley Gordon, 18, and Kenneth Arnison, 20. Police found a rifle and loaded revolver in the car and said further charges may be laid.

The six were remanded to Jan. 17 on bail of $5,000 each when they appeared in court at Toronto later.

Nine out of ten American children have one or more decayed teeth by the time they reach the age of six years.

Industrials Slide Back On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 10 — (CP) — Industrials slipped downwards under pressure of profit-taking sales on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. This was the first break in a five-day advance that carried industrials to record highs.

Volume for the first three hours was 710,000 shares.

In industrials papers held firm and steels continued upwards. Several issues climbed to new highs in early dealings but gave way in mid session.

Macdonald Mines held most of the interest on the mining board. It was under pressure of profit-taking following Monday's strong advance. Demand ballooned Monday following news of production agreement with Noranda Mines.

Steep Rock was active and at a new high in base metals. Senior and junior gold producers tended lower.

A few key western oils sagged pennies. Federated Petroleums continued in brisk demand.

send any distress messages. We were talking when suddenly we began hearing shells come over.

I went to the port side and saw them splashing into the water. Some appeared to be three-inchers. Returning hurriedly to the radio room we started counting them and got up to 38 when someone shouted the after deck was afire.

The shelling continued, and the ship was hit in many places. There was a big blaze on the after deck not far from big jars of acid with "danger" tags on them. The fire was extinguished.

In the meantime another blaze had started in the No. 5 hold. The crew tackled the bigger problem, jettisoning many bales of cotton, jute and cases of banknote paper.

Child Escapes Serious Injury

Four-year-old David Legros narrowly escaped having his skull crushed by the wheel of a truck while he was being pulled on a toboggan by his sister at Brock and Aylmer Sts.

Monday night an eight-year-old girl, Marie Bonner, Rubidge St., was hit and only slightly injured at the same corner by a car driven by Harold Pammett, 249 Woodbine Ave.

Craig O. Brownsell, 332 G[illegible] St., driver of the panel truck which nearly ran over the Legros child said he had parked partly on the sidewalk on Aylmer St facing north in a space between a building and the sidewalk at the south east corner.

When he returned to his truck he walked around behind it to the driver's side. He moved his truck about two feet ahead and then saw a little girl at his right front fender. He stopped immediately and backed up again. He got out to see if there were any more children around who might be in danger and heard a child crying.

He went to the front of the truck and found four-year-old David lying on the toboggan with a tire mark on the right side of his face indicating the car had come within an inch of crushing the child's skull.

The youngster was taken to Dr. Robert Young's office and then to St. Joseph's hospital and was released after an examination. Apart from the red mark on his face the youngster had only a bump over his left ear to show anything had happened.

Young David had apparently been playing with his sister in the open area in front of the building which is used as a warehouse. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Legros, 189 Brock St. Constable Dennis Traynor investigated.

Nehru was reported to have said there is not much point in establishing diplomatic relations with Peipng if countries also simultaneously tried to hold back on full diplomatic co-operation.

If the Chinese Reds were treated as an outcast by non-Communist countries it would merely help to drive China farther into the arms of the Soviet Union, he said.

Honor Dutch Envoy

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (CP)—Dr. Jan Herman Van Roijen, ambassador of the Netherlands, Monday received the insignia of an Honorary Commander of the Order of the British Empire at a private investiture at Government House. The award was given in recognition of Dr. Van Roijen's services at The Hague in 1940 "when . . . he organized with remarkable efficiency the escape of the British and Allied missions" after the German occupation of the Netherlands.

Frost Says

Powers Limited

While it had been said by the Federal Government that the provinces now had as wide powers as Parliament on constitutional amendments in their own field, Mr. Frost declared the provincial powers actually were "comparatively limited" while Parliament now had "exceedingly-wide" powers under the 1949 constitutional amendment.

In many cases, he said, Federal action under the new powers could have important effects on the province, and he suggested that procedure for amendments of this kind should be arrived at during the Dominion-Provincial assembly.

Generally, Mr. Frost expressed himself as in full agreement with the idea that Canada should have power to amend her constitution in all respects.

While Ontario had a proper regard for and pride in the historic British connection and did not wish to deal lightly with it, he did not think the step would weaken the British attachment. Rather, it would strengthen it somewhat.

Mr. Frost said the people of Ontario would not want to do anything that would hinder the attachment to the Commonwealth, but there was nothing in the amending proposal that would do violence to history and tradition.

Logical Step

It was the natural, and only logical, step following confederation.

As a matter of actual practice, the Premier said, the parliament of Westminster always had acted in accord with petitions for amending the B.N.A. from the Canadian parliament.

But at some time in the future, this could cause "serious embarrassment" to the U.K. parliament. A split might be created on controversial questions.

"There is no doubt that the United Kingdom parliament would much prefer that we handle matters of this sort ourselves," Mr. Frost declared.

While expressing himself strongly in favor of the principle of amendment, Mr. Frost said the method was not simple. He laid down three suggested principles:

1. It should be elastic enough to meet the needs of a developing nation.

2. The procedure should be difficult enough to bar indiscriminate constitutional changes.

3. It should be rigid enough to afford protection to minorities and safeguard Canada's federal system.

Vagrant

James Heffernan, 56, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy and was fined $5 and costs or one month. He took the month.

Albert Leahy, Douro township was fined $15 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of having liquor in his car.

Crowe's Man, 19 Gets Year For Break-ins

Nineteen-year-old Ronald Dwyer, Crowe's Landing, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering five houses and stores and theft from four of them and was sentenced to eight months definite and four months indefinite by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court today.

He pleaded guilty to breaking into the Roy Whetung store on two separate days. December 21 he broke in via a rear window in the summer kitchen and then forced the door leading into the store. He took three packages of cigarettes and a fifty-cent piece. A week later, December 28 he got into the store in the same way and made off with six packages of cigarettes and $3.75 from a till in the post office section of the store.

Got Suspended Sentence

November 16, the day he was given a suspended sentence in police court here for theft, he broke into a cottage owned by Fred Pearce, Norwood, and lived there four or five days.

For this he was charged with breaking, entry and attempting to steal. In a statement to Provincial Police, read out in court by Constable A. F. Grayling, Dwyer said he could find nothing to take.

The same day, he said, he broke into a cottage owned by Mark Wilson by prying open a lock and took a bottle of liquor and a sheath knife.

Sometime in the next two weeks, he broke into another cottage owned by Herbert Boynton. He said he ransacked the place and found nothing, but police charged he took a mackinaw coat.

Found Footprints

Dwyer's second breakin into the store of Roy Whetung was reported to Constable Grayling Dec. 28 by Roy Whetung Jr. Constable Grayling found footprints leading from the rear window, through which entry had been made, toward Stony lake. The constable followed the tracks which led to the home of Dwyer's parents. He said Dwyer gave himself up the next day.

After his arrest, Dwyer made his statement to the provincial police and his confessions were investigated.

Dwyer was sentenced to 30 days in jail on a charge of theft in 1947. The next year he was sentenced on three charges of theft and in November, 1949 he was placed on suspended sentence on another charge of theft.

Steal Safe, $30,000 Police Nab Four Men

MONTREAL, Jan. 10—(CP)—Four Montreal men were arrested by suburban Ville St. Laurent police Monday night after a wild chase marked by gunfire shortly after they allegedly stole a safe containing $30,000 in bonds from a fashionable north-end home.

The four were arrested as they attempted to flee from their taxicab after being stopped by two constables for questioning on a deserted Ville St. Laurent road.

Police said they found the safe containing the bonds, $200 cash and some jewelry in the car's trunk.

The men were identified as Jack Corensky, 29, Sam Gordon, 39, Henry Harris, 26, and his 20-year-old brother, Benny.

Legion Gains Voice In Rent Control

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (CP)—The Canadian Legion, representing 300,000 Canadian veterans, Monday gained itself a voice in the forthcoming Supreme Court hearings which will test the validity of federal rent controls.

Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret granted the Legion permission to intervene in the hearings. At the same time he indicated that the Montreal Tenants' Association probably will not be given that right.

The Montreal group, represented by Perley Robertson, was granted an adjournment until Friday on its application for permission to appear at the hearings. But the chief justice said the association's request should be turned down unless new circumstances were brought out.

Tenants as a whole, he said, will be represented at the hearings which open Jan. 30, by John J. Robinette, Toronto lawyer, who has been appointed to act for them.

Must Decide Legality

The court must decide whether the rent controls which the federal government has imposed since early in the war are properly under federal jurisdiction.

It is expected that R. W. N. Chitty, of Toronto, counsel for Canadian Property Owners, will argue that the federal government Minister; has no power to continue controls.

Supporting the contention that the government has that power will be the federal government itself, expected to be represented by F. P. Varcoe, Deputy Justice Minister; the Canadian Legion; Mr. Robinette and the Canadian Congress of Labor.

The Chief Justice, sitting as a judge in chambers, told Mr. Robertson he was "not going to allow the whole country to intervene in the case."

Council Sworn In At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 10 — (ENS)—Members of the 1950 council took the oath of office at the inaugural meeting on Monday.

Those sworn in by Town Clerk J. F. McGregor were: Mayor J. E. Ayrhart; Reeve R. J. Locke; Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason; Councillors W. A. Kingston, Doug Maybee, George Free, Wm. Nicholas, F. M. Rutherford and Carl Maier.

The Rev. J. C. Moloney led in prayer. He told the new council it was an honor to be elected to represent the people, but there was no honor which did not carry responsibility.

"There can be no form of morality," Father Moloney continued, "without a belief in God. A thing is right when it is in conformity with God. It would be wise for this council to accept the motto of the Province of Ontario: 'As it began so it shall remain faithful'"

Mayor J. E. Ayrhart said that every man on the present council was capable of performing an excellent job. He asserted that he had no grandiose schemes but would do his best to honor the trust that the electors had placed in him.

He pointed out that some were finding fault with the high cost of the new Memorial Hospital but to date, he said, it had only cost each taxpayer $1.50. He asked the members of the council for their co-operation in giving Campbellford good municipal government

Prosecute Squatters

SUDBURY, Jan. 10 (CP)—Department of Lands is taking legal action against squatters who cut wood on provincial land in nearby Hager township. Two men have been convicted and fined. Youths Admit Break-ins And Four Thefts

COBOURG, Jan. 10 (ENS) — James Shearing and John Rhyness, 19, both of Toronto, pleaded guilty Monday to break-in and theft charges. Magistrate E. Hand remanded them for one week for sentence. The pair smirked and grinned at each other as the evidence was given by police officers and smiled broadly when the loot they had stolen was brought into the court room.

They were charged with breaking and entering the grocery store of Ernest Gutteridge, where they stole $300 in cash and 14 cartons of cigarettes; Ball's Mill at Baltimore where they stole a shotgun and tried to break into the safe Roseneath where they stole a slide projector owned by Rev. R. C White. They were also charged with theft of a car from Toronto. All the offenses took place early on New Year's Day.

Erriest Gutteridge, Cobourg grocer, said that his place was broker into some time early New Year's morning. When he came down to the store to fix the fires on New Year's Day he found a window had been forced open, about $300 in cash and more than a dozen cartons of cigarettes stolen. Also taken were butcher knife, five pounds of cooked ham and some chocolate bars.

Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine related that he and Provincial Constable Frank Clough picked up Shearing as he was walking along the road near Fenella at 10.30 p.m. New Year's Day. A search revealed $159.71, several match books and some keys.

Provincial Constable Don Nicol testified that he and Jack Ball, the mill owner noticed a youth standing in front of the general store at Fenella on New Year's morning with a bran sack at his side. They picked him up and learned he was John Rhyness He was in possession of $147.72 and in the bran sack were razor blades and 192 packages of cigarettes The youth told them he had got the stuff from Gutteridge's store while accompanied by Shearing.

Indentifies Gun

Jack Ball identified a shotgun which had been found in the car stolen by the two accused in Toronto, as having been taken from his mill office He identified the book matches as the same as he had at his office. The thieves had hammered off the dial and handle of the safe, which weighed a ton, but had not been able to get into it, he related.

Recalled to the stand, Provincial Constable Nicol said that the two accused admitted taking the car in Toronto. Due to a collision with a stone north of Fenella the transmission was smashed and they had to abandon the car. Inside it was the shotgun stolen from Ball's Mill and the slide projector which they had taken out of Rev. R. C. White's car.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman informed the court that Shearing had a record. Rhyness was a former Bowmanville Training School ward and particulars as to his record were not immediately available.

Lions Organize Work Parties To Finish Pool

Peterborough Lions Club made it a double feature Monday night by holding the regular bingo followed by the bi-monthly meeting.

It was decided to forego the usual dinner-meeting at the Kawartha Club so the bingo would not have to be concelled. The Lions are passing up no opportunities of making a dollar or two this year. By the end of June they hope to have their swimming pool open to the general public in Riverside Park, and this costly project is being met through various club activities.

Usually the meetings are stag affairs but this time the wives of members were invited along. President James Marshall was in the chair.

A buffet lunch—consisting principally of three turkeys—was served to the 85 club members and their wives. Routine business was dispensed with and a sing-song followed.

To help in the completion of the swimming pool a roster of six teams has been drawn up. These work parties under the direction of Douglas Anderson will volunteer their time in a competition to complete what club members describe as "the inside trimmings" of the bath house.

The six captains are James Marshall, Tom Doughty, Hurrell Dodds, George Hildenbrand, Fred Jennings and Ron Magee. A prize will be awarded to the team putting in the greatest number of man-hours.

New Year's Message FOR Red Cross Blood Doners

On behalf of the Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, I would like at this season to extend to all who have been engaged in Red Cross work, our sincere gratitude for their help in the various services to humanity represented under this organization, and to wish them a Happy New Year.

Those who are our blood donors should have a particular feeling of accomplishment, since their gifts of blood represent gifts of life to their fellow citizens. Many individuals in this district are alive and well today because of their generosity.

Because these men and women have given something that is not easy to give, and is peculiarly their own, we are anxious that they realize that their services are not being exploited.

Since there is a persistent rumour being circulated that patients in our two Peterborough hospitals pay $25.00 for each pint of blood our donors give, I, on behalf of our Branch, wish to state that this story is absolutely without foundation. If anyone knows of a person who has paid such a sum for blood, I would appreciate it if he will phone me at 8633 and the case will be thoroughly investigated.

Our work is on a co-operative basis with Peterborough Civic and St. Joseph's Hospitals. This makes it possible for our citizens to receive all the blood they need, free of charge.

The members of the Blood Donor Staff of the Red Cross are voluntary workers, no member of this staff receives any money for services rendered.

The industries, from which many of our donors come, contribute their share towards this co-operate scheme, by making no deductions from the salaries of the donors for time lost when donors are at the hospitals giving blood.

The doctors perform the operation of the taking of blood, free of charge.

Since November, our donors have been giving blood at Peterborough Civic on Tuesday afternoon and at St. Joseph's on Friday afternoons. This simplifies the operation for the donors, since they go to the hospitals at stated times, rather than being called at any hour as the need arises. The only exception to this would be an emergency, which no one can foresee.

To make this service more efficient, both hospitals use the same methods and equipment, thereby making it possible to exchange blood, if one hospital needs a type of blood that the other has on hand.

The Red Cross, to make the knowledge of this gift of blood known to the patient, have placed in each hospital, notices of this fact, to be enclosed with the accounts of patients, who have received this blood.

This is a copy of this statement:—

You have received.....blood transfusion (s) free of charge, through the generosity of a donor from the Blood Donor Service of the Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society.
Any charges on your bill relating to blood transfusions are for Laboratory and Operating Room Technical Service.
You may show your appreciation of this gift by interesting your friends in joining the Red Cross Blood Donor Service.

The charge mentioned is small, and is for laboratory tests and equipment, and not FOR BLOOD.

This service has to do only with WHOLE blood, which we in Peterborough can contribute and NOT with dried blood plasma, which is a commercial product and which cannot be prepared in Peterborough.

The chief value of this service is in the fact that, whereas we who today are the donors, may tomorrow be the recipients.

This whole plan, arranged by the Red Cross, is a co-operative scheme and can only be successful if all enter into it with understanding and confidence.

We of the Peterborough Branch, have worked at this service since 1942, and feel that it worthy of your support. If we did not have confidence in its value and its integrity, we could not feel justified in spending Red Cross funds, your time and our own on it.

Peterborough is one of the few cities in Ontario which has such a service, and it is considered that it has not only benefitted the citizens of our district from a medical standpoint, but has saved them hundreds of dollars financially as well.

In 1949, our Red Cross donors gave 1,006 donations of blood to our two hospitals. If the patients who received this blood had had to pay for it on a commercial basis of $20.00 per pint (the commercial rate), it would have cost them $20,120.

They did not have to pay for it. This blood was given by citizens of Peterborough to other Peterborough citizens—a gift of life, as those who received it can testify.

Our donors not only gave their blood, which in itself is invaluable. They also gave their interest, sympathy and co-operation, which mean so much to us who are engaged in this service.

On behalf of the Peterborough Branch, I again extend to all who serve the Red Cross in this district our grateful thanks.

HAZEL J. G. RAY,
President, Peterborough Branch
Canadian Red Cross Society.

The Red Cross Blood Donor Service has been of inestimable value to hundreds of the patients of the two Peterborough hospitals. Since it was inaugurated in 1942, it has made available blood at all times when it has been needed and without any cost to the patients for blood. The Red Cross Workers have been very generous with volunteer help in all the non-technical aspects of the Blood Donor Service, but there have been certain technical procedures the hospitals have had to carry out. These involve the purchase of special containers for blood complete with anti-coag 'ants, special testing sera for typing blood and special administration and donor sets. These also involve the provision of trained nursing service and laboratory service. Charges are made for these to patients by the hospitals at cost. Both St. Joseph's Hospital and the Peterborough Civic Hospital are deeply appreciative of the generous co-operation of the Blood Donors of the Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

SISTER PRISCILLA,
Superior, St. Joseph's Hospital.

JOHN HORNAL,
Superintendent, Peterborough Civic Hospital.

Employment In Canada

Various labour union officials have been talking alarmingly about unemployment in Canada. The Department of Labour has estimated that there were 261,000 jobless people across the country in the last fortnight of December, an increase of 100,000 over December, 1948, and the highest since the war. Is this, as union officials claim, a "national emergency"?

* * *

Three facts would indicate that it is not. The unemployment is regional rather than national. The Maritimes and British Columbia have been hit because of a curtailment in logging operations; mining areas in Northern Ontario are being affected by Hydro shortages. A second consideration is that generally at this time of year, jobs are fewer because much construction work is stalled by weather, and the tourist trade is small. Even in this seasonal decline, only 5.2 per cent. of Canada's huge labour force of 5,200,000 is off work, according to National Employment Service estimates.

* * *

The most important fact in the employment situation is this: while the number of jobless has increased by 100,000, the number of people in the labour force has increased during the year by 120,000. Therefore, while there are more people unemployed now than last year, more people are employed, that is, there were more people at work in Canada last December than a year ago, or than at any other comparable period in the country's history. This, it seems to us, is not a "national emergency".

* * *

In 1933, during the depression, when a real emergency existed, 21 per cent of employable people were unemployed, according to Trade Union figures. According to even the maximum union figure of 300,000 jobless now, that level of unemployment is less than six per cent of the work force. Although regionally, and in homes directly affected because wage earners have no wages, the situation may be sore, considered nationally Canada is in no serious unemployment straits. Judging from the present stock market prices and the amount of construction in progress and planned, and the increased needs of an increasing population, unemployment does not loom largely in the immediate future.

Chess In Yugoslavia

The Tito Government of Yugoslavia is making a determined effort to publicize the country and its ways in the English-speaking western world. A fortnightly newspaper published in English in Belgrade is now reaching this continent in considerable numbers, and subscription prices are quoted as U.S.A., $2 a year; Canada $2 a year through the Bank of Montreal and ten shillings in the U.K. and its colonies. It is nicely printed and nicely in editorial line with Tito's socialism. An example is an article on "Chess in Yugoslavia", which has this introductory paragraph:

> The existence of the new people's state has had favourable influence upon the development of chess. Once the pastime of a small number of people, under the new conditions it has grown to be a cultural achievement of broad masses of chess-lovers. In a speech which he delivered before the National Assembly on December 19, 1948, Minister of Science and Culture Rodolyub Cholakovich said that in 1948 no less than 69,900 men had taken part in the chess competitions for the championship of the Yugoslav Army. This best goes to show the popularity of the game in the New Yugoslavia.

Soldiers need respite from deeds of daring and feats of arms. What better relaxation for 69,900 Communist Yugoslavian soldiers than playing with kings, knights and bishops? There is a bourgeois, even aristocratic tinge to the names, but, after all, it's only a game. And there are the pawns to keep them in touch with the New Democracy.

New Dominion-Provincial Conference

This morning another Dominion-Provincial conference assembled at Ottawa. The agenda is so flexible as to be non-existent. The theme is perennial: how to resolve the conflicts of jurisdiction between the Provinces and the Federal Government in this theoretically united country. The special matter which gave rise to the conference—apart from the repeated demands by Mr. Drew and other Provincial-rightists, trying to excuse themselves from having been the chief causes of the failure of the 1946 conference—is the grey field of jurisdiction over the amending of the B.N.A. Act.

The Federal Government last session took large steps towards the constitutional independence of Canada. Canada is now able to amend her own constitution in matters which are entirely federal. Prime Minister St. Laurent has said that the Provinces have always had the power to amend their constitutions. The trick now is to decide which are federal and which Provincial matters. Ottawa may be perfectly contented to let the newly-empowered, augmented Supreme Court decide where the line lies as problems arise. At any rate, the Federal Government has no agenda for the meeting, and it will give the Provincial premiers room to air their views, and if necessary, to blow off steam.

A Test Case Of Mercy Killing

It seems probable that the trial of Dr. Hermann N. Sander, of Candia, New Hampshire will become a test case in the history of mercy-killing, or euthanasia. Dr. Sander recently injected air into the blood-stream of a patient who was dying of cancer; he did this with the approval of her husband, and he noted what he had done on the clinical chart of the patient. He awaits trial on a charge of murder. It must be borne in mind that he made no attempt to conceal what he had done.

His action has received wide support, sometimes from surprising sources. The husband of the cancer patient has made public a letter approving fully of Dr. Sander's action. Dr. Earnest A. Hooton of Harvard, one of the world's foremost anthropologists, has taken up the fight, and hopes that it will force the medical profession to defend and bring into the open a practise which he says is carried on very widely, but without comment. An American Methodist paper, Zion's Herald, has come out very strongly in favour of Dr. Sander and of mercy killing. And it is being suggested that euthanasia will be as hotly debated during the second half of this century as Women's Rights was during the close of the Nineteenth Century.

The Church of Rome opposes euthanasia very strongly, on the ground that God gives life and will take it when He sees fit to do so. But it is argued on the other side that the pangs of birth have been lessened, with great benefit to everybody, and that to hasten the death of someone who is dying in great pain is entirely defensible on ethical and religious grounds. In this connection it is curious to recall that before the Reformation in England many churches contained a curious hammer, called the "holy maul". It was used for dispatching people—usually the old—who were dying painfully.

The problem is not a simple one and cannot be decided wholly on grounds of compassion. The power to take life certainly could not be entrusted to a single doctor, for one thing. And if the lives of those who are suffering horribly may be ended by mercy-killing, what is to be done about those unfortunate infants who are born without a hope of growing to normal intelligence, or with cruel malformations? The eugenists have their answer, and so has the Church of Rome. The Protestant churches have not, in any number, dealt with this problem, but the Methodist Church in the U.S.A. has spoken its mind through its oldest and most authoritative paper.

Change But Not Decay

New York affords a striking instance of a trend which is to be seen everywhere on this continent. The Ritz Hotel is to be torn down to make room for a large new office building. Now the interesting thing about this piece of news is that the Ritz has only been built for forty years, and is apparently in first-class condition; it is an eighteen storey building, apparently good for another sixty years.

This passion for tearing down and building anew is common enough in Canada. Everyone understands what is going on when old or obviously unsuitable buildings are cleared away to make room for better ones. But when a perfectly good building is torn down to make room for another good building we are puzzled. Why is it that we are disinclined to let our buildings stay where they are until they have grown a little moss?

Labour Troubles In The Soviet Union

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

THE shape of the Soviet economic crisis is at last beginning to shows its outline through the obscurity of Stalin's smoke-screen. It says a good deal for the solidity of the Kremlin's blockade of the truth that it has taken nearly a year of piecing together scattered little facts and references for outside observers even to begin to discover what the trouble is really about.

THE first symptoms were the events surrounding the Government reshuffle in March 1949. By midsummer it was clear that these events were related to a domestic crisis rather than to a quarrel about foreign policy—although this also came into the picture. But it has been only during the past six weeks that the Soviet Press, in its oblique and turgid fashion, has told enough about the nature of the crisis to confirm earlier reports and rumours of mass discontent expressing itself in passive resistance.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOME passive resistance to Government and managerial pressure there has always been among the workers. But today it is clear that there is a widespread "go-slow" movement, disorganized and spontaneous, but formidable enough to defeat the efforts of the managers and local party bosses, some of whom appear even to be conniving at it, and enough to jeopardize the fulfilment of the 5-year plan in some of its most important aspects.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN a country where formal strikes are out of the question, where absenteeism of the most trivial kind is punished by forced labour, and where trade unions are not for the worker but against him (being State instruments of pressure), the go-slow policy is the only way open to the masses when they decide that conditions have been too hard for too long. And the Russians are adepts at it.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE extent of the present movement may be gauged to some extent by the repeated and bitter attacks in the official Press on factory managers and overseers, on local Party officials, and on the senior staffs of various production Ministries for inefficiency or for falsifying their returns. Among these are the Ministries of Timber, Coal, Agricultural Machinery, and Labour Supply. And an indirect indication of the way in which the shortcomings of these Ministries, and others, have been adversely affecting the fulfilment of the Plan may be found in the recent transfer of the high-powered member of the Secretariat of the Central Committee, Popov, to supervise municipal building and re-building, which in many great cities, such as Kiev, Kharkov and Stalingrad, is reported to be virtually at a standstill—for lack of timber and bricks.

✧ ✧ ✧

FROM Soviet Press reports alone it is possible to reconstruct a situation reminiscent of the early thirties, when managers and officials, unable to drive their employees as the Plan demanded, sought to keep their own jobs by sacrificing quality to quantity and pretending, by juggling with target figures and deliberately falsifying production returns, to have succeeded where in fact they had failed.

✧ ✧ ✧

TO all appearances the present crisis is not so acute as the crisis of the early thirties, and yet it is potentially more dangerous. It is not so acute because the Soviet Union has far greater reserves both of material and experience than in 1930. It is potentially more dangerous because it comes after thirty years of Soviet rule, which was supposed to do away automatically with all economic crises, and because the Russian people are no longer sustained by the hope of prosperity round the corner. Also, in spite of the Iron Curtain, many know that conditions in the West are immeasurably superior to their own.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOR are the factories the only sources of trouble. In many districts the collective farms have also been engaged in falsifying their returns. At the same time, a really vicious attack has been launched against the recrudescence of so-called "nationalist deviations" in some of the minority Republics. In the Autonomous Tartar Republic and in Uzbekistan (always a fertile breeding ground for trouble, and vital to the U.S.S.R. because of its cotton), local government institutions have been purged in a most wholesale manner, according to reliable reports.

IT is also known that for months past the Kremlin has been engaged in a long-term operation of dilution to break national consciousness among the Asiatic minorities—shifting the native populations into Siberia and replacing them with Russians and Ukrainians. Now there are reports of the same sort of activity in Azerbaijan, with its precious Baku oil-fields, and Soviet Armenia.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE method the Kremlin has chosen for breaking the passive resistance of the factory workers seems to boil down to an intensive campaign against the managements and officials, casting all the blame on them in order to get the workers on the side of the Government. Malenkov's Pravda article for Stalin's birthday contained what really amounted to an appeal to the workers and the lesser officials to inform against their bosses. Thus we may expect a new outbreak of trials for industrial wrecking and sabotage.

BUT there is a limit to the efficacy of this sort of thing: men and women in Russia capable of acting in a managerial capacity are all too few and very hard to replace. Furthermore, to judge by Pravda's recent lamentations, the leadership of rank and file Party officials, upon which so much depends, seems to leave a good deal to be desired—as also the recruitment of replacements from the Communist Youth. If this is so, the Kremlin is faced with a serious situation indeed.

"NO THANKS, JUST CALLING"

The Ordeal of Valtista

By PHILIP DEANE
(By Airmail from Athens)

PHILIP DEANE, correspondent in Greece, describes how Greek Communist rebels took their revenge on a village that refused to help them, and how, two years later, the villagers are now struggling to rebuild their ruined homes.

THEY came to Valtista at one o'clock in the morning. They came down from the hill-top where the Albanian frontier runs, 500 yards away. First they went to Stephen Ghiannos' home. He was a soldier and his wife with their two little children was alone in the house. Someone gave an order. Two men broke ranks and went up to the Ghiannos' place with a can of kerosene and cotton waste. They walked around slowly setting fire to the thatched roof in many places, and piling up little mounds of flaming waste near the door and windows. Then a piercing scream was heard, the burning door was flung open and Ghiannos' wife appeared framed by the flames, holding one child under each arm. They were waiting for her. A volley rang out and then there was no-one in the flaming doorway.

They marched off, keeping together, quiet, disciplined. Two men stood behind to see the flames did not go out, for Ghiannos was a soldier and there were orders that his house was to be given special treatment.

The shots and the fire had wakened the village. Sobbing women and bitter-mouthed men came out into the streets from every door only to meet those who had come with the kerosene cans and the cotton waste. The people of Valtista tried begging. Some of the women fell on their knees before the silent armed men who had come to burn their homes. They were knocked aside with rifle butts. Six of these women died from the wounds, twelve still bear clear scars of the rifle butts—on their heads. At last the Communists were done. Valtista, the village that had refused them help, was no more. Gone were the houses and barns—only the charred ruins remained and the glare of the fires, and the stench of burning flesh. Alone in the middle of Valtista's only street sat old Christos Vissas, who was ninety and too weary to go away.

That was two years ago, on the 27th November 1947. Today the people of Valtista are back in their village. The army brought them back from the refugee camps where they had spent two years in squalor and despair. It took me three hours on mule back to get to Valtista from the nearest road. Only the women and children were there, and old Christos Vissas smoking a "MacArthur" corn-cob pipe, the gift of an American welfare worker. The men were out tilling the minute fields they had built with terrace work on the steep mountainside.

THEY were tilling with sharp staves which they had cut from the chestnut trees around the village. Those were their only tools. The guerillas had taken the others. Old Christos was fashioning a wooden plough like the ones the ancient Egyptians used. He was still clever with his hands, and the village needed ploughs. The women were searching the ruins, building lean-to- sheds with branches, cooking a herb soup over a pine-cone fire. They were all working, and they smiled, even though they had literally nothing they could call their own, even though there was no food but herbs. They smiled, for they were back on their land and that means a lot to a peasant woman. They smiled, for on the hilltop above, 500 yards away, where the frontier runs, a Greek commando company had raised its flag, and watched over the village.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, I am the Lord your God. Ye shall therefore keep my statutes, and my judgements: which if a man do, he shall live in them: I am the Lord. (Lev. 18: 1, 2, 5.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Doubtless thou art our father, though Abraham be ignorant of us, and Israel acknowledge us not: thou, O Lord, art our father, our redeemer; thy name is from everlasting. (Isa. 63: 16.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For since the beginning of the world men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye seen, O God, beside thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him. (Isa. 64: 4.)

And it came to pass, when Jesus had made an end of commanding his twelve disciples, he departed thence to teach and to preach in their cities. . . At that time Jesus answered and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes. Even so, Father: for so it seemed good in thy sight.

All things are delivered unto me of my Father: and no man knoweth the Son, but the Father; neither knoweth any man the Father, save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal him. (Matt. 11: 1, 25-27.)

For as the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself. (John 5: 26.)

End Of An Era

Decision of the Canadian Steamship Lines to retire the cruise ships, SS "Kingston" and SS "Rapids Prince", marks the end of an era.

To people of this district the SS "Kingston" was something of an old friend. For nearly 50 years the handsome vessel called here on her summer cruises between Toronto, Rochester, Kingston and Prescott.

The "Kingston" transferred her passengers bound for Montreal to the "Rapids Prince" at Prescott and then turned back for her return to her home port of Toronto. Many thousands of people were carried by the two fine old vessels, whose combined years of service totalled almost 100 years.

The cruise ships are being retired because of their age and the high cost of replacement.

According to Frank Wilkinson, counsel for the C.S.L., "the simple fact is that at today's construction costs it is not possible to replace these ships and still make a profit on such a short season's run."

So, apparently, it will be many years, if ever, before these proud ships are replaced with ones of more modern design. It would seem unlikely, in view of Mr. Wilkinson's statement, that the port of Kingston will ever again welcome cruise ships of the size of the old "Kingston."

Apparently, too, proposed construction of the bigger "Kingston" which was to have replaced her namesake has now been dropped, although Mr. Wilkinson did not mention what decision had been reached in that regard. Lack of steel blocked a start in construction of the "luxury liner" and it will probably never now take actual shape.

Legionnaires Battle Back To Edge Belleville, 6 to 5

Battling back from behind in the second period here last night, the Legionnaires edged out a 6-5 decision over Belleville Diesels to clamp tighter onto top spot in their OHA senior "B" grouping. A good-sized crowd saw a fine, fast and clean contest with Legion spotting Diesels an early lead, winning it in the middle chukker and having an edge on play in the scoreless third. The standing to date at about the halfway mark in the schedule:

	W	L	T	Pts
Legion	8	1	1	17
Kingston	5	3	0	10
Belleville	5		0	10
Petes	1	7	1	3
Gananoque	1	4	0	2

HITS TARGET—Doug Mortimer was the main Legion marksman last night as the locals beat Belleville puckists 6-5, Doug hitting the target three times in a good showing.

Led At First

It was 3-2 for the visitors in the first speedy stanza, but the battling Legionnaires roared back to gain a 4-2 edge in the middle chapter, and they loked a bit better than the Diesels through a heated third period, though the losers fought hard all the way and at times threatened to send it into overtime. But five penalties were drawn in the clean tilt, three to the victors.

Doug Mortimer proved the payoff man for the Ellis outfit in this fray, banging home three goals with some timely work at close range, the Belleville goalie being a toughie to beat all evening. Bill Crowey got a nice one on his own speedy rebound in the first frame and Bert Hill tallied a nifty one by himself in the second. Joe Rochetta also countered a dandy in this heat. Crowley helped out on two, too, in a smart showing while Stewart and Montgomery each earned an assist.

Lefort Hurt

Schreider got the first Belleville goal early as they pressed hard for a time, Vern Goyer adding one from Nolan and McDonald tallying on Barrett's pass. The first goal appeared to be pulled in by Nicholls on a corner passout. The last Quinte counter came in the second frame late with Williams notching a nice one passed from Leo and Vern Goyer Best for the visitors on the night's play were Barret, Nolan and Lefort, the latter going off for nearly 10 minutes in the third for repairs after being hit in the face.

Nicholls was solid after the first period for Legion and his defence generally was good all through Rochetta, Crowley and Montgomery, as well as Doug Mortimer, all played hustling hockey and most of the others worked tirelessly all through. Hill and Fryia in spots stood out. It was a fast, exciting and close contest—and very clean—but there was some shinny shown at times. The teams:

Belleville—Goal, Lefort; defence, Schreider and Nolan; centre: L. Goyer; wings, Williams and V. Goyer; alternates, Barrett, McDonald, Meagher Jones, Moher, Williamson and Woodman.

Legion—Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Crowley and Montgomery; alternates, Greenlaw, Parnell, Stewart Hill, Fryia, F. Mortimer, D. Mortimer and Treen.

Referee, W. Wilson (Oshawa); linesman, P. Calladine.

Summary:

First Period

Belleville—Schreider	2.16
Legion—Crowley	5:45
Belleville—V. Goyer (Nolan)	11:27
Belleville—McDonald (Barrett)	12:27
Legion—D. Mortimer (Stewart)	16:02

Penalties—Nolan, Rochetta, McDonald.

Second Period

Legion—Hill	5:46
Legion—Rochetta (Crowley)	7:51
Legion—D. Mortimer (Montgomery)	8.05
Belleville—Barrett (Meagher)	12:17
Legion—D. Mortimer (Crowley)	14:03
Belleville—Williams (L. Goyer, V. Goyer)	17:50

Penalty—Montgomery.

Third Period

No score.

Penalty—Rochetta.

Have Hypnotist To Help Browns Lead

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP) — The most notable new face in the St. Louis Browns' spring training camp at Burbank, Calif., next March will not even be a ball player. It will belong to Dr. David Tracy.

Dr. Tracy, a registered doctor of metaphysics, also is a hypnotist. Although he will not attempt to swing a bat or throw a ball, he will have the hardest job in camp.

All the psychologist will have to do is hypnotize the Browns into acting like the Yankees. A man-sized job if ever there was one.

While President Bill Dewitt, who hired Dr. Tracy during the major league meetings in New York last month, has a great deal of confidence in the doctor, he also expects his club to be strengthened by the acquisition of 24 newcomers.

An Interesting Team

"Conservatively, the Brownie president said, "I'll say we will have an interesting team in 1950. We won't speak in terms of the pennant, for we're building. But we're going to have a young, up and coming outfit that should get better with experience."

Dewitt has received glowing reports about Billy Demars, young shortstop acquired from Philadelphia Athletics in the deal for Bob Dillinger and Paul Lehner. The Browns got three other players and $100,000 for the third baseman and outfielder.

"Demars should be our regular shortstop next season." Dewitt said. "I think he's destined to become one of the stars of the American League."

Toronto Defeats Peterborough Badminton Club

Grant Henry's Strathgowan Club eked out a win over the local badminton players Saturday night, and had to go all out to do it. The upset of the night was when the Charltons caught Henry off his game and gave him and his partner a trouncing in mixed doubles. Henry who is training for the international meet in Toronto this week-end injured his right hand during the evening. Most of the matches were very close with a lot of them being decided in the third game at points.

The Toronto outfit took 14 of the 24 matches and 28 games to 20. A cup was donated for annual competition between these two clubs by Gord. Day, a former resident, now playing at the Toronto club.

Ladies' Doubles

M. Baker and M. Charlton lost to P. Gravestock and B. McDonald; J. Elmsley and A. Gonnett won from M. Russell and E. Chamberlain; R. McKee and H. Mathias lost to D. Woodside and J. Lewis; A. Graham and H. Kelly won from H. Hall and M. McFadgen; V. Rose and J. Vass lost to J. Lewis and R. West; E. Copp and B. Jackson lost to S. Schram and B. Hoffard.

Men's Doubles

R. Baker and V. O'Donoghue lost to Grant Henry and F. Parsons; E. Johnston and R. Charlton lost to B. Lang and C. McKeon; R. McDonald and D. McNaught won from D. James and K. Duckworth; W. Elmsley and V. Taylor won from B. Connell and A. Gerard; L. Copp and R. Johnston lost to D. Cameron and B. Connell; H. Collingwood and R. Martin won from G. Day and A. Gerard.

Mixed Doubles

Charlton and Charlton won from Chamberlain and Henry; Baker and Baker won from Russelle and Lang; Elmsley and McDonald won from McDonald and Parsons; Gonnett and Elmsley lost to Gravestock and Cameron; Charlton and E. Johnston lost to Lewis and McKeon; Kelly and O'Donoghue lost to Woodside and Connell; Vass and McNaught lost to Hall and James; Rose and Taylor won from Hoffard and Day; Graham and R. Johnston won from West and Duckworth; Mathias and Collingwood lost to McFadgen and Gerrard; Copp and Copp lost to Schram and Cameron; Jackson and Martin lost to Woodside and James.

Next Saturday, Jan. 14, Oshawa General Motors make their visit to the local courts. Play to start at 7:30.

Entries in men's and ladies' singles close Jan. 10. Sixteen players needed in each draw. All singles matches to be played before 8 o'clock or after 10.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

Notices have been sent out for the annual Canada Packers Trophy bonspiel. It's for men's rinks, open. Fee $8.00, and the first 28 rinks entered complete the draw.

Curlers are reminded that the second schedule commences on Thursday, Jan. 12, 7.00 and 9.00 o'clock. Consult your schedule book.

On Monday, the ladies commenced playing for the Waddell Trophy. It's a straight elimination contest.

Mrs. G. Wood, convener of the ladies' open bonspiel committee, tells us that the full quota of 28 rinks, for the Warne Trophy bonspiel to be held next week, is practically assured. Up until 10:00 o'clock last night there were 25 rinks officially entered. Rinks are coming from Hamilton, Toronto High Park, Toronto Ladies, Toronto Granite, Lindsay, Lakefield, Bobcaygeon and Peterborough. And we also understand that Mrs. Dr. E. Wood, Ottawa is coming with a rink.

The ladies are looking forward to two big days, Jan. 19 and Jan. 20.

Men's scores:

F. Bacon 4, J. Sinclair 9; M. Marshal 4, B. Switzer 10; C. Fraser 6, J. Walker 10; D. Miller 4, J. Johnston 15; J. Dutton 17, M. Wells 4; J. Fanning 4, A. Malby 11; T. Holyman 6, J. Welsh 15.

Ladies' scores, Waddell Trophy:

Mrs. T. Doughty 11, Mrs. M. Holt 4; Mrs. G. Wood 9, Mrs. E. Welbourne 3; Mrs. D. Clarke 14, Mrs. J. Fanning 5; Mrs. H. Dumage 9, Mrs. J. Green 8; Mrs. F. Hall 7, Mrs. C. Westbrook 6; Mrs. E. Purvis 10, Mrs. F. Gladman 6.

Wins Split Decision

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP) — Young Alan McFater of Toronto making his third professional boxing start, Monday night won a split decision over John (Spider) Thompson of Buffalo, N. Y., in an eight round main bout. Two officials tossed their ballots on McFater's role while one, Tony Canzano, voted for Thompson the winner. McFater weighed 133¼ to Thompson's 128½.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

Professional wrestling returns to Peterborough this Thursday night at 8.45 in the Brock Arena after a layoff of several weeks. The mat card is topped by two noted headliners, Fred Atkins—Australian heavy champ—and powerful Yukon Eric. That one is something for city and district grapple fans to get excited over, as both are big strong and rough matmen. It is doubtful if the barrel-chested Alaskan can withstand the punishment handed out by the hard-hitting Aussie. Kay Bell mee's the towering Hollywood villain, Wee Willie Davis, in the semi-final, while Joe Christie tackles Toar Morgan in the prelim. A right tasty dish for followers of the pro grapplers.

* * * * * *

Gene Tunney who retired from the ring with a million bucks, an heiress and as undefeated heavy mitt champ of the world, writes in Collier's that he favors Jack Dempsey a little over Joe Louis as the best heavyweight fighter of the past 50 years. Figures that Dempsey's two-fisted style and speed would give him an edge over Louis if both had met in their prime. He liked Corbett and Fitzsimmons, too, but dismisses such former greats as Sullivan, Jeffries and Johnston, as not being in a class with Dempsey or Louis. They had the punch and strength but lacked the style and speed of more modern scrappers. It is a statement likely to cause a lot of arguments among oldtimers.

Rockets Play IOOF-ers

Belleville Rockets play the local Oddfellows at 8.30 tomorrow e'en in Civic Arena, an OHA junior "B" fixture. The rockets were rocked recently by Lindsay and are madder than disturbed hornets. Earlier in the season they craved entry in a grouping up this way figuring, with alleged pro backing, they could pretty well cake-walk through to the playdowns. But the going has been rougher than expected, and the IOOF-ers have been holding their own handily in the past few weeks. This scrap tomorrow should be another sizzling junior struggle, with no letup from start to finish. The game ought to draw a real hefty gallery.

* * * * * *

Arn Dugan, who played junior "B" here with the Triple Links a few seasons back, is performing now for Detroit Hettche in the International Hockey League, a loop of about senior "B" calibre. Sarnia Sailors—who lost to Legion last spring in OHA finals—lead the way, with Detroit Auto Club next, then Hettche, followed by Chatham and Windsor Ryancretes. Dugan, who was with Milwaukee last year, assisted on his team's lone goal in their last start. He and George (Red)) Sullivan used to team up neatly as juniors here, and he seems to be going well on foreign soil, or ice. Dugan, of course, returns to Peterborough to play senior lacrosse each summer.

Rather A Close Fit, Eh?

Legionnaires won over Belleville 6-5 here last eve and the rather hefty crowd enjoyed a fast, clean contest. But Legion were full value for their win. They might have taken it by about 7-3 except for M'sieu' Lefort in goal and a few breaks. Oh, you want to know the breaks, eh? Well, one Quinte counter came when Ross Nicholls (definitely unintentionally) pulled in a corner passout, and another came on an offside. However, Diesels made it a real scrap and hustled Legion all the way. It was shinny at times but always fast, clean and close, so the customers got their money's worth. We especially liked the work of Doug Mortimer, Crowley, Montgomery and Rochetta. And Lefort, Nolan and Barrett of the visitors.

* * * * * *

As shown in the standing elsewhere, Legionnaires are well out in front, with Belleville and Kingston tied for second. The Petes must pull up their box and win a few to get back in the hunt, and Gananoque might well upset a lot of dope as they haven't seen too much action yet. But Legion at present are the cream of the crop. We still feel they aren't quite as good as last year—when they picked up all the marbles — as you can't replace guys like Ned Vitarelli and Bob Greenlaw too easily. But Keith Montgomery is starting to play the kind of hockey he can (and keeping out of the sin bin more), while Freddy Mortimer shows flashes, so these two could help a whole lot to make fans forget Bob and Ned.

Jerry Barber Holds Lead As Golf Rivals Closing In

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10 (AP)—Tournament pressure hit darkhorse Jerry Barber, and the sun and Ben Hogan got back on the beam Monday in the $15,000 Los Angeles open golf tournament.

Setting the stage for a hectic finale today, Barber remained on top of the field but the ominous shadow of Battling Ben, his comeback campaign in high gear, loomed dangerously close behind.

Barber, a 33-year-old pro from Pasadena, went over par for the first time in the tournament and wound up with a one-over 72 for a third-round total of 209.

Hogan opened his bag of golf magic and out popped a sub-par 69 and a total of 211, a scant two shots back of Barber.

Monday's story centred on Barber, the unfortunate who had the tournament sewed up only to lose out when rain cancelled Monday's third round, and, as had been the case since last Friday, on Hogan and his return to the golfing wars after a disastrous automobile crash 11 months ago.

There were others crowding into the battle, however. Youthful Jack Burke, of White Plains, N.Y., fired the round's lowest score, a 68, which left him just one stroke back of Hogan.

Ellsworth Vines came in with a par performance to settle at 213, and Sam Snead, his putter misbehaving just when it seemed the slammer would jump into close contention, took a 71 for 214. Tied with Snead was Henry Ransom, of St. Andrew's, Ill., who took 75 blows to get around the par 35-36—71, 7,019-yard layout.

Barber started the round with a two-stroke edge on Ransom and five strokes over Hogan and Vines. Tomorrow he'll have just two shots edge on Hogan, the deadliest guy in the business, and that's not enough room for comfort.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

The baseball world was startled 22 years ago today when New York Giants traded Roger Hornsby, one of the game's greatest batters, to Boston Braves for catcher Frank Hogan and outfielder Jimmy Welch. Giant officials said the move was "in the best interests of the club." Hornsby became the National League's batting champion for the seventh time that year.

Marmora Takes TVL Win From Hastings

HASTINGS, Jan. 10—(ENS)—The Hastings intermediates of the TVL opened their Memorial Arena last night before a crowd of close to 1,000 fans. Playing hosts to Marmora, they came out on the short end of a 17-5 drubbing.

For the first period, both teams battled evenly and the period ended with Marmora in the lead 4-3.

With just 35 seconds of the second period played, Hastings tied it up, on a goal by Greenly, but McInroy scored to go out in front again. Fife scored and from there on it was all Marmora.

Marmora is fortunate in starting out the season with much the same team as last year, while Hastings is starting pretty well with a new lineup, but a few games together should make a big difference.

It was a clean cut game with but five penalties, two of them majors in the third period to Fairman and K. Trumble for scrapping.

Hastings—Goal, McKenty; defence, O. Hendy and E. Tucker; centre, M. Fife; wings, R. Greenley and L. Petticrew; alternates, Morrow, Wilson, Edwards, Fairman, Mueller, Hamilton. West, Carr, Ball.

Marmora—Goal, B. Borland; defence, E. Leonard and B. Narler; centre, F. Stewart; wings, G. Lavender and K. Trunble; alternates, G. Leonard, B. Grey, E. McInroy, R. Goodchild, C. Loveless, R. Darrah, C. Trumble, B. Sweet.

Would Legalize Sports Betting

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP) — Mayor William O'Dwyer proposed Monday that New York State legalize betting on public sports events and put it under the control of a State agency.

The Mayor's surprise proposal, which seems certain to stir up a far spreading controversy, came on the heels of a sharp new crackdown on gambling in New York City, with 51 high ranking police officials transferred and bookmakers reported fleeing to New Jersey.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey and leaders of the Republican controlled State Legislature declined immediate comment.

O'Dwyer, a Democrat, said he wants it "distinctly understood that I do not favor wide-open gambling but controlled gambling by the State."

Douglas Of Barons Leads For 13th Week

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (CP)—Les Douglas, Cleveland Barons' high scoring centre, held his scoring lead for the 13th week in the American Hockey League this week, marking up a goal and two assists to bring his point total to 61.

His teammate, Bobby Carse, held second place with 52 points. Johnny Chad of Providence Reds was third with 51. Two more Clevelanders, Fred Thurier and Pete Leswick, rounded out the top five scorers with 49 and 48 points, respectively.

Douglas still was the circuit's leading playmaker with 39 assists. Chad tied Roy Kelly of Cleveland for goal scoring honors each having 24.

Bus Gagnon of Cincinnati Mohawks roughed his way into the lead in penalty minutes, having been banished for 113.

Connie Dion of Buffalo Bisons, who missed the entire week because of injuries, still was the leading goaltender with an average of 2.55 on 84 goals allowed in 33 contests. Ralph Almas registered his fourth shutout to lead the whitewash department.

Saga of 'Robert the Red' Of The Athletic Creightons

By CEC PERDUE

This is the sports saga of Robert the Red. An incomplete story, of course, since Red is quite active in athletics yet and expects to be for many more years. Red is Robert, eldest son of the athletic Creighton family, well-known in Peterborough sports circles for nearly three decades.

"Anyone wanting to know my age," the witty redhead says, "can learn it easily enough by checking Mick Magee's age—I'm five years younger." This probable slander will no doubt stir anew the friendly feud of years between this doughty pair. They have engaged in fist fights on the ice—when Legion played Petes in Omemee— at night and driven to work together chummily next morning. They've travelled thousands of miles together in lacrosse.

In the Family.

Red Creighton comes by his love of athletics honestly. His father, Jack Creigton, played field lacrosse for Quebec City seniors and later for Peterborough, as well as some hockey for Lindsay. Bob's brother Emmett was with the Halifax Navy gridders, active at one time in hockey and basketball and is still a fine lacrosse player. Jerry, the youngest brother, made his mark in track, softball, hockey and lacrosse as well as senior football. Two sisters played softball and the third was married to the late Harold (Shrimp) McDougall. Their son, Bud, is a fine minor puckist and lacrosser. Red's son, David, is a good little skater at five years of age.

But getting back to Robert, the Red and his career to date. He was 15 when he broke into OHA pay and he started lacrosse in the last year field lacrosse was played here, a lapse being followed by the introduction of box lacrosse in Ontario and beginning in Peterborough in 1931. It is likely that his 21 years in OHA play is a local record, and one few if any can match in the province. The odd thing about this five-foot-seven athlete is that his weight of 158 pounds has seldom varied a pound over many years. He lives clean and keeps in top condition always.

Best Athlete.

In the early 30's here, Red Creighton was named as the best all-round athlete in Peterborough. At that time, he played baseball — a team that went to the OBA finals had him catching—and softball, a little boxing and wrestling a lot of soccer (including two years years with the district champions), some rugby and track, and plenty of hockey and lacrosse. It is not know what he did with his spare time about then.

Born in Quebec City, Bob came here when he was eight. He played a year of junior hockey in his late teens and then several with the local intermediates Sudbury claimed him next for hockey and then the Quebec Aces. After that in 1940-41, he was in Akron, Ohio and then two seasons with the Red Indians of the Toronto senior city loop. Oh, yes in '39 he was with Owen Sound. Then Red was in the army and he saw puck action with the Army Bullets in Brampton during training and later on with the Shamrocks in Toronto, a good senior club. He returned to play with the Petes and last year coached them. He is presently manager of this club.

Lost An Eye.

Three years ago, Red had an accident at work and practically lost the sight of one eye. He can tell daylight from darkness with it, but that is all. Yet it didn't get this sorrel-top down; since then, he has played both hockey and lacrosse, though the years are now catching up with him. A scrappy, hustling player all his life, he finds it hard to ride the bench as an official. He's sooner be out there playing.

His lacrosse history started here but he also accepted invitations to spend a season each in Belleville, Oshawa— senior "A"— Orillia, Hamilton and three in Toronto. These were senior "A" squads and Red was a star goalie. He was with Brampton, too, and the Lakeshore Combines of 1945 who almost beat out St. Kitts in Eastern Canada finals. He returned here to play and has coached the Petes to two senior "B" titles and last year in their senior "A" setup. Red will coach them this year, too.

Has the Color.

Robert the Red is a colorful character in lacrosse and other games. He is generally known now to boxla fans as the shrewd mentor with his lucky straw hat over one eye. A coach who slips players in and out of the box and the sin bin to the confusion of rival teams and at the crucial moment when strategy pays off. He is also known as a fighting skipper who has been ejected from many a game. An his fine goal-keeping and odd exciting rush up the field will long be remembered.

The two favorite games for Creighton are lacrosse and hockey. He doesn't think hockey is so rough— he only received minor injuries in his long puck career. Things like a nine-stitch gash in the leg, some torn ligaments and muscles, the odd cut and once a broken jaw. But lacrosse is rugged, he claims. Wrist broken, ribs fractured, nose broken, lots of embroidery work on many cuts, plenty of bruises, concussions, and so on. Yes, he thinks lacrosse is one of the toughest sports of all. But he loves it, as he loves all sports. Red would have been dull without his athletics— and local athletics would have been dull without Red.

Main Bout Thursday Should Be A Thriller

What shapes up as one of the best main bouts of the season will be staged Thursday at Brock Arena, when Yukon Eric clashes with Fred Atkins. Both men are big and husky and use a rugged style of wrestling. The fur should fly when Yukon and Atkins hit the mat.

Toar Morgan

Wee Willie Davis and Kay Bell have the semi-final spot Thursday night. Both men have just returned from Hollywood, where they appeared in the motion picture, "Samson and Delilah." Toar Morgan and Joe Christie are featured in the opener.

Nova Scotia Liberals May Lose Seat Won In June Through Court

HALIFAX, Jan. 10 (CP)—Nova Scotia Liberals today faced the possibility of losing through court action the Hants West seat they won in the June 9 provincial general election.

Mr. Justice W. L. Hall reserved judgment Monday after legal argument was completed in a Supreme Court hearing of a petition asking that the Progressive Conservative candidate be declared elected in Hants West.

Counsel for the Liberal candidate contended that the election should be declared void.

If Mr. Justice Hall upholds the contention of the petitioner, the Progressive Conservative would be declared elected. If he upholds the contention of Liberal counsel, a new election presumably would have to be held in the riding.

Outlines Traffic

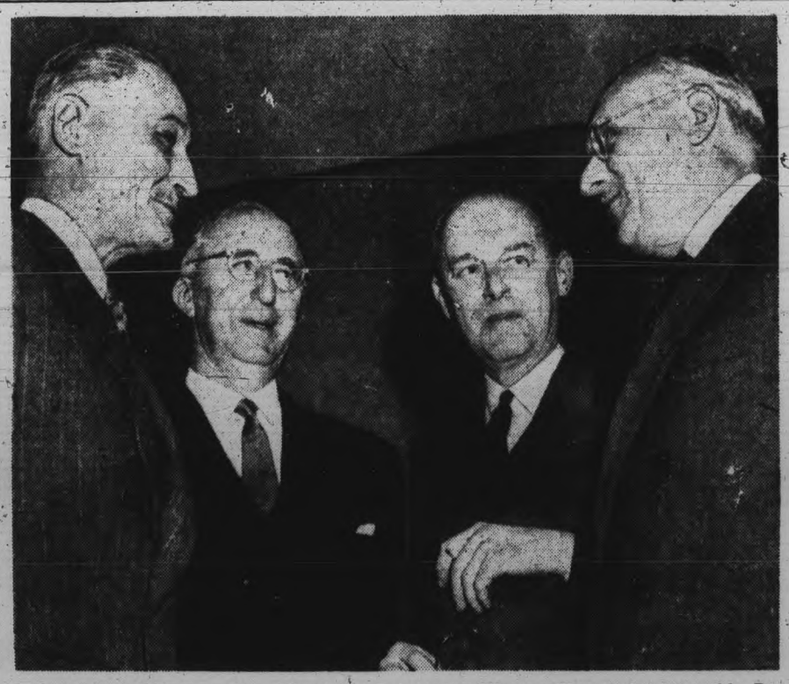
Here is a step by step account of the case:

Election night returns gave George H. Wilson, Progressive Conservative, a majority of four votes over George B. Cole, Liberal. A recount requested by Mr. Cole resulted in a tie and returning officer Charles Flemming cast the deciding vote for the Liberal candidate.

Norman D. Blanchard, Windsor, N. S., lawyer in a petition claimed that during the recount a vote which should have been rejected was tallied for the Liberal candidate. Therefore, Mr. Blanchard claims, the Progressive Conservative should be declared elected.

Five Witnesses

When the hearing opened last week in Windsor, W. Pitt Potter, acting for Mr. Cole, called five witnesses. Two members of a Danish family and two American citizens testified they were registered voters and had voted not only in the provincial election last year but at "several elections."



(Under the Nova Scotia Elections Act, a person must be a Canadian citizen before he can vote.)

Monday Mr. Potter contended that the number of aliens who voted, although not qualified to do so, exceeded the majority that Mr. Wilson, the Progressive Conservative candidate, might have.

Mr. Potter said that because secrecy of the ballot must be preserved, the aliens could not be asked how they had voted and their votes might have been among those counted for Mr. Wilson.

W. Marshall Rogers, acting for Mr. Wilson, contended that Mr. Wilson received a majority of the ballots cast and that any question of qualifications of aliens did not arise once their names were on the voters' list.

Election of Mr. Cole last June gave the Liberals 28 seats in the 37-member Legislature. The Progressive Conservatives won seven and the CCF two.

Sterling Balance May Be Conference Topic

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Sir Stafford Cripps may have indicated Monday one of the most important subjects for discussion at the next meeting of finance ministers of Britain, the United States and Canada.

He said, in effect, to a press conference, that Britain may have to cut down on the amount she has been paying on war debts to India and several other countries.

At the same time he stated that payment of these debts has helped stave off the advance of Communism in the countries receiving the payments.

That may be handing the play to the United States and possibly to some extent to Canada. It rings in with some current American opinion that Britain is trying to pay off her debts too fast and is really doing it with Marshall aid money.

Sterling Balances

The war debts referred to are known as "sterling balances" which were accumulated largely by India, Pakistan and Egypt for goods which they supplied to Britain during the war. They supplied the goods, in effect, on credit, getting paid in sterling which they couldn't spend until Britain could afford to cash it.

In the post-war years Britain has cashed considerable of this sterling by sending goods to these countries. This is what is known as "unrequited exports" because it uses up goods which might otherwise be sold elsewhere for cash instead of being used to pay off debts.

Many feel that Britain shouldn't have to carry alone these debts for goods which went into a common war effort; that there should have been or should now be a sort of extension of Lend-lease or Mutual Aid which would help Britain with this burden.

Not Unselfish

United States opinion favoring some such move is not altogether unselfish. This opinion feels that the United States would be better off paying these debts direct to the country concerned and thus winning markets; rather than let Britain win markets by paying off the debts with what is virtually Marshall aid money.

However that may be, the £3,200,000,000 ($9,920,000,000) which Britain owes in "sterling balances" is likely to keep cropping up until something is done about it other than letting Britain try to pay it alone.

One cheering thing is Sir Stafford's statements yesterday was that he sees no immediate likelihood that Britain will have to cut down further on imports from dollar areas, chiefly Canada and the United States. That is welcome news to Canadian producers.

Dummer Funeral Held For Mrs. H. Dewart

The funeral of the late Mrs Henry Dewart was held Monday, Jan. 2, from the residence of her son, Henry Dewart, Second Line, Dummer Township. The service was conducted by Rev. E. Unstead of Warsaw United Church.

The deceased was a member of Warsaw United Church and also a member of the WMS.

Among the friends from a distance attending the funeral were Miss Grace Webster, Arthur Webster, and Eade Graham of Fenelon Falls.

The pall-bearers were all nephews of the deceased: George Hubble, Charley Hubble, Percy McArthur, John Gallagher, Harry Morrow and Wilbert Morrow.

Surviving are two daughters and one son: Mrs. Harold Teall (Jane), Annie and Henry, at home; and two sisters, Mrs. Annie Morrow of Norwood and Mrs. Martin McArthur of Havelock.

2 Children Die In Collision

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que., Jan. 10 (CP)—Two children of a family of five were killed in an automobile-taxicab collision near here Monday.

Dead are Lisette Plante, 17, and her 11-months-old brother, Gaetan.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Plante and their daughter, Pierrette, escaped with bruises.

The family was travelling in a taxi, driven by Jerome Tessier, on the Grand'mere-Shawinigan Falls highway when the vehicle skidded down a hill, went into a spin and struck another car.

Mineral Production Record In Ontario

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP)—Ontario's mineral production last year was a record $315,000,000 Premier Frost said Monday night in a CBC free-time "provincial affairs" broadcast.

"We lead the world in nickel production," the premier said, "while our iron ore production now is approximately 2,000,000 tons each year. The development of our iron mines is a prelude to a greater industrial expansion in the province."

Mr. Frost said in his province-wide broadcast that "with all our spectacular industrial expansion agriculture is still our greatest industry—a billion dollar industry—upon which more than half-a-million people are dependent for a livelihood."

Will Hold Inquest

CALGARY, Jan. 10 (CP)—An inquest into the deaths of three persons who died in the smashup of two Canadian railway trains at Southesk, Alta., Dec. 29, will open Jan. 18, it was announced Monday. About 20 witnesses have been called. More than 60 persons were injured in the accident which took the lives of Reid B. Heffren, of Moose Jaw, Sask., George Jacobs, of Regina, and Violet Cowley, of Arrowwood, Alta.

Don't Like Transaction

TORONTO, Jan. 10 — (CP) — Reeves and mayors of municipalities in the Toronto area Monday reiterated opposition towards a metropolitan plan. Officials apparently weren't ruffled by an announcement by Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar earlier in the day which said the municipalities should find a quick solution to the problem or the Ontario Government would settle it for them.

Second Man Dies Of Accident Injuries

GUELPH, Jan. 10 (CP)—Injured in an accident which took the life of his wife, Joseph Tyndale, 53, died in hospital Monday night.

Mr. Tyndale and his wife were injured in an accident at Marden, five miles north of here, Christmas Day. Mrs. Tyndale died Dec 28. Their son, Robert, 20, a fourth-year medical student at the University of Toronto, was slightly injured.

A car driven by Mr. Tyndale was travelling towards Fergus when it was hit by a taxi-cab driven by Gerald Weachter, of Milldmay. Weachter was charged with dangerous driving and released on $1,000 bail.

Re-Elected President

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP)—Andrew Thomson of Toronto, controlier of the Meteorological Service of Canada, was re-elected president of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada at the society's annual meeting Monday night. The general secretary reported an increasing interest in astronomy by laymen across Canada was indicated by the growing membership, now nearing 2,000.

Favors Meeting

OTTAWA, Jn. 10 — (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott Monday said he would be willing to attend another meeting with the finance ministers of the United Kingdom and the United States at any "appropriate time." Mr. Abbott was commenting on a London dispatch in which Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the British Exchequer, said he hopes that before too long the three countries will arrange another conference to review matters "set in train" at last September's talks in Washington.

Man Strikes Officer, Pays $60 Fine

NEW TORONTO, Jan. 10 — Thomas Clayton, 32, was convicted of obstructing Constable Arthur Daniels and was fined $60 or 30 days Monday by Magistrate Hollinrake. PC Daniels said he was attending to an injured motorist when Clayton came up to him, struck him in the jaw and ripped his shirt.

Clayton was a passenger in the car in which the motorist had been injured in a crash on Lake Shore Rd. and 16th St.

The officer was off duty. He ran from his home to the scene of the accident when he heard the crash.

"I guess it must have been the accident," said Clayton. "I didn't realize what I was doing."

"Some sort of concussion, perhaps," commented Crown Attorney F. I. Malone.

One-Third Of World Now Under Red Rule

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP)—One-third of the world's population now is under Communist rule, compared with 1/12 of the world's population five years ago, Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Peel, said Monday night.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Women's Conservative Association, he said the increase was due to "the drive for world domination" by the Russian government.

Abel Moves In On Lindsay In Scoring Race

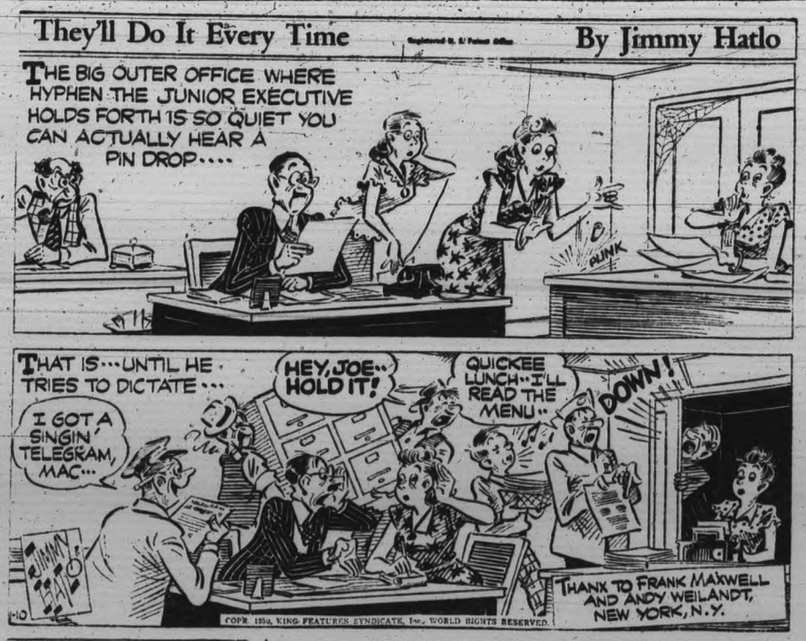
MONTREAL, Jan. 10 (CP) — Veteran Sid Abel of Detroit Red Wings has moved within two points of teammate Ted Lindsay, who leads the National Hockey League scoring race for the ninth consecutive week.

League statistics released today show that the 32-year-old Abel, now playing his 10th season in the NHL, scored two goals and two assists last week to bring his total to 40 points. He has a total of 18 goals and 22 assists for 36 games. Lindsay, who has played in the same number of games, has scored 17 goals and 25 assists for 42 points.

Third place is split up among four players, all with 34 points. They are Roy Conacher and Doug Bentley of Chicago, Maurice Richard, Montreal Canadiens, and Paul Ronty, Boston Bruins.

Two points behind, Gordie Howe of Detroit, follows in sole possession of fourth place.

Richard continues to lead the goal scoring race with 24 goals in 37 contests. Doug Bentley leads in the assists department with 27.



League's Bad Man

Although he escaped serving any time in the penalty box last week, Toronto's Gus Mortson still continues in the dubious role of the league's bad man. The husky defenceman spent a total of 80 minutes in the "cooler."

The battle for the best record among goalkeepers is getting closer each week. Bull Durnan of Canadiens, five time winner of the Vezina Trophy, still leads the 60 minute men with only 79 goals beating him in 39 games for an average of 2.14 goals a game. Chuck Rayner of New York Rangers has allowed 81 goals in 36 contests while Detroit's Harry Lumley has been scored on 77 times in 35 fixtures.

New York Rangers came through with two victories and a draw during the last week, while Detroit Red Wings suffered two losses, and as a result Rangers moved to within eight points of the league leading Red Wings. Detroit has 48 points, Rangers 40, Montreal Canadiens 37, Boston Bruins 34, Toronto Maple Leafs 33 and Chicago Black Hawks 30.

Marlies Grab Off Five Top Spots

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP) — If goalies in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League have nightmares, they are probably about those red-hot Toronto Marlboros.

Scoring statistics released Monday show the five top point getters are members of the powerful Toronto squad.

Long John McCormack leads the parade with 50 points, 17 goals and 33 assists. Scotty Mair is second with 47 points or 30 goals and 17 assists. In third place is Al Buchanan with 41 points—19 goals and 22 assists. In fourth and fifth positions are Bill Johnson and Chuck Blair, with 40 and 36 points respectively.

Pat Boehmer, also of Marlboros leads the netminders' race with a 2.55 goals a game average.

In the Junior A ranks, Earl Reibel of Windsor Spitfires is the scoring leader, with 30 goals and 44 assists for 74 points, followed by Con Switzer of St. Catharines Teepees with 21 goals and 49 assists for 70 points. In third place is George Armstrong of Toronto Marlboros, with 68 points from 38 goals and 30 assists.

Marlboro's Don Lockhart is the league's top goalie with a 2.5 goals a game average.

Say Babies Born In Feb., March Live Longest

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—(AP)—Babies to be born in February and March probably will live more than average long lives.

There will be more geniuses among them. Probably more criminals too.

This is a finding of a study of cycles, issued Monday by the foundation for the study of cycles, Riverside, Conn. The work is Season of Birth, Its Relation to Human Abilities, by Ellsworth Huntington of Yale.

Dr. Huntington says his conclusions are based on millions of births.

He finds three is a rhythm in human conception and birth periods. It is not fixed like animals, but he says it was probable set by the weather conditions under which primitive man lived. The rhythm has not entirely worn off with civilization.

At Physical Peak

Births in February and March come from conceptions the previous May or June. Those months, Huntington said, have the sort of temperatures in which human bodies are at their physical peaks. The temperatures probably accounted for fixing those months as a conception period.

Primitive babies born in February and March would have had a better chance to live and be healthy than at any other time in the year in northern hemisphere climates. This is because green things start growing about then, assuring their mothers of better and more adequate food, and the babies of a better chance to survive hot and cold spells.

In lesser degree, the February and March babies still have some of the same advantages.

The cycles show, Dr. Huntington says, that a higher proportion of weaklings is born in other months.

He says the spring temperatures also seem to have some additional effects on genius and great accomplishment. In his studies, mental activity is best when the temperature drops under 47 fahrenheit. This happens in spring and fall.

Hydro Man Recovers From Electric Shock

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 10 —(ENS)—Donald Hogle, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hogle, of Campbellford, who accidentally touched a live wire recently, while employed with the Rural District Hydro in Prince Edward County, is progressing favorably. Twenty-three thousand volts of electricity passed through his body as he stood strapped to a Hydro pole.

The injured man was lowered to the ground and artificial respiration was applied immediately. He was badly burned on the right hand and suffered shock and a foot injury.

Cheese Maker Dies

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Jan. 10—(CP)—Charles H. Donnelly, 63, one of the best-known cheese makers in Southwestern Ontario, died at his home in Sparta Monday. Born in Newark, Ont., he lived most of his life at Sparta. He is survived by his widow, mother, three brothers, a sister and daughter.

Mrs. Peron Ill

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Maria Eva Duarte Peron, wife of Argentine President Juan D. Peron, suffered an acute appendicitis attack Monday night. The attack occurred while she was taking part in the opening of a new taxi union headquarters and social centre. Mrs. Peron was removed immediately from the headquarters for treatment.

Gives Diamond Replica

MONTREAL, Jan. 10—(CP)—Dr. John Williamson, owner of the world-famous Mwadui Mine in Tanganyika, Africa, has sent McGill University a replica of the fabulous 54-carat pink diamond he presented Princess Elizabeth as a wedding present. The announcement of the gift was made Monday by Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of the university, who visited Dr. Williamson a few weeks ago on his return from a university conference in India.

Have Four Drownings

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Jan. 10 (CP)—Delayed reports reaching here Monday night brought Newfoundland's death toll during the weekend to four—all drownings. Raymond King drowned while skating at Mattis Point on the West Coast Friday, and Horatio Felton, 24, drowned at the northeast coast town of Cloverton while crossing a pond. The deaths of the children at Carbonear were reported earlier.

Car Sales Drop

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (CP)—After climbing to a post-war peak in October, sales of new motor vehicles in November dropped below last year's level, the Bureau of Statistics reported Monday. A total of 18,823 vehicles was sold during November for a total of $38,873,226. It was a decrease of 16 per cent in number and 12 per cent in value from the 22,345 vehicles which sold for $44,096,591 in November, 1948.

Two Years In Jail

FREDERICTON, Jan. 10 (CP)—William and Stanley Larue, Toronto brothers, Monday were sentenced to two years each after pleading guilty to three charges of breaking and entering, one charge of possessing a car stolen at Belleville, and a charge of stealing tools.

Fall Kills Laborer

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 10 (CP)—Edward Schinkel, 37-year-old laborer from nearby Jordan, was fatally injured Monday when he fell 15 feet to a cement floor while working on a new extension to the McKinnon Industries Ltd., plant here. Schinkel was on a beam which collapsed. He is survived by his widow and three children.

Princess Pats All Ready For Mass Parachute Jump

By GRAHAM TROTTER

WAINWRIGHT, Alta., Jan. 10 — (CP) — The most spectacular phase of army training—the mass parachute jump—will be run off today at this 130,000 acre military camp.

About 100 members of the Airborne Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry are scheduled to drop into a mock battle zone as part of the largest peace time exercises yet held here by the Canadian Army.

It is a prelude to the outfit's airborne participation in "Exercise Sweet Briar," the joint Canadian-American military scheme to be held along the Alaska Highway next month.

One of the many other units indoctrinating for operations in severe winter weather is the Royal Canadian Army Signal Corps.

Major Frank Riddell of Ottawa, in the Arctic with the army since 1923 except for the war years, will go along with five types of signals vehicles he planned and built specially for the exercise. For the last four years, at Churchill, Man., and Wainwright, he has been developing prototype army vehicles.

Uses Snowmobile

Major Riddell will travel to Whitehorse, Yukon, in a Penguin snowmobile. The vehicle is the last of 12 of its type which were used in Exercise Muskox, the famous Canadian Army trek across the northland in 1945-46.

The biggest problem in building winterized vehicles is to provide good insulation against cold, good visibility by use of double windows, good ventilation and warmth for men and equipment.

"We're still using basically the same vehicles as during Muskox but they have been improved year after year," said Major Riddell, top signals officer in that exercise. The new machines built for "Sweet Briar" include a command vehicle with radio equipment, a medium-powered, self contained radio station of 400 watts, a telegraph requirement vehicle with telephones and central switchboard and a teletype, a wireless station, and radio workshop on a sled trailer drawn by a Penguin.

Planning Union Now For Unemployed Folk

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP)—The Toronto Labor Council Monday night took a preliminary step toward forming a union for unemployed persons affiliated with the Canadian Congress of Labor.

The action followed a letter sent by the body to Federal Labor Minister Mitchell expressing alarm over the growing number of unployed and demanding an immediate start on public works projects.

Murray Cotterill, president of the council, said that under the proposed plan, members of CCL unions laid off would automatically be transferred to the unemployed union, which would look after the grievances of the members, including insurance and welfare provisions.

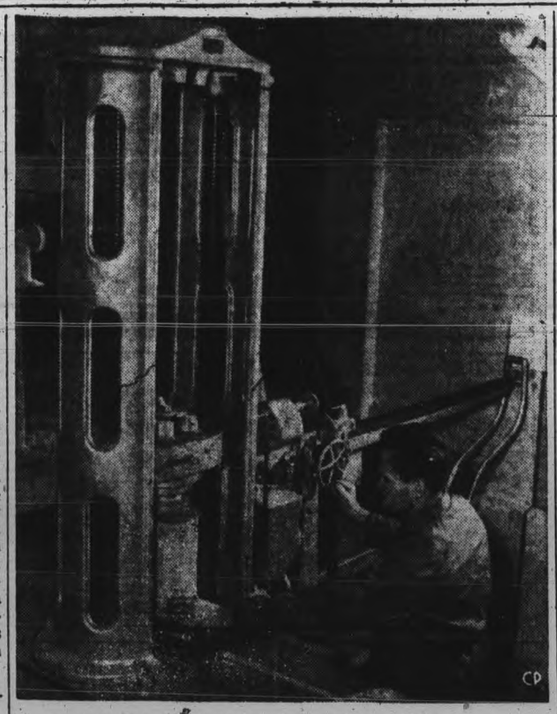
"Guinea Pig" School

RENFREW, Jan. 10—(CP)—The newly-opened public school in Renfrew is being used as a "guinea pig" for the new teaching system under study by the Ontario Department of Education with good results A. M. Gay, school principal said Monday. Mr. Gay, told a Rotary meeting that grades are divided with the rapid learners receiving the chance to use their extra capacity for learning; average pupils using normal capacity and slow learners getting the fundamentals without frills.

Remand 3 Youths

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Jan. 10—(CP)—Three youths Monday were remanded for sentence on charges arising out of widespread petty thievery last fall in five Ontario counties by a 20-member ring who told police they robbed because life was dull in Woodstock. Jerry Attaman, 20, was remanded to Jan. 17 for sentence when he pleaded guilty to two theft charges. Two brothers, John and Joseph Caskey, were remanded to the same date for sentence on two charges of theft.

Awarded $35,000



WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(CP)—Mrs. Hazel Edmonds of Southampton, Ont., has been awarded $35,000 in court for injuries suffered when a taxiing, sight-seeing airplane overturned on take-off at National Airport here in 1948. Her daughter received $1,250.

Discretion Needed

TORONTO, Jan. 10—(CP)—Judge Hawley S. Mott, head of Toronto's juvenile court, told the Ministerial Association of the United Church of Canada Monday it is doubtful whether a man who takes a case of beer home for the weekend will be damned. "That is, as long as he doesn't go off the deep-end," he added.

Divorce Settlement

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10 (AP)—Ingrid Bergman's lawyer announced Monday that he and her husband's lawyer "have worked out a basis for what we feel is a fair and equitable property settlement." The actress' lawyer, Greg Bautzer, returned after conferring in New York with Lawrence Brinn, counsel for Dr. Peter Lindstrom, Miss Bergban's husband. Lindstrom has refused to comment on his wife's plans to marry Roberto Rossellini, Italian film director.

TROUBLE-SHOOTER—H. P. Lackosky operates a big machine which tests the strength of concrete used in construction of federal government building projects. The machine, in the works department's laboratories at Ottawa presses small concrete cylinders until they crack—to see how much pressure they will stand. The laboratories take up 9,000 square feet of floor space in the basement of the West Block of the Parliament Buildings.

Guay's Trial Deferred Until February 13

QUEBEC, Jan. 10 (CP)—J. Albert Guay, the Quebec jeweller accused of murder in the Sault au Cochon air disaster Sept. 9, appeared briefly in court of King's Bench Monday as his trial was deferred to Feb. 13.

His lawyers protested the adjournment and said the Crown had created a special assizes term to try the jeweller, who allegedly arranged to have a time bomb placed on an airliner in which his wife was a passenger. All 23 aboard the plane were killed.

Mr. Justice Albert Sevigny put an end to defense counsel protests when he said simply next term

CNR Trains Cuts Upset CCF Delegates

By RENO RINALDI.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 10 (CP) — The CCF party Monday night wound up four days of deliberations with a parting shot directed at the administration of the Canadian National Railways.

In a statement released after the closed meeting, the conference criticized the railway's 25 per cent cut in passenger service and demanded immediate investigation of "a situation which justifies doubt regarding the motives and efficiency of the CNR administration."

The statement climaxed four days of meetings by the delegates —CCF members of Dominion and Provincial Houses and party officials—which opened Friday. An inter-provincial conference took place the first two days and the National Council met Sunday and Monday.

Can't Understand

"The council finds it difficult to understand why the Canadian Pacific Railway should be able to maintain its full services if the reason for the CNR cut is really shortage of coal as alleged," the statement said.

The council also censured what it termed the government's intention to drop the price support policy for agricultural products next August, and demanded that the Agricultural Prices Support Act "be made permanent legislation."

It advocated establishment of floor prices for eggs and potatoes and "appropriate action" on the floor prices on bacon.

To overcome the problem of food surpluses, the council urged adoption of national policies aimed at encouraging maximum consumption by Canadians and international policies that would make the surpluses "available to peoples needing them everywhere."

OVERHEATED HOMES CAUSE COLDS

We all look on the common cold as a nuisance. Few of us, however, take even the simple precautions to help ward off infection and prevent its spread. For example: getting lots of sleep, eating plain nourishing food, wearing sensible clothing indoors or out, maintaining an even and moderate temperature in the home. In other words, building resistance. Look after yourself during the danger days of winter. Help to avoid colds—the greatest single cause of lost time—lost work. That's "Good Citizenship".

Inspectors Find Grade IX Classes Crowded

All of PCVS Grade IX classes and some other classes are "much too large" Inspectors G. P. Hillmer and G. E. Johnson reported after their first joint inspection of the school.

Described by one veteran member of the Board as the most complete report I've ever seen from the Department of Education,' the seven-page document was generally favorable to the school but highly critical on many points as well.

(PCVS was chosen this year as one of the most complete schools to receive a joint inspection by a high school and a vocational school inspector. At this type of inspection which has been in operation by the Department of Education for the past three years, particular attention is given to details of school organization, administration, general services, accommodation and equipment.)

The general running of the school rather than the work being done in individual classrooms claimed the attention of the two Department officials during their visit lasting from November 28 to December 1.

Much To Large

Lack of accommodation is the main trouble, they pointed out.

'There are nine Grade IX classes, 10 Grade X classes, eight Grade XI classes, six Grade XII classes, two Grade XIII classes and, one Special Commercial," they reported. While many of the classes are of a size that permits satisfactory teaching conditions, all of the Grade IX classes and some combinations of other classes are much too large. Their size retards the achievement of the pupils, and throws an abnormally heavy load on the teachers."

"While the limited classroom accommodation is the primary cause of this unsatisfactory arrangement, we believe that some effort should have been made to obtain additional teachers when it was learned that the Grade IX enrolment was so much larger than that for which plans had been made."

Range of instruction offered in specialized shops and in the commercial department offers "wide opportunities,' stated the report. But the range of options in the collegiate courses is not as broad as that provided in several schools of similar type and size.

Lack of accommodation and the heavy demands on the present staff were again blamed for this condition.

Examining the matter of accommodation more closely the inspectors decided that most of the existing teaching space is used to the limits possible under a workable timetable. Although there is

ROTARY'S CIVIC LUNCHEON was held on Monday when city officials, members of Utilities and the Board of Education and the Separate School Board were guests. Guest speaker, Mayor M. J. Court Remands 3 Zahodniks

The three Zahodnik brothers, Paul, 28, and James, 34, Hamilton, and John, 37, Toronto, were remanded on two charges of assault until Jan. 17 in police court here today.

The three are charged with common assault against James Hogan, 26, of Lakefield and with assault occasioning actual bodily harm against a female, Hogan's wife, Hazel.

The assault was alleged to have taken place at the Melody Inn just north of Lakefield, Nov. 17, a short time before the murder of Jack Loucks in Lindsay. The brothers' companion, William Yuzwa, 32, was committed for trial in the murder of Loucks Dec. 16 The Zahodnik brothers were freed at the preliminary hearing the same day. Immediately after they were released on the murder charge they were taken into custody by provincial police and brought to Peterborough to be charged in police court here, the following day.

The four were then remanded on $1,000 bail each until today.

Baseball Club's Debt Of $400 Cancelled

Finance committee of the council cancelled the Peterborough Baseball Club liability to the city of $400 in Ald. A. B. Burrows' motion Monday night to receive the financial statement from the club.

"It would only be taking money from two citizens who have been a long time interested in baseball, and trying to keep us on the map" said Mayor Swanston.

The ball club's receipts were $5,092 and expenditure $5 329, for a deficit of $236.60. They also owe the city $400 and the minor baseball league $121.

There was some comment that cost of ticket sellers and takers was $10 a game, and that the city paid this fee, but did not arrange to lift anything out of the take. It was said that the city should at least have collected that item. The pay was eventually reduced from $10 to $5 to the gate staff.

Reaction of the committee was "there'll have to be a different set-up next year."

One Mill Deficit Forecast By Mayor Swanston

A deficit of one mill may possibly be the financial position of the city for 1949, Major M. J. Swanston told the Rotary Club at noon on Monday. The City Council, the Board of Education, the Public Utilities and the Separate School Board were guests at the Club's annual Civic Day meeting.

Mr. Swanston explained that although the financial accounting for the past year is not yet completed it would appear there would be a one-mill deficit. The city, he added, is different from business where, when substantial changes in cost or expansion occur it is usual to revise the production methods and the selling prices. When the city tax-rate is set in the early part of the year, it cannot be changed to meet new situations that come up through the year. Quite often, he, said, situations occur that involve more money than was estimated. That is what happened in 1949.

Board of Works' Costs

One of the largest items last year, according to Mr. Swanston, was the cost of operating the Board of Works, which has felt the brunt of the expansion of the city. This department did local improvements, paid for by the issue of debentures, to the amount of $350,000. This work was done in many of the new areas resulting in additional costs for roads, etc., for which no provision was made.

"I offer no apologies for any deficit which might have accrued in the various operations, and feel that considering all the factors involved that this was not too bad. except that it will have to be included in the present year's levies."

Everyone realizes, said Mr. Swanston, the increased burden of taxation being borne by the municipal property owner, due in part to the expansions and extensions in the city which directly affect the properties. The greatest increase is due to the assumption of obligations and services, which he explained, in the opinion of students of municipal affairs, should not be borne by the municipal property taxpayers, but by the provincial or federal governments. A few of these are: caring for the aged; neglected children; relief; administration of justice,

Youth Sentenced To 3 Months

Three of four youths who pleaded guilty Jan. 3 to charges of breaking, entry and theft of about $65 from Russelle's garage the night of Jan. 2, were placed on suspended sentences by Magistrate W. R. Philp K. C. in police court today.

The three were: John R. Shannon, 18, of 14 Mill St.; Leonard Titus, 18, of 194 Hunter St. E.; and Clinton Stockdale, 19, of RR 4, Peterborough.

The fourth, Roy Ellis, 19, RR 10, Peterborough, was sentenced to three months in jail. Ellis had been previously convicted on a charge of joy riding.

This is somewhat against my better judgment, Magistrate Philp said when he gave the three suspended sentences. He said he considered the charge a serious one which hardly called for suspended sentences.

J. C. N. Currelly, attorney for Stockdale, argued that Stockdale had never been in trouble before He said if Stockdale were imprisoned, he would learn from hardened criminals a good deal more about crime than he now knew. He said Stockdale had worked steadily until he took sick about two months ago.

Magistrate Philp commented if he gave Stockdale a suspended sentence, he would have to give Shannon and Titus, neither of whom has a police record, a suspended sentence as well.

In giving evidence, Detective W. A. Clarke testified that Shannon had been in Russelle's garage the night of the theft while John Russelle's son was locking up and had seen young Russelle hiding a cash box containing about $65.

Later the same night, said Detective Clarke, the four boys planned the breakin. They drove to the garage in Stockdale's father's car and Stockdale had gone into the garage through a rear window and come out with the cash which the boys shared.

About two hours later, the breakin was discovered by Constable Donald MacKay and the boys were rounded up.

Hughes Wants $52,000 For Land

For his 20 acres and house on Monaghan Road, south, expropriated by the city, Thomas Hughes is demanding $52,000

Finance committee of the council Monday night recommended the retaining of Carley and Standish in the expropriation proceedings.

It was said that Mrs. Nellie Zimmerman Conroy, a former housekeeper for Mr. Hughes claimed the property and was willing to settle with the city for $10,000.

City Clerk Outram commented that it would be up to the court to decide who owned the place and to whom the money should be paid after the value of the property was determined. A preliminary move would be to take possession.

It is understood that Mr Hughes has received from Mrs Conroy a written release of any claim which she might appear to have, and it was said today that she had merely looked after the interests of Mr. Hughes while he was "in some little difficulty requiring his absence from the city."

The city wants the property for several uses, such as housing and a site of the Collegiate Institute which will have to be built within the next few years. The claim in behalf of Mr. Hughes was received by the council from his solicitor, W. J. A. Fair, K. C.

ONTARIO BREEDER WINS—G. R. Schwab, operator of the Kawartha Chinchilla Ranch at Peterborough, was awarded the coveted Show Champion Trophy at the Quebec NCBC show when his entry, Kawartha 32-C, was judged best animal in the meet. It also won the "best male" award. With Schwab is Mrs. W. G. Heughan, of Sutton, Que., whose chinchilla was judged "best female". Incidentally, that hat Mrs. Heughan is wearing is made of casualty chinchilla pelts, one-and-a-half of them.

To Abandon Idea Expropriating Street Extension

Expropriation of a right of way through Morrow Park for the extension of George St., south to McGill St., was abandoned for the present at least, in a recommendation by the finance committee of the council Monday night.

Rescinding of the bylaw passed in August 1948 authorizing action to expropriate was proposed in a motion by Ald. Hurrell Dodds, seconded by Ald. A. B. Burrows. Voting with them were: Aldermen Adam Sands, J. E. Gillespie, J. A. Dewart and Mayor Swanston.

Negative votes on the motion were not called by Ald. Hugh Waddell, chairman, in view of the affirmative majority. The other members present, with full attendance, were: Aldermen Doug. Miller, P. J. Anglesey, Herbert Young and Ernest C. Braund.

Bid To Re-open Question

The decision of the committee was frankly a bid to the Peterborough Exhibition directors for an amicable re-opening of discussion of the street project. A motion by Mayor Swanston, seconded by Ald. Sands, recommended that the Exhibition Board be requested to meet representatives of the council, and also that the members of the Morrow Trust be invited.

This question was revived, Mayor Swanston said, in the possibility that expropriations "might be in the courts any day now." He said City Solicitor Huycke had applied to Judge S. L. Smoke for a date of hearing.

Ald. Waddell recalled that Mr. Huycke had given an opinion at the time the bylaw was being considered to the effect that expropriation of a street allowance through the park would break the Morrow Trust. Subsequently, Mr. Huycke obtained the legal opinion of three Toronto lawyers. concurring in the advice that expropriation by the city would result in nullification of the Morrow deed of gift. If the city desired the land for purposes of its own, it would have to buy it. There was also mentioned a point of severance, because the property was given by Mr. Harold Morrow in memory of his father Herbert A. Morrow, as an entire block

"There has been no change since the bylaw was passed," Ald. Waddell said. "It does not now seem to be the best part of wisdom to proceed with expropriation, because the bylaw was not good for the reason that we did not have all the facts and opinions.

At that time, expropriation appeared to be the best thing to do when we were looking for a site for the Memorial Community Centre. Since it is now evident that the Centre cannot be built on any part of that park, the question is before the council whether it would be better to rescind the bylaw."

Board Chief Objectors

Ald. Doug Miller said the Trust had not objected so much as the Exhibition Board. "The directors said that, if a concrete road strip was laid through the park, exhibitors of high class cattle would not show here. They said cattle might slip and fall on the concrete, and if such exhibitors did not come, the class of the Exhibition would be lowered. The directors were quite definite in their objection. A great deal of thought has been given to this matter. Some people think the Exhibition should be held outside the city, and that the park should be divided into building lots, and both George and Aylmer Streets extended through it."

City Clerk Outram explained that the gift of Morrow Park was chiefly for agricultural purposes, such as the Exhibition; if declined for that use, it reverted to the city as a public park; and if the city did not wish to accept it, the property passed back into the hands of the Morrow Trust to be disposed of as they saw fit by sale, the proceeds to be paid to the estate and heirs of Mr. Morrow.

Ald. Young remarked that if the land was regarded as agricultural property the value should not be excessive.

Mr. Outram mentioned the point of severance or disturbing the unity and wholeness of the property. It was to be retained in one block. He said it might cost the city $100,000 if the council tried to buy it.

Mayor Swanston said that if expropriation was dropped, the council could make a new approach to the Exhibition Board. He used the phrase "peaceful penetration", and Ald. Dewart, "a diplomatic approach".

"Expropriation was forced on us," His Worship said, after Ald. Burrows remarked "that this is no time for going into expropriation in view of the tax position," and Ald. Anglesey had suggested a request to Mr. Huycke to submit a new digest of the legal opinion on the Trust phases for the benefit of the new council.

"What about those ratepayers in the south end who petitioned the council for the road through the park?" Ald. Braund enquired.

"If we rescind the bylaw we can go to the Exhibition directors with everything clean and above board," Ald. Dodds said in presenting his motion.

"If we go to them on an amicable basis we might get satisfaction for all concerned," Ald. Waddell said. And to Ald. Braund, he added, "If the people down there know the facts, I think they will agree with us."

MAIN ST. TOPICS

Foresters Instal New Officers

Officers for the 1950 year of the Canadian Order of Foresters, Court of Peterborough No. 29 were installed Monday night by District Fieldman, Arthur Reynolds, assisted by Past Chief Ranger, R. Brown, acting as High Marshal.

Ellwood Reynolds, Chief Ranger elect, in his inaugural address thanked the members for electing him as their leader for the coming year.

The past year was reported to be one of the most successful in the history of the Canadian Forestery in Peterborough.

Officers for 1950 are: PCR Harold Hamilton; CR Ellwood Reynolds; VCR Clifford Westman; chaplain, Frank Burkett; treasurer, Walter Booth; financial secretary, James Kelly; recording secretary, Errol Hess; SWB, Gordon Blackwell; Jr. W., Mel Hunter; Sr. M., Maurice Martin; Jr. B., Roy Wilfong; auditors, Harold Hamilton, Roy Bannister; trustees. David Gray, Jack Murray.

Freezing Rain Ties Up Highway Traffic

For the best part of an hour early today a freezing rain glazed highways and roads in the Peterborough district causing motor traffic to slow down to a crawl or stop altogether.

Bus schedules were interrupted and in some instances cancelled. Many commuters — particularly office workers—who rely on private cars or buses to take them to work arrived anywhere from 15 minutes to half an hour late

No serious accidents were reported although there were several minor ones.

Two of them occurred on Highway 7, a mile and a half west of Omemee. No one was hurt in either.

The first occurred at 7:50 a.m. when the east bound Colonial bus skidded down the highway leaving the road at the foot of the hill near W. D. Weir's gate. It clipped off a post; hit a maple tree; swung around and just missed another tree and came to rest with one wheel in the ditch.

The five passengers were taken on by cars to their destinations.

At 9 a.m. a Wilson's transport, also eastbound, turned over on the hill opposite the residence of Harry Griffin. It came to rest against the guard rail with a brokeh axle and rack. Its load was transferred to another truck before it could be righted.

The highway was sanded about 10 a.m.

Collision at Springville

Minor damage was caused on the downslope of the Springville hill when a large soft-drink truck rammed into the rear of a car on the shoulder of the road.

When the icy surface was about at its worst at 8 a.m. the car of Albert Warne, Park St., slid off the travelled portion of Highway 28 and onto the shoulder of the road. Shortly afterwards another southbound vehicle—this time a Coca Cola truck driven by Don Campbell of London St.—repeated the manoeuvre as it came over the crest of the steep hill and started down the other side.

The truck slid into the back of Warne's car smashing the trunk and puncturing the gasoline tank. There was no damage to the truck.

Provincial Police Cpl. Lloyd McClure investigated.

Another car was reported in the ditch opposite the Lillico farm.

Trip Cancelled

Colonial Coach Lines cancelled their 7.40 bus to Toronto and the 7.45 to Lindsay. There was some doubt that the 11:15 a.m. would go to Lindsay but the change on the road surface from ice to slush meant that the normal schedule would be resumed.

Good Year's Work Reported by WA

BETHANY, Jan. 10.—(ENS).—The January meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church was held at the home of the president, Mrs. J. J. Hamilton, with an attendance of fourteen. The devotional period was led by Mrs. Alan Gribble. The secretary, Mrs. G. L. Jarvis, read the minutes of the previous meeting and dealt with the correspondence.

The treasurer, Miss Winnifred Nesbitt, presented a most satisfactory report, showing the proceeds for the year's work to be $482.00. All obligations and pledges were met in full, a donation of $150.00 was given to the wardens of the church as well as $25.00 toward the allotments. Nine dollars was sent to St. Faith's Bishops' Messengers and $30.00 had been given towards the Sunday school Christmas supper and entertainment, which was sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary, assisted by the Ladies' Guild. Fees for the new year were paid, and a new member, Mrs. H. Rayson, was welcomed.

Committees Named

Committees were appointed to take care of all branches of the work. The work committee reported several orders already filled and a number of new orders for sewing received.

It was decided to make a bale of clothing for Europe, the packing to be done at the home of Mrs. William Phillips on January 27. Mrs. Phillips also offered her home for the February meeting. Following the closing prayer by Mrs. T. S. Gault, a social hour was spent when tea was served by the hostess and her committee.

What's Right

You have accepted the invitation of a close friend and later are invited to a large party you hate to miss.

WRONG WAY: Accept the party invitation, telling the friend you know she will understand.

RIGHT WAY: Be at least as considerate of your friends as you are of those you know only slightly. Not letting other invitations interfere with the plans you make with friends is one way of showing such consideration.

A circus elephant, on a loafing diet, will eat five pound of bran, 10 pound of oats, 60 pounds of hay, and 40 pounds of legumes daily.

Jackaline Brown Becomes Wife Of Egbert Duffus

The marriage took place in Sacred Heart Church on Saturday of Jackaline, youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs. R. H. Brown and Egbert Duffus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Duffus. The Rev. G. F. Sullivan officiated.

White 'mums and red carnations decorated the altar. The wedding music was played by Mr. J. Armstrong.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin with long train edged with Chantilly lace. The skirt was caught up at front to show tiers of lace bordering the underskirt.

She wore a train length veil of tulle illusion crested with a chaplet of lily-of-the-valley, Bettertime roses and white carnations, with forget-me-note caught in streamers, formed the bridal bouquet.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Jack Dinsdale, who wore a gown of mauve brocaded satin and nylon with a princess style bodice and gathered skirt. She wore mittens and a tiara veiled hat of matching color, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Mr. Vince Duffus was his brother's groomsman.

The reception was held at the Club Aragon. The bride's mother received, wearing a grey tissue faille dress with black accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses. The groom's mother also received, wearing a brushed navy blue dress with grey accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Later the bride and groom motored to Detroit. For travelling the bride wore a beige wool jersey dress with green accessories and a mouton shortie coat, and corsage of yellow baby 'mums and roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Duffus will live in Peterborough.

New Hospital Opens July Women's Auxiliary Told

New Civic Hospital will be open by the end of July, at the latest, John R. Marshall, chairman of the board of governors, told the Women's Auxiliary at its annual meeting Monday in the YWCA. "The new building will be open," Mr. Marshall said, "and the nurses' residence completed. As far as I can see, there will be no need for any patient to go to the Argyle St. hospital after July."

The auxiliary's library made twice weekly visits to patients throughout the year, except during July and August, Mrs. Eva Fanjoy reported on behalf of the library committee.

A total of 92 visits were made resulting in a circulation of 2,151. Circulation of magazines and periodicals was 901 adults and 20 juveniles; non-fiction books, 98 adults and one juvenile; fiction, 1,152 adults and 52 juvenile.

The library has a stock of 600 books of fiction and non-fiction and more than 100 small paperbacked books. It subscribes to 12 magazines and Peterborough chapter of the Hadassah presents one subscription to "Life" magazine.

Expenses of running the library amounted to $226.78 during 1949, the cost of a new cart being $70. Miss Fanjoy expressed thanks to Miss Genevieve Sullivan of the Public Library staff for her assistance in guiding the committee in its clerical work and choice of new books.

Make 100 Trips

The travelling tuck shop made 100 trips to patients, Miss Margaret A. English reported for the tuck committee. This entailed an average of 80 bedside visits each trip.

Although the committee was primarily concerned with giving flowers were made available to the committee at graduation time and candy at Christmas. A radio had been loaned for a week at Christmas.

Ferns in the waiting room had been replaced by sturdier plants.

Mrs. William Ovens reported the transportation for nurses to and from the Baccalaureate service, Board members providing their cars. When the new class of nurses, was entertained at a theatre party, Board members provided cars and transportation was provided, on request, for a guest artist.

YWCA Members

Each student nurse was given a full membership to the YWCA. Mrs. Lilliam Graham reported on behalf of the nurses in training committee. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Miller entertained the new class at the theatre and Mr. and Mrs. McRae opened their home to them for further entertainment after the show, when refreshments were served by the Auxiliary.

A gift of records was made at Christmas.

The bedside nursing prize of $50 was won by Miss C. Brownsell. Two bursaries of $50 each were provided annually by the Auxiliary. No students had applied during 1949, Mrs. R. D. Taylor announced on behalf of Miss A. Thomson, superintendent of nurses, who was unable to attend because of illness.

Mrs. A. Taylor reported 3,918 general members and 113 life members, an increase of 142 general and one life member. Total receipts for membership subscriptions amounted to $990.35 and $10.85 was received in donations.

Penny Sale Proceeds

Proceeds from the penny sale in May were $1,602.47, Mrs. Eva Fanjoy, recording secretary, reported.

Number of Board members was increased from 30 to 45, 15 retiring every year.

Miss E. Morrow said $36.48 had been received from the Summer Theatre and $63.78 from Michael Sadlier, director of the theatre.

Total assets of the Auxiliary are $14,685.15, Mrs. Frank Barrie reported. This sum is made up of $243 petty cash, $487.19 savings, $5,308.51 special savings, $386.25 Dominion of Canada bonds life membership $1,500, and special savings $7,000.

Publicity Theme At W.I. Meeting

HAVELOCK, Jan. 10—(ENS)—Mrs. A. Anderson addresser the January meeting of the Havelock Women's Institute on "Publicity." She dealt with the necessity of telling the public what the organization is doing and the methods used to convey this information which included radio, fair exhibits, printed programs, public speakers and self-publicity.

The latter, she said, was the most important factor because every member should be a publicity agent.

The Institute is a homemaking organization, Mrs. Sanderson said. It depends on the kind of member you are, what kind of publicity you give your branch.

A pattern for the quilt to be made for the county competition later in the year was chosen and the following committee was appointed to purchase the material, cut and make the blocks: Mrs. R. J. McCutcheon, Mrs. W. Johnston, Mrs. R. Melville, Mrs. A. Anderson and Mrs. Jewett.

Library Under WI

After a lengthy discussion it was decided to operate the library under the direct supervision of the Institute and not by a Library Board. It will be open from 2 to 5 p.m. on the first Monday of each month with Mrs. R. Anderson as librarian. The fee is one dollar per year. All fees received are to be used to purchase new books.

"Grandmother's Day" will be observed at the February meeting and the following committee was named to arrange a program for that occasion: Mrs. S. Southward, Mrs. G. Rigby, Mrs. H. W. Roche and Mrs. W. Rice.

Letters of thanks were read from recipients of Christmas Cheer boxes, the organization having sent 12 cheer boxes, three small gifts and 20 cards to the sick and shut-ins.

Jo-Ann Kennedy and Larry Sayers entertained with songs and dances with Mrs. G. Kennedy as accompanist. Hostesses for the tea hour were Mrs. H. Pollock, Mrs. J. Hoffman and Mrs. W. Rice.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Unfair to Girl for Man To Keep Intentions Secret

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think a young man should tell a girl of his intentions toward her, when he is out of a job? For the last four years I have been going steady with a girl whom I admire very much, and who I know cares for me. I know she is anxious to know my intentions toward her, but I hate to satisfy her curiosity considering I have nothing to guarantee my promises.

ANXIOUS YOUNG MAN.

ANSWER: Tell her. Set her mind at rest as to the state of your feelings toward her. She is certainly entitled to that much as compensation for the hopes you have evidently aroused in her bosom by four years of assiduous attentions to her.

Your hesitation in telling the girl that you love her when you can't offer her even an engagement ring does credit to your sense of honor and chivalry, but you know women are queer creatures and just to know that a man loves them, whether anything comes of it or not is a pride and a joy to them that perhaps no man ever understands.

Curiosity Natural

You speak about the girl friend's curiosity about your intentions. Good grief. Why shouldn't she be curious? If you had built all your hopes and plans around a man, wouldn't you take an interest in knowing what he intended doing?

Every girl who has a grain of sense in her head should try to find out as soon as possible what a man's attitude toward her is —whether he is just good for a pleasant evening now and then o whether he is o potential steady date for dinner as long as she lives. Then she can make up her mind whether to waste any more time on him or not.

If he doesn't speak, how is she to know whether he cares for her or not? She can only assume that his silence indicates that he is indifferent to her, and in that event the wise thing for her to do is to quit seeing him and turn her affections toward some more responsive man. For nothing on earth is more pathetically hopeless and tragical than for a woman to go on loving a man who doesn't love her, trying vainly to win a heart that is steeled against her, kidding herself into the belief that some miracle will turn his affections toward her.

DEAR MISS DIX: A boy in the glamour of youth married a girl who did not keep up with him in his growth, and whom he found in his mature years an utterly uncongenial mate. He has found the one woman as she has found him. They both know. That is all. There has been no philandering. They both feel that there is nothing to do but carry on and take what little joy there is in a love like that. But it is something to keep one's honor unsullied if the heart does not go on a rampage.

ONE OF THEM.

ANSWER: Indeed, it is, and it takes the bravest of the brave to be able to say: "I could not love thee, dear, so much, loved I not honor more."

I often think that no martyrs ever lived who are so worthy of our profoundest reverence as are those men and women who endure patiently and silently the long, drawn-out agony of unhappy marriages. There is no tragedy greater than that of the husband and wife who outgrow their mates and who must not only go companionless upon their ways but endure the daily close contact of those who rub their nerves raw and who weary them to tears.

And the very bitterest drop in this tragedy is that so cruelly often the husband and wife do find the woman and man whose heart and soul would have answered unto theirs and with whom they could have been supremely happy. It takes heroes then to remember that poor, dull wife and husband are not to blame and that an honest man and woman must pay their score to life and put honor before inclination.

DEAR MISS DIX: Here is a bachelor's dilemma: I have had an affair with a married woman, but never contemplated its ending in marriage. She went to Reno for a divorce and has now come back expecting me to marry her. In the meantime I have done some thinking. Honestly when I think of her as mistress for a wife I almost die of palsy. Everything rotten comes into my mind. What I want to do is to take the first boat out and forget her. Would you?

DAVE.

ANSWER: I think I should, after having given her as liberal a check as I could afford. Because there would be no happiness in such a marriage for either her or you.

A man who marries a woman from a sense of duty invariably comes to treat her cruelly. Moreover a married woman who enters into an illicit relationship with a man has less claim on him than a young girl has because she knows just what she is doing. But those who dance have to pay the piper, and the price comes high even for a bachelor, doesn't it, brother?

MOVIE COLUMN

Dorothy Lamour Still Has That Figure

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10 (AP)—Despite reports to the contrary, Dorothy Lamour's figure is as whistle-evoking as ever.

When the glamour girl's contract with RKO was settled, it was reported that the studio tried to cancel the pact, claiming her shape was not what it used to be. Recent photos disprove that allegation.

Now that her RKO and Paramount pacts have been ended, she is without a studio tie for the first time in her Hollywood career. What's more, she likes it that way.

Cuff Notes

Jane Wyman and Ronald Reagan, working at Warners in different pictures, lunch together. They are apparently that Hollywood rarity—the friendly divorce couple . . .

Frank and Perc Westmore have perfected new screen makeup for Ginger Rogers in "Storm Centre." It hides her freckles but doesn't look like the pasty masks of former years. The Westmore's plan to market the makeup. But what's wrong with freckles? . . .

Dana Andrews' next is "Where The Sidewalk Ends" (meaning—The Gutter.) It is about a tough cop, and 20th Fox will beat Paramount's expensive "Detective Story" to the punch; they're similar stories . . .

Paramount is queried almost every week about Bing Crosby death rumors . . .

Capsule Review

"Dear Wife" (Par.) is almost as funny as "Dear Ruth." It has the same cast and a similar carefree plot — this time Edward Arnold and son-in-law William Holden run for the same office. The funny situation are played to the hilt by the cast. Other mainstays include Joan Caulfield, Mona Freeman and Billy DeWolfe.

A survey estimates that average working hours in 1950 will be around 41 hours a week; in 1960, about 38 hours per week.

Mrs. C. G. Boyd Talks at Lily Lake

LILY LAKE, Jan. 10 (ENS)—Mrs. Wm. Steinkrauss was hostess to the members of the Lily Lake WA for their monthly meeting. Mrs. Arthur Eggleston was co-hostess.

The president, Mrs. George Middleton, presided when prayer was offered by, Mrs. J. A. Middleton and the scripture reading was read by Mrs. Everett Tully.

The treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Middleton, reported $20.27 had been made at a bake sale held recently on the market.

The speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. C. G. Boyd, who spoke on their trip to Scotland when her husband, Rev. C. G. Boyd, exchanged pulpits with Rev. Smellie of Perth.

A very hearty vote of thanks was given Mrs. Boyd by Mrs. Gordon Hancock.

A nominating committee was appointed and officers are to be installed at the next meeting.

Cards of thanks were read from Mr. Sam Dickson for a gift sent to him at the Christmas season and also from Mrs. Gordon Hancock and Mrs. George Middleton for flowers and cards sent to their mothers, Mrs. Falls, during her recent illness.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Evans McConkey of Bridgenorth.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses.

One Mill Deficit

health and education. Relief from some of these must come either by increased grants or some other plan.

Mr. Swanston said that he believed good progress has been made in the public works program. In the Fall the city auditor made an analysis of the various contemplated projects and prepared an estimate of the possible costs over a period of years.

Increase In Tax Rate

"While this analysis showed an upward rise in tax rate, it was by no means a pessimistic outlook. Many public works have been deferred for a number of years and the time has come when many of these must be done."

The Mayor said that, providing the present council and future councils stay to those works which are definitely essential, the tax rate should not be too burdensome.

During the past year some $2,000,000 in debentures were issued by the city and sold at a favorable rate, he explained. Of the amount mentioned $1,500,000 was for the new hospital and nurses' residence which makes a total of $2,100,000 now issued in debentures for this project. The waterworks department issued $200,000 worth of debentures. The balance of debentures were for local improvements such as sewers and walks, the charge divided between the general taxpayer and the owner of properties benefiting by the works.

When the necessary connections are made on the pipes crossing Little Lake, the Ashburnham water supply and the sewage problem will be overcome. Mr. Swanston said then aquatic sports and swimming can be held in Little Lake. The work on the sewage disposal plant has already started and should be completed this year.

Debenture Debt Increase

"Our debenture debt will naturally be increased by the issuing of debentures for these projects already started but not yet completed and for the new projects to be carried out in 1950."

Referring to the assessment made last Fall for the 1950 tax levies it is encouraging to note that there is an increase in assessment over the previous year of some $1,700,000 with an increase of 600 population. He said he hoped this growth would continue in order that the tax burden can be spread over a greater number.

"Our Industrial Commission is quite active in its efforts to induce new industries to locate here. We believe that we have facilities for a good normal growth along that line which would continue to increase assessment amounts."

Mr. Swanston told the club that this year Peterborough is celebrating 100 years of incorporation. During that time, he added, there have been many great developments in the city, leaving a city of which everyone is proud.

From time to time throughout the year, he added, it is hoped to hold interesting events to mark the centenary. Some of these are: opening of the new civic hospital and nurses' residence; an aquatic sports day on Little Lake; a warriors' day or veterans' day; a play depicting events in Peterborough written by Robertson Davies; a manufacturers' day; the turning of the first sod in the building of the city and, and perhaps the Memorial Centre.

"Peterborough has grown steadily, industrially and in populations, and there is no reason to think this growth will not continue. Our ancestors left us a wonderful legacy and it is up to us as citizens to preserve it and make it better in the coming years."

Mr. Swanston was introduced by G. S. Matthews and thanked by T. J. Carley, K.C.

Sid Black introduced the civic guests, the Rotarian guests and visitors to the meeting.

New Spring Dresses Simple, Short and Full of Swing

By EPSIE KINARD

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The dance into spring will be aided by dresses that are short and simple but full of swing.

What continues to keep the ankle-length evening dress in the fashion whirl are fabrics with fresh appeal which take their patterns from old Spanish shawls and their colors from old wines.

One dream-dress of burgundy-colored chiffon, for example, is Eisenberg's gift to the party girl. An ankle-length skirt that floats full circle is made to look like sheer confection, with tucked chiffon bands sewed row-on-row from waistline to hem. Above it is a shirred camisole bodice and a waist-lining belt of burgundy-colored velvet.

The fabric with a subtle overlay of Iberian beige print over a background of deeper tone is new damask cotton. It takes its rich design from the rose-embroidered pattern of an old Spanish shawl. This fabric, a Tina Leser brainwave she worked out with cotton mills, is used by this designer to make a dress as Spanish in feeling as Carmen's dance. Over the bare-topped bodice this one wool-fringed scarf, and another swings out from the waistline of a full, ankle-length skirt.

Quebec Ready To Co-operate On Constitution

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (CP)—Premier Duplessis told the opening session of the Federal-Provincial Constitutional Conference today that Quebec sought to co-operate in the achievement of a system for final settlement of constitutional questions in Canada.

Delivering his opening remarks in French, Premier Duplessis said he and members of his delegation had come to the conference with "open minds" and to "co-operate."

"I believe that at the start, the position should be clear," he said. "Quebec is in favor, almost unanimously in favor, of a Canadian tribunal sitting in Canada and deciding Canadian problems finally.

"Quebec is almost unanimous in the belief that the Canadian Constitution, drawn up in Canada, should be applied by Canadians according to the spirit prevailing in 1867."

No Language Rights

The Quebec Premier who drew a round of applause when he rose from his conference-table seat at Prime Minister St. Laurent's left-hand, said he thought it was wrong to believe, for instance, that confederation had conferred "language rights."

"The constitution merely recognized language rights already existing," he said.

Premier Duplessis said he believed sincerely it was not reasonable for the Federal authorities which were one of the parties involved in confederation to have the right to "choose the arbiters" who would decide constitutional issues.

He added that he believed all constitutional issues should have been discussed at the conference—"even the question recently decided by the Federal Parliament."

Quebec sought to co-operate toward the "greatness of Canada" under a system by which the rights of all would be respected.

Conciliation Board Reviewing Dispute

A Conciliation Board, under the chairmanship of Judge W. S. Lane of Picton, commenced sitting today in Peterborough in an endeavor to break the deadlock between the Peterborough Lock Co. and Local 527 UE on contract negotiations.

The 180 workers in the bargaining unit are asking for a reduction in the work week from 45 to 40 hours; the same take-home pay, and a substantial wage increase.

The anniversary date of the contract was September 30 but it has been extended by mutual agreement to seven days after the report of the Conciliation Board.

Besides Judge Lane on the Board there is McAuley Dillon, KC, Toronto, Company nominee, and Drummond Wren, Toronto, secretary of the WEA, Union nominee. The meeting began at 11 a.m. in the Public Library.

Presenting the Union brief will be UE district representatives John Rowley and Jeff Hurley. For the Company will be E. H. Howson, president; Robert Maybee, vice president and general manager; Claude Bastable, secretary-treasurer; Al Heideman, personnel manager and Don Pyle, of the Industrial Relations Institute, Toronto.

Macdonald Asks Ottawa Make Policy Clear

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 — (CP) — Premier Macdonald of Nova Scotia today told the Dominion-Provincial Conference that the Federal Government should make clear what it considers to be the Canadian Constitution.

In his opening remarks to the conference, he said that Prime Minister St. Laurent had written the provinces last fall suggesting that a meeting be held to consider ways of amending the constitution on matters within the joint jurisdiction of the Dominion and the Provinces.

Following that letter, the Canadian Parliament had obtained the power to amend the constitution on matters within federal jurisdiction. The amendment passed by the United Kingdom Parliament stated in the preamble that the Canadian Parliament would hereafter have the right to amend from time to time the "constitution of Canada."

Should Make It Clear

Mr. Macdonald said he wondered if that meant that the Canadian Parliament could amend any section of the constitution except those specifically excluded. If it did not mean that then the Federal Government should tell the conference what sections it felt Parliament could amend.

Until the sections were enumerated he felt it would be impossible for the present conference to proceed.

Nova Scotia assumed that the present conference will not attempt to draft a procedure for amending the constitution. It hoped the conference would explore the views of all concerned in the effort to obtain a basis of agreement in general terms, capable of being put into the form of a draft statute after further discussion by a committee appointed by the conference.

The conference could reconvene at a later date and possibly reach agreement on amending procedure.

Freezing Rain

workers in industry arrived from such centres as Hastings, Havelock and Omemee without incident. Cancellations came later when the freezing rain began to catch hold on the highways and glaze them over.

The Ferguson Line 8 a.m. bus to Lakefield carrying the mail was held up for some time. It got as far as the waterworks and then pulled to the side of Highway 28 to wait for the Department's sander to arrive.

The Warsaw bus continued its early morning run without interruption.

The long hill at Lang on the Sixth Line of Otonabee presented a hazard and problem to drivers of cars and buses. At 8.30 when the school bus approached the hill the roads had not been sanded. Ivan Fletcher got out of the driver's seat and patrolled the road ahead for a thousand feet before attempting to take the bus that was loaded with school children and office workers due in the city at 8.40 a.m. up the long grade.

Careful handling of the vehicle brought it safely to the highway where conditions were better. It was a half hour later arriving in Peterborough.

Commuters from Lakefield were held up for nearly an hour as they waited for the Department of Highways sanding truck to make its rounds.

Occasionally a heavy type vehicle would try to start up but it would only slither along the highway and the effort would be abandoned.

Eventually the mixture of warm rain and sand allowed tires to get a purchase and the long line of stalled cars containing impatient passengers slowly began to move.

City bus schedules were slowed down between 8 a.m. and 8.30, but the drivers soon caught up when the ice melted. For nearly three-quarters of an hour five-miles-an-hour was top speed in Peterborough.

Seven or eight cars were stranded at Charlotte and Monaghan Rds. during that period. The line of immobile vehicles stretched from the bend of the road near the Wartime Housing to Monaghan.

The 8.05 George-Benson bus did not even attempt to climb the Benson St. hill.

By 9 a.m. the ice in the district had disappeared and the traffic tie up dissolved as well.

Pool Trains Curtail Parlor Car Service

TORONTO, Jan. 10 — (CP) — Parlor-car service on Toronto-Montreal pool trains is being curtailed because of the coal shortage, a railways spokesman said here today.

The curtailment is effective Friday and Sunday of each week when chair-cars are reduced to three, two of which go on to Montreal, and the other to Ottawa. On ordinary days, pool trains have six parlor cars.

"Reasons for the change is to enable us to put on more coaches to carry more passengers since the trains operate only one section instead of two," the spokesman said.

HER NIGHT OUT—Charles Kane, of Windsor, anxiously clutches his daughter, Noreen, 7, after the missing child was found following an all-night police search. Noreen had spent the night with a girl friend, without telling her parents. Kane spotted his daughter in the street, as she strolled with friends.

Rate Of Ontario Mill Accidents Reduced Greatly In 20 Years

TORONTO, Jan. 10 —(CP)— Douglas Chant, manager of the Ontario Pulp and Paper Makers' Safety Association, said that between 1929 and 1949 the rate of accidents in Ontario mills has been reduced from 50 in 1,000,000 man-hours to 19.

In a submission Monday to a public inquiry into the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Act, he said:

"The tragedy is that we have to present our progress in a dollar measurement. We have no unit of measurement in anguish, blood and bone. But if the rate had remained as it was in 1929, then 170 more men would have died and 27,444 more would have had serious disabling accidents."

It is important to have top-flight management on a safety association directorate, Mr. Chant said. He believed that eventually labor should be there as well.

He said it is his personal opinion that an advisory committee on accident prevent should be set up. It would include representatives of Labor, Management, the Workmen's Compensation Board and the Ontario Department of Labor, Mines and Health.

Must Obey Rules

C. H. Kercher, president of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations, said that if safety regulations were to be enforced by law, both employer and worker must be made subject to penalties for breaking the rules.

William Jenoves, president of the Toronto District Labor Council (AFL) said the Compensation Board should give safety inspectors authority to enforce their rulings. He said he knew that some inspectors had found hazards but had been unable to have the danger removed or to have work done stopped on the jobs, since at present the inspectors can only suggest changes.

Russell Harvey, organizer for the American Federation of Labor, urged that accident prevention associations be placed under the supervision of the Compensation Board. He suggested that an advisory committee representing both management and labor be set up to help the board frame safety regulations.

Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, inquiry commissioner, asked whether the unions themselves have any safety associations or committees.

"Yes, the union negotiation committee," replied Mr. Harvey.

"Nonsense," said Mr. Justice Roach. "With all due respect, I say 'nonsense.' I've sat on too many conciliation boards to believe that negotiating committees are accident prevention committees."

Inspector Finds

still available a marginal amount of classroom accommodation, the limit has been reached in a number of the specialized rooms and shops.

While extra forms might be made available this would necessitate use of the library and auditorium for part of the time. It was conceded there is little opportunity for expansion in the gymnasia, typing room and most of the shops.

"...An increase in the number of classes could be accommodated in the existing building only by the introduction of a 'staggered' timetable. An undesirable feature of this arrangement is the lack of cafeteria; at present classrooms are used for lunch purposes."

Another criticism made by he inspectors was the maintenance of the building.

"Our inspection of the school plant left us with the feeling that, over a period of years, maintenance had not kept pace with depreciation. Despite highly commendable recent improvements, much of the school is shabby. Only about 40 per cent of the classrooms have been decorated in the past five years; many lockers are in poor condition; and many desks need repair and refinishing. The washrooms are not a credit to the school."

Because of the "poor condition" of many of the classroom floors caretaking is made more difficult.

Many of the teachers informed the inspectors it was difficult to keep rooms clean when the floors were so poorly finished and when there are inadequate storage facilities for supplies and equipment.

Said Not Good

Ventilation of the school was described as "not good."

Says the report: "We visited classrooms where windows were open but the temperature remained over 80 degrees. There were frequent references to lack of humidity in the air. It appears that there is no adequate automatic control of heat and humidity in the school heating and ventilating system."

Another feature of the overcrowding pointed out by the inspectors was the inability of teachers and pupils to move freely. In some rooms, it was claimed, side blackboards could not be used for this reason.

Lack of storage space for pupils' books in certain rooms results in congestion in aisles or on the tops of desks, where work space is at a premium.

Two hazards were singled out: a fire hazard in the attic and one of the art storage rooms, and broken balance benches in the girls' gymnasium which could cause injury to students.

Excellent progress has been made in the improvement of artificial lighting during recent years, htey reported, but in a few rooms improvement is still desirable.

Inspectors Hillmer and Johnson stated that while sections of the report sounded critical they did not overlook the "excellent improvements" which have been made recently and still others which are planned.

"We are pleased to note, also," said the inspectors, "that the teachers, in replying to the questionnaire which we submitted to them, expressed appreciation for the improved physical facilities which have been provided in a number of instances."

Included in the redecoration program for the past year were a number of classrooms, the woodshop, the sewing room, and the teachers' rooms. Some floors were also refinished.

Lighting was improved in the wood shop, sewing room and the gymnasium and stage.

Wm. H. Galloway Buried

Rev. B. Morewood of Mark St. United Church assisted by Rev. E. Rowland of Grace United Church conducted the funeral services on Monday afternoon of the late Mr. William Henry Galloway from the funeral home of A. Comstock.

Mr. Galloway passed away at hospital following a short illness. He was a member of Stewart United Church.

Pallbearers were Robin Thorn, James Dewart, Jack Johnston, Ferd Deyell, Edward Butler and Stewart Whittington.

Surviving are three sisters, Miss Grace Galloway at home, Mrs. Fred Galloway of Jamestown, N.Y., Mrs. W. Padgett of Toronto and one brother Fred at home.

Interment was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Crashes Cruiser In Ravine, Saves Boy's Life

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—Crashing his police cruiser headlong down a 35 foot ravine, Quebec Provincial Constable Henri Decotret of Aylmer was credited with fast thinking which saved the life of a seven-year-old boy Monday.

Blinded by snow from a passing truck, the officer did not see Raymond Fortin of Luskville run into the cruiser's path until there were only a few feet to spare. The officer was on highway patrol through Luskville at the time.

Unable to stop in time, Decotret swung sharply to the right into the ditch. The cruiser jumped the ditch, plunged down the deep ravine on the other side. It landed in a small creek and crashed through the ice. It is considered a complete loss.

Unhurt, the officer ran back to the highway, where he found the Fortin boy in hysterical condition. Later, at home, in Luskville, where the incident occurred, the boy was reported recovered from his shock.

Maxwell Wray Going To London

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—(CP)—Maxwell Wray, London theatrical director and actor known for his discovery of such actresses as Vivian Leigh and Greer Garson, arrived here today on his way to Canada where he is to adjudicate the regional finals of the Dominion Drama Festival.

Wray, a veteran of the Old Vic Players and a former director of several of Britain's most famous repertory companies, leaves tonight for London, Ont., before starting his judging task that will take him from Vancouver to Halifax.

Though this is his first trip to North America, it will not be the first festival he had adjudicated, he said. For more than 15 years he has been a festival judge for the British Drama League and twice before was invited to judge the Canadian Festival but was unable to because of previous commitments.

He has had long discussions with other British actors who have judged the Canadian Festival and has "a very high opinion of the work of both amateurs and professionals in the Canadian theatre," he said.

Trust Reports On Jackson Pk.

Increasing use of Jackson Park by citizens is reported by Nicholls Park Trust.

In 1949 there were 158 family picnics, and 18 others by larger groups such as family reunions, Sunday School and primary school pupils.

A statement from the trustees notes: "The very hot summer last year may have had something to do with the number of people who took advantage of the park. It was used to a greater extent than ever before. Many of the visitors were from out of the city.

"It is gratifying that so many persons in and out of the city appreciate the natural beauty of Jackson Park, its convenient location, and the service that is provided for all those who desire a quiet, restful few hours in peace and comfort. It is cleared every day of anything that might be unsightly, and is strictly supervised by Mr. Robert Manley, who looks after the children using the swimming pool. Mrs. Manley always supplies hot water for the tea for those holding picnics. Hundreds of children used the pool last summer.

"It is intended that some work of improvement will be done in the park this summer."

Jackson Park at the northwest border of the city was a gift to the community from Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls.

Three White Men Massacre Negro's Children

KOSCIUSKO, Miss., Jan. 10 — (AP)—A critically-wounded Negro early today gasped out a story that three white men massacred three members of his family after attempting to rape his 14 year old step-daughter.

The Negro, Thomas Harris, was shot in the back and lung. Some 100 white possemen combed central Mississippi for two of the white men. A third was captured Monday.

District Attorney Henry Rodgers identified the captured man as Malcolm Whitt, 32. He said the two still hunted are Leon Turner, 38-year-old former convict, and Wendell Whitt, Malcolm's 24-year-old brother.

Rodgers said all three had been held in jail on charges of attempting to rape the 14 year old step-daughter, Pearline Thurman. But 11 days ago they escaped.

Rodgers said Harris gave him this statement:

The two Whitts and Turner came to his home late Sunday night. Turner told Harris he was going to have Harris' step-daughter "or we're going to kill the whole damn bunch."

Kills Three Children

He marched Harris into the kitchen while one Whitt stood guard at the front door and the other at the back. Turner shot Harris in the back and then went into the bedroom where he killed three children: Frankie C. Thurman, 10, Mary Burnside, 8, and Ruby Nell Harris, 4.

The relationship of the children to Harris was not immediately determined.

Rodgers said Pearline scampered through the front door and under the house only to be pursued by one of the Witts who told her he would kill her if she did not come out.

As she came out and started up the front steps, Turner shot her in the arm and right breast, Rodgers quoted her.

She rested until she regained some strength and then, leaving a trail of blood, went to the home of neighbors to summon help.

Bailey said Harris' wife fled in her nightclothes, taking with her an infant child only a few weeks old.

Canada Leading Great TB Hunt

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (CP)—Canada is engaged in the greatest tuberculosis case finding program in the history of any modern nation, Health Minister Martin said Monday.

In an address to directors of health surveys, Mr. Martin said the program was being accomplished by the extension of mobile clinical services and by the introduction of admission X-rays in more and more hospitals from coast to coast.

Some provinces have expanded use of the drug BCG as a means of preventing tuberculosis infection.

"I should like to see thoroughly explored the possibilities of still more widespread use of this scientific weapon as a means of hastening the day when tuberculosis will be as rare in Canada as smallpox now is," he added.

Discussing ACTH and cortisone, the minister said an initial grant of $50,000 has been approved to cover purchases of these drugs for clinical research work in Canada.

Lindsay Wallops Jets

LINDSAY, Jan. 10 (CP)—Hank Goldup's Lindsay Kinsmen Juniors walloped Port Hope Jets 9-2 in a rugged OHA Junior C game. Jumbo Jenkins sparked the locals third period drive with three goals Hank Debois scored two and Orlin Crawford, Arn Karrys, Dick Walling and Bob Lewis scored singletons for Lindsay.

FLOOD SCENE IN THE SOUTH—Flood waters of the Luxapalila River lap against a bridge on the outskirts of Columbus, Miss. Flood threats reportedly had eased in the south, but there was no let-up in some midwest states.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The United States Olympic Association may continue its fight with the International Ice Hockey Federation, Richard F. Vaughan said Monday at Washington.

Vaughan, Princeton University hockey coach and chairman of the United States Olympic ice hockey committee, told a reporter that the United States Olympic organization would ask the International Olympic Committee next May to give it permission to organize international competition in the sport on a basis that meets the American definition of amateur.

American Olympic members claim the present governing body for ice hockey permits professionalism in the sport.

Kyle, a brother of the Ranger defenceman, Gus Kyle, was brought up to the National Hockey League team for a three game tryout that was scheduled to begin last Wednesday against Detroit.

However, the 25-year-old left wing and centre failed to make connections in Canada and missed Wednesday's game. He appeared in two games during the weekend.

Singer Bing Crosby Monday was awarded the William D. Richardson Memorial Trophy by the Golf Writers' Association of America for 1949's outstanding contribution to golf.

Charles Barlett of the Chicago Tribune, secretary of the Writers' Association, announced at Los Angeles that Crosby had won the trophy, a memorial to the late veteran golf writer for the New York Times.

At Orlando, Fla., Taft Wright, veteran outfielder with 12 years experience in the major leagues Monday announced he will play this year with the Louisville Colonels of the American Association. Wright was cut adrift late last season by Philadelphia Athletics.

Middleground, a speedy chestnut colt from the vast King ranch of Texas, Monday at New York received top rating of 126 pounds for the experimental free handicap of 1950. The list of weights is prepared each January by John B. Campbell, the jockey club's handicapper and racing secretary. In it, he attempts to predict on the basis of last year's form what the now three year olds will do in the racing classics of 1950. A total of 107 horses received ratings in the experimental.

At Palm Beach, Fla., Conn Smythe, famed head of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, Monday shot an 81 to qualify for the second flight of the annual Lake Worth championship golf tournament.

Touring Canadian curlers split down the middle Monday for exhibition matches against Scottish rinks in Perth and Glasgow, losing in both places.

The Canadians' A team, led by Errick F. Willis of Winnipeg, lost by 16 shots to Perth, scoring 119 to Perth's 135.

In Glagow, the B team led by N. C. Ralston of Saint John, N. B., lost by 32, notching 112 against 144.

Says Unions Use Accident Prevention

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (CP)—Russell Harvey, chief organizer for the American Federation of Labo, here Monday told Mr. Justice W. D. Roach that most union men regard accident prevention associations merely as a means to provide employment possibilities.

Mr. Justice Poach is conducting a public inquiry into the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Mr. Harvey urged the associations be placed under the supervision of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Don't Like Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan 10—(AP)—The Economic Co-operation Administration reported Monday night that France, which received millions of United States dollars last year to buy grain, recently sold $2,500,000 worth of wheat to Holland. Dr. Dennis A. Fitzgerald, ECA's director of food and agriculture, confirmed the fact that the sale had been made and said the recovery agency ties a "dim view" of the transaction.

Lindsay Needs 50 More Houses Low-Rental Type

LINDSAY, Jan. 10 (ENS)—Fifty or more low rental housing units are required to meet the needs of the Lindsay people, Mayor-elect Charles Lamb said Monday at the Lindsay Council's inaugural meeting. These units are required due to the recent expansion on industrial front in Lindsay.

Mr. Lamb said that in the past Lindsay has experienced a big increase in the industrial activities He added that continued efforts should be made to induce industries to locate here. With increasing calls for industry further calls would have to be made for housing units.

One of the first considerations of the council said Mr. Lamb, should be the construction of a sewage disposal plant.

"This is overdue and efforts should be made to carry the project to completion," he said.

"Early attention should be given to the sanitary sewer for the East ward, east of St. David St. Residents east of St. David St. petitioned for the sewer some time ago." Mr. Lamb said that this area needs sewers in order that it may develop into a residential district where many homes may be built.

Mr. Lamb made references to the work in the past and in the future of the Board of Works, the lighting, the police, the town property, the tourist, the market, the finance and the welfare committees.

Chosen Candidate

PLYMOUTH, England, Jan. 10 —(AP)—Winston Churchill's son, Randolph, was unanimously chosen Monday night by Devonport Conservatives as their candidate for parliament in the forthcoming general elections. Devonport is the dock area of Plymouth. This raised the possibility that both Churchills—father and son—might serve in the same session. The elder Churchill has a "safe" seat in Essex, on the northeast fringes of London.

Trying To Find Solution To Mine Closing

By JOE MacSWEEN

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Jan. 10—(CP)—Talks were scheduled today among government, company and labor officials to find a solution to the dispute that has led to the shutdown at Wabana Iron Ore Mines on nearby Bell Island. The mine's 2,200 workers have been idle since New Year's Day because of a contract disagreement.

Settlement of the Wabana dispute, however, would leave more than 8,000 on work-relief throughout the island with a population of 330,000.

The Woods Labor Board is waiting word from four labor unions — representing 10,000 woodsmen — as to whether they will accept wage cuts to bring their rates more in line with those paid on the mainland.

Large department stores here—free from the holiday rush—are reported laying off sales people, some of whom worked with the firms for many years.

Several Reasons

Several reasons are given for the situation—industrial disputes, currency revaluation, uncertainty arising from confederation, competition from the mainland and earlier layoffs at American bases here.

The Wabana dispute—between Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation and United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.)—has mostly to do with the contract timing. The company wants to sign a year-long contract now while the union would prefer one beginning at the opening of the spring shipping season.

Dosco and the two big paper companies here—Bowaters Newfoundland Pulp and Paper Mills and Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company—have found Britain a good customer in the past. Dosco sold 50 per cent of Wabana's production to the U.K. last year.

Britain's austerity program — and then devaluation — forced them to turn to other and highly competitive markets. Two weeks ago the paper companies asked the forest unions—which have no outside affiliation—to accept an hourly wage cut of five cents to bring wages in line with those paid in Quebec and other provinces. The proposed wage would provide a daily rate of $6.30 here compared with $5.55 in Quebec.

STRAWBERRY GUAVA

Delicious, Sweet and Spicy

This is a luscious tropical fruit which makes a useful as well as a charming and beautiful house plant. It bears both flowers and fruit at the same time. The flowers are pure white and delightfully fragrant. The fruit is about the size of a walnut, of a beautiful reddish color, and of delicious, sweet and spicy flavor. Fine for eating out of hand, and unsurpassed for making jelly. These plants are usually grown from seed and begin to bloom and bear fruit while quite small. (Pkt. 25¢) (3 Pkts. 50¢) Postpaid.

Rev. Chote Preaches Inaugural Sermons

MILLBROOK, Jan. 10 (ENS)—Last Sunday the Rev. A. A. Chote preached his inaugural sermons at Millbrook, Ida and Bailieboro. In the evening a good-sized congregation was present at St. Thomas' Church, Millbrook, to greet their new rector.

Taking as his theme "Christian Service," Mr. Chote used as his example the annointing of Christ's feet by Mary. From this he pointed out that Mary gave the best she possessed in her service and love to her Lord who was in great need of help at that time. Our Lord and His Church stands in great need today and requires the love and service of every man, woman and child he can muster under His banner. Although she was criticized by Judas, Christ as always, saw the love and humility behind her actions. This act of kindness has made Mary immortal, and Rev. Chote pointed out that service for Christ is the only thing that will last for time and eternity.

Recounting an incident during the bombing of Coventry, Mr. Chote showed that the men and women outside of Christ and His Church are not burdens but potential sons of God. "Christians should so live that the beauty and love of Christ is clearly seen and evidenced in our daily living before our fellowmen" was stressed in this message.

UK Orders Cut, Say Maritimers Now Starving

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (CP)—Trade Minister Howe told a Maritime delegation Monday he will immediately open personal discussions with the British Government with a view to getting orders for the collapsing Maritime pitprop industry.

The 25-man delegation headed by Premier McNair, of New Brunswick, had told a cabinet committee under Mr. Howe that loss of the British market for pitprops—timber used for shoring mines—had created a serious unployment situation in the coastal provinces.

New Brunswick is hardest hit by Britain's decision to shift the $8,000,000-a-year purchases to non-dollar countries. That province obtained about $6,000,000 from this source in 1949.

The delegation's brief said: Thousands of unemployed demand assistance and the funds available in our municipalities are now exhausted.

"Our hospitals now have actual cases of malnutrition in the distressed areas. If disaster and chaos are to be averted during the coming winter, our workers must be given assistance in the form of work rather than dole.

"Thousands are unemployed in any one area is a dangerous situation in any country, and one which demands federal action. Our labor leaders have for some time been aware of a movement of unrest among their members because of unemployment, even destitution. They now state that these men are becoming more difficult to handle."

Baby Five Months Dies From Burns

TORONTO, Jan. 10 —(CP)—Five-month-old Jo Anne Warner of Grimsby died early today at the Hospital for Sick Children from the effects of burns suffered Dec. 31 when her crib caught fire.

The little girl was brought here in a Provincial Police cruiser after her mother beat out the flames, believed caused by a medical vapor lamp.

Say Employment Shows Decline

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (CP)—Employment in Canada's eight major industrial groups showed a further decline at the beginning of November.

The Bureau of Statistics reported Monday that the working force dropped .3 per cent from the beginning of October to the beginning of November.

At the same time, however, there was a small increase in amounts paid in wages and salaries.

Information received from 20,712 representative employers indicated that the reduction in the working force was 3 per cent among male workers while the number of women working was up .5 per cent.

Weekly earnings averaged $43.78 at Nov. 1 as compared with $43.55 at Oct. 1 and $42.15 at the beginning of November a year ago.

Employment in logging, mining and trade was up while it declined in communications, manufacturing, transportation and construction.

Moderate gains were shown in textiles, printing and publishing employment. There were substantial reductions in lumber, pulp and paper, iron and steel plants and vegetable food factories.

Centreville WMS Attendance Down

The January meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. Hall.

Mrs. R. Brackenridge presided and twelve members were present. Bad road conditions accounted for the small attendance.

The members were reminded of the Presbyterial meeting at St. Paul's Church in Peterborough Tuesday, January 10.

Mrs. W. Hall gave a financial report. Three hundred dollars has been sent to the Presbytery plus $13 for the Supply Fund. The Mission Bands have $28.

The first chapter of the new study book was taken by Mrs. D. Hutchison and Mrs. C. Hall.

Miss Evelyn Donaldson offered her home for the next meeting; Mrs. W. Hall and Mrs. Ralph Greer to be lunch committee.

Mrs. C. Huggins and Mrs. R. Isbister are the program committee.

The meeting closed with a prayer. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. W. Hall, Mrs. C. Hall and Miss E. Donaldson.

Rotary Club Gives City Park For Arena

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Jan. 10—(CP)—By unanimous decision, the Brockville Rotary Club Monday turned over land known as Rotary Park to the Corporation of Brockville.

It is expected that Rotary Park, long a site for the proposed Brockville Memorial Civic Centre, will be incorporated as the site of the arena. It is believed construction of the memorial edifice will begin soon.

Brockville has been without a covered arena since 1937, when the home of the famous Brockville Magedoma Hockey Club was destroyed by a mid-winter fire.

Gen. Booth Associate George T. White Dies

OSHAWA, Jan. 10 — (CP) — George Thomas White, who with his father, was an associate of General William Booth in the founding of the Salvation Army in England, died here Sunday. He was 94.

Suicides Before Trial

TORONTO, Jan. 10 — (CP) — Two weeks before he was to stand trial for manslaughter, George Hackl, 23, was found dead in the kitchen of his west-end boarding house Monday with the gas jet turned on. The manslaughter charge arose from an accident October 23 when Earl Coir of Morrisburg, Ont., was knocked down by a car said by police to be driven by Hackl. Coir subsequently died of injuries.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

THRILL that today's youngsters will never know is the spine-tingling sight pictured at top. Bell clanging, steam whistle shrieking, its boiler belching sparks and smoke, the horse-drawn fire engine dashes full-blast down the street. It was magnificent—but was it efficient? The answer—sadly—is "No." At least not in comparison to today's fire apparatus. The engine that thrilled Grandpa could pump from 500 to 600 gallons of water a minute—providing it had a good head of steam up. The 12-cylinder, 268-horsepower motor of the latest type Seagrave pumper (below) whips out 1000 gallons a minute at 150-pounds-per-square-inch pressure. And, of course, it outspeeds the hayburners many times over. Once more romance bows to efficiency—in this case, a good thing.

Judge H. Fuller Board Chairman

WINDSOR, Jan. 10 — (CP) — Judge H. F. Fuller, of Welland, was named chairman of an Ontario Concillation Board to deal with contract negotiations between the Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited and Local 195 of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), it was learned Monday.

Acting on the three-man board, whose date of meeting has not been announced, are Drummond Wren of Toronto, for the union, and Charles W. Donaldson of Windsor, for the company.

A stalemate developed a few weeks ago in talks alleged to include company-paid pension items along with health security and collective bargaining measures.

Demands of the union are similar to those of Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited, which called for $100-a-month company-paid pension for all workers at age 65 after 25 years' service. Report of a conciliation hearing into the Ford issue is awaited.

Say Housing May Become Big Issue In Election

By H. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A lot has been heard about housing in Britain since the war and with the approach of the general election it again promises to become a major domestic issue.

The Conservatives charge flatly that the Labor Government has failed to carry out its housing promises. Government spokesmen claim it has fulfilled them and produced involved figures to back up their argument — leaving the neutral observer more or less confused.

What exactly, is the position?

The independent weekly, The Economist, in the first of a series of articles on British housing, notes that jut before Christmas Health Minister Aneurin Bevan announced that the number of new and reconstructed dwellings made available since the war had passed the 1,000,000 mark. The newspaper comments:

"There are many objections that can be and have been brought against Mr. Bevan's housing policy. It has been erratic, expensive and, in some respects, unjust. But judged by the paramount test, that of number of dwellings completed, it has succeeded."

Statistical Proof

Despite the fact that to all appearances the housing shortage is still as bad as ever, the publication says the Government can, statistically, prove that — if not by the end of 1949, then by the end of 1950 — the deficiency of the war years will have been made good.

And this despite the recently-announced Government plan to cut housing by £35,000,000 ($108,500,000) during 1950 as part of the new austerity program. It is estimated that this cut represents some 22,000 houses that now will not be built this year in England and Wales.

Almost 500,000 houses were destroyed in the blitz. At the end of the war the Government found itself facing a huge housing backlog and was handicapped by lack of labor and materials.

1,009,000 New Claimants

It is estimated that since the war about 1,000,000 new families have become potential house claimants. The total demand now is estimated at between 1,400,000 and 1,500,000.

Considering the Government cut in 1950 building, it is estimated the program of new construction this year will produce between 150,000 and 155,000 houses.

To the end of last year more than 560,000 new permanent houses and 171,000 temporary dwellings had been built. Some 265,000 housing units had been made available by repairs, adaptation and conversion. Many new units included modern blocks incorporating such North American amenities as central heating and refrigeration, seldom found in British housing before the war.

But despite Government statistics evidence, critics insist Bevan's promise — that before the next general election there would be no housing shortage as far as the mass of the British people was concerned — had no been kept.

Name Maj. Willett As Newfoundland OC

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Jan. 10 (CP) —Maj. Sydney F. Willett, native of Moncton, N.B., was one of the three men appointed during the weekend to command Newfoundland's new Canadian army reserve force units.

Maj. Willett, civil engineer who served in both world wars, commanded the 5th Fortress Company of the Royal Canadian Engineers here during 1942. After demobilization he founded an engineering and surveying company in Newfoundland and now takes command of the 36th Independent Field Squadron, RCE.

Want To Establish Trade With Germany

BRUSSELS, Jan. 10—(Reuters) —Western allies—including the United States, Britain and France and Belgium—are studying conditions under which the state of war with Germany could be terminated and normal relations with the West German republic established, it was learned from usually reliable sources Monday.

These sources said that contacts to that end were established a month ago between the governments concerned.

Western experts were understood to be working now on separate reports.

As soon as the experts have completed their work, the sources said, their individual conclusions will be discussed at a meeting of the western allies which may take place in February or March.

The incident occurred at Creemore following a New Year's Eve Canadian Legion dance. Police said Rhodes was struck and fell heavily to the pavement, suffering a fractured skull and concussion.

Four-Year Sentence Imposed On Youth Of 21

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 10 — (CP) — Magistrate John B. Hopkins imposed a four-year penitentiary term Monday on 21-year-old Clarence Sider of Hamilton, to run concurrent with an 18 months reformatory sentence imposed at Cayuga in December.

Sider pleaded guilty to 11 charges of breaking and entering summer homes of Americans on the shores of Lake Erie during the last two years, he also pleaded guilty to two charges of retaining stolen goods in his possession.

Murray Sider, no relation, who resided with Clarence Sider in Hamilton, pleaded innocent to three joint charges of breaking and entering and was remanded a week. Henry Mayeski, also of Hamilton, pleaded innocent to two charges of breaking and entering laid jointly with Clarence Sider His trial is continuing.

Say Ontario Studying Power Plan

May Make Deal With Manitoba For Boundary Hydro

OTTAWA, Jan. 11—(CP)—Investigations looking to possible development of 245,000 horsepower of hydro-electric energy around the Ontario-Manitoba border are being launched by the governments of the two provinces, it was announced today.

Premiers Frost of Ontario and Campbell of Manitoba announced a joint engineering board of the two provinces will investigate the power resources of the Winnipeg River Watershed "to the mutual advantage of both provinces."

The Watershed crosses the boundary near Winnipeg. The proposed development would cover four sites on the Ontario side of the border.

In making the announcement while here for the Dominion-Provincial conference, the two premiers emphasized that negotiations at this stage are purely exploratory and that neither government is committed to the project.

No final decisions will be reached until the six-man engineering board has reported to the two provinces, the statement said.

Mutual Advantage

Main purpose of the proposed development, the announcement said, would be to determine how it would be mutually advantageous to have power developments in one province serve the power requirements of the other province.

At present, Manitoba is operating a number of power sites on the lower section of the Winnipeg River Watershed and exporting some of this to the Kenora, Ont., area. The new development would enable an interchange of power between the provinces as dictated by seasonal water flow and other factors.

The board will be known as the Winnipeg River Interprovincial Engineering Board. Members will be:

Manitoba: D. M. Stephens, Deputy Minister of Mines and Natural Resources, B. B. Hogarth director of the Manitoba Water Resources Branch, and W. D. Fallis, general manager of the Manitoba Power Commission.

A hockey game between the Keene Hockey Club and Nashua Paper of Peterborough will follow these events and music will be provided by a public address system.

Madame Chiang Flies To Home In Formosa

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11—(AP)—After 13 months of futile effort to enlist new United States aid for her country, Madame Chiang Kai-shek is on her way back to China.

The first lady of Nationalist China left San Francisco about 3 a.m. EST on the Pan American World Airways Clipper Constitution, still predicting ultimate victory for her husband.

The Constitution will arrive in Manilla Friday morning where Madame Chiang and her escorts will transfer to another plane for Formosa. She was accompanied by K. W. Yu, her secretary, and Yu Tsung-chi, Chinese Nationalist Ambassador to Italy.

More U.S. Tanks Being Sent To Nationalists

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—More trainloads of American-made tanks and other arms probably will soon be on the way to the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa.

Diplomatic authorities said today that 300 tanks and armored cars being put aboard a Turkish freighter at Philadelphia represented only a part of the belated deliveries of orders the Nationalists placed in the United States last year. They were paid for from the $125,000,000 Congress voted in 1948 for military aid to Nationalist China. Although President Truman has ruled out any further American military aid to keep Formosa from capture by the Communists, the US government has been helping to speed the completion of orders already placed.

Officials say there is no conflict between this action and Truman's thumbs-down declaration of last week. The Nationalists already have title to the munitions now being shipped, having checked out the last of the $125,000,00 fund from the US Treasury months ago.

The Chinese Embassy declined to say how much arms-on-order remained to be dispatched.

If they can raise the money, the Nationalists have advance authority to buy more munitions in the US.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is believed to have some $100,000,000 left of the estimated $300,000,000 reserves which were transferred to Formosa from the mainland when the Communists swept over the Yangtze Valley last year.

Anglican Clergy Blast Election Date Choice

DEAL, England, Jan. 11—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee got a blast from churchmen today for calling the general election for the day after Ash Wednesday.

Noting that election eve rallies will conflict with church-going, lay and clerical leaders of the Church of England's Deanery of Sandwich complained in a resolution:

"Unworthy of a Christian country."

Canadian Imports Jump 14 Million Monthly In '49

OTTAWA, Jan. 11—(CP)—An average monthly jump of $14,000,000 in imports during the first 10 months of 1949 Tuesday was attributed mainly to Canada's relaxation of import controls. A Bureau of Statistics analysis showed that the easing of the controls was a major influence in Canada's purchases of $2,308,200,000 worth of goods during the 10-month period—an increase of $141,400,000 over the same period in 1948.

With the elimination of the embargo against the import of United States fruits and vegetables a year ago, imports of fruits increased $13,000,000 and vegetables $10,000,000, the bureau said.

Removal of import restrictions on tourist purchases in the US caused a sharp rise to $24,900,000 in the amount Canadians bought during the 10 months. Tourist purchases under the $100 customs exemption privilege were almost completely prohibited in 1948.

More Goods Available

Besides the easing of the controls—first imposed in 1947 to conserve Canada's dollar supply—the fact that there were more goods available in 1949 than in previous years was partly responsible for Canada's bigger buying the bureau said.

On the other hand, Canada no longer needed any big supplies of the type of goods she bought during the war, and this tended to reduce purchases of such things as fuels, fibres and textiles.

This brought a shift in sources of supply and the bureau said this shift may have some influence on the countries from which Canada formerly made purchases.

For example, when Canada's buying during 1949 increased in the U. S. and to some extent in the United Kingdom, there was a falling off in Latin American areas. As a result, this "shift may have some influence on Canada's position in the Latin American market."

In other words these countries may take the attitude that if Canada buys less from them, they may consider buying less from Canada.

Lewis Orders Three-Day Week

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—John L. Lewis today ordered 66,000 striking coal miners to go back to a three-day work week starting Monday. These miners had quit their jobs in seven States— refusing to work even the three days weekly permitted by Lewis in his "cold war" with mine operators.

Spokesmen for the United States coal industry say the here-today, gone tomorrow strikes are just another attempt by the UMW Pres'ent John L. Lewis to needle th operators into signing a contract. Nobody knows which mines will go on stroke next, or how long those pits that now are empty will remain idle.

At present, about one-sixth of the country's soft-coal miners are idle. No country-wide walkout is expected, that might create just the emergency needed for Federal government intervention.

From a production angle, the strike now is costing the US about 4,000,000 tons of coal a day. In Washington, Senators studied ways to curb some of Lewis' power.

Greta Clark Safe In Shanghai

KITCHENER, Jan. 11—(CP)—Greta Clark of Peterborough, Anglican missionary, is safe in Shanghai and intends remaining in China, her sister said today.

Mrs. E. W. Oke, said she received a letter dated Nov. 1 from her sister. In it, Miss Clark said she withdrew an earlier request that she be removed from China where she had served 30 years.

Miss Clark said she is in good health and will remain in Shanghai for a while.

A brother, Milton Clark, lives in Smith township.

Two Children In Bed Trapped By Flames

FORT FRANCES, Ont., Jan. 11 (CP). — Two children were burned to death early today when fire destroyed a frame building in West Fort Frances The victims were Dennis 7, and David 5, children of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Whiddon. The children were trapped in their beds on the upper floor. Their parents managed to escape, saving three other children.

The Whiddons were forced to flee into the 23-below weather in their night clothes and without shoes on their feet. They had their feet frozen as they stood outside the flaming building.

Lay Off 62 CNR Men

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP). — A total of 62 employees of the Canadian National Railways in Southern Ontario have been laid off owing to reduction in passenger service caused by the coal shortages, a company spokesman said today. Forty of the men laid off are in Toronto, 11 in London, three in Niagara Falls, Belleville and Hamilton, and two in Palmerston.

See Many Difficulties In Japanese Peace Treaty

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Jan. 11—(AP) — British Commonwealth foreign ministers today stressed the desirability of a peace treaty with Japan but agreed that Russia and Communist China appeared to be the main stumbling blocks.

Discussion of a Japanese peace treaty was third on the agenda of the conference being held here.

Delegates to the conference gave this account of the talks:

Australia and New Zealand were emphatic on the need to replace the present situation in Japan by a permanent arrangement. The delegates, however, stressed the possibility of a revival of militarism.

Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain said military occupation of Japan could not continue indefinitely. He pointed to the troubles blocking peace teaties in Europe, but agreed a Japanese treaty should be settled.

Canada expressed a similar view but noted the responsibilities of the United States. L. B. Pearson, Canada's Minister for External Affairs, pointed out the difficulty of holding a peace conference at this time, particularly since China is now Communist. He declared that the Western democracies must have a clear idea of their objectives in case China and Russia are uncooperative at such a conference.

Prime Minister Nehru of India observed that 80,000,000 people could not be kept under military occupation for ever. He warned the delegates against a treaty which would drive the Japanese into Russian arms.

Higher Pay Said Blow To Economy

Report Such Changes Would Affect Every Part of Canada

MONTREAL, Jan. 11 (CP) — Canadian railways today opposed demands of 116,500 employees for a 40 hour week and increased pay, declaring that the proposed changes "would inevitably have effects far beyond the railway industry and extending to every part of the national economy."

"The interest of Canada as a whole demands that the request of the employees be denied," said the railways.

In a lengthy statement to a board of conciliation under Mr Justice J. O. Wilson of Vancouver which is hearing claims of members of the International Railway Labor Organizations for a 40 hour week, in place of the present 48 hour week, and an additional wage increase of seven cents an hour, the railways said such demands could not be met without an additional increase in freight rates.

If granted, the requests would add $84,147,000 to the $512,000,000 wage bill paid by the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways in 1948, nearly $200,000,000 of which is the total cost of four general wage increases granted since 1941.

Want Quick Settlement

At the opening of the Board of Conciliation hearing Tuesday a spokesman for the rail workers asked for immediate settlement of the wage-hour dispute, saying early settlement is imperative if the major lines concerned are to give good service to the country.

Frank Hall, chairman of the negotiating committee for the 15 international rail brotherhoods told the board the difference in wages, as between Canada and the United States, for men doing the same work, is an injustice.

The railway statement opposed union demands on the grounds that Canadian railroading conditions cannot be compared with those prevailing in the United States where a 40-hour week was put in effect last September; that wages and working conditions in the railway industry compare favorably with those in other Canadian industries; that railway wages have kept pace with the cost-of-living index, that the railways' competitive position would be seriously affected and that the interests of Canada would be best served at present by a stable wage and price level.

There is no major industry in Canada where a work week of 40 hours is established even as a dominant pattern, it was stated.

The statement was presented by D. I. McNeill, KC, vice-president, personnel, Canadian Pacific Railway, and R. C. Johnston, assistant vice-president, personnel relations, Canadian National Railways.

Hospital Burns 1 Dead, 77 Safe

DAWSON, Y.T., Jan. 11 (CP)—Trapped in a flame-swept infirmary, Sister Mary Gideon died in the fire which destroyed St. Mary's Hospital here Tuesday.

Two other persons were injured, an unidentified Sister who was badly scorched while trying to save equipment, and a fireman.

Seven-seven patients and other members of the nursing staff were evacuated without injury. Cause of the fire is unknown, but it is believed to have started in the chapel.

Sister Mary, 78, was the oldest member of the Roman Catholic order—the Sisters of St. Ann—at the hospital. She came here during the gold rush days of '98 when the hospital was opened.

A brisk wind and 30-below zero weather hampered firefighters who tried to save the three-storey, 75-bed hospital when fire broke out just before noon.

Patients were removed to emergency quarters in the school building. Thirteen tuberculosis patients were flown to Whitehorse.

They Got Surprise

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 11 — (CP)—Every available fireman was called out Tuesday to a reported blaze in a downtown store. A passerby noticed flashes coming from the roof. When fire engines arrived, two curious men put down the blowtorch they had been using to repair the eavestroughing and looked over the roof edge to see that they were the centre of attraction.

British Election Called For February 23

LONDON, Jan. 11—(CP)—British politicians on all sides were set today to plunge into what probably will be one of the most fiercely-fought general election campaigns in the country's history.

Paving the way for the oratorical fireworks was Prime Minister Attlee's announcement early today that his Labor government will go to the country Feb. 23.

For the next six weeks Britain's 34,410,306 eligible voters will be badgered by the political oratory of Labor, Conservative Liberal, Communist and minor party members vieing for seats in the new House of Commons.

The prime issue is whether Labor will get a mandate to continue the program of state control and nationalization of industry it has carried out for nearly five years, or whether the Conservatives will be empowered to spike the Socialist trend.

Austerity Will Stay

Neither party has promised that Britain's post-war austerity program will be lifted. And the Conservatives have said they will continue most of the country's welfare programs and many of the state controls already enforced by Labor.

Winston Churchill, the wartime Prime Minister who doubtless would lead the country again if the Conservatives win, has promised, however, to repeal the Steel Nationalization Bill and to permit state ownership to go no further. His hope is to turn Britain back toward private enterprise.

State ownership of coal mines and railroads is not expected to be affected by a possible Conservative victory.

Attlee's announcement set forth this election schedule:

Feb. 3—Dissolution of the present parliament, elected in July, 1945.

Feb. 13—Nomination day.

Feb. 23—Polling day.

March 1—Formal meeting of the newly-elected Commons.

March 6—State opening of the new parliament.

The preliminary session which was due to start Jan. 24 has been cancelled and the old House will not meet again.

Choose 625 Members

British voters will choose a new House of Commons of 625 members. A new presentation law eliminated 15 seats of the old House. Twelve of them were those to which the big universities were entitled. Thus a majority in the new Commons will be 313.

Conference On Constitution Bogs Down At Ottawa In Technical Discussion

St. Laurent Stresses Ottawa Won't Give Any Ideas At Parley, Up To Delegates To Decide Future Course

OTTAWA, Jan. 11—(CP)—The Dominion-Provincial constitutional conference today bogged down in a technical discussion on the procedure to be followed in drafting a formula for future constitutional amendments. At luncheon adjournment, the two-day conference still appeared to be in unanimous agreement only on the point that Canada should not have to go to the United Kingdom parliament when constitutional changes are required. Some of the premiers suggested points at which work on a formula might start, but the views were divergent.

Premier Johnson of British Columbia suggested that a committee of the conference be established to work out an agenda that a continuing committee of the Dominion and the provinces could follow.

However, Prime Minister St. Laurent said he believed there were still some principles that would require discussion by the whole conference before any reference could be made to a continuing committee.

Different Views

Mr. St. Laurent said that Premier Duplessis of Quebec and Premier McNair of New Brunswick had indicated that they wanted a constitution that would be in the form of a compact, and not amendable by any one legislative body. Other Premiers had expressed different views.

When the conference reconvened at 11 a.m. EST, Mr. St. Laurent said its purpose was to find a formula for making amendments on matters within joint jurisdiction of the Dominion and the Provinces without having to go to the United Kingdom parliament.

He asked the Premiers to advance proposals on the type of formula that should be adopted for future amendments.

He reiterated that the Federal government would offer no proposals since it appeared evident that it will play a part in any constitutional procedure agreed upon by the Conference.

Mr. St. Laurent said the conference would seek to agree on proposals that could be made to the governments of Canada and

Try Ex-Tax Collector For Stealing Funds

BROCKVILLE, Jan. 11—(CP)—Alan Reid, 49, former tax collector in nearby Prescott, pleaded guilty Tuesday to a charge of stealing $2,209.38 from public funds.

Judge Donald E. Lewis remanded Reid for a week for sentencing while he studies reports submitted by auditors.

Evidence was that in June, 1948, Reid found that his accounts did not balance, but the amount of the difference was small. However, the shortage increased despite some efforts by Reid to make restitution.

Arrest Young Married Pair For Starving Two Children

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—(AP)—A young married couple were in jail today, charged with homicide in the starvation death of a son.

The father, Guy Scielzo, is a $75-dollar-a-week salesman.

Authorities said he and his wife, Mary, both 29, admitted neglecting a three-year-old son, Guy, and a daughter, Vincenza, 5, while two other children were well-fed and well-treated.

The neglected daughter was narrowly saved from starvation when found by social workers, police said, but the rescue was too late to save the boy, who weighed only 14 pounds at his death.

No explanation was offered for the couples' alleged discrimination against the two children.

The father was quoted as saying he knew his wife was not feeding the pair properly, but that he could do nothing about it. For two months before the boy died, police quoted him, he could not bear to go into the bedroom where the two lay starving.

Police said the two children, their bodies emaciated and covered with vermin and sores, were found in a filthy, sunless bedroom of the Scielzo apartment last Nov. 21 by a welfare investigator.

Authorities said the reason the arrest came so long after the boy's death was that an exhaustive investigation, involving reports of social agencies, had been conducted.

Attention of social agencies was first drawn to the case in 1947, when Vincenza, then 2, was taken to a hospital at the request of her parents, who said she was mentally retarded.

The little girl then weighed only 12½ pounds, Hogan said. He said the hospital released her in June, 1948, after her weight was doubled and doctors reported her normal mentally.

Use Fishing Tug Churn Water, Seeking Body

WILKES PORT, Ont., Jan 11 (CP)—A fishing tug was scheduled to churn up the muddy waters of the Sydenham river here again today to try to solve the 13 day disappearance of two-year-old Michael Douglas, but the family still clung to the slim hope that he is not dead.

In fact, John Douglas has offered a $1,000 reward for the return alive of his son who vanished from in front of his home in this Lambton county village Dec. 29.

"If Michael had drowned, surely the tug can force the body to the surface," said Douglas.

An uncle, George Douglas, said he didn't think the child went near the river because it was not like him."

Hundreds of district residents have been searching for the missing Michael. As a last resort, the family hired the tug L. and R. from Sarnia and it travelled 60 miles here.

The tug was the largest boat of its size to reach Wilkesport in 30 years, and part of its smoke stack had to be cut off so it could pass under the Becher bridge here.

The tug steamed up and down a three-mile stretch of the muddy river, near the Douglas home, four times Tuesday in an attempt to locate the body if it is in the water.

The boy was last seen near a flower garden at the front of his home, which is perched on the crest of a hill sloping towards the river 100 feet away.

Liquor-Crazed Man Kills Two

MENDON, Mass., Jan. 11—(AP)—An apparently liquor-crazed man, who, police said, held a gun on patrons for three hours, shot and killed the Mendon police chief and a young woman in a cafe here early today.

Two other persons—both patrons—were wounded and the gunman himself was felled by a bullet evidently fired by the police chief.

Chief Matthew J. Mantoni and Miss Katherine Brady, 22, were killed in the blazing exchange of gun fire.

Police said the gunman, Harold Ward, held the bartender and a number of patrons at bay for three hours. He kept ordering and consuming drinks.

Finally one of the patrons managed to get out of the establishment and summoned Mantoni and Fire Chief Harold Lowell.

2 Fishermen Blow To Deaths By Gale

SAGINAW, Mich., Jan. 11 (AP).— Two ice fishermen were blown to their deaths in Saginaw Bay yesterday by gusty winds that lashed most of Michigan.

Gales that averaged 50 to 60 miles an hour and reached 78 in Grand Rapids also blew over two walls of a recently completed concrete building at Unionville along Lake Huron.

The victims were Orville Wardlow 24, and Carl Boitel 36, both of Saginaw.

They were trying to get back to the shore at Point au Gres when the high gales pulled them bodily out into the lake.

Driver Denies Drinking, But Found Guilty

Emerson R. McDougall, Chemong Road, was sentenced to seven days in jail when found guilty of a charge of drunk driving by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC in police court today.

The charge arose from an accident in which two cars smashed head on at Sherbrooke St. and Monaghan Rd less than two hours after the new year had begun Jan. 1.

Two men, passengers in each of the cars were cut by flying glass. Robert D. Hardie, 558 Weller St. received cuts about the throat and chin which required 55 stitches to close and Bob Bannon, 559 Harvey St., received cuts on the forehead and chin which 13 stitches closed.

Driver of the other car was William C. Wetherall, 1019 Monaghan Rd. Considerable damage was done to the front of both cars.

Traffic Officer Harold Mesley testified he thought McDougall had been drinking heavily. He said McDougall acted very stupidly and seemed to have a difficult time recollecting what had happened. He said McDougall smelled strongly of liquor and staggered when he walked.

As far as Constable Mesley could see, McDougall had not been injured in the crash. He said there was no evidence of excessive speed.

Constable M. Dennis Traynor said McDougall staggered in the police station and held on to the table with both hands while being searched.

Hardie and Miss Shirley Perrault, who were passengers in the car at the time of the accident, both said they had not seen McDougall take a drink from when they first saw him New Year's Eve at 11.30 until the time of the accident. Jack Halladay, who had driven the party in McDougall's car as far as his own home on High St. where he got out with his girl friend, also said he had not seen McDougall take a drink in the same period of time. They all said they thought McDougall was sober.

Alfred Pepe had seen McDougall take only one or two pints of beer during the whole evening until 11 p.m. He also said McDougall was sober, although McDougall had fallen asleep on a bed in the room of a friend where they were having a small party.

Dr. Herbert N. Young testified some people of nervous temperament at the sight of blood go into a state of shock in which their reactions would not be normal. Evidence showed blood was streaming from Hardie's face and down his clothes. Dr. Young said McDougall was a nervous young man.

McDougall testified he was sober the whole evening. Driving north on Monaghan Rd., he said he saw a car coming straight at him. Because of the extremely icy condition of the road, he tried to ease slowly to the right in an attempt to miss the other car, but he saw they were going to hit and put on his brakes.

He said he was frightened by the cuts Hardie had received. He thought Hardie might be in danger of dying because the gashes looked as if there were in his throat. He said he was not sleepy when he went to sleep on the bed in his friend's room, but simply fell asleep because he was lying down. He said he had only three pints of beer since noon that day.

Prices Irregular On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP) — Prices moved irregularly in a narrow range of the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Small gold issues traded heavily for slight changes while producers slipped slowly. Industrials remained under pressure of profit taking sales but showed signs of resuming recent strong advances.

Volume for the first three hours was 742,000 shares.

Utilities brightened fractionally from yesterday's losses while papers continued downwards. Agriculture, liquor and food issues also continued easier.

Eldona Mines, Joliet-Quebec, Lake Wasa, Discovery Yellow-Knife and Chemical Research were brisk traders in golds. Lake Wasa, climbed following news of an option agreement but slipped under pressure of realizing sales as the session progressed.

Gains and losses were balanced in base metals.

Bank Clerk Fined

COOKSVILLE, Jan. 11—(CP)—A Toronto bank clerk, Thomas A. Hardy, was fined $75 and costs or 30 days here Tuesday on a charge of dangerous driving. He was involved in a two-car collision near here last month in which Mr. and Mrs. John Ewing were killed. Hardy said he was driving without his car lights in a fog and did not see the approaching automobile until too late.

Strong gales drove cold air rapidly eastward to cover Ontario by midnight last night, bringing Tuesday's mild spell to a sudden end. At Malton gusts reached 70 miles per hour during the evening.

The cold air flowing over the warm waters of Lake Huron and Georgian Bay resulted in snow along the shores for some distance inland and the high winds caused considerable drifting.

The winds will drop gradually today and in western sections temperatures will moderate this afternoon. Temperatures will be generally aga moderate throughout the province on Thursday.

Forecasts:

Southern Lake Huron, Lake Ontario regions, London, Toronto cities: Sunny and colder today, with a few cloudy intervals and brief snowflurries until mid-afternoon. Thursday clear and milder, becoming cloudy by afternoon. Winds west 30 decreasing to 15 by this evening. Low tonight and high Thursday at London 15 and 40, Toronto 20 and 35, Trenton 15 and 35.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

HURT IN COLLISION

Mrs. Emily Martin, 40, Peterborough, was taken to Toronto hospital Tuesday suffering cuts, bruises and a possible fractured leg suffered in a downtown two-car collision.

EMPLOY LOCAL LABOR

Employment of local labor is to be stipulated in contracts let by the city council. Mayor Swanston's motion to that effect at the meeting of the finance committee Monday night was seconded by Ald. D. Miller. It was recommended to the council following a request by James Gates who said that the condition of employment during the war years had passed. "The war has been over a few weeks now," Mr. Gates remarked.

POSTPONE ALC MEETING

Tuesday night's regular bimonthly meeting of the Allied Labor Council failed to materialize when not enough delegates from locals turned up to muster a quorum. A date for the next meeting has not been decided on.

OFFICE WINDOW BROKEN.

Eldon Purvis and Harvey Strube, proprietors of TEM ticket agency in the Capital Theatre block, drove back to work on Tuesday evening about 7:30 in time to see their awning frame crash into the plate glass window during the high wind. The 6 x 12-foot plate glass was shattered as well as the viewing screen of an advertising window display. The damage is estimated at $200 with all but the awning canvas covered by insurance.

Will Stand Trial In Spinster Slaying

VANCOUVER, Jan. 11 (AP)—Frederick (Red) Ducharme, 34, Tuesday was committeed to stand trial for the Nov. 9 slaying of spinster Ferne Blanche Fisher.

The case probably will be heard at the present winter assizes, climaxing intensive police investigation in one of Vancouver's most baffling cases. Ducharme, a native of Elkhorne, Man., was arrested Dec. 5.

The body of Miss Fisher, 45-year-old dress fitter in a Vancouver department store, was pulled from the waters of False Creek near Ducharme's floathouse Nov. 9 about 15 hours after she left home for one of two movies she invariably took in each week.

The standing in the Commons before New Year's was Labor 393; Conservative 201; National Liberal 13; Liberal 11; Independent and others 22. However, in the New Year's honors list five Labor members were elevated to the peerage and other Labor candidates will contest these seats in the coming election.

The standing in the Commons following the 1945 general election was: Labor 393; Conservative 189; National Liberal 13; Liberal 12; Independent and others 33.

Nearly 17,000 candidates are expected to enter the battle royal. Both Labor and Conservatives will contest practically every constituency, while the Liberals hope to put 400 in the field and the Communists will back 100.

Found Starving

CALGARY, Jan. 11 (CP) — Found suffering from malnutrition and a frozen face in her barricaded, unheated cottage, an elderly recluse was taken to hospital Monday by police and relief officials who forced their way into her house. Isabella Campbell, about 80, lived alone for years in the five-room cottage.

To Make Report

A duty of the board will be to report on the probable future power requirements of those sections of Ontario and Quebec within economic transmission distance of power sites on the Winnipeg River.

At preliminary conferences, the premier said, plans were discussed for the developing of these power sites: Boundary Falls, on the Winnipeg River (500,000 h.p.), Kettle Falls (30,000), Oak Falls (25,000) and Manitou Falls (40,000), the latter three on the English River, which flows into the Winnipeg near the border.

The statement said three methods might be followed in harnessing the power resources. One recommended method would involve extending the transmission system of Ontario's Thunder Bay-Patricia district to the Manitoba boundary by way of Steep Rock, Dryden and Kenora to supply the initial loads, followed by the development, first of Manitou Falls and then of Boundary Falls.

through them to the respective legislative bodies. It would be the legislatures and parliament which would make the final decision.

He suggested that all proposals accepted be made part of one agreement.

He noted that Premier Frost had stated Tuesday that Ontario was ready to consider the proposals of other governments and to advance proposals of its own. Turning to Mr. Frost on his right at the conference table in the Commons chamber, he asked that, if it was convenient, the Ontario proposals be advanced at this stage.

"We are here to contribute ideas to the pool of ideas that will be put on this table," said Mr. Frost.

Ontario recognized that any machinery devised for amending the constitution in the future will be taken from the ideas of the representatives of all Canadian governments. The Ontario delegation had been impressed by the proposals advanced by other Premiers in their inaugural remarks.

For instance, Premier Macdonald of Nova Scotia had raised the question of delegation of powers. Ontario was interested in a proposal of that sort. The province also was interested in some of the more positive proposals advanced by other Premiers.

Make Suggestions

"We want to remain in a position of open mindedness," said Mr. Frost. "I don't want to make any Ontario proposals as such. . . we want to make suggestions."

The suggestions in no way would represent the last or final views of Ontario on any subject. They would be put forward as a basis for discussion.

Mr. Frost followed with his suggestions for discussion in respect to amendment of the constitution:

1. The consent of all Legislatures would be required before Parliament could amend the constitution in respect to language, education, rights and privileges of persons under these headings, and legislation involving the jurisdiction of the Legislatures.

2. An amendment to the constitution affecting only some of the provinces may be passed by Parliament with the consent of the provinces affected.

3. Parliament should be permitted without consulting the provinces to pass amendments respecting the House of Commons and Senate with the exception of representation in the Commons.

4. Not less than two-thirds of the Legislatures would be required to consent before Parliament could amend the constitution on any other matter.

Clearly Established

Premier Duplessis who spoke briefly in English said Quebec Province kept an "open mind as to ways and means of amending the constitution."

It was important, however, that Quebec's position be "clearly established."

He said one consideration of that position was that "no definite decision could be arrived at without approval by the Quebec Legislature."

The Quebec Premier said Prime Minister St. Laurent had made "important" statements on the question of constitutional amendment and one of them was that Ottawa proposals should be "considered as an entity."

He said he felt that statement was the remark of a "clever lawyer" and he disagreed with it.

Premier Duplessis said he thought there should be "frank discussion" and that the goal should be a "Canadian constitutional" protecting the essential autonomy of the provinces in administrative fields and in the matter of their fiscal powers.

Quebec sought a Federal system "respectful of the rights of the central authority and of provincial authority."

Unanimous Opinion

Premier Macdonald of Nova Scotia said it was evident from Tuesday's proceedings that there was unanimous opinion there should be an amending procedure and that its application would vary according to the different parts of the constitution.

He put forward a proposed new section of the constiution—a new section 148 of the British North America Act—as a framework or skeleton which might become a finished product at the hands of skilled draftsmen.

The basis of the framework was belief that sections of the constitution are not of the same importance. Therefore there were some involving executive powers which the federal parliament alone could deal with.

A second sub-section would deal with matters which the federal parliament and some or one of the provinces could deal with together.

Another sub-section, involving the administration of justice, the solemnization of marriage, fundamental rights of language and education, and the life of parliament, among others, would require the approval of parliament and all provinces.

Must Sit Together

In any new subjects of legislation involving both groups, too, all 11 governments should sit down together.

As for the method of amendment itself, it should get approval of all 11 legislatures.

Mr. Macdonald said over-all proposals would provide for repeal of the legislation providing parliament with the power to amend the constitution on most matters within federal jurisdiction.

His proposals represented a "suggested framework" on which a constitution might be built and they were put forward for the governments to consider.

Asks Exact Stand

Re-entering the discussion, Premier Duplessis said he understood before the meeting adjourned Tuesday that Prime Minister St. Laurent planned to tell the conference the federal government's exact stand with respect to the constitutional legislation passed at the last session of parliament.

Mr. St. Laurent said he had stated that the federal government would have no objection to discussion of an over-all procedure for amending the constitution. He understood that the proposals put forward by Mr. Macdonald would cover the whole constitutional field and would make the federal legislation inoperative.

He had not intended to indicate that if the conference failed to agree on anything the government would repeal 1949 legislation. He understood that the conference would discuss the constitution as a whole and possibly agree on a procedure that would make the federal legislation inoperative.

Mr. Duplessis said Mr. Macdonald's proposals were interesting as a starting point for discussion and Quebec was willing to consider them.

Wants No Doubts

But if Canada was going to establish a sound constitution, Quebec felt that any arrangement reached should be on contracts approved by the legislature and by parliament so that there would be no doubt about the positions of the respective governments.

Since everyone was looking for stability in the constitution, Quebec would favor contracts written into the constitution. He believed it would be conducive to Canadian unity if the constitution was solid and not liable to be amended by one legislative body.

Premier McNair, of New Brunswick, reiterated his suggestion that Canada should have a new constitution, replacing the present British North America Act.

The idea of merely inserting in the BNA Act a method of procedure for amendment is not sufficient, he contended. For one thing, the Caandian constitution was not entirely contained in that act. There were other laws aside from the BNA Act of 1867 which formed part of the constitution.

Dog Walks 800 Miles To See Young Master

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 11 (AP)—Three-year-old Larry Leach played happily Tuesday with his collie Bozo, who walked 800 miles from Tennessee to see his youthful master.

Lawrence Leach, an electrician, and his family last saw Bozo in Oak Ridge, Tenn., when they left there in September to return to Pennsylvania.

Last week Mrs. Leach noticed Bozo outside their trailer home, dirty and hungry. Positive identification was made through a scar on the dog's nose. Despite the long trek, Bozo was his old self after a bath, a good night's sleep and a couple of square meals.

P. D. Scollard Heads Chamber

P. D. Scollard was elected president of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce by the directors at their monthly meeting in the chamber rooms Tuesday night. Other executive officers elected were: Vice-president, W. Ross Thompson; secretary, James Dorris; treasurer, T. E. McKay.

P. D. SCOLLARD

A survey is being made of the use made of the CNR line to Port Hope. Letters have been sent to industries, retailers and the wholesalers to determine the amount of incoming and outgoing freight. W. M. Gemmell, John Madden and Charles Pilon were chosen to represent the Chamber at a general meeting in connection with the Cedar Lakes Recreational Area project.

60 MPH Gale Lashes City Damage Less Than Expected

People couldn't sleep, branches fell, drivers held on to steering wheels like grim death, dogs howled and babies whimpered. 'Twas the wind, puffing to gale proportions all last night. James Harrison, weather recorder, estimates that it lashed Peterborough area with a speed of 60 miles an hour. In Toronto, where they have meters to guage wind velocity, it reached 69 miles an hour.

One motorist to and from Port Hope in a small car, reports that he was hard put to keep the machine on the road at times, and half expected it to take to the air. The highway was dotted with small fallen branches.

The city's hydro power was unaffected by the gale. Not a single line was reported damaged, the Utilities said today.

The Bell Telephone Company is also wondering today how it got off so lightly. Only six lines in the city were broken—they snapped in the wind—and two rural lines running parallel along the centre line of Smith, west of the filtration plant, were broken by a falling tree. Approximately ten subscribers on each line were unable to use their telephones during the night, but everything was in order by 10 a.m. today.

From other areas in Ontario comes news of more serious damage. In the Toronto area the gale uprooted trees, cut power lines and caused one death by electrocution.

Michael Januszewski, 24, of Green River, Ont., died when he attempted to remove a broken high tension wire from the Don Mills road in suburban Willowdale. He was using two sticks to move the wire, but he slipped on the wet pavement and the line fell on his hands.

Falling branches and trees interrupted power service and Hydro officials estimated 50 houses were plunged into darkness.

Russia Stages Walkout, Tsiang In Chair

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Jan. 11 (CP)—The Russian delegation on Tuesday walked out of the League of Nations Council in protest over the presence of Nationalist China's delegate.

Before striding stony-faced from the council chamber, Jacob A. Malik, Soviet deputy foreign minister, said his delegation cannot take part in council meetings until Dr. Tingfu F. Tsiang, top Nationalist Chinese delegate, and council president for January was expelled.

He told the council that Russia supported Tuesday's demand by Communist China that the Nationalist representative be expelled from the council because his presence was illegal.

Communist China has no representative here. UN officials say they have not been informed that any are on the way.

The surprise walkout came after the council backed by a vote of 8 to 2 Tsiang's ruling to defer action on Russia's formal expulsion demand.

Yugoslavia joined Russia in opposing Tsiang's ruling. India abstained.

After two hours of debate and addresses welcoming new members, the council decided without a vote to meet again Thursday, when it will discuss the Chinese question.

Tsiang told reporters following the meeting:

"It is most unfortunate that one delegate should attempt to dictate to the whole council. That action is most outrageous and most characteristic of the Soviet Union."

Labor Board Hears Claims Guelph Union

A hearing is being held today in Toronto into the IUE-CIO claim to represent the majority of the eligible workers at the Copperwire Products Ltd. plant in Guelph. At present the UE is the legal bargaining agent.

Should the Ontario Labor Relations Board order a vote it would be in line with previous decisions as a result of applications by IUE supporters in Leland Electric, Guelph, and the CGE plant in Cobourg.

Labor department representatives are going to both these plants later this week to arrange votes.

About 80 employees would be involved at the Copperwire plant.

These will be the first two votes since the formation of the IUE after the UE was expelled from the CIO in November and later the CCL.

Court Acquits Constable In Accident

WHITBY, Jan. 10 — Suspended from Ontario Provincial Police since Dec. 1 when his pickup truck sideswiped a car, Constable Harold Quantrill Tuesday was acquitted of a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

On a second charge of careless driving, Quantrill, whose total police service covers 22 years, was convicted and fined $25 and costs or one month. Arthur W. S. Greer, K. C., defined. It is expected Quantrill's case will be investigated before he is reinstated in the Whitby detachment.

Magistrate Frank Ebbs said Quantrill may not have known an accident occurred because he was driving "a 10-year-old, rattling truck with a steel body and a loose tool box in the back."

Repairs to the damaged side of complainant Harold Hopkin's car cost $48, and a dent in the truck fender was repaired for $3, evidence showed.

"It seems extraordinary that a driver was not aware his vehicle struck a car," said the magistrate, "but it is possible in this truck." He said there was evidence that Qantrill had been drinking some time before the accident.

"There's no evidence to show that the accused was anything but sober and that the drinking had any particular bearing on the results of the accident," he added.

DEAD GIVEAWAY—The safe in the above rear trunk of the taxicab aroused the suspicions of two Ville St. Laurent, Que., policemen and their investigation led to the capture of four alleged safe-crackers. Loaded in the above safe was $30,000 in bearer bonds and $200 in cash.

Police Attend Funeral Of Ex-Chief J. C. Ruse

COBOURG, Jan. 11 (ENS). — John C. Ruse, retired chief constable of Cobourg, who died suddenly on Saturday, was buried Tuesday afternoon in St. Peter's Anglican Cemetery, the service being conducted by Rev. H. Bedford-Jones.

Out-of-town police attending the funeral were Chief W. Probert, Deputy-Chief C. Haynes and Sergt. J. Arnott of Belleville, George Foster, special agent of CNR, Belleville, Chief C. W. Graham of Port Hope, Sergt. Price Morris of the Provincial Police, Peterborough; Constable A. Taylor, CNR Police, Belleville, Constable A. Kitney, Bowmanville, and Sergt. J. Jones, CPR Police, Toronto.

Chief Constable W. J. Carey represented the Cobourg Police Department and Town Clerk Jack Ewart represented the town.

Pall-bearers were: Sergt. Jones of Toronto, Constable Taylor of Belleville, Corpl. G. Pickering, RCMP, of Cobourg, Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine, Cobourg, Constable C. Cunningham and Constable H. Seale, of Cobourg Police Department.

Build New School?

COBOURG, Jan. 11 (ENS)—Cobourg may have a school to serve the east of the town, Mayor Joe Smith told the council at its inaugural meeting. Mayor Smith commented that the school board was considering the need of a school to serve the east end.

At present, there are two schools, one central and the other west. A new one in the east would relieve the overcrowded conditions in the present two schools. Kindergarten classes last year had to be held in St. Peter's Parish Hall.

Council Supports Drive-in Theatre Some Opposition

Cobourg, Jan. 11—(ENS)—Application to the provincial government for permission to build a drive-in theatre in the township, north of the town, will be supported by the approval of Hamilton Township Council.

The council Tuesday ratified the decision of the 1949 council, despite opposition presented by J. C. M. German, K.C., on behalf of those who do not want the theatre.

Before a permit for the theatre can be granted, a declaration from the township council in favor of the plan is necessary.

The land on which the proposed theatre would be located is on Dungannon Farm.

The grounds on which the theatre was opposed were as follows:

A drive-in theatre materially increases the amount of traffic on county and provincial highways, creating a safety menace.

Requirements with respect to police protection are increased since there is a tendency for theft of theatre equipment.

Immorality is increased and drinking in cars encouraged.

Since the theatre can be operated at night only, parents are inclined to keep their children out until very late hours.

Mrs. Robert McCulloch Re-elected Head Of Presbyterian Presbyterial

Peterborough Presbyterian Presbyterial Society of the Women's Missionary Society Tuesday re-elected Mrs. Robert McCulloch, RR 2, Campbellford, president for the third year in succession.

Forty-four delegates attended the all day meeting at St. Paul's Church, Peterborough.

It was reported that the 1949 allocation had been exceeded.

Miss Frieda Matthews, National Secretary, was guest speaker and described the need for expansion of Presbyterian missionary work both overseas and in the Dominion. A former Peterborough Normal School student, Miss Matthews has travelled throughout the Dominion and was able to tell of some of the work done in Western and Northern Canada.

The twentieth century was a great testing time for the church, she said. The opportunities for missionary work were great. In many overseas fields the church was never sure how long its missionaries would be able to remain. The situation in Formosa was uncertain at the present time, but if the missionaries were forced to leave again, the Christian movement would still remain.

Only Two Ministers

A survey made in Formosa after the war revealed there were 2,000 Christians there with only two preachers to lead the people.

Miss Matthews referred to the Moslem and Buddhist universities in India, where clever young men were being trained to oppose the Cross. There the Christian church had a vast field to cover.

In British Guiana missionaries were teaching in the schools.

During the next three years the Presbyterian Church required seven new missionaries for Korea, Japan, Formosa and India, one doctor, one nurse trained in public health work and a graduate in home economics.

Nationals were being brought into Canada from China to train as missionaries among their own people.

In Latin America the church was adopting the policy of distributing Christian literature among the universities in order to reach those who would be going out into the professions.

Neew Christian Literature

In China there was a need for much more Christian literature. For every leaflet published by the church, 150 Communist leaflets were distributed. From a small beginning when $50 was allocated to missionary literature the Presbyterian church had increased it output and today spent $5,000. This was still not an adequate sum, however.

There were still vast areas in Canada where there were no churches and no Christian leaders. The northern areas of all provinces were in great need of church workers to start groups which could eventually be carried on by the people living there. There was an area of 500 miles between Vancouver and Prince Rupert where there were, at present, no Presbyterian workers.

The new housing areas were also creating another need, but the church was short of ministers. If all the ministers graduating from Canadian universities next summer went to western Canada, they would still be unable to fill all the vacancies. This meant that deaconesses were being called upon to do work for which they were not trained.

In the Kenora district there were children who had attended Christian schools and then returned home 40 miles away from the nearest church. Their only method of transportation was by boat and many of them slipped back into pagan habits and did not bother to travel the long distance.

The Mission Band banner was presented to Cobourg for the third time in succession. Norwood Society had been worthy of mention, having shown a good missionary spirit and making all contributions through mite boxes and free will giving. Bowmanville had had an excellent average attendance of nine at all meetings throughout the year, when only ten names had been on the roll. Cobourg, however, had appeared to have the most active Society.

Mrs. A. Spencely entertained with a song, accompanied by Mrs. L. R. McNeil.

Officers Elected

The following is a complete list of officers elected at the meeting and installed by Miss Matthews:

Honorary president, Mrs. David Ewart, Cobourg; past president, Mrs. H. Tate, Centreville; president, Mrs. R. N. McCulloch, R R 2, Campbellford; first vice-president, Mrs. L. McLoughlin, Bowmanville; second vicepresident, Mrs. A. Reid, Cobourg; third vicepresident, Mrs. E. W. MacKay, Cobourg.

Recording secretary, Mrs. Scott Frise, Hastings; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Storee, Campbellford; assistant corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. G. Stevens, Cobourg; treasurer, Mrs William Purvis, Port Hope; evening dept. secretary, Mrs. Charles Milne, Campbellford.

Young women's secretary, Dr. Helen Macdonald; girls' organizations, Mrs. J. W. Burtt, Cobourg; children's secretary, Mrs Roy Breckenridge, R.R. 2, Millbrook; home helpers secretary, Mrs. A. H. Clarke, Lakefield; library secretary, Mrs. Stewart Finnie, Peterborough; literature secretary, Miss Vera Johnston, Peterborough.

Welcome and welfare secretary, Miss Marjorie Best, Peterborough; student secretary, Mrs. H. Baxter, Cobourg; supply secretary, Mrs. John R. Thompson, R. R. 1, Millbrook; life membership secretary, Mrs. Ritchie, Warkworth; Glad Tidings secretary, Mrs. D. Rutherford, Bailieboro; press secretary, Mrs. J. Coyle, Bowmanville; historian, Miss Flora Galbraith, Bowmanville.

Officers without portfolio, Mrs. James Dutton, Mrs. F. H. Rowan, Mrs. Hector McKenzie, Peterborough, and Mrs. Foote, Port Hope.

Would Retain Provincial Police

HASTINGS, Jan. 11 (ENS) — A delegation of councillors headed by Reeve C. S. Howse, is planning to meet the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow to ask for the retention of a Provincial Police officer in Hastings.

The following committees of the council were formed Monday:

Streets: chairman F. C. Foster, W. A. Thomas, J. Lynch, C. Howse.

Property: chairman, W. Dodd, F. C. Foster, J. Lynch, C. Howse.

Finance: chairman Joseph Lynch, W. Dodd, W. A. Thomas, C. Howse.

Rink: C. Howse, W. Dodd.

Relief: Reeve and Council.

Police: chairman W. Thomas, J. Lynch, F. C. Foster.

Park: C. Howse, W. Dodd.

T. J. Lynch, T. J. Crawley and James Faux appointed sheep valuators and fence viewers.

M. A. O. Shea was granted a retaining fee of $10.

Set Wage Rates

The following wage rates were set: general labour, 60c per hr.; man and team 1$.25 hr.; man and single horse 85c hr.; trucks $1.50 hr.; dump trucks $2.00 per hr. The clerk was asked to prepare by-law for the appointments.

The request of W. Edwards for a license for the storage of cars on his garage property was granted.

The collector's time was extended to the next meeting.

The Clerk was asked to order four copies of Municipal World.

It was decided that the place of pound be the Town Hall grounds and the constable is to be in charge.

Rev. N. Cole attended the meeting and spoke a few words of congratulations to the new Reeve and Councillors.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 3 at 7.30 p.m.

Wants Pool Room Licence Fees Reduced

HASTINGS, Jan. 11 (ENS)—B. Stiner asked the council Monday to reduce the licence fees on pool tables. He pointed out that the fee in Hastings was $25 for the first table and $15 for each additional table.

Fees in neighboring towns, he claimed were $10 and $5; $25 and $10.

The clerk was asked to check the pool room by-law.

Tangled Romance

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. Jan. 11—The prosecutor's office today was investigating the tangled romance of a Grand Rapids factory worker who married the 16-year-old daughter of his divorced wife. Assistant prosecutor Claude Vander Ploeg said a warrant has been issued charging Victor Bishop, 35, with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. But the warrant will not be served if the marriage proves legal.

Why Not Toby Jugs?

It is with the keenest interest, not untinged with ribaldry, that we learn that ten Canadian journalists are to be immortalized in stone at the entrance to the Reading Room of the House of Commons at Ottawa; their faces will be carved from the limestone blocks which surmount the pillars there. The immortal ten are Charles Bishop, Grattan O'Leary, P. D. Ross, (thus giving the Ottawa press an excellent representation) Henri Bourassa, Joseph Howe, Israel Tarte, Frank Oliver, R. S. White, John Ross Robertson, and John Dafoe. Every Canadian journalist has been "up the pole" at some time in his life; these ten will stay up it eternally.

• • •

This orgy of glorious petrification is, of course, a great compliment to the newspapers of Canada, as well as to the men who are thus enshrined and hallowed. The men who have been chosen to top the pillars deserve honour, undoubtedly; yet honour of this particular kind would embarrass many newspaper men for they have, as a class, a cat-like aversion to being stroked by the hand of authority.

• • •

Newspaper men recall, in their midnight conclaves, the great ones of their craft,—such fearless souls as William Lyon Mackenzie and George Brown, both of whom habitually scorned ink and wrote in vitriol. They remember Sir John Willison of the Globe, Edwin Farrar of the Mail and Empire, and W. F. Maclean of the Toronto World, whose grandson is now president of the Brockville Recorder and Times.

• • •

They recall, too, the very able journalists who gave brilliant guidance to the weekly papers of this country, in the days before rural mail routes cut so deeply into the influence of those publications, and before the advent of the modern commercial newspaper. It is a pity that no weekly editor has been chosen to top one of the pillars at Ottawa. Covens of newspaper men still recall with affection such editors as Alexander Pirie of the Dundas True Banner, Dan McGillicuddy of the Goderich Signal, J. R. Stewart, who made the Bobcaygeon Independent one of the most quoted papers in the country, Hal Donnelly who was as witty a writer as the Canadian press has ever known, and who made the Simcoe Reformer a great paper in miniature, and Nicholas Flood Davin, who took machinery West on oxcarts to found the Regina Leader. It is too bad that there are not pillars for all of these.

• • •

We cannot be sure, however, that they would have liked pillars. If they were to enjoy posthumous fame at Ottawa, we think that they might have preferred to be cast in pottery, or pewter, as Toby Jugs from which the gentlemen of the Press Gallery might refresh themselves when they were at rest from their exertions. And, as pillars, they might find it an insupportable fate to be forever supporting Parliament.

Travelling At Canada's Expense

Mr. Pearson, Minister for External Affairs, is in Colombo, Ceylon. Mr. Mayhew, Minister of Fisheries is in India. Senator MacKinnon, Minister without portfolio, has left for British Guiana. Mr. Howe, Minister of Trade, left for England yesterday. All these gentlemen are travelling at the expense of the people of Canada. Why should they? Why this spate of gadding-about? It is merely a winter migration, to escape our weather?

These men and their staffs are travelling on the country's business. They have gone out to bring home the bacon, or the trade agreements that will allow us to send out our bacon and the hundred and one Canadian products for which markets are needed. They are also keeping a hand in political and diplomatic affairs vital to Canada's welfare.

Since the war Canadian officials have been of necessity ramblers across the face of the globe. Gone are the days when our small diplomatic problems could be handled by the British Foreign Office and by one or two trade officials. Canada is now, because of her new industrial and economic importance, and the capabilities of her people, a force in foreign affairs. Because of her independence, she must look after these herself. Because of her extensive reliance on foreign trade for the prosperity of the country, she must have tentacles reaching to the far corners of the earth.

The pathways Canadians are wearing to foreign countries go both ways. Envoys from afar bearing trade and lucrative business can use them to bring to Canada complementary contracts and policies.

What Is Recognition?

The subcontinents of Australia, the islands of New Zealand, and the solid American half of the North American continent are rocking because Britain has given official recognition to the new Mao Tse-Tung agrarian communist regime in China. It seems to be felt that Britain is thereby approving the regime. It is not. Diplomatic recognition implies neither approval nor disapproval. It merely says: 'We know that you exist and it is just as well for both of us to recognize each other as the ruling authorities of our own countries.' Britain stubbornly refused to give diplomatic recognition to Communist Russia for nearly two decades. This did not keep Russia down; it merely extended an awkward situation, which caused more harm than good.

Here is the "recognition" given to China, the official note addressed by Mr. Ernest Bevin, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of States for Foreign Affairs, to Mr. Chou En-Lai, Chinese Minister of Foreign Affairs:

Sir,

I have the honour to inform Your Excellency that His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland having completed their study of the situation resulting from the formation of the Central People's Government of the People's Republic of China and observing that it is now in effective control of by far the greater part of the territory of China have this day recognized that government as de jure government of China.

In these circumstances His Majesty's Government in response to Chairman Mao Tse-Tung's proclamation of October 1st, 1949, are ready to establish diplomatic relations on a basis of equality, mutual benefit and mutual respect for territory and sovereignty, and are prepared to exchange diplomatic representatives with the Central People's Government.

It is not inappropriate to ask now, what of the Chinese delegates to U.N.? They were appointed by Chiang Kai-Shek's government, and now speak for a Government which does not in actuality exist. China is still, in U.N. theory, one of the Big Five. Is U.N. going to accept Mao men?

Counter-Reformation in the Protestant Church?

Speaking to the Toronto Ministerial Association of the United Church on Monday, Judge Hawley S. Mott of the Juvenile Court made this interesting observation: "The human mind needs a cathartic just as much as the human body; that is confession." Whether a healthy body needs a cathartic is a question upon which physicians might disagree, and there might also be some doubt about the need for catharsis in a completely healthy mind. Nevertheless, psychologists have re-discovered a great deal during the past century about the value of catharsis, or confession, for troubled and unhealthy minds. It is interesting that Judge Mott should have brought up the question of confession when talking to a group of Protestant clergy; there have been several suggestions from within the Protestant churches that confession, as a regular practise, might be revived. Some reference was made to this matter in a recent article by the Rev. Donald Howson, an able Presbyterian clergyman who is well-known in Peterborough.

It is by no means impossible that there may be a Protestant Counter-Reformation during the next century; a trend toward ritualism has for some time been in progress in several Protestant churches, and the question of confession crops up from time to time. If there were to be such a Counter-Reformation we wonder if it is likely to bring about the establishment of Protestant religious orders of men and women who, withdrawn from the world, give their time to scholarship, contemplation and work. In countries where the Lutheran Church predominates, such religious orders never completely died out; they have devoted themselves principally to charity and learning. It would be possible to present a good case for such orders here in Canada, where charity is losing its personal touch, and where persons devoted to learning find it increasingly difficult to get the time and the atmosphere necessary to their work.

From The Critic's Notebook

THE RED HEART by James Reaney (McClelland & Stewart; Indian File Series).

ONE reason for the tottering estate of modern poetry is that poets must eat, food has become very expensive, and our society has found no way to give it to them so that they may stay at their proper work. In England some of the best budding poets have been bought by advertising agencies. Poets have a flair for words and imagery valuable to advertisers. James Reaney, who has this knack as few other Canadian poets have, has not been caged by copy-writing; he is finding bread and butter at the University of Manitoba—probably a means of existing less destructive to poetic sensibility than advertising, if not so well paid.

James Reaney of western Ontario has a youthful poet's exuberant joy in sounds and fancy for their own sake. The first four lines of the first poem in this collection show it instantly:

The plums are like blue pendulums
That thrum the gold-wired winds of summer.
In the opium-still noon they hang or fall,
The plump, ripe plums.

This play on the 'um' sound, on and off key (eight times in the four lines) reveals not only a sensitive ear, but also a craftsman's skill and a happy delight in it. Throughout the forty-odd poems in this collection Reaney's verbal technique tends to undermine his poetic conceptions. There is a danger in this practice that his hearers will feel that he is saying little, but doing it brilliantly.

Some of the verses are deliberately a display, inconsequential eclairs, like his "Miscellany" and "The Beauty of Miss Beatty" which

Was the way her bosoms dared
Though never really bared
To seem so anyhow.

But in other poems the writer's image and mood are interrupted by his technical accomplishments, as in "Scenes for a Stereoscope". They obtrude, but with what wonderful fancy! The man who was in the kitchen with the maid returns to his wife in the parlour, and her voice went off like a rifle:

O Chuck,
I see I shall have to give the maid the sack.
So he wanders in his blue serge suit
By the blue serge surge of the sea.
And the sea replies: Haw, haw,
You will never find your marjorie daw
But must go back to your wife
For the rest of, haw, haw, the rest of
The rest and remainder of your life.

Reaney has a present obsession for clouds, boyhood scenes and impressions of village Ontario ("Gray Pillar", "The School Globe". "The Sundogs"). One virtue which Reaney's verse has is that it is quotable. I can hardly refrain from quoting reams of it, and people who have the good sense to buy this volume will understand why. For instance, his "School Globe", which he sees on revisiting the empty schoolroom:

If I raise my hand
No tall teacher will demand
What I want.
But if someone in authority
Were here, I'd say
Give me this old world back
Whose husk I clasp
I'll give you in exchange
The great sad real one
That's filled
Not with a child's remembered and pleasant skies
But with blood, pus, horror, death, stepmothers, and lies.

Or "To My Love":

Sometimes I see why
People must die.
They die because they have Too many sunsets
Stuffed into their brain.
Thousands of red and orange apples
Crowd and jostle in their mind.
But I shall not die
Although I've eaten half the stars.

His poetic impulses have not yet been integrated. Therein lies, in this reviewer's estimation, not only his present limitations, but his potential, if he is able to renew and keep fresh his inspiration. His continued search for meaning should temper his technical extravagance. Now he touches and shies away from the implications of what he sees and feels. If he tends toward pathos, he deliberately turns to bathos. If his concept enlarges, he ties himself back, almost mocking himself. As in "The Red Heart", the title-piece of this volume:

Who shall pick the sun
From the tree of Eternity
What midwife shall deliver
The Sun's great heir?
It seems that no one can,
And so the sun shall drag,
Gods, godesses and parliament buildings,
Time, Fate, gramaphones and Man
To a gray grave
Where all shall be trampled
Beneath the dancing feet of crowds
Of other still-living suns and stars.

Perhaps his introduction of parliament buildings and gramophones is a necessary conceit of this century and time.

His imagery is spectacular, as in the poetry of John Donne.

I saw the sundogs barking
On either side of the Sun
As he was making his usual will
And last testament
In a glorious vestment.
And the sundogs cried,
"Bow wow".

It is this "bow wow" bite throughout his poems which indicates not only a comic, vinegary sense but a modern echo of the scepticism of the Greek anthologists. T.J.A.

GENTIAN HILL by Elizabeth Goudge (Hodder & Stoughton).

THIS novel has been given a severe drubbing by a number of American critics: I must say at once that I enjoyed it thoroughly and consider it to be better than the average. It would ill become me to describe the American critics as ill-conditioned rascals, but I think it must be made clear that this is a highly romantic book, and romantic furthermore in a particularly English way. American romanticism is a different article; Americans enjoy the psuedo-tough romanticism of John Steinbeck. The romanticism of Elizabeth Goudge is rooted in an entirely different tradition.

"Gentian Hill" is a love-story of the time of the Napoleonic Wars. To attempt a description of the plot would extend this review beyond permissible bounds; it includes every kind of exciting adventure and a good chunk of the French Revolution as well. Indeed, my chief criticism of the book is that if has too much plot and is about 50 pages too long. But it is not the plot which gives the book its value; it is, rather, the author's sensitive understanding and description of personal relationships, and her insistence upon spiritual values. When this has been grasped, the plot is of secondary significance. The coincidences, legends, witches, long-lost fathers and other ingredients of the story are merely the externals of the book; the heart of the matter is the author's deep and tender understanding of life itself. I do not hesitate to recommend this book warmly.

Editor's Right To Preserve Anonymity of Contributors

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

RECENTLY a matter has been aired in the British House of Commons which is of interest to people in Canada and in all parts of the world where democratic institutions are still maintained.

A man wrote a letter to The New Statesman and Nation in which he voiced criticism of matters closely affecting the British Government. The letter, signed for publication with a pen name, was brought to the attention of the British House and an investigation was instituted. During the investigation, the editor of The New Statesman and Nation was requested to make known to the investigating committee the real name of the writer, to whom he had accorded anonymity. After consulting the writer of the letter and finding that he wished his anonymity preserved, the editor refused to disclose his name.

During the investigation, several points with regard to Letters to the Editor were rather fully explored. The first point, of course, was whether the editor of a journal could be made to disclose the name of a writer if the writer wished to remain anonymous. The consensus of opinion was that it would be a serious breach of faith on the editor's part to reveal the name of a correspondent if the correspondent wished to remain anonymous. It was also pointed out that anonymous criticism is often of great value and the case of Junius was quoted by the Home Secretary as an instance where liberty had been preserved and enlarged by anonymous criticism. It was contended that anonymity is frequently necessary if criticism is to be outspoken and honest. During the war, for example, those holding positions in public service were frequently enabled, by the rule of anonymity, successfully to expose ministerial blunders and official scandals which otherwise might have remained unremedied.

✧ ✧ ✧

A second point which was discussed during this investigation was whether an editor must assure himself, prior to publication, that every charge made in a letter could be substantiated. It was agreed that this would stifle criticism and was asking more than could be reasonably required from an editor. What then is the editor's responsibility in publishing letters? He must assure himself, as far as he can, that they are not libellous and that the writer—especially if the letter makes serious allegations—is a reputable person who writes in good faith and is in a position to know what he is talking about.

In defending itself, following the inquiry, The New Statesman and Nation wrote—"Members of Parliament rightly insist that one of their main duties is to give voice to public criticism and concern; and they possess an unique immunity from any penalty, even when the allegations which they make in the House of Commons, are both serious and erroneous. The freedom of the press to criticize is equally vital; but the press neither enjoys the immunity provided by parliamentary privilege nor has it ever laid claim to it.

"It will be an evil day if Parliament, properly enjoying its special immunity, comes to resent the much more restricted right of the press to complain of grievances and to print allegations. Each in his own way, the newspaper editor and the members of Parliament, by courageous and responsible use of his right of criticism, defends the citizen against arbitrary power."

✧ ✧ ✧

We agree with the view of The New Statesman and Nation and we think it greatly to the credit of public officials in this community and in Canada generally, that they do not request newspaper editors to make known to them the names of correspondents who wish to remain anonymous. Again to quote from The New Statesman and Nation: "An editor is just as much a repository of confidences as a doctor or lawyer. His right and duty to maintain secrecy are recognized by the law—the only exception, we believe, is when the Official Secrets Act or Parliamentary privilege are involved, and even here it may well on occasion be the duty of the editor to go to prison himself rather than break faith with a contributor."

Letters To The Editor

COUNTY FIRE PROTECTION

Sir: Was it because Smith Township refused to hand over township funds to the City Fire Department or was it because it was too early in the morning (6.00 a.m.), that the Department refused to send equipment to the Milburn home, early Sunday?

We, the people of Smith look to, and spend our money in Peterborough, yet in return one of the city's primary departments sits on the corporation line and watches the house and belongings, the entire life and work of a man and his family vanish in a puff of smoke.

On January first, 1950, the protection formerly awarded by the City to the Township came to an end. Mr. O. Deyell, chairman of a committee attempting to find a solution to the problem, wrote in a letter published in the "Examiner" December 31, 1949, asking the City Council for an extension of the agreement with the Fire Department, for one month, to allow the Area to provide for itself adequate fire fighting equipment because we were advised of the cancellation of the agreement only in the early part of December 1949.

It may also be noted that for five years the suburban area has paid, always, the retaining fee asked by the City Fire Department. This request was flatly refused. Yet it is common knowledge that if any surrounding municipality such as Lindsay or Lakefield needs additional equipment the city will send aid to them.

Injured Toronto Workers Frequently Have To Wait For Compensation

TORONTO, Jan. 11 — (CP) — Injured workmen frequently wait four weeks or more for compensation pay because someone fails to file a record of the case, William Jenovese, president of the Toronto District Labor Council, said Tuesday.

Jenovese told the public inquiry into operations of the Workmen's Compensation Act, being conducted by Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, that employers did not have enough accident report forms on hand to supply to injured workmen without delay. He said they sometimes failed to give the workman's address in their reports and he frequently had to appeal to the board on compassionate grounds to pay a workman some money before the case was settled.

M. P. Maguire, representing the Association of Northern Mining Municipalities, recommended that pension advocates be appointed to assist injured workmen in isolated areas who did not understand the act and could not come to Toronto to plead their case.

Judge Surprised

When Mr. Maguire said that municipal officers from northern Ontario coming to Torontao on business had frequently gone to the board on behalf of injured workmen, Mr. Justice Roach said he was surprised to hear it.

"I don't think the board should listen to such people," said His Lordship. "The next week a group of mine owners would come down to the board and say that the municipal officers were all wrong and that the claims should not have been allowed."

N. F. Parkinson, representing the Ontario Mining Association, remarked it was one thing to have someone help a workman to fill out his report, but it would be quite another thing to have someone plead a case before the board.

The question of compensating a child injured while illegally employed in a factory was quickly dismissed. A brief from the Ontario Federation of Labor recommended double compensation in such a case but when Mr. Justice Roach called for discussion no one arose to speak.

Side Of Station Wagon Damaged In Collision

Almost the whole right side was ripped from a station wagon owned by Edgar White, Whitlaw Street, in an accident Tuesday on Lansdowne Street, just east of the Locks Bridge. No one was injured in the crash.

White told Constable Sherman Keliele, who investigated, that he was driving west on Lansdowne when his car stalled. While trying to get it started again, it was struck on the right rear fender by a car driven by Harold Stillman, Otonabee Township, also going west.

Apparently Stillman had swerved on to the north shoulder of the street to try to avoid the station wagon, but failed.

About $50 damage was done to the Stillman car in which his wife, baby and William Richardson, Keene, were passengers.

The right rear fender and the whole right side as far up as the driver's seat was torn from the station wagon. The damage was estimated at about $275.

It was reported that it was raining at the time of he accident and the road surface was somewhat slippery.

Return No Bill

WHITBY, Jan. 11 (CP) — A grand jury returned no bill Tuesday in the case of three youths charged with rape. Frederick Taylor, 17, his brother Edward, 17, and Raymond Willett, 18, had been committed by Magistrate Frank Ebbs for trial. The charge followed complaint of a 17-year-old Pickering girl over an incident Nov. 3.

How Your Child May Be Inviting Colds

Health for you and your family! There's nothing in the world to equal it. It's the open door to success for the bread winner. It's the strongest rung in the ladder of success for smart youngsters.

No one wants to feel "just middling.'

Stretch out your hand and help yourself to health.

COD LIVER OIL: "My small son must take cod liver oil, but dislikes it very much. Is there a pleasant way to get it into him?"

Answer: Capsuled cod liver oil would help you over your trouble, says our chemist. Easy to swallow and tasteless, he claims.

GRAY HAIR: "Is it true that vitamin B compound will restore color to the hair?"

Answer: It is true that in a very few cases heavy dosage of vitamin B Compound will stop the graying process of the hair and restore some of its natural color. However, this does not happen often. But hair specialists claim that this particular vitamin will restore lustre to the hair and quite often stops it falling out.

VITAMIN A: "How much vitamin A does a growing child require? In what foods is it found?"

Answer: According to our health standards an active youngster needs 3,000 International units of Vitamin A daily. This he gets in the fat of milk, in butter, in yellow and green vegetables (make him eat his parsley). Most potent source is cod liver oil. Most youngsters benefit from a daily dose the year round.

SLEEPLESSNESS: "Is there any method to overcome sleeplessness? I have a dread of taking any sleep aiding drugs."

Answer: Try conscious relaxing in bed — a loosening of the muscles from head to heels . . .try sipping a hot drink like chocolate ovaltine, while you read a dull book . . . try reading an easy going story with the radio music turned low . . . try everything but worn and sheep counting . . . neither one helps a particle.

COFFEE INCREASE: "What has caused the recent sharp advance in the price of coffee? Is it true it is going to be a dollar a pound?"

Answer: Panama Coffee Co-operative says reason for the rise in price can be summed up in one word — weather. Excessive drought in Brazil (the world's greatest coffee producer) plus excessive rain in Central America, where coffee also grows, has changed coffee surpluses to shortages. It's now within nudging distance of a dollar (99 cents per pound).

WHAT'S AN AMATEUR?—Three leading sports officials study one of the many definitions presented at a two-day conference in Ottawa of sports-governing organizations which tried, among other things, to decide once and for all what is meant by "amateur." No decision was reached. LEFT to RIGHT: J. H. Ross, Calgary, conference chairman; Col. George Machum, Montreal, of the British Empire Games Association and Prof. N. C. Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

At least eight and possibly 10 rinks will compete at Quebec on Feb. 20-23 in the Dominion Schoolboy Curling championships. W. E. Weyman, local curling official announced Tuesday night

Teams entered include the provincial champions of Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, Northern Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

Ontario has not decided whether to enter a foursome. Alberta and Northwest Territories, if both decide to enter the Dominion championships, will play off to decide a winner, Weyman said.

Play for the Dominion title will be a round robin affair.

The junior championships, started in 1949 was won that year by Franklin, Man., rink, and Humboldt, Sask., copped the title last year.

At Edmonton, coach Annis Stukus and manager Al Anderson of Edmonton Eskimos Tuesday reported they looked over about 10 United States players during a scouting trip to the Shrine Bowl game in San Francisco. None was signed.

Two Texas Christian alumni, quarterback Lindy Berry and tackle Don Narrell, were the object of particular attention from the representatives of the western inter-provincial football union's youngest club.

Stukus said Narrell is a good passer whom he would "like to have up here." Both players are trained in the single wingback formation favored by Stukus over the more popular T formation.

Mrs. Harry Giddings, one of two licensed women racehorse trainers in eastern Canada, has sold her breeding establishment at Oakville, Ont., and plans to retire from the sport because of ill health, it was learned at Montreal Tuesday night.

At Los Angeles, Sam Snead tied with Ben Hogan for first place in the $15,000 Los Angeles open golf tournament Tuesday, with birdies on the last two holes. It was a wild finish that left the crowd limp as Snead holed out a 15 foot putt on the 18th hole, to equal the 280 Hogan had posted earlier. They will play off today.

Twenty-five St. Louis Cardinals have signed their 1950 contracts. Still on the unsigned list are several veterans as holdouts, but Cardinal owner Fred Saigh says he expects little trouble in completing his pen and ink chores. Outfielder Stan Musial, the club's highest salaried player, will work under the second half of a two year contract calling for a total of $100,000.

Except for some gentle hints that slugger Ted Williams, the American League's most valuable player, is eager to become a $100,000 performer and that little Johnny Pesgy has a $200,000 plus salary complex, general Manager Joe Cronin appears to have little to worry about as he awaits the return of the 1950 Boston Red Sox player contracts he has mailed out since the first of the year.

Lee Sala, crack middleweight contender from Donora, Pa., on Tuesday night extended his current winning streak to 10 straight by a six round technical knockout over Pete Zaduk of Guelph, Ont., at Buffalo. Sala weighed 161½ and Zaduk 162¼ for the scheduled 10 round auditorium headliner

Yukon Eric and Fred Atkins Headline Mat Show at Brock

Wrestling fans down George St. and out Charlotte—and all over the city and district—are raving over the main bout at the Brock St. Arena Thursday night. They know it is the best match offered here in the past year, one that would be a headliner at Maple Leaf or Madison Square Gardens. Fred Atkins, the rough Australian heavy champion, meets a mighty foe in the huge Alaskan lumberjack, Yukon Eric of the 56-inch chest. When these mat giants clash, everything will happen, and a competent referee is a "must" for this bout. The tremendous interest shown by the fans indicates a capacity crowd as wrestling resumes after the holidays.

Yukon Eric

Wee Willie Davis, towering Hollywood villain, clashes with popular Kay Bell in the semi-final, while Joe Christie meets scrappy Toar Morgan in the preliim. All in all, Manager Jim Laidlaw has started 1950 off here with an outstanding grapple card that should pack the Brock Thursday night.

St. Peter's High Into Basketball COSSA League

St. Peter's High School will throw its hat into the C.O.S.S.A. basketball ring for the first time in its history Friday night in Lindsay The small high school has managed to select a junior B and a bantam team from the boy's ranks to compete with Lindsay Oshawa, PCVS and other collegiates in the district who have had basketball for years.

Behind this new advancement into a new sport field is the school's Physical Education teacher, Fred Allore. This past fall Fred coached a young junior team in football which could easily be the top team in this league next year if it stays together.

Basketball practices started two weeks before Christmas in the PCVS gym each Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights and Saturday morning. About 25 greenhorns turned out for each team who are going to carry 12 men each. None of the players have played organized basketball before. Fred Allore, the coach, played inter-mural basketball at Western University when he was taking his course there. But he learnt the how of basketball coaching direct from Johnny Metras.

Teams are beginning to shape up good in practices, said Allore He believes they have a fair chance in the setup this year but until after the first couple of games will not say anything more than that. He does admit readily that the boys do need plenty of experience.

Last year Fred coached the Junior B squad at De LaSalle College in London That tall group of boys took the W.O.S.S.A. championship from Stratford Collegiate by five points.

Both teams see action Friday night in Lindsay and this will be the acid test as the Scugog boys never go down without a fight. Home games for the St. Pete's crews will be played in the Collegiate gym on Wednesday nights The cheerleaders, who made their first appearance this fall with the football team, are expected out to cheer on the squad through thick and thin.

The lineups for Friday night will be:

Campbellford Arena To Be Civic Centre

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 11 — (ENS)—The whimsical mood of the weather man has played havoc with natural ice so far this year. The local intermediate hockey aggregation had their initial workout Tuesday night.

Except for a few additions, the line-up will be practically the same as last year. Doug. Free, the playing coach, will strengthen the team considerably. Doug. has played under some of the best coaches and should have more than one ace up his sleeve.

When a local critic said that Owen Hendy was washed up, Owen immediately started homesteading in Hastings. He played his first game on the defence for Hastings Monday night. Owen will be greatly missed on the local squad as he was considered the spark plug of the team.

Davidson's Ice Arena will be taken over shortly by a committee composed of clubs and operated as a community centre. The transfer is almost through except for a few legal tangles.

PMHA Schedule

Following is a further part of the PMHA schedule, with referees:

High Park Wins

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP) — The last out of town rink in the premier event of the Granite Club's 19th annual invitation women's bonspiel was defeated Tuesday when Mrs. D. A. MacKenzie's Toronto High Park four beat Mrs. H. F. Gorrie's Hamilton Thistles 11-4. Previously four rinks from the Chicago district were relegated to secondary competition.

NO JOKE—Bob Hope, radio and movie comedian, lies in an ambulance near Riverside, Calif. Hope was slightly injured when his car skidded off a rain-renched highway and hit a walnut tree. He was taken to a Riverside hospital as a precautionary measure. With him is ambulance attendant Charles Couch.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Apart from Duffus', the YMCA and the K. of C., there are no bowling alleys in Peterborough. These three spots are kept plenty busy by bowlers all winter and many can't be accommodated. That's why we're glad to see a new place opening, one that should catch a lot of the southend trade. It's the Playfair Bowling Co. on George St. at Perry, operated by Ross Wright and Bob McElroy. Complete with rest rooms, refreshment counter and 12 lanes, the place is most modern and should be a distinct asset to the sport here. Not due to open for several weeks yet, every night but Wednesdays and Fridays is taken for the balance of the season. Some afternoons open yet, though. Folks interested—as well as pin boys—can phone Bob McElroy at 2-1336.

Art Cauley has invited the champion Petes' baseballers, with wives and girl friends, to take in a show at the Capitol. This may be arranged Monday if it suits most of the fellows. Manager Eddie Murphy and his champs appreciated the gesture by Art. The windbreakers arrived some time ago, neat red, blue and white jobs, with OBA championship crests. The senior "B" trophy never did arrive but no one worries too much about the silverware. A club meeting will be held soon but efforts will be made first to get a start toward installing lights at Riverside for next summer's night games. Likely, the COBL will convene toward the end of this month.

Junior Joust On Tap

Don't forget the OHA junior "B" fixture betwixt Belleville Rockets and the local Triple Links at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena. Last junior joust here this week, and it promises to be a fine fray. The Rockets are husky and full of fight, though they're not a bit scrappier than Bun Kingdon's bunch of IOOF-ers. Latter have been really stepping the past few weeks and looked right impressive in twice taking Kingston Vics into camp here and there. But the bashers from Bella Villa are really after this game tonight and sparks will fly before the final gong goes. Yeah, it'll be well worth watching.

* * * * * *

Along the senior "B" front, Diesels trek to Gananoque tonight if there's ice. The luckless Gans, depending on weather for ice, have had a tough time of it so far this semester with but one home game. Same would probably have been true here if we didn't have artificial ice this winter. Gananoque plays the Petes here on Friday as Legionnaires travel to Belleville. No OHA game locally this Saturday as the rink is reserved for skating. Standing in the Lindsay paper for the other senior "B" group shows Markham leading Meteors by one point, with Stouffville and Collingwood close behind in third place, and then Orillia, Midland and Toronto Eclipse Club.

* * * * * *

How About That Race?

Expressing interest in our suggestion of a pre-puck game skating race between Murray Fife of the Petes and Bill Crowley of Legion, Johnny Russelle offers to sweeten the pot $15 worth—on the proviso that Joe Blewett be included. "I think Joe is faster than either Fife or Crowley," Johnny says, "but I'll give the winner $15 as a prize, in any case, and any other OHA player around here can get into the race, too." He'd like to see them start at the centre line and go around the goals twice, finishing at the centre line, with the referee at the next Petes-Legion game, or some other competent guy acting as starter and judge. Come on, you players, don't you want to earn a quick 15 smackers?

Ice is finally appearing in the rinks around the district. New Otonabee Memorial Arena at Keene opens Friday at 7.00 p.m. with Nashua Paper Co. playing Keene in the Industrial Loop. Officials taking part in the opening are Senator J. J. Duffus, G. K. Fraser MP, Hon Harold Scott MPP, the Rev. Geo. Murray, the Rev. Chris McCarney, Norman Greene and others. A big night. Hockey started last eve in Norwood with Hastings taking a 6-4 TVL juvenile win o'er the home squad. Doug Free is rounding his Campbellford TVL-ers into shape, and the arena there will be taken over as a community centre. TVL tilts tonight: Hastings at Norwood, and Frankford at Marmora. An industrial fray in Omemee tonight, Nashua vs. Westclox. Tomorrow here it's Shades vs. De Laval, and CGE vs. Brintons. Bowmanville plays in Lakefield tonight.

Hastings Victorious In TVL Juvenile Go

NORWOOD, Jan. 11 (ENS) — Hastings gained a 6-4 decision over Norwood to open their TVL juvenile schedule here last evening before some 200 spectators It was a good game on firm ice with the visitors having a 3-1 margin in the first frame and play being quite even the rest of the distance. The homesters put on the pressure to have a good margin on play near the finish but they couldn't sew it up. Play was speedy and rough in spots.

Laver counted two goals for the winners, with Morrow, Stevenson and Wilson getting one each. E. Spencer scored twice and assisted on another for Norwood. with R. Spencer and Davis each sinking one. The teams:

Hastings—Goal, West; defence, Chambers, Lockhart; centre, Morrow; wings, Ford, Stevenson; alternates, Waltman, McMillan, Laver, Isaak, Lynch, B. Ford, Fairman, Wilson.

Norwood—Goal, Danford; defence, Althouse, Wrightly; centre, R. Spencer; wings, Fredericks, E. Spencer; alternates, Bernie Davis, Scott, Aldred, Cuthbertson, Morrison, Matthews, Peoples.

Referee — Scriver; linesman, Puffer.

King George Victors

King George opened the senior Public School Hockey League schedule at the arena with a 5-3 win over Queen Alex. Harrison got the first QA goal in the initial inning from R. McKinney, with Barker tying it up. Barker got two more next heat with Crowder aiding on both, and the latter scoring once from Barker. Stewart got a single for the losers. B. Whitton tallied for QA in the third and Withers wound it up from Fairs. The losers' goalie turned in a good effort, being kept quite busy throughout. Teams:

Queen Alex.: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Harrison, Stewart; centre, R. McKinney; wings, Whitton, Weir; alternates, T. McKinney, McClennan, Turnbull, Brown, Alton.

King George: Goal, Found; defence, Baclay, McIlmoyle; centre, Fuller; wings, Withers, Fairs; alternates, Butcher, Crowder, Roote, McKenzie, Thompson, Barker, Johnson.

Last Night's Stars

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

WONDER HORSES of the century are Dan Patch (bottom), mighty pacer of the early 1900's, and Man o' War, 1919-1920, one of the greatest thoroughbred runners of all time. In all his career, Dan Patch lost only two heats. Man o' War was beaten but once in 21 starts. Dan Patch's record of 1:55¼, set in 1905, stood for 33 years Man o' War, a "Cinderella horse" bought as a yearling for $5000, won $249,465 in his two years of racing. But it was his great performances that made history. Not entered in the Kentucky Derby, he defeated Sir Barton, the Derby winner, with ridiculous ease in a $100,000 match race. He's pictured settle a world record of 1:34 4-5 for the mile, defeating Wildair in the 1920 Withers at Belmont Park.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

Curlers in Group No. 2 are reminded that at 9:00 o'clock this evening they play their postponed game of January 4.

Another group winner was decided the other evening when in a close finish Ray Best's rink defeated Jimmy Hall's rink. This gives the Best rink the honors for Group No. 4. Congratulations B. W. Jones, F. L. Johnson, W J Cripps, R P. Best, skip.

Groups No. 2 and 5 should declare winners after this evening's games.

It is not too soon to get up a rink and enter the Canada Packers' bonspiel for next Wednesday

Some of our curlers are taking in the Lindsay bonspiel today.

Group No. 5 plays at 7:00 o'clock tonight and Group No. 2 at 9:00 o'clock.

Canadiens Wallop Hawks Leo Gravelle Hot Stuff

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Staff Writer.

Leo Gravelle of the Montreal Canadiens isn't anywhere in the National Hockey League's list of scoring leaders, but he sure made his presence felt when the Canadiens walloped the Hawks 7-3 at Chicago Tuesday night.

The blonde right winger, whose 5-foot 8-inch frame packs less than 160 pounds, helped himself to three goals. Floyd Curry, Maurice (Rocket) Richard, Cal Mackay, and Rip Riopelle got the others as the Canadiens moved within one point of the second-place New York Rangers.

Red Hamill, Gus Bodnar and Bill Mosienko did the scoring honors for the Hawks who held the Habitants to a 2-2 tie until most of the second period had elapsed. After that it was a scoring parade for the Montrealers. Richard's goal was his 25th of the season, keeping him far in front in actual goals scored.

The Canadiens had all the drive in the latter part of the game and Frank Brimsek in the Chicago net made 27 saves. Big Bill Durnan in the Montreal cage stopped 31.

Two Divisions

The result pretty well separated the league into two divisions, Detroit leads with 48 points, New York second with 40, and Montreal third with 39. Then comes Boston with 34, Toronto 33, and Chicago 30.

To-night the Toronto Maple Leafs battle the New York Rangers at Madison Square Garden, while Detroit is at Boston.

Conn Smythe, boss of the Stanley Cup champion Leafs, will break his florida vacation to see the game at New York where he may sign Johnny McCormack of the Toronto senior amateur Marlboros to a professional contract.

McCormack will be playing his third NHL game for the Leafs tonight, and that is the limit allowed by the CAHA without an amateur turning professional.

With Ted Kennedy back at his regular centre ice spot the Leafs lack only centre Cal Gardner, who is expected to start skating soon.

Mercurys Smash Dutchmen In 8-1 Senior OHA Game

By The Canadian Press.

A four goal effort by Pat McReavy sparked Owen Sound to an 8-1 conquest of Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen last night which lifted the Mercurys out of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A cellar after a three day sojourn as tail enders.

The former professional star also notched an assist to come up with a five point night in the Mercury's first win in 10 games.

In the only other game last night Guelph Biltmores climbed into a second place tie in junior A standings by trouncing the co-holders of the position, St. Catharines Teepees, 11-7.

Mercurys, playing before a home crowd, surged into a 4-0 first period lead and increased it to 6-1 at the end of the second period.

McReavy's linemates were also ficing heavy artillery in the winning cause. Doug Gillespie fired a goal and assisted on three others while Buck Forslund clicked for a goal and two assists. Other scorers in the Mercury lineup were Hub Beaudry and Art Hayward. Bill Walsh scored the only Kitchener-Waterloo tally.

Outscore Teepees

St. Catharines and Guelph ended the first period all tied at 3-3 but Guelph took a one goal lead in the second, outscoring the Teepees 3-2.

The third period told the tale the Biltmores firing home four counters before St. Catharines closed out the game with the two final goals.

Andy Bathgate paced the Biltmore attack with three markers while his brother Frank notched two. Other Hatters counting twice were Eddie Kulik and Ken Oberholtzer. Singles were pumped in by Aldo Guidolin and Frank Palmer.

Obie O'Brien was the big gun for the winners, moving up in the scoring race of the junior A series with three goals. Singles were counted by Bill Altoft, Norm Corcoran, Con Switzer and Wayne Brown.

Pirates Planning New Era, Accent On Youth

By JOE REICHLER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—(AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates are beginning a new baseball era. No longer will Forbes Field be a haven for fading veterans and pampered prima donnas.

From now on accent will be placed on youth. Fast feet, strong arms and eager outlooks will be preferred over big reputations and past performances.

After four years of fruitless endeavor and an outlay of more than $1,500,000, the Pittsburgh front office has decided to discard its former policy of buying up "names" and will try to develop its own talent.

"We don't promise any pennant next season," Manager Billy Meyer said recently. "But we do promise to give the Pittsburgh fans a young, hustling team that will be interesting at all times.

"The year 1950 will be one of rebuilding. If things work out as we expect the Pirates should be in the thick of the pennant fight in a season or two."

Among Newcomers

Among the newcomers are such lads as Pitcher Bill Macdonald, 20 years old; Infielder Danny O'Connell, 21, and Outfielder Bob Forbes, 22.

One of the most highly regarded is O'Connell, who cost the Pirates $60,000. The third baseman was a Brooklyn farmhand at St. Paul last year. He batted .314, drove in 102 runs, and cracked 17 home runs and 29 doubles.

O'Connell will have plenty of competition for the hot corner berth. In addition to holdovers Eddie Bockman and Pete Castiglione, such newcomers as Nanny Fernandez, Johnny Merson, Hank Schenz and George Strickland will be seeking a regular job.

The Pirates will take along 16 pitchers, half of them newcomers.

Among the new righthanders, Mel Queen, Jim Walsh and Bill Macdonald stand the best chance. Queen, with previous major league experience with the New York Yankees and Pirates, won 22 and lost 9 at Indianapolis last season.

15 Players Eligible For Calder Trophy

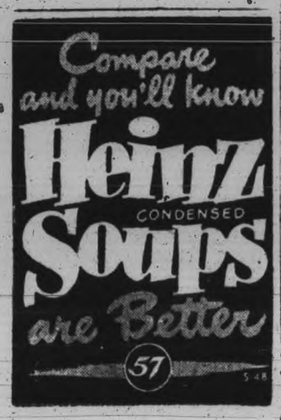
MONTREAL, Jan. 11 (CP). — The field was narrowed to 15 eligibles Tuesday for the Calder Memorial Trophy, awarded annually to the best rookie to break into the National Hockey League, the Award Committee announced.

The eligible players are: Boston, Dave Creighton, Zellio Toppazzini, Silvio Bettio, Phil Maloney, Arnie Kullman, and Jack Gelineau; Chicago, Bert Olmstead; Detroit, Steve Black; Canadiens, Gilles Dube; Rangers, Gus Kyle, Jack Lancien, Jackie McLeod, Chick Webster, and Bing Juckes; and Toronto, Rudyd Migay.

To be eligible for the Calder Memorial Trophy a player cannot have played in more than 20 games in any previous season and he cannot have played in more than one previous season.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.



Montreal's Maurice (The Rocket) Richard fired his 25th goal of the season and assisted on another marker to gain two points in the National Hockey League individual scoring race and break a four way tie for third position.

Ted Lindsay of Detroit Red Wings continued to hold first position with 42 points, closely followed by teammate Sid Abel with 40.

In fourth position was Roy Conacher, Chicago, who added one assist to bring his total to 35.

Paul Ronty, Boston Bruins, and Doug Bentley, Chicago, were tied in fifth place with 34 each Gordie Howe of the Red Wings was seventh with 33.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts
Lindsay, Detroit	17	25	42
Abel, Detroit	18	22	40
Richard, Montreal	25	11	36
R. Conacher, Chicago	15	20	35

Plan Steel Industry

VANCOUVER, Jan. 11 (CP) — Several groups interested in steel are investigating the possibilities of establishing an iron and steel industry in British Columbia, R. C. MacDonald, British Columbia Minister of Mines, said Tuesday night. He told a meeting a survey showed more than 10,000,000 tons of iron ore in three deposits, two on Vancouver Island and one on Texada Island.

Ask For Ontario Racing Commission

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP) — The Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association, at odds with track owners over the question of control in the incorporated Canadian racing associations, at a meeting Tuesday night decided to request the Ontario Government to form a racing commission to govern the sport in this province.

The ICRA board recently rejected HBPA demands for equal representation and an independent chairman on the ICRA board and rescinded a rule barring harness racing while the running horses are racing from May to November. This was followed by application for night harness racing dates at the suburban Long Branch track.

Previous off season disputes between the horsemen and track owners have largely concerned the size of purses.

Find Waste Useful

LONDON—(CP)—More than £1,000,000 ($3,100,000) of waste materials have been reclaimed and processed at Tottenham since the council's refuse depot was opened there in 1938. The reclaimed material was used for everything from feeding cattle to making bricks.

MARATHON FIGHT

The longest fight on record was between Andy Bowen and Jack Burke at New Orleans in April, 1893, lasting 110-round and taking 7 hours, 10 minutes.

Canadian Curlers Score First Victory

GLASGOW, Jan. 11 (CP) — Canadian curlers touring Scotland Tuesday scored their first victories in a series of practice games against Scottish rinks.

The victory came on the eve of the first test matches for the Strathcona Cup.

In Perth the Canadian A team beat Strathmore Province by 36 shots, 126 to 90. The team was skipped by Errick F. Willis of Winnipeg.

In Glasgow the B team defeated Lanarkshire Province by 13 shots, 132 to 119. N. C. Ralston of Saint John, N. B., led the B squad.

The first Strathcona Cup game will be played here and in Perth Wednesday. Custody of the cup, now held by Scotland depends on five matches.

Cincinnati Mohawks Beat Providence 3-2

By The Canadian Press.

The cellar dwelling Cincinnati Mohawks of the American Hockey League proved Tuesday night they could do more than tie a game, and they picked the best in the circuit to experiment on.

With activity centred only in the western division the Mohawks with 12 draw games under their belt—highest in both sections of the league—edged the league leading Providence Reds 3-2. Tod Campeau accounted for two of the victor's goals.

Providence has a 16 point lead on their nearest opponent Indianapolis Capitals while Cincinnati have won only six of their 41 games.

St. Louis Flyers and Pittsburgh Hornets are still deadlocked for third spot, two points behind the Caps, the result of a 1-1 draw.

The clubs played 50 minutes of scoreless hockey before Church Russell put the Hornets ahead only to have the injury-riddled Flyers tie it up on Norm Tustin's tally.

Preserve Site

HALIFAX, Jan. 11 (CP)—The Nova Scotia government will preserve as a historic site the 2,500 acre Uniacke estate at nearby Mount Uniacke, it was announced today. The estate, including a 137-year-old mansion described as "one of the most interesting examples of colonial architecture to be found in all of Canada," has been held by the Uniacke family since its acquisition by Richard John Uniacke, Attorney General of the province during 1797-1830.

Nova Scotia Starts Training Land Surveyors

LAWRENCETOWN, N. S. — (CP). — In an effort to solve the shortage of land surveyors, the Nova Scotia education department has opened here what is believed to be the only full-time school of surveying in Canada.

The school now has 10 students and shows signs of developing into something much larger. It offers a one-year concentrated course in land surveying that would take four years in university and two additional years at technical college to obtain via the traditional engineering course.

E. K. Ford, provincial director of vocational education, says there is a prospect that a post-graduate course in aerial surveying will be added when the first class finishes the regular course.

The school opened in September, 1949, and the course ends next August. J. A. H. Church of Lawrencetown, the school's director, says most of the curriculum is devoted to topographic and hydrographic surveying. Those who complete the course are ready to write the Nova Scotia examinations for provincial land surveyors.

Showroom For School

The students—most of them young — represent almost every part of Nova Scotia and one is an Englishman, Richard Wolseley of Stafford. Inquiries about the course have been received from Alberta and other distant points.

Lectures and the study of surveying theory take place at the school's headquarters, an abandoned automobile showroom. Practical training is gained on jobs in the field, scattered in various parts of the Annapolis Valley near Lawrencetown.

Tuition for the year $30 with students boarding themselves in private homes in the town. Applicants are required to be in good health and have a high school diploma or its equivalent, with better than average marks in science and mathematics.

The education department is guided in shaping policy by an advisory committee representing the engineering professions, industrial employers of surveyors and the lands and forests department. Chairman is V. P. Harrison, Halifax, of the lands and forests department.

TELLS STRANGE TALE—Arnold Craig, left, 25-year-old Windsor, automobile-worker, is quoted by police in Pontiac, Mich., as having told a strange story of murder in France in 1944. Craig police say, produced a faded snapshot of a young woman named Janelle Dagnais, right, and told them he killed her near Dieppe. He was serving with the Canadian Army at the time, he said.

Saves Child From Eagle

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 11 (Reuters)—An Australian mother today tore her seven-year-old daughter from the talons of a giant black eagle which landed in the garden of a block of apartments in Darlinghurst, a Sydney suburb. Neighbors heard her screaming "save my baby" and rushed to her aid.

The eagle, still thirsting for blood, beat at the door with its wings and talons until neighbors frightened it off.

An active child takes more than 30,000 steps a day, almost twice as many as the average adult.

Sunday Sports Local Option Says Ottawa

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP) — A Toronto paper said Tuesday in a dispatch from Ottawa it has learned from informed sources that Sunday sports in Ontario will be placed on a local option basis for urban communities or counties in much the same way as some of the liquor laws now apply.

The story says "it is likely that a better than 51 per cent majority will be required under a new Ontario law to have this commercialization of Sundays.

"For that reason, at least, a new vote will be required in Ontario," the story says.

Toronto and Windsor recently approved civic plebiscites to apply to the Provincial government for permission to hold Sunday afternoon sport events.

At Ottawa, Attorney General Porter of Ontario said Tuesday night the Sunday sport issue has not yet come before the Cabinet.

Find Revolt Stirring Film Industry

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11 (AP)—The revolt is stirring in Hollywood, one which may result in better pictures for you, the moviegoer.

The revolt is a reaction of some of the younger men of the industry against the authority of big studios.

One of the leaders of the revolt is young Stanley Kramer, producer of "Champion" and "Home of The Brave."

"The future of the motion picture industry is in the hands of the independents, not the majors," he has said. "If this lone source of expression fails, then the industry is doomed to destruction."

Fresh Ideas

Krame: claims that renewed interest in the movies can be earned solely by fresh, vital ideas "And the traditional role of the independent is that of the trailblazer," he added.

Robert Rossen, director-writer of "All The King's Men," agrees that vital new subjects must be found to win back adult patronage.

"I think the big studios have been taken in by their charts and audience surveys. They think they can put together two teaspoons of sugar, a yolk of egg and Ginger Rogers and cook the whole thing into a picture. But it still comes out a bad omelet."

Mark Robson, director of "Champion" and "Home of The Brave," claims that Hollywood should "go back to making pictures in a garage.

"Why make a picture for $1 700,000 at a major lot when it can be made independently for $900,000—and better!"

Revolt Succeeding

John Huston ("The Treasure of the Sierra Madre") agrees that the revolt is succeeding, in that "there is a respect now for the individual artist in pictures that didn't exist 10 years ago." But he contends that independence can be found within the major studios.

"You have to go through the school," he says, "but once you have proved yourself, the studios now are willing to give your talent a free rein. In fact, they will pay you $1,000,000 for it."

These four film creators, who have risen to prominence in the last few years, have found their independence. Veterans like Frank Capra, William Wyler, George Stevens and Leo McCarey have also arranged to make pictures with little or no interference.

WAKE UP FIRST

Scientists say you won't freeze to death if you fall asleep in freezing weather, unless you have completely exhausted yourself trying to stay awake.

THE 1950 FACE as just ordained by New York fashion experts, is mocked by actress Patricia Neal, left above, after a facial going-over by Hollywood makeup Perc Westmore. Says Westmore, "It's the same monstrous concoction I put on Frankenstein 20 years ago." At right above, Patricia wears her "natural look" — the one Westmore thinks she should have. As for New York's "1950 Face," Westmore continues, "It's so awful it's funny. They didn't release that mannequin face. It escaped."

More Controls Asked On Farms

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 11 — (CP)—Increased controls over farm production and prices were urged Tuesday at the annual meeting of the Niagara Peninsula Fruit Growers' Association, attended by more than 200 delegates.

A resolution passed by the meeting endorsed the principle of collective bargaining as established by the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Act, carried on through provincial marketing boards.

A buyers' market in the fruit industry was forecast by W. C. Nickerson, of St. Catharines, president.

Another resolution paseed recommended that the regulations under the Food and Drug Act be amended to ensure that only mature plums are used for canning and that syrup should be a maximum of 45 per cent.

Other resolutions included recommendations that efforts be made to recover the pre-war export market for peaches, pears and plums; that funds from sale of songiend fruit and vegetables by either trucker or commission agent be deposited in a trust account not subject to seizure in case of failure; and that legislation be introduced to establish floor prices for growers who are subject to price ceilings.

Named P. R. Director

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP) — Lambert C. Powell, former advertising executive of the Canadian National Exhibition, has been appointed the C.N.E.'s director of public relations, it was announced Tuesday.

Need An Addition

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP)—Urgent need of an addition to the Ontario College of Arts was stressed Tuesday at the college council's annual meeting. "It is important to Canadian industry that the work of the college should not be curtailed," said Fred Brigden. Overcrowding has compelled the council to prepare plans for an addition to the building.

Revolt Against Forms

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP)—At a meeting of the Toronto West Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church Tuesday a brief but heated revolt against statistical forms was staged. Ministers and laymen complained about the length and complexity of forms sent out by the church's general assembly requesting details about the size of church congregations. The forms had increased in size from one page to four.

CCL Approves Radio PublicOwnership

QUEBEC, Jan. 11 (CP) — The Canadian Congress of Labor Tuesday told the Royal Commission on National Developments in the Arts, Letters and Sciences that it believes in public ownership of radio broadcasting.

The 16-page brief of the Congress was among the first presented today as the Commission sat for the first day of a three-day stay in this capital city of French Canada.

While the brief extended to nearly all phases covered so far since the Commission began its hearings last Aug. 3 it dealt especially with radio broadcasting, television and the National Film Board.

The Congress objected to one point in the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation brief to the Commission earlier: the demand for a higher licence fee. But it agreed the CBC was in need of money.

While not wedded to any scheme, the Congress suggested one of the following methods to raise money for the CBC: A statutory grant, assignment to the CBC of revenue from sales tax, excise tax and custom duties on radios and radio parts and equipment, or some combination of these methods.

The brief expressed flat opposition to additional time being devoted to commercial programs as a means of revenue for the CBC.

The large body criticized demands of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters for an independent regulating body which would have authority over both the private broadcasters and the CBC.

'Twas Illegal Twice

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP) — It was illegal—twice—when Wyman O'Mara and Jeanne Edith Cavell Rutherford sighed "I do" to each other Dec. 9, police said Tuesday. O'Mara already had a wife and Mrs. Rutherford already had a husband, it is charged. They were remanded to Jan. 17 on separate charges of bigamy.

DR. LIONEL LAFLEUR, chief of the radiology department of St. Joseph Hospital, Lachine, Que., who has been made a licentiate of the University of Paris. He is the third French Canadian to be so honored in the last 15 years.

Remand Usher In Murder Case

WELLAND, Jan. 11 (CP) Michael Palechuk, 19-year-old former theatre usher from St Catharines Tuesday was remanded to Jan. 17 on a murder charge arising from the Christmas-week bludgeoning of Arthur Gough.

The body of Gough, 27-year-old taxi driver of St. Catharines, was found on the outskirts of Welland in a ditch.

"Why should I be remanded when I'm innocent?" Palechuk asked Magistrate T. George Street today. The remand was requested by police chief C. W. Wright of Crowland township.

John M. King of St. Catharines, defence counsel, said his client was anxious to be tried at the present Assizes "so he can prove his innocence as soon as possible."

He suggested the Crown would have to provide "very good grounds" for another postponement if it still was unprepared to go on with the case next Tuesday

File Petition On Application

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—(CP)—The New York State Power Authority Tuesday filed a formal petition with the Federal Power Commission requesting oral argument for a licence to proceed with the St. Lawrence power development.

The petition followed repeated demands by Governor Thomas Dewey for action at Washington to permit New York State and the Province of Ontario to go ahead with the $500,000,000 power development in the International Rapids section of the river.

President Truman, in an address to Congress last week, came out strongly for the proposed power-seaway-St Lawrence project, a federal undertaking with the Dominion Government. Truman said the power and seaway aspects of the project should not be separated.

New York State has long favoured the power development rather than the double project. The application for the licence was made July 16, 1948.

Subsequently the Federal Commission recommended complete federalization of the St. Lawrence project. Cost of the power-seaway development is estimated at about $2,000,000,000, shared by the federal governments of Canada and the United States.

New York and Ontario have offered to make the power development alone without use of federal funds.

New Assessor Visits Council

HAVELOCK, Jan. 11 (ENS)—The county assessor addressed the inaugural meeting of Belmont and Methuen Council on Monday, explaining and answering questions regarding the new assessment system which was adopted last year.

Earl Pollock will continue as assessor at the same salary as last year.

The sessional allowance for members of the council was set at $70 each.

R. Marshall, road superintendent, was authorized to have a sign erected prohibiting the dumping of refuse and garbage on the road between lots five and six running west of Concession 11.

Reeve Barrows and the clerk were authorized to sign the statement of road expenditure for 1949 and have the same submitted to the Department of Highways for subsidy.

Lot Changes Ownership

On motion by Councillors Newton and Wrightly, the ownership on lot seven, Concession one, was changed to Howard McKeown and the buildings assessment are to be removed from this lot.

Councillors Anderson and Wrightly moved that one dog be removed from the assessment of George Wilde on the 1950 tax roll.

The bond on the tax collector, Robert Marshall, was renewed at a premium of $15.

The clerk was authorized to order eight subscriptions of The Municipal World.

The reeve and clerk were authorized to sign a deed to German Ellis for the south half of the west half, and north half of the north half of the west half of Lot 28, Concession 7.

Death Toll 41

DAVENPORT, Ia., Jan. 11 (AP) —The death toll in the Mercy Hospital mental ward fire rose to 41 Tuesday. The hospital reported that Ruth Finnerty died Monday night of injuries suffered before rescuers could remove her from the blazing ward building She was the second to die among the 24 who were rescued.

Hawks Cause Casualties Among US Army Pigeons

By ROBERT CLARKE

WINNIPEG, Jan. 11 (CP) — Hawks caused high casualties among American army carrier pigeons put through cold weather tests early this winter in Canada's northland.

Maj. Otto Meyer, head loftman for the United States Army, said in a recent interview here that hawks, foxes, cold weather and accidents resulted in the loss of 51 to 70 pigeons tested at the Hudson Bay military centre of Churchill, Man.

"Hawks are the greatest enemy of the pigeon in the north," Maj Meyer added.

During seven weeks of training, the birds were tested on flights that eventually ranged up to 10 miles from early runs of ¼ mile. All the birds had been bred in the United States, where many of them were able to make flights up to 200 miles.

Didn't Reac Well

Maj. Meyer said he and his assistant, Sgt. Harry Lucas, also of Fort Monmouth, found trained birds did not react as favorably as previously-untrained birds in the northern tests.

"The trained birds seemed to fall prey to hawks more easily than the untrained ones, for one thing."

The cold weather also seemed to affect trained birds more. Taken out several miles and released they would simply scoot back into the loft instead of heading for home.

The army loftman said that next winter he will seek to lengthen the runs made by the pigeons. He also intends to obtain birds from Western Canada to participate in the tests in the belief that these birds, more accustomed to the rigors of the climate, will be more satisfactory.

No Slum Conditions To Be Found In Toronto

TORONTO, Jan. 11 — (CP) — Mayor Hiram McCallum Tuesday night took exception to a suggestion by Health Minister Kelley that Toronto should cease encouraging new industries to locate here.

Mr. Kelley had told the St. Catharines Junior Chamber of Commerce that excessive concentration of population and industry in cities leads to unhealthy slum conditions and an increase in traffic deaths. He cited Toronto as an example, and called on the smaller provincial centres to organize to promote decentralization of industry.

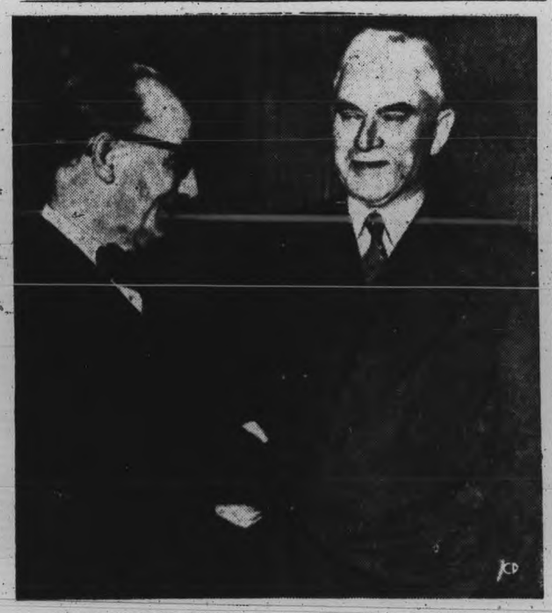
Mayor McCallum said there are no slum conditions in Toronto.

Girls' Club Named The Cereal Boosters

MILLBROOK, Jan. 11 (ENS)—The Cereal Bosters is the name chosen by the girls' club which meets under the auspices of the Women's Institute.

At the last meeting, at the home of the leader, Mrs. Hilton, the girls studied types of cereals, made an oatmeal pudding and rice custard. Home assignment was to list as many cereals as possible.

3-Month Bottleneck



TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP) — Plagued by traffic troubles resulting from subway construction, Toronto residents were told Tuesday that the downtown intersection of York and Front Streets will remain a bottleneck for the next three months. Street-cars buses, automobile and pedestrians all converge on the intersection The subway, to cost $34,000,000 is scheduled to be opened late in 1953

No Pork Available?

STRATFORD, Jan. 11 (CP) — There is no Canadian pork available for export to the United States, a meat packing official said Tuesday. E. J. Smith, general manager of Whyte Packing Company commenting on the possibility of the embargo being lifted on some cuts of pork to the U.S. said Canada has no pork surplus at present.

Boost For Fund

BARRIE, Jan. 11 (CP) — Jack Mitchinson, chairman of the Barrie and district memorial fund Tuesday night announced receipt of a pledge for $152,000 from William H. Wright, Barrie resident who is proprietor of the Toronto Globe and Mail. The newspaper owner previous had contributed $40,000. A total of $424,000 has been pledged so far in the $500,000 campaign for an extension to the Royal Victoria Hospital here.

Common Share Buying Part Ownership

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

John B. Ridley, president of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, gives a simple explanation of what it means to invest in Canadian companies.

Says Mr. Ridley:

"Common shares, I think, are somewhat misunderstood. Those that are available in the market can be purchased by anyone. They mean just what they say, a share interest in the ownership of a business.

"'For instance, by buying one share of CPR you would be buying 1/13,400,000th ownership in the company. You see, there are outstanding 13,400,000 shares. Similarly, if you bought one share of International Nickel you would be buying 1/14,584,025th ownership in the company as there are outstanding 14,584,025 shares.

Mr. Ridley, addressing the young men's section of the Toronto Board of Trade on Tuesday night, added:

"When people purchase common shares they are entering into that exhilarating position of being dependent as part owners on the prosperity or adversity of a company.

Make Sure of Ground

"If they are wise they should sincerely examine their future prospects in this regard. If they have not sufficient knowledge or experience to do so, they should make no commitment until they have consulted 'competent authorities.' There are such competent authorities in Canada, whose advice can be sought without charge or commitment....

"The clearing house of the investment industry in Canada is the Investment Dealers' Association. Members must fulfil certain financial, insurance, audit, and other qualifications.

"The association cannot regulate agafnst the freedom of its members in performing their legitimate functions, but it is the medium through which the industry's problems are discussed internally and externally with governments, public bodies and other associations. Its members have 350 offices from coast to coast."

Premier Attlee Enters Election With 5-Year Plan Finished

By ALAN HARVEY.

LONDON, Jan. 11 — (CP). — Britain's Labor Party enters the election lists on grounds of its own choosing, its first five-year plan virtually completed.

Although the iron and steel industry has not yet been taken over by the state, Labor goes into the campaign with the necessary legislation on the books. The actual visiting date for nationalization of iron and steel lies in the life of the next Parliament.

The result is that Prime Minister Attlee is able to tell the country every 1945 election pledge is fulfilled.

The record:

1—Nationalized the Bank of England in 1946, together with coal mining and the country's overseas radio and telephone communications.

2—Established in 1947 the Government Transport Commission with power to convey goods and persons by road, rail and inland waterways; also nationalized electricity.

3—Nationalized the gas industry in 1948.

4—Created the Colonial Development Corporation in 1947 and the Overseas Food Corporation in 1948, both to promote the development of overseas resources.

5—Entrusted to a public corporation the responsibility for planning new towns. None has been built yet but several are on the drawing boards.

Extend Food Ministry

6. Extended the Food Ministry into a vast wholesale supply house with £1,500,000,000 ($4,650,000,000 annual turnover.

7. Launched the "cradle to the grave" health scheme in July, 1948, together with a host of auxiliary services.

Labor claims to have implemented its 1945 pledge to achieve and maintain a state of full employment saying post war unemployment figures have never exceeded 350,000.

The Conservatives claim this is misleading, quoting Socialist speakers with saying that without Marshall Plan aid Britain would have had 1,500,000 unemployed.

Although plagued by the dollar gap, the government has also accomplished an overall trade balance.

In the sphere of constitutional reform, Labor reduced from two years to one the powers of the hereditary House of Lords to delay non-financial legislation passed by the elected House of Commons.

2-Year Term Question May Go To Electors

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP)—The question of a two-year term for Toronto city council may be submitted to the electorate again next year hence. In four previous elections the two-year term has been defeated, the last time a year ago when 50,640 were in favour and 73,250 opposed. Controller Leslie Saunders, a strong supporter of the proposal, said Tuesday he intends to move that the question again go to a vote of the people.

Mayor Hiram McCallum and the majority of council members are known to favour the two-year term, one reason being the saving on election costs. It is estimated the annual election costs almost $100,000.

School Teacher Wins Oratorical Trophy

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP) — A 25-year-old school teacher, Marion Hough of Avonmore, Ont., Tuesday night won the Ontario Junior Farmers' Association public speaking contest trophy.

She won out over four other competitors. All contestants had survived three preliminary competitions in their local areas.

Announcing the awards, Dr. G E. Reaman of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, said Mrs. Hough won on a technicality over Francis Boyle of Ripley in Bruce County. In two speeches of 10 and three minutes duration Mr. Boyle exceeded the time limit on the longer by two minutes which disqualified him.

Others competing were Wilfrid Moncrief, Peterborough; Verna McComb, Curries, in Oxford County; and Rose McPhail, Cromarty, in Perth County.

AP Directors Hold Four-Hour Session

TUGSON, Ariz., Jan. 11 (AP)—Directors of the Associated Press met for more than four hours Tuesday in a discussion of routine business matters.

Frank J. Starzel, AP general manager, said there was nothing of interest to report at the conclusion of the sessions.

The directors,- leading publishers and newspapermen of the United S ates plan morning and afternoon discussions today and Thursday when their anual winter meeting will end.

Robert. McLean, Associated Press president and publisher of the Philadelphia Bulletin, presided Tuesday. Allan Gould, AP executive editor, was in attendance.

KC On Union Role Flays Boards Of Conciliation

The proper function of labor unions is to form a bridge between the workers and management in order that management can operate an enterprise to make a profit and continue to exist, "with the least possible hardship to the workers," E. Macaulay Dillon KC, Toronto, said Tuesday night at a meeting of the Personnel Association of Peterborough.

To do this job properly, unions must be strong, Mr. Dillon emphasized. A labor union can serve a useful purpose in any industry he said.

But, he pointed out, an industrial plant is like a small state or government in which management are the goverhors and workers are the governed. Under no condition, he said, should management surrender its governing right nor allow unions to encroach on that fundamental right. It was management's duty to operate at a profit so that the "government" could never be operated solely "for the people."

Goal of Prosperity

"Neither can it be government of and by the people, for if the workers owned the industry, they would have to employ management to run it," Mr. Dillon added. Therefore in industrial plants the interests of employers and workers were bound to separate at various points. Unions served their purpose when they stepped into this breach, he said, and worked with a goal of prosperity for the industrial enterprise and for the workers.

Mr. Dillon commented that his conception of the function of labor unions and his belief that they served a useful purpose were not generally accepted by management, but, he said, they should be.

In the case where a union itself did not recognize its proper function, then it was up to management to educate it to operate as a bridge between the workers and management. This was dangerous, of course, Mr. Dillon said. Management must first of all be sure it knew what a union's true function was and also that the union was not already performing its proper activities.

Some Hinder

In some cases there were unions which acted "as a distinct hindrance . . . so that the aims, plans and program of the employer are completely thwarted." It might be, he commented, "that those aims, plans and program are not all they should be."

Mr. Dillon said he thought the Centennial Year Civic Plans Start Thursday

Ald. Adam Sands has called a meeting of the reception committee for Thursday evening to begin consideration of plans for Peterborough's municipal centennial year.

"Instead of concentrating on one big week's reunion," the chairman said, "we are thinking of a series of events most of which would be carried on largely by the people themselves. That is a general approach which appears to be favorably regarded by citizens who have been thinking about it."

Ald. Sands said probably former mayor W. G. Ovens would accept the chairmanship of a subcommittee composed of persons to help in promoting the affairs of the centennial, thereby assisting the reception committee and assuming a large part of the detail of planning.

Air Ideas

A tentative suggestion has been mentioned that societies, churches, schools, ex-servicemen, Canadian Legion and others might hold separate affairs of reunion nature. Allied Labor Council might enlarge its Labor Day celebration. These are some of the present ideas that are merely in thought so far.

Junior Chamber of Commerce may undertake a regatta at Little Lake. Some industrial reunions have also been mentioned as possibilities.

The Sands committee will start from scratch Thursday night on the project. At any rate council and other opinion is not favorable to an Old Home Week.

Miss Isobel Elcome Pioneers In The Field of Taxidermy

By JEAN STENTON

A family S. O. S. catapulted Miss M. Isobel Elcome, Elcome Crescent, into becoming a pioneer in the field of taxidermy. She is one of the rare women in Canada or the United States who knows the art of "stuffing" and mounting prize fish.

It began as an accident 25 years ago . . . and she's still doing it and loving it. Her father, Edwin Elcome, taxidermist, became very ill. With a lot of work on hand to be finished, and with Miss Elcome at home more than the rest of the family, she was cashiered into the workshop.

Day after day, her seriously ill father taught her his tricks of the trade. She had only three months to master the intricacies of the work before he died. Then she was on her own. Once in, resort owners refused to let her stop.

Taxidermists are few in number. Miss Elcome recalls that the only other woman she ever knew in the profession lived in Niagara Falls N. Y. some years ago. There are two men doing the work in Toronto that she knows of and one man in Smiths Falls and one in Unionville.

Not Squeamish

The first time she tremblingly took a fish apart was a grizzly experience, but it doesn't phase her now. Prior to that, her only acquaintanceship with the species were those on the end of her line that she caught in the Otonabee River at her back door.

The biggest percentage of Miss Elcome's customers are American fishermen. They come to her from all the states. She did a neat 10-pound muskie this last summer for an enthusiast from Florida.

The bigger the fish, the better this tall, charming woman likes them. The little ones, like brook trout, are tender and very difficult to work with. The largest she ever did was 40½ pound lunge. In the summer of 1948 she mounted a 37-lb muskie caught by J. M. Radey of Fenelon Falls and a 35-lb. maskinonge caught by Dave Williams of Warren, Ohio. The largest small mouth black bass to come her way was 7¼ lbs. But her biggest pickerel made its appearance in October 1949. Fred J. Green of Peterborough landed a 12-lb. 1-oz. giant, 32 inches long, which has since been entered in the Field and Stream competition in the U. S., much to Miss Elcome's satisfaction.

Matter of Course

Asked if Americans were surprised to see a woman doing the job, she said if they were, it had worn off before their arrival. It seems there is a resort operator's grapevine in good working order.

Quite a few women in the last few years have brought their prizes to Miss Elcome, and she has regretfully more than once had to turn away when they were 1 or 2 inches under the size.

In her father's tiny workshop, Miss Elcome skins the fish and cleans out the meat. When this job is done, then she goes at it with arsenic paste as part of the final curing. Not only must a taxidermist be something of an amateur surgeon, but an artist as well. In order to bring up the natural color of the skin most fish require retouching with artists' oils, applied with a brush. The colors must be blended just right . . or the prize is spoiled.

But in spite of her skill, to Miss Elcome being a taxidermist is only a hobby. Her business is dressmaking. To quote her, she "spends her time in the summer skinning bodies, and her time in the winter, making skins for bodies."

Heavy Flow of Water Cuts Amount of Power Produced

Water is up in the Otonabee River and electric power in down. If that sounds something like a paradox of hydraulics to average citizen, it is just one of those things to the operators at the power plants from London St. to Lakefield.

At power dams the ideal condition appears to be expressed in the conjoined phrases, heads up and tails down. That's when you get maximum power production. But, if it is a case of heads up and tails up in the current freshet that has all the volume of spring, or pretty nearly, as may be observed these days at Nassau, for instance, the net result is a slump in the generation of power.

To be of any use industrially, water has to be flowing or falling, but when it backs up below the dam as has been doing of late, the fall from the head to the tailrace is reduced, energy is lowered, and you get less power out of the generators.

Anybody can see that the river has risen, or backed up, in the reach from the Peterborough Lock at Lansdowne St. to the tail of the Hydraulic Power at London St. The same condition has developed at Auburn, and again in the reach below the C. G. E. dam as Nassau.

Power output at Nassau is down these days probably 800 kilowatts because the water has risen appreciably below the dam. Reduction in the fall of water may be around five feet.

A. J. Bonney of Hydralic Power said the recent circumstance of ample water in the river was partly corrected during the last three days when the flow fell off 1,000 cu. feet, per second. Today's rain is likely to boost the volume again.

This unusual January flow is a considerable embarrassment to the power house operators. As Mr Bonney said: "Nobody can put 2,600 cu. ft. per sec. through the water wheels of generators when it is flowing at 8,000 to 9,000 cu. ft."

When the river subsides to the lean normal summer flow, operators have the opposite job of maintaining the supply of water in their forebays. If they run it off in the day time when power is needed, they build up the head at night and during week ends.

Hydro has two power plants in the Peterborough area, one at Auburn and the other at Lakefield. CGE is at Nassau and Hydraulic Power at London St.

Permit Scouts To Again Use Dixon House

Favorable publicity to counteract the unfavorable publicity received by the Park Hill Scout Troop was requested of the Recreation Commission by George Groombridge, District Scout Commissioner Tuesday night. He was appearing before he commission on behalf of the local Scout Association and the provincial executive.

Mr. Groombridge said that the local association would like to have the commission make public that the Scouts have been re-instated into Dixon House.

In November the Scouts were asked to vacate Dixon House which had been used as their winter headquarters for the past three years. The Commission instructed Mr. Jack Dane, then the recreation director, to ask the boys to leave the building because they persisted in causing a nuisance.

Mr. Groombridge said that an investigation into the matter was held by the Scout Association. They found that some of the accusations dated back into 1948. Referring to a broken lock, said to have been broken by the Scouts, Mr. Groombridge said the person responsible had reported the incident and had nothing to do with the Scouts.

Upon Mr. Groombridge's suggestion that a larger room be given the Scouts R. J. Bolton said that with the present nursery school in Dixon House he could not see where additional room was available. He told Mr. Groombridge that the property committee would discuss the question.

New Assessment Of City Said Necessary

Peterborough has an "excellent" proportion of owner-occupied houses—69.2 per cent. This is noted in a report to the city council by Norman A. Wilkes, Assessment Commissioner.

(The corresponding assessment for Hamilton last year was 65 0)

"There is a total of 9,059 dwelling units in the city," Mr. Wilkes informed the council. "This does not include shared accommodation. Of the 7,544 single residences the excellent proportion of 69.2 per cent are owner-occupied. It is also interesting to note that dwelling units average 3.9 persons, despite many units housing two or more families."

The increase in taxable assessment of $1,627,800 over 1948, represents normal development in building and business. No general increases were made.

This is an increase of 4.5 per cent while the population increased 617 or 1.73 per cent.

$680,000 Added

"In addition to the total assessment shown in the report, the latest supplementary assessment completed December 31 adds more than $680,000 to the assessment upon which the tax rate for 1950 is to be computed."

Quarterly assessments are also made. In addition to the 10,000 regular calls made by the assessors each year, between 500 and 600 properties under construction or making alterations or additions must be inspected every three months. "Assessment valuation must be made on completed structures, rolls prepared and notices sent out. These notices are in addition to 20,000 regular notices prepared and delivered each year. The resultant revenue justifies the effort."

"We were unfortunate during the year in losing the services of Mr. Ralph Rowland who left to take another position and Mr. Frank Pammett who transferred to another department. Their loss leaves the department with but one experienced assessor, though capable men have been secured to replace them."

Mr. Wilkes told the council that a complete re-assessment of the city had become necessary.

"It is very evident that many inequalities exist, not through any inefficiency or neglect in the past, but through the growth and development of the city. This condition prevails generally throughout Ontario, and many municipalities have completed, or are in the process of completing, a new assessment.

Through the offices of the Department of Municipal Affairs and the Association of Assessment Officers efforts are being made to secure more uniform methods of assessment throughout the province. "We are keeping in touch with these developments and are completing the preliminary steps with a view to making our reassessment within the next two years. A great deal of detailed work is required, and I am strongly in favor of having our present staff complete the job. This cannot be done efficiently in less than two years as the regular work must be maintained."

RE-ELECTED CHAIRMAN of the Recreation Commission at its first meeting of the year on Tuesday night was R. J. Bolton, principal of the Prince of Wales Public School.

Re-elect Bolton Chairman Recreation Body

R. J. Bolton was re-elected on Tuesday night chairman of the Recreation Commission. J. Gordon Armstrong, vice-chairman, and R E. MacDonald, treasurer, were also returned to office. Alex Sinclair, the new director, will take the place of Mrs. J. E. R. Munro, who resigned in November as secretary.

Committee chairmen returned for 1950 are: Mr. MacDonald, finance; A E. Borland, adult education; William Bennett, ladies sports; C. G. Collins, male sports; Mrs Richard Whalon, boys' and girls' work and Mr. Armstrong property. New committee chairmen chosen were Wilfred Langan music and drama; Mr. Armstrong, study and research. One committee, the arts and crafts, is without a chairman. This vacancy will be filled when a new member is named to the commission who will represent these groups.

The three-year terms of four of the Recreation Commission's members expired January 1, Quirt McKinney, R. E. MacDonald, William Bennett and Mrs. J E. R. Munro. Resignations were received from Mrs. Munro and Mr. McKinney for reasons of illness. The commission is recommending to the council the reappointment of Mr. Bennett and Mr. MacDonald to the commission.

J. T. O'Connell Dies Four Days After Office Fire

Four days after he was badly burned by fire in his Water St. real estate office, John Thomas O'Connell, 71, died Tuesday night in St. Joseph's Hospital. He was a life-long resident of Peterborough.

An inquest will be held Coroner Dr. Herb Young and Crown Attorney John Bradshaw decided today. The date has not been announced.

Mr. O'Connell was dragged from the burning ruins of his real estate office late Friday afternoon by four Peterborough men —Arnold Bonner of Stewart St., Ted Cooney of Water St., Frank Wood of Maniece Ave., and Frank H. Patterson, proprietor of the Filter Queen Store, next door.

He was given first aid treatment by Mr. Cooney and then taken by ambulance to hospital. Although he rallied several times, the shock sustained by the severe burns on his hands and face proved too much for him to overcome. After a four-day battle for life he died at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

For about 50 years Mr. O'Connell was in the real estate business, and in this period of time much valuable property in this rapidly growing city passed through his hands.

He purchased a 100-acre farm in Otonabee about 40 years ago and lived on that property until about a year ago. Then he moved to the family home at 587 Armour Rd.

Born in Peterborough, son of the late James O'Connell and Catherine McAuliffe, he was educated here and spent a lifetime in the district. At no time did he play a prominent part in municipal affairs but concerned himself with his business.

He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Joseph Paquette (Olive) of Montreal; four sisters—the Rev. Sister St. Catherine of the Community of St. Joseph, Marguerite of Toronto, and Mary A. and Elizabeth of Peterborough. He also leaves a brother James of Peterborough.

His wife, the former Rose McGeough died in 1946.

Mr. O'Connell was a member of Sacred Heart Church and was a Past Grand Knight of the Knights of Columbus.

The funeral will be from the Duffus Funeral Home at 9.45 a.m. Friday to Sacred Heart Church at 10 a.m. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Labor Decides Support On Wage Policy

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Jan. 11 — (CP)— Organized labor decides tomorrow whether the government's stand-still policy on wages merits official support for another year.

Leaders of 8,000,000 trade unionists—nearly half of Britain's civilian labor force—meet in London for a crucial vote which could make or break a pre-vote plea for renewed support of the two-year-old curb on wage claims.

The ballot will be taken at a conference of the executive committees of 187 unions affiliated with the Trades Union Congress, a largely-advisory body which has no disciplinary power, but which is generally recognized as the biggest single spokesman for organized labor.

Since the government launched its wage-restraint policy early in 1947 the TUC has found itself in an unusual position. Instead of supporting claims by unions for higher wages, it has been obliged, because of its ties with the Labor party, to ask the union to go easy.

Causing Unrest

So far it has succeeded—but there are signs that its efforts to keep the lid on for another year is causing growing restiveness among the rank and file.

Despite this opposition, the government is expected to win by a narrow margin in the vote of confidence tomorrow.

If a majority of unions do give support, they are almost sure to expect something in return.

Sir William Lawther, vice-chairman of the TUC and one of the most influential supporters of the government, has made that clear. In a weekend speech, he demanded legislation to wipe out bonuses paid to what he called "supermen" in industry.

Toronto Mayor QueriesInvitation

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (CP)—The Mayor of Canada's second largest city wondered Tuesday why Toronto has not yet received an invitation to a February conference of the Australian Lord Mayors' Association at Melbourne.

A London announcement by Australia House said the mayors of Vancouver, Quebec and Montreal had been asked to the conference which "would promote goodwill on both sides of the Atlantic and focus attention on the 1956 Olympic Games to be held at Melbourne."

"It's the first I've heard of such a conference, but if Vancouver, Quebec and Montreal rate invitations, then Toronto should be included," said Mayor Hiram McCallum.

For December 1949 there were 166 more children enrolled at Peterborough public schools than for the same period in 1948

Average attendance, however, was 3468 or 93.42 per cent.

The December enrolment was 3985—three less than the previous month.

Following is a breakdown of the average December atendance Central School 350, Confederation 423, King Edward 340, King George 448, Prince of Wales 625 Queen Alexandra 327 Queen Mary 652, Grove 106, May's 156 and Parkhill 56.

Highest percentage of attendance was at May's and Queen Alexandra, both with 95.16 per cent. Lowest was Grove with 90.63 per cent.

Altogether 84 North Monaghan pupils are attending city public schools. Of these 17 are kindergarten children. Forty of them are enrolled at Prince of Wales; 23 at Grove, 16 at Queen Mary, and four at May's.

SOUTH INDIA CHRISTIANS

There now are large numbers of Syrian Christians in Malabar India, who claim their ancestors were converted by missionaries from nearly 2,000 years ago.

Use Midget Houses In Test For People of Prairies

By NORMAN MICHIE

SASKATOON, Jan. 11—(CP)—Midget houses standing on six concrete blocks may lead to warmer and cheaper housing for the people of the prairies.

The first of five units of the National Research Council's Division of Buildinf Research is ready to explore the building practices of an area where cold weather is the enemy of comfort for at least five months a year. The experiments are being conducted at the University of Saskatchewan.

R. F. Legget of Ottawa heads the Division, which plans other units in the Maritimes, Central Canada, the West Coast, and the far north. Dr. Niel Hutcheon of the university's faculty of Engineering directs the research, assisted by his staff and N.R.C. scientists.

The concrete blocks will support tiny model buildings. Instruments in the building will register the effect of changing outdoor conditions. Inside the laboratory, similar materials will be tested under controlled conditions.

Want More Thinking

The over-all objective, says Dr. Hutcheon, is to "introduce serious thinking into a trade where everyone from the lumber salesman to the owner has had his hodge-podge say."

Saskatoon's unit got a head start because of work already done under the Prairie Rural Housing Committee, which for three years investigated building materials for the governments of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Under the P.R.H.C., extensive tests were made on two revolutionary types of construction material—cinder-concrete blocks and rammed-earth bricks.

"We found that cinder-concrete blocks cannot be recommended for normal house construction because they do not meet all the requirements of a good material." He said he could not estimate their usefulness in other construction.

As for rammed-earth construction, investigation had showed it is not the answer to low-cost housing. Cheapness was more than offset by the Labor cost of ramming earth into suitable "brick", and the brick was subject to frost penetration.

The chief project now is a study of fill-insulation materials to find the effects of water, vibration, and settling on winterized walls. The use of building papers, "a long-neglected field to which the public is just beginning to attach a portion of the proper importance," is also being studied.

Safety Committee Re-elects All Officers

MARMORA, Jan. 11 (ENS). — Officers of the Deloro Safety Committee were all re-elected Tuesday as follows: Chairman, C. H. Buskard; vice-chairan, J. A. Paquet; secretary-treasurer, H. A. McNally; assistant secretary, A. H. Rennie.

Award of the committee's star to the General Division was announced by W. Regan.

G. Brooks reported three suggestions received. C. T. Nicholson reported on behalf of the inspection committee and C. Brady was appointed floating member for January. R. E. Neal reported for the publicity committee. T. Cousins handled the report of the Health and Investigation Committee. The annual entertainment is planned for January 25 in Deloro Hall.

After Tourist Dollars

MONTREAL, Jan. 11 (CP) — This year will see the world's most intensive drive to capture the United States tourist dollar, D. Leon Dolan, director of the Canadian Tourist and Convention Bureau, Ottawa, said Tuesday night. Addressing the Northern Resorts Association, Mr. Dolan said Canadian hotel and resort operators would "have to compete not only against Holy Year, but against the new aggressive State Tourist Bureaux set up in 40 of the United States."

Home and School Hear Paper About Digestion

HAVELOCK, Jan. 11 (ENS) — Mrs. L. H. Cooke, health convener, presented a paper on Good Digestion, at the meeting of the Home and School Association on Monday.

Digestive disorders were more common than any other ailment with the exception of respiratory disorders, Mrs. Cooke said.

She gave the following rules as a guide to good digestion: avoid eating when rushed or upset, keep teeth in good condition for chewing properly; drink plenty of water; do not eat too much or too often; eat a variety of foods, avoid strenuous exercise immediately after eating, if digestive troubles persist consult a doctor.

Mrs. George Hubbell described a trip she and Mr. Hubble, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Nobes, took to California during the fall. The vacation covered a period of 21½ days and a motor trip of 8,000 miles, which took the party through Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona.

Present Program

Mrs. F. McKay, program convener, presided over the program and read a poem by Edgar Guest, also one entitled the "Game Guy Prayer."

Mrs. J. Wilde conducted a contest which was won by Shirley Jewell and Mrs. G. Hubbel

Mrs. H. Pollock was accompanist for community singing. Two duets were sung by Evelyn and Margaret Ann Stevenson. The attendance shield and prize of a dollar were awarded to Mrs. Backus' room for haying the largest number of parents at the meeting.

The president, Mrs. H. McNeely presided for the opening exercises and a short business sesion, when it was announced that "Founder's Night" will be observed on February 6 in the town hall. The program ont hat occasion will include a movie.

Refreshments were served.

Crossing Worries

OWEN SOUND, Jan. 11 (CP)—Immediate action on the problem of unguarded railway crossings was urged Tuesday in a letter to mayors from the office of Mayor Eddie Sargent. He asked that all municipal councils in Ontario petition their members of parliament for federal aid in the erection of warning lights, barriers and wig-wag signals.

ARROW SKIPPER — Capt. David Jones, of Chicago, is captain of the American freighter Flying Arrow, which was shelled by two Chinese Nationalist gunboats as it attempted to run the Nationalist blockade around Shanghai. The attack, which lasted 28 minutes, rendered the ship unseaworthy. No casualties were reported.

SHIP SHELLED—Map shows the route of the American freighter, Flying Arrow, which was shelled off Shanghai by Chinese Nationalist gunboats. The ship had left Hong Kong in an attempt to run the Nationalist blockade. The attack was termed "piratical" by the vessel's owner. A British Naval sloop helped the Flying Arrow put out fires started by the shelling.

NOT AN ALLY

The United States was not one of the Allies in the First World War since there was no common agreement on the objects to be attained, and was instead called an "associate."

Czechoslovak Government Banning Sale Pre-War Books

PRAGUE, Jan. 11 — (Reuters) — The Czechoslovak government Tuesday banned the sale of all books published before the war in Europe ended in May, 1945, and all books not bearing a date of publication.

A ministry of information and culture decree which came into effect today instructed all bookshops to list, pack and store away from the public all such books.

It gave the bookshops 10 days in which to "purge" their shelves and up to end of January to render list of their blocked books to the ministry of information. School text-books were excepted from the order, apparently because they are in short supply.

Monday's measure was regarded as a further step in gradual process of eliminating the past. It followed last year's nationalization of all publishing and printing firms, the closing of private lending libraries and the closing of all second-hand bookshops, with all trade in second-hand books now restricted to the state publishing firm, Orbis.

Britain Takes To Ski Slopes, Ski Styles Too

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—(CP)—London may seem a strange place to be featuring the latest fashions in ski clothes—but it's happening.

Britain's shop and office clerks, students and factory workers — many of them women — are fast becoming ski-minded. A few plan started by the Ski Club of Great Britain, which provides eight week's home training followed by 12 days on the ski slopes of Norway, is one of the reasons.

Almost 700 applicants have signified their intention to take part in this plan alone — more than 300 of them women. London stores are taking advantage of this new interest to feature complete ski outfits at under £20 ($62).

Fashion-plate ski outfits are expensive in Britain, but those who want clothes for skiing—not just for glamor—will find practical outfits in most of the big London stores.

For under 20 guineas, one department store has a lumberjacket-topped suit in grey with matching peaked cap and a bottle-green belted tunic suit with bonnet and gloves.

In stores selling surplus army supplies, many ski necessities can be found and combined into a useful outfit.

There is the army battle dress that will fill the occasion nicely. A man's cotton gaberdine golf jacket at 26s 11d. ($4.15) makes a good ski-jacket. Women's ski jackets with attached hoods cost £7. 1s 9d. Trousers cost £7. 18s 7d.

Any Goods Cheap

Ski-boots cost anything up to £13 13s but they can be had for 62s 1d.

Woollen gloves with windproof over-mitts cost 11s 4d. and an army ski cap with peak and earflaps costs 3s.

American army hickory skis with bindings can be purchased for £4 to £5.

One army surplus clothing store is turning army-type boots with squarish toes into ski-boots for an additional cost of 5s 3d. These can be cosily combined with big seamen's stockings, now navy surplus.

For those who wish to be skiing glamor girls—at glamor prices — the International Wool Secretariat shows many fascinating ski outfits in wool — designed by various well-known houses.

A new ski idea that need not be serious, is the after-ski suit. One keeps on the ski boots and changes into a softly-draped, all-in-one trouser suit with Grecian top ending in loose scarf neckline that can be worn as pleased over the every bare, sleeveless neckline.

Charming suits of this style can be combined with a fur-lined ski-top. Then you're ready for dancing.

Vancouver Births Safest in World

VANCOUVER, — (CP) — Vancouver still is the safest city of its size in which to be born, according to statistics released by the city's chief medical health officer, Stewart Murray.

The figures show Vancouver's infant mortality last year was 24.9 per 1,000 live births, a slight increase over the city's 1948 world record of 24.3.

Maternal mortality per 1,000 live births was down from 1.4 in 1948 to only .97 for the first 10 months of 1949.

At the same time the city's birth rate has dropped from 20.3 a year ago to 19.7 in 1949. The 1947 rate was 22.7.

Vancouver's death rate also dropped. It was 10.2 in 1949 compared with 11.1 in 1948.

Home and School Association News

QUEEN ALEXANDRA

It was Fathers' Night at this month's meeting of Queen Alexandra Home and School Association Monday. Parents were received by Messrs B. Baker, O. Axford and O. J. Hayward.

Mrs. O. J. Hayward, president, welcomed the parents and the attendance prize was won by Miss R. Telford's room.

Mr. Gainor announced that a comic operetta, The Smugglers would be presented by Grades seven and eight in February.

Mr. Fred Shaw took the chairs for a program of entertainment when Mr. Reg. Peters of the Peterborough Choral Society sang accompanied by Mr. Christopher Gledhill and Mr. Gledhill also gave a piano recital.

A reading of Little Red Riding Hood, with audience participation, was presented by Mr. Ken Kingston.

Mr. Percy Dallin introduced Mr. Gordon Bailey, who drew cartoons and explained to the parents how to encourage their children to draw.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Bailey was proposed by Mr. McKee.

Miss Ruth Telford led a sing-song with Mr. Morris Duke at the piano and Mr. Fred Shaw entertained with a three-part play, which he interpreted by changing hats as he took the parts of the different characters.

A humorous competition between six couples, with men dressed as women, was held and Mr. Munro presented prizes.

Refreshments were served.

Mrs. F. Rutherford Appointed To Committee

TORONTO, Jan. 11 — (CP) — A strongly worded resolution on education was referred to the education committee at Tuesday's women's meeting of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

Submitted by Mrs. C. E. Pegg of Claremont, Ont., it "deplored" changes of the "proposed drastic reorganization" of the Ontario educational system.

"This teach-what-you-like, take-what-you-like system of education, with its repudiation of the discipline that comes from difficult study in preparation for rigidly controlled examinations, will turn loose a citizenry of sloppy-minded individuals, an easy prey for demagogues."

About 100 women representing Ontario counties heard reports that indicated expanded activity in women's work.

A resolution passed by the meeting urged that daylight saving be abolished because it harmfully affected children's health and shortened hours for farm work.

Elected chairman for the 1950 committee was Mrs. George Ridley of Caledonia. Mrs. George Wier of Burford was elected secretary. Other committee members were Mrs. Leland Pound, Lancaster; Mrs. F. M. Rutherford, Campbellford; Mrs. R. M. Lillico, Hawthorne; Mrs. C. A. Campbell, Pakenham.

Dartford News

Miss Eileen McCracken is convalescing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Darling at Belleville after her appendicitis operation at Belleville hospital on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nelson and Linda spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy White, Harwood.

Messrs. Frank Lockhart and Raymond Richardson spent a few days in Toronto recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie McCracken spent a few days last week in Belleville.

WATCHING PROPAGANDA

MONTREAL, Jan. 11 (CP) — The Montreal Gazette says today that Montreal's anti-subversive police squad has started an investigation of the Labor-Progressive party's 1950 propaganda campaign. The Gazette says in a news-page story that the campaign has opened "with a direct approach to French Canadians . . . spear heading the drive . . . will be the Canadian Peace Congress, known as part of a world-wide Communist front."

To End Annoying Cough, Mix This Recipe, at Home

Here is the well known old recipe which thousands of housewives have found to be a dependable means of breaking up winter coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs very little, but it does give quick relief.

From any druggist, get a 2½ ounce bottle of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's easy. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) Thus you make 16 ounces of a very efficient medicine, and you get four times as much cough syrup for your money. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This home mixture soothes the irritated throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the phlegm and eases the soreness very promptly.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a well known and reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

Miss M. English read a letter of thanks for money sent to the Diocese of the Arctic. Mrs J. Cridland took the study period, capably introducing the new book "Dawn Over Japan." Reports were given by all conveners. Mrs. Sootheran announced the World Day of Prayer would be observed at St. John's Church on February 24. The following appointments were made: rector's nominee, Mrs G T Melton and Miss F Gladman; visiting conveners, Mrs W. T. Dyer and Mrs. R Lawless; social convener, Mrs D. Eldred; telephone, Mrs P. Martyn; pianist, Miss F. Gladman Tea was served by the hostesses for the month, Mrs. G S Cameron and Miss M. English.

Junior League Hears Lawyer

Regular meeting of the Catholic Junior League was held on Monday evening in St Mary's School with president Miss Rita Young in the chair. Among the several items of business discussed was the announcement that the draw on two tickets to New York City for Easter week-end would take place at the meeting on February 6 and members were asked to have returns in by January 30.

Miss Young reported a number of Christmas baskets had been sent to needy families during the Christmas season. Corresponding secretary Miss Alice Krom read letters of thanks for donations from St. Vincent's Orphanage and the House of Providence.

Miss Veronica Scollard was appointed citizenship convener.

Speaker of the evening was Mr P. D. Scollard whose topic "Wills" was most informative. He pointed out the advantages of making a will and suggested that married women should do so as well as their husbands. He particularly emphasized the fact that two witnesses must be present at the same time in the presence of the testator and also that a beneficiary cannot be a witness.

Mrs. J. O'Brien moved the vote of thanks to the speaker.

Refreshments were served by Miss Genevieve Murray and her committee.

Founder's Memory Honoured With Life Memberships

New Year meeting of Jean Wagar Mission Circle was held Tuesday evening at the home of Miss M. Bowers, Walkerfield Ave. A fine attendance enjoyed an appropriate and inspiring program.

The service of worship was opened by President Miss Gladys Langton, who was assisted in the reading of scripture by Miss Bowers, and in prayer by Miss Connie Wagar. The poem, "The House of Happiness," was read by Mrs. F. W. Craik, and a beautiful New Year message was given by the president.

The offering was dedicated by the Rev. F. W. Craik, who also conducted the installation service for new officers.

"Stewardship of Time" was the topic chosen by Mrs. R. Booth for an excellent talk on Christian stewardship.

An interesting feature of the evening was the presentation of two life memberships, given in loving memory of Jean Wagar by her two daughters. In a brief address, Miss Jean Hammond paid tribute to Mrs. Wagar as a beloved advisory president and friend of each member. Mrs. R. Booth and Mrs. E. Ephgrave were the recipients of the life memberships in recognition of their loyal service to the circle.

"What About Our Evangel?" was the topic from the study book, conducted as a forum, led by Mrs. Grace Samson and Miss Connie Wagar.

Another happy event of the meeting was the presentation of a desk chair to a recent bride, Mrs R. Booth, whose time and talents have been generously devoted to the work of this organization.

During the business period, a cordial welcome was extended to a new member, Mrs. S. Agnew. A generous donation and letter of good wishes was received from a former member, Mrs. Jack Huggins. The treasurer's report, presented by Miss Zetta Wood, showed $169.37 had been sent to the Presbyterial treasurer, a substantial increase over the allocation.

An encouraging start for the new year was received in a generous gift from Mrs. Hewitt. Plans were made for future meetings, as well as for a special work meeting to make posters. The meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterial WMS was announced for January 24 and members urged to attend.

Luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. G. Martin and Mrs. E. Ephgrave, closing a most successful gathering.

Kinettes Support Hospital Fund

Dinner meeting of the Kinette Club, held Tuesday evening at the Empress Hotel was presided over by the new president, Mrs N. Elliott. Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, was guest speaker and told of her work in the city and community. She was introduced by Mrs. J. G. Wharry

Mrs. Wm. Henderson was welcomed as a new member by the president.

It was decided to donate $25 to the Hospital for Sick Children building fund. Also that future meetings will alternate between dinner and home meetings Several interesting projects were put before the members for consideration.

New committee heads, appointed for 1950, are: sunshine convener, Mrs. Fred Ash; press reporter, Mrs. Don Kitchen; visiting, Mrs. Ed. Henwood; house Mrs. W. J. Gordon; telephone Mrs. John Wocker; program, Mrs Wm. Godson.

Jones-Hall

The Salvation Army Temple was the setting on Saturday for the wedding of Lois Laurinda, youngest daughter of Mrs. Darius Hall, of Lakehurst, and aJk Frederick Jones, youngest son of Mrs. Josephine Jones, of Peterborough. Major C. Everitt performed the ceremony. Wedding music was played by Mrs. R. Routley and Mrs. Reg. Jones was soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Charles Hall. She wore a gown of white taffeta, arm-length gloves to match and a floor-length veil caught to a silver beaded crown. She carried a cascade of red roses. Miss Hazel King, of Grand Falls, Newfoundland, was bridesmaid. She was dressed in pale blue brocaded satin and wore matching shoulder veil and gloves. Her flowers were pink and white 'mums in a nosegay. The flower girl was a niece of the bridesmaid, Joan Doherty. She wore a pink moire frock and carried a nosegay of white and blue 'mums.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Wm. Jones.

A reception followed at Hooper's Palm Room where the bride's mother received. She was wearing a navy dress with black accessories and corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones will live in Peterborough.

MR. AND MRS. JACK F. JONES were pictured after their marriage Saturday in the Salvation Army Temple. The bride is Lois Laurinda, daughter of Mrs. Darius Hall, Lakehurst. The groom is son of Mrs. Josephine Jones, Peterborough.

Legion Auxiliary Officers Installed at Banquet By Provincial President

Installation by the Ontario president of their organization was the honor accorded 1950 officers of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Brench 52 of the Canadian Legion. The ceremony took place Tuesday evening following a banquet at the Club Aragon.

Mrs. Vera Cameron of St. Thomas, three years president of the Provincial Command, was making her first visit to the Peterborough branch. She conducted the installation in accordance with new by-laws, calling first on standard bearer Mrs. J. Gray and outlining the duties of the office. The standard bearer then brought forward first vice president Mrs. G. Stevens, second vice president, Mrs. J. W. Devall, secretary, Mrs. W. Downer, treasurer, Mrs. R. Ritchie, and presented them for installation.

President Mrs. A. Mason, who was re-elected for a second year, was brought forward with all standing, and after taking the oath of her office, was handed the gavel.

Executive councillors Mrs. P. Gynane, Mrs. S. Windsor, Mrs. E. Graham, Mrs. M. E. Dormer, Mrs. H. Howell and Mrs. J. Mackness were also called to the front and given instruction by Mrs. Cameron.

The Provincial president said she feels that no organization receives less credit for the work it does than the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Legion. Mrs. Cameron is a member of two other national women's organizations and she believes their work does not compare in worthiness, nor are the members as willing to give of their time or substance.

First duty of the Ladies' Auxiliary in Ontario is to assist the men's branch of the Canadian Legion Mrs. Cameron said. Next in order comes help to any serviceman, then any worthy object in the community. The sending of parcels to Britain is an individual effort, handled by each organization, whereas in other provinces it is done through the the Provincial command and credit for this is given in the National magazine. However, if totalled the contributions of Ontario branches might exceed that of others for Peterborough reported having sent 245 pounds since May. Two parcels are made up at each meeting, containing articles brought in by members.

The annual report read by secretary Mrs. W. Downer advised of other valuable contributions to welfare outside the Legion. A number of members are giving regular blood donations to the Red Cross Society. Forty-five dollars was collected last year to support a child in Europe and Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova was brought to the city to speak to all welfare organizations in this regard. Food and entertainment was supplied at a meeting of the Louis Braille Society. A substantial food parcel was given a returning Englishwoman to supply her for the three weeks until she could again draw rations, and a parcel was sent a former member now residing in England. Various Christmas gifts and donations were made by the organization.

In the report of Mrs. R. Ritchie, treasurer, it was stated that a leather purse had been raffled for a war veteran in hospital and $50 sent to him. Donations to relief for last year totalled $373.96 and other donations $356. Cigarettes supplied to war veterans cost $36.36 and the amount spent on gifts to shut-ins and Christmas cheer was $107.84. Five cents for each dinner served by the Ladies' Auxiliary last year was given to the Legion and this donation totalled $59.

Largest Turn-Out

With 91 members attending the banquet, it was the largest turnout in some years, though the average attendance at meetings in the past year was 60. This is a tribute ot the efforts of Mrs. Mason and past president Mrs. A. Parrington. The Auxiliary was organized during the First World War and some of the present members have belonged since that period. A member for nearly 35 years, Mrs. E. Houghton, was chosen to pin a corsage on the distinguished guest, Mrs. Cameron.

Also at the banquet were eight returned servicewomen, members of Elizabeth Smellie, Branch 452 of the Legion. President of this group, Mrs. Rosa Humphries, was a head table guest and proposed the toast to the Men's Branch. A reply was made by president Harold Yelland who then proposed a toast to the Ladies' Auxiliary and Mrs. Mason replied. The Rev. W. J. Gilling who is padre of the Auxiliary as well as of Branch 452, proposed a toast to the latter. He pointed out the girls had shared the same dangers as the men, just as bravely, and had returned to civilian life with the same problems though they had adjusted themselves more easily in most cases. He said he feels that far too little has been said about the contributions of women in the service. A reply to this toast was made by Miss Barbara Waters.

Mayor M. J. Swanston spoke briefly expressing appreciation of the Auxiliary's work and asked for the members' help in getting every returned man and woman together for the centennary celebration planned for next July.

Eight prizes were donated by members and business men of the city and these were drawn for. The winners were Mrs. A. Wagstaff, Mrs. C. McKane, Mrs. B. Chambers, the Rev. W. J. Gilling, Miss Barbara Waters, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. J. W. Devall and Mrs. J. Sargent.

Through the kindness of Mr. J. Wineberg, members and their husbands and friends enjoyed the regular evening of modern and old-time dancing at the Club Aragon following the banquet.

Up Their Sleeves: Spring

Spectacular sleeves are the changing silhouette's ablest ally. The "tulips" (upper left) carry fullness to the top of a white doeskin suit with pert peplum and large revers. The draped cuffs on full push-up sleeves (lower left) dramatize a coat dress of white pique. The "lampshade" sleeves trimmed with cotton fringe (center) wing out from the deep yoke of a gray linen dress. A "slash seam" rises from sleeves of flame colored jacket (right)

Tulip, Lampshade Provide Newest Design in Sleeves

By EPSIE KINARD.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Sleeves will cut a wide swath this spring to help designers who are plumping for the "Top Look."

Noisiest clamor for this new look comes from that arbiter of fashion, Christian Dior. In his effort to carry all silhouette interest upward, he has an able ally in full, curvy or spectacular sleeves.

One example is seen in short, full "lampshade" sleeves trimmed with white cotton fringe. These wing out from the deep yoke of a gray Irish linen dress which Dior accents with a black taffeta necktie. Tiers lined up from yoke to hem of this belted dress are faked by bands of cotton "lampshade" fringe.

A belted white pique coat-dress of Dior's design owes its "Top Look" to the most unusual sleeves which have shown up since the advent of leg o' mutton. Cuffs accented by black buttons are turned back in a draped effect on full sleeves to give them their spectacular design.

Monte Sano's collection of sleeves includes the funnel, the lampshade, the slash, the overlap and the tulip.

One white doeskin suit of his design—slim skirt with a short peplum-styled jacket above it—owes its advanced 1950 look to elbow length sleeves shaped like tulips. A "slash" seam overlapped for emphasis juts out from the sleeves of a loose, short jacket of flame colored lanol fleece.

DOROTHY DIX

Friendless Girl Advised To Check Her Own Faults

DEAR MISS DIX: I am pretty, well-educated and dress well. I make a good impression on strangers, but I can keep neither men nor girl friends. Why is this?

SARA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The one deal in life where we get absolutely what is coming to us is in the matter of friendship. People are liked and loved in just the ratio that they deserve it. So if you are unpopular, see if it isn't your own fault. Are you a cat? Do you claw every girl with whom you come in contact?

Dorothy Dix

Do you rather pride yourself upon speaking the truth to your friends? Don't you feel called upon to tell Peggy that her hat is unbecoming, and Dorothy that she is looking sallow, and Betty that she is getting fat?

Monopolizing Men

And are you the kind of a girl who tries to monopolize every man she can get her clutches on, and who would rather die than introduce her escort to another girl? If you are, what right have you to complain when other girls pay you back in your own coin?

As for your failure to be popular with men, look yourself squarely in the face and see wher eyour trouble lies. Are you one of the sniffy girls who always tries to make a man think that she is a sort of fairy princess and that no matter what he does for her, she is condescending to accept it? If you do, why should the man wastes his good money on you any more?

When a man comes to see you, do you beguile the time by being sarcastic and trying to show him how much smarter and wittier you are than he is? If you do, why should he come back again? Or do you spend the time talking about yourself? Ah, my child, no man on earth was ever enough interested in a woman to be willing to listen to the story of her life or what she thinks she thinks.

It takes work and trouble and self-denial to make oneself popular, but it can be done.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: What is to be done when the wife's pet prejudice seems to be the husband's favorite indoor sport? I have always objected to gambling in any form. I knew before we were married that my husband indulged in an occasional poker party but I thought that I would not mind. But now I find that every time he plays I am upset. I give up, a good home and a good position to marry him and am investing all my savings in our matrimonial venture and I cannot help feeling that our money is sacred. We have so little that I do not want it played with. What can I do to destroy this, the only fly in our ointment?

A READER.

ANSWER: Gambling appears to be one of the original vices. It has been said that if all games of chance could be suppressed people would still gamble on which of two birds would fly first or which of two toads could hop the fastest.

Probably no other one thing has wrecked more lives, more homes and brought more people to poverty and want than gambling, but no one has ever found a way to stop it.

So, I cannot tell you how to keep your husband from gambling,butIcantell ling, but I can tell you that no wife makes a greater mistake than when she exaggerates her husband's little weaknesses into crimes. Your letter indicates that your husband's love of gambling expresses itself only in an occasional mild game of poker, which he plays in your own house.

That is no great harm, and if you let him do it in peace it will probably never amount to anything. It is a fine thing for a wife to be thrifty, but when you talk about your money being "sacred" to you, you are making a god of it and committing a worse sin than your husband does in risking a little of it in a poker game. Watch your step, sister. Miserliness is a besetting vice of women and husbands don't love them for it.

DEAR MISS DIX: We are two old maids and each of us has a chance to marry but our friends' names are so ridiculous that we hesitate to accept. Do you think that we should let a thing like that stand in our way, since neither of us will probably ever have another opportunity to marry?

M. W. and B. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Certainly not if the men are O.K. After all, what's in a name, and won't putting "MRS." before even a homely name redeem it?

What's Right

You feel that at your first meeting you were treated rather coolly by a social acquaintance.

WRONG WAY Next time you meet try to be just a little cooler to her than she was to you.

RIGHT WAY: Be gracious but not gushing when you meet again.

School's Horses Bring Best Out In Problem Boys

By RENE J. CAPPON

BALTIMORE (AP) —"Horses," said Louis Shaw, "are about the best teachers in Baltimore public school system."

Then, taking his tongue out of his cheek, the principal of Highwood School at suburban Catonsville went on to explain:

"Horses never complain, and they bring out the best in the boys. Whenever I can't talk to a boy, The horse can. The lads just can't say no to a horse."

From which you may gather that Highwood's seven horses play an important part in the school's curriculum. It's no riding academy. Highwood is a school for Baltimore's problem children the youngsters who somehow don't adjust to normal school life and authority.

But you'd never guess from appearance that Highwood is actually an institution for youthful delinquents — or pre-delinquents, in technical parlance.

Teachers there don't use these words. The signs as you enter the seven-acre property read" Please drive carefully. Children and horses at work and at play."

Inside, at work and at play some 65 boys from elementary schools throughout Baltimore are slowly changing their attitude towards life.

Many of the lads come to this school with a deep suspicion of authority. Some come from broken homes. Some have been kicked around. Many arrive with hostile, frost-bitten emotions.

So, Highwood figures, start by letting them exert a little authority plus the responsibility that's part of it. Horses serve well. The youngsters care for them, drive them, ride them, love them. Certain subtle, but important, bonds are established.

There are other animals who help exert that mute influence toward rehabilitation which is carefully nursed along by the teachers. The farm has the usual stock—cows, hogs, chickens, cats. It is run without any hired help at all. The kids do everything from caring for the livestock to working in the dining room.

Of course, there are classrooms. But it doesn't strike you as a school disguised as a farm so much as a farm that just happens to double as a school.

That difference may be minor, but in the delicate task of emotional-rebuilding it counts. Reading, writing, arithmetic and the needful minimum of social discipline come much easier to the formerly "difficult" boys in such an atmosphere.

This is the 11th year of operation for Highwood. Boys from 11 years upward are admitted. They attend school from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. It's the only school in Baltimore where pupils sometimes show up at 7 a.m. to start the day's work- or is it pleasure?

6—In Memoriams

BANNON— In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mary Ethel Bannon, who passed away one year ago, January 11, 1949.
Calm and peaceful she is sleeping.
Sweetest rest that follows pain
We who loved her, sadly miss her,
But trust in God to meet again.
—Ever remembered by husband and family.

GLAUM—In loving memory of John H. Glaum, who passed away January 11th, 1947.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear,
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
—Always remembered by wife and family.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to take this opportunity of expressing my sincere thanks to attending doctor and nurses at Civic Hospital for their care; also many thanks to Rev. H. G. Douglas, Knox choir and W.A., Colonial Weaving Co. Ltd., and all friends who visited me, sent flowers, fruit, cards, etc., during my recent stay in the hospital.—Beverley Reynolds.

Mr. Fred S. Warren wishes to thank his many friends and neighbours for their kindness shown to him; also for the many get well cards, baskets of fruit and flowers and to all the people who visited him. Mr Wraren suffered a nasty fall at his home a month ago.

Home and School Association News

QUEEN ELIZABETH SCHOOL

Mrs. P. Jarvis presided at the meeting of Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association Tuesday evening. Mrs. G. R. Tweedy gave an account of the home education meetings held under the direction of Mrs. D. Rostocky. It was moved by Mrs. M. Hancock and seconded by Mrs. D. Kingdon that such an account be given at each meeting.

The Rev. Robert Dargan, guest speaker, led in singing four hymns. Mrs. H. Race accompanied at the piano. Mr. Dargan, minister at the Free Methodist Church, speaking on "The Challenge of Our Day" stated "the challenge is to show young people how to live—to live and die for Christ as he lived and died for us.' He urged the parents to take their children to Sunday School for he said "a great door and effectual is opened unto us and there are many adversaries."

Mr. E. J. Loveday, principal, showed a film, "The Fur Country." The attendance prize was won by Miss Brown's room.

A social half-hour was enjoyed at close of the meeting.

One trackless trolley coach can carry as many passengers as 26 private automobiles.

KC On Union Role

whole process of conciliation of labor-management disputes had deteriorated, or at least altered from what was intended in the regulations.

"The company and the union are presumed to have their bargaining before they get before a conciliation board," he observed. It was then the job of the conciliation board to obtain final agreement, or failing that, to recommend what reasonable people in the existing circumstances might reasonably be expected to do."

Flaws In Conciliation

But as things were now, he said, the union makes demands; the company resists them. As a matter of routine they go to conciliation, neither having budged an inch. And they are quite right at the present to act that way, he observed. Part of the blame rested on he boards of conciliation themselves, he said.

"Proceedings before them have become a contest for the favour of the chairman," he criticized. "Too little effort is made by boards of conciliation to explore all the possibilities for compromise, and to put pressure on both parties to agree."

He said boards have tended to make their own effort to reach harmony or a solution in the area of disagreement. "This means, that so far as any board report is concerned, any concession made by a union, any offer made by a company is almost bound to be exceeded by the final board recommendations. So why concede anything? Why offer anything? So no real bargaining takes place, Mr. Dillon said.

This weakness in the use of conciliation boards would tend to be overcome if both unions and management recognized the true function of unions, he suggested.

Union Security

Union security was a term which would be heard much more frequently in the immediate future, Mr. Dillon prophesied. His reasons were that he believed, for the present at least, regular wage increases with each new contract have ended and a great many of the goals of the labor movement have been substantially achieved. In real terms, union security usually meant the closed shop. He said he was against the closed shop and believed, rather, in "voluntary association."

Unions which demanded the closed shop looked on themselves as a sword in an unending industrial warfare "instead of the conductor's baton to harmonize the recurring discords in the industrial symphony."

Compulsory Unionism

He believed that the closed union shop was compulsory unionism, "which if ever universally achievede, either by legislation or the agreement of companies to put it into effect, would in the end wreck the whole organized labor movement. But to do its job, the union must be strong. He said he had no concrete answer to the problem posed by the opposed needs of unions to be strong and the need of the worker to be free.

However, he said, he firmly believed "that a company must not, under any circumstances, put its employees in the position where they can never at any time surrender their membership in a union without at the same time surrendering their jobs.

Factors In Arbitration

In the field of arbitration, if industry and labor had Mr. Dillon's conception of a union's function, then arbitration of wage issues would be considerably easier. It would give some reasonable measure of agreement beforehand, he said. It would be easier for management and labor to agree on the factors to be used in determining a fair wage and of their relative importance. The factors to be considered included cost of living, comparative rates in the area, comparative rates in the industry, the competitive position of the company in industry, the ability of the company to pay, incentive earnings as imposed upon base rates, and others.

The weight of these factors varied in every arbitration, he said and perhaps there would never be any general greement as to the importance each factor was to assume in any given case. But with acceptance of the proper function of a union's role, it would be easier to agree on the factors to be used in determining a fair wage, and their relative importance, he said.

In conclusion, Mr. Dillon said he realized his conception was idealistic but he believed it was an ideal to aim at and it was the primary obligation of every management to try to put it into effect.

Sunday Sport Act Drafted

TORONTO, Jan. 11 — (CP). — A Toronto paper says in a newspage story today that preliminary drafting of an Act to legalize Sunday sport in Toronto will be undertaken by Provincial Government law clerks this week. The story said government officials see no alternative but to prepare the necessary authority to permit Sunday sport for which Toronto voted January 2.

Attorney-General Porter said at Ottawa Tuesday night that the Ontario Cabinet has not yet considered its policy on the question.

Field Rinks Out Unless Usable In Ten Days

Mother Nature had better come through in the next two weeks with snow and cold weather if Peterborough skaters and hockey players are going to have outdoor rinks this year. Armar Butcher, superintendent of parks, told the Recreation Commission Tuesday night that the parks committee has decided to abandon the outdoor rinks this year if they are not operating by Saturday, January 21.

Mr. Butcher explained to the Commission that ice rinks in February require a good base to keep the ice throughout the month. Without the base the warm sunny days would honeycomb the surface making the rink unfit for skating.

Earlier this year the parks committee decided to have ten rinks in the city operated by the city and five others operated by organizations wishing rinks. It would have assisted the latter with boards and flooding.

Rinks were planned to be at Riverside Park (2), Orphanage Grounds (2), Turner Park (2), Inverlea Park (1), Confederation School (1), King Edward Park (1), and Hamilton Park (1). Other rinks operated by various organizations were to be at St. Anne's School, St. John's School, Nicholls Oval, Brinton Carpet grounds and near the CGE.

In 1949-49 there were 21 hockey and skating rinks in the city.

60 Farmers Attend Meeting At Westwood

About sixty Asphodel farmers, senior and junior, attended at Westwood community hall Tuesday afternoon the extension meeting arranged by F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative.

Questions of land use and improved pasture were submitted by farmers for discussion, especially in regard to particulars of approved practice.

Mr. Paterson reported that the meeting and subjects were decidedly interesting. Response of the Asphodel farmers was greatly appreciated. Alan Drummond was in charge of the projecting machine for two films, and R. E. Bell, assistant representative, accompanied Mr. Paterson.

The next meeting in this series is at Warsaw Thursday afternoon, and another at Havelock Friday afternoon for farmers of Belmont area.

Funeral Service Held For Earl Robertson

Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox United Church conducted the funeral services of the late Earl Robertson on Tuesday from the funeral home of A. Comstock & Sons.

Mr. Robertson died at his late residence, 263 Bethune St. following a sudden illness. He had lived in Peterborough a lifetime.

Pallbearers were W. Whitnell, E. Visee, J. LaPlonte, J. Johnston, J. DeFinney and W. C. Clegg.

Interment was in Little Lake Cemetery.

To Operate School For Young Skiiers

School-age children will again be given the opportunity to learn to ski. The ski school, operated by the Recreation Commission and the Peterborough Ski Club, will open on Saturday, January 14, Alex Sinclair, Recreation Director, told the Commission Tuesday night.

Similar to last year, application forms will be sent to the schools. A fee of 50 cents is charged

Members of the club will act as instructors. The Commission will pay for the buses and the tow rope cost at Kempt's Hill for the Saturdays it is used by the school. Last year the cost was $225 to the commission and about 250 children took part in it.

Demand Inquiry Into Hydro Electric Power Costs

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 11 — (CP)—A public inquiry into the retroactive boost in cost of power supplied by the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission was suggested Tuesday night at the inaugural meeting of St. Catharines Public Utilities Commission.

All members of the Commission voiced strong criticism of the H.E.P.C. for the "political increase" in power costs. The boost in rates will raise the hydro bills of St. Catharines' consumers by approximately 20 per cent.

"Even with the 20 per cent increase, the Commission will still be making $50,000 less per year," said William J. Chapman, newly-elected Chairman of the Commission. Dr. Chapman blamed the increased costs on the 60 cycle conversion program, which was originally planned to be carried out with no increase in cost to the consumer.

Chairman Dr. Chapman suggested that when the "13th bill" from the H.E.P.C. is received, the Commission refuse to pay it, "and let them bring suit for it, or cut our power off." The "13th bill" is the end-of-the-year accounting with the H.E.P.C., which usually gives the local commission a refund on overpayments on the regular monthly remittances to the H.E.P.C.

This year, the "13th bill" is expected to show a deficit some $55,000 to $60,000 for the year 1949. For the year 1948, the local commission received a refund of about $11,000.

HONG KONG, Jan. 11.—(Reuters)—Fire sweeping through a hutted area on the outskirts of Kowloon today made thousands of Chinese homeless.

Firemen estimated that 6,000 huts had already been destroyed, leaving at least 60,000 Chinese with nowhere to live.

Many were injured but there were few fatalities.

The fire destroyed almost all buildings in the historic walled city of Kowloon—a small area over which the Chinese have always claimed sovereignty.

Young People's Group Meets At St. Andrew's

MILLBROOK, Jan. 11 (ENS)—The interdenominational Young People's Group met in St. Andrew's United Church Sunday school room Monday. The meeting opened with the singing of spirituals with Don Spicer at the piano.

The worship service was in charge of Don Thompson The scripture was read by George Ingham and the Rev. T. G. Husser led in prayer.

New year stories were read by Mrs. Ruth Collins, Keith MacGregor and A. J. Ball, and a poem was read by Walter Coyte.

Keith MacGregor was in charge of a contest which consisted of unscrambling words.

Son Directing Play In N.Y.

Peterborough has a part-claim to a director in a New York stage presentation. Yisrol Libman, who directs and acts under the name of Paul Mann, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Libman, owners of a George St. ladies' wear store. Mr. Mann is currently directing a play in the Barbizon Plaza Theatre, West 58th Street, New York City.

A presentation of the Yiddish Theatre Ensemble, the play is J. B. Priestley's "They Came to a City," translated into Yiddish by N. Buchwald.

Mr. Mann studied dramatics while attending the University of Toronto after his graduation from the Oakwood Collegiate, and later at the Neighborhood Playhouse Studios in New York. For a time he was a pupil of Michael Chekov, a famous Russian actor.

For the past 10 years, besides acting in radio serials written by Norman Corwin, Paul Mann has played several lead roles in stage presentations along the White Way. The latest of these is his feature part in "The Whole World Over," produced by Simonov.

Mr. Mann is married to Anne Sheppard, well-known for her portrayal of characters in radio serials, such as "Big Sister." Her most recent stage role was the lead in the Broadway play, "All My Sons."

Mr. Libman's other son, Larry Mann, is the program director and radio announcer for station CHUM in Toronto.

Mystery Parcel Refuses To Open

MONTREAL, Jan. 11 (CP).—Le Canada said Tuesday in Quebec dispatch that a "mysterious parcel" addressed to J. Albert Guay, charged with murder in the September 9 air disaster, has been withheld by jail authorities who fear it may contain a bomb

Guay is awaiting trial next month on a charge of killing his wife, one of 23 who died in the crash of an airliner at nearby Sault au Cochon.

The newspaper said the parcel was received at the jail last Saturday. The jail governor refused to open it, as is his right with parcels addressed to prisoners. Le Canada said that he turned the package over to the Provincial Police.

Evidence at Guay's preliminary hearing was that a parcel, believed to have contained dynamite, was placed aboard the airliner just before it left Quebec on the flight that ended in disaster.

(At Quebec, Governor Tremblay of the jail, when told of the story, said: "There is nothing to it.")

Hear Brutality Charge

SAULT STE. MARIE, Jan. 11 (CP)—A public hearing into an allegiation of police brutality is to be held here by the police commission. The date has still to be set. The accusation was made by Emilio Scarfone, who claimed in a letter to the commission that he was dragged down a flight of stairs by a police officer sent to Scarfone's home Dec. 18 to settle a family quarrel.

Five Belleville Men Guilty Of Perjury

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 11—(CP)—Five district men pleaded guilty Tuesday to a perjury charge arising from an automobile theft trial in December. The men, Floyd Wood, Everett Cook, Thomas Watt, Henry Hubbs and Murray Roblin, will be sentenced Jan. 13.

A sixth man, Ross Sweet, asked to be tried by judge and jury on a similar charge and was remanded for preliminary hearing Jan. 20.

Wood was acquitted of a car theft charge after he and the other men testified in county court last month. Police Inspector J. C. Hayes Tuesday showed the court statements in which he said Cook, Hubbs, Roblin and Watt stated that evidence they gave Dec. 7 was untrue.

Started Across Lake Man Missing

BEAVERTON, Jan. 11 (CP) — Fred Carnaby, 50, has been missing since Dec. 31 when he started across frozen Lake Simcoe to his home on nearby Thorah Island with a load of grain. Provincial Police said Tuesday Beaverton is 52 miles north of Toronto.

Discovery that Carnaby, who lives alone, was missing was not made until Monday when William Warren of Beaverton went to the island and discovered the man had not arrived there.

Police said no search can be made of the lake until spring.

Man Founds Club To Help Lonely People In Britain

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Jan. 11, (CP)—In a spacious, brown-walled basement room near Marble Arch hundreds of people of all nationalities and all ages have found a cure for "London loneliness."

They are people who used to sit in bed-sitting rooms, bored and friendless, killing time. Now at the all Nations Social Club they have friends in plenty and many have taken up hobbies from 16 available study groups.

The club, a large family of more than 2,000 members, is the fulfilment of an idealist's dream.

Three years ago Leslie Blanckensee, a bachelor and London jeweller, took stock of his bank account and wondered if he could do something for all the hundreds of friendless people to be found among London's millions.

Using his own capital he hired a small room in the west end and founded a non-political, non-sectarian, non-denominational club. At first members were shy the cances lacked pep and in the organized discussions people fidgeted with embarrasssment and coughed before they spoke.

Equal Numbers

Then gradually the idea caught on. Though primarily intended for lonely foreigners, the club now has an equal number of English members—mostly people who came to London from provincial and country towns.

Most nights there is dancing. In other rooms there are lectures brains trusts, language groups, art, dramatic and music circles. At weekend some members band together in rambling parties to explore London or to attend sports meetings.

In the cozy snack bar you may meet almond-eyed beauties from Singapore or Siam, trimly-dressed typists from Birmingham or Manchester, handsome young men in Turbans with white, flashing teeth or broad-shouldered Americans from Yale and Harvard.

"I come here to learn about the English," laughed a black-eyed girl student in flowing East-Indian robes. "They are most difficult—a very complex people but I like them much. Yes?"

Many friendships made at the club blossom into romance Scarcely a month passes without an engagement or a wedding being announced in the club's Bulletin.

Committee Unanimous On Report

Group Provisions Of Constitution Under Six Heads

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 (CP)—Provisions of the constitution should be grouped under six heads for purposes of determining amending procedure, a committee of the constitutional conference recommended today to the main assembly.

The committee report, reached unanimously by representatives of the Dominion and provinces, was submitted this afternoon to the conference, which had waited for about two hours while it was being prepared.

When the report was read to the plenary conference by Justice Minister Garson at 12.50 p.m. EST. Prime Minister St. Laurent suggested an adjournment to permit study of the document during the luncheon period.

In addition to recommending the establishment of different categories, the committee also said the question of setting up authority for the delegation of powers between the Dominion and provinces should be placed on the conference agenda. But it made no recommendation on how this point should be disposed of, leaving that to the main group.

Up To Main Body

Category recommendations of the committee, which consisted chiefly of the federal and provincial attorneys-general, would classify various types of provisions in the constitution, with the amending procedure for each class being laid down.

However, the recommendations did not go so far as saying which sections of the constitution should be placed in any particular class That also was left to the main body.

Here are the categories proposed by the committee:

1. Provisions which concern parliament only, which could be amended by an act of parliament.
2. Provisions concerning provincial legislatures only, to be amended by an act of the individual legislatures.
3. Provisions concerning the Dominion and one or more—but not all—of the provinces, which could be amended by an act of parliament and an act of each of the legislatures affected.

13 People Flee Flames Early Today

Believe Fire Started In House Chimney At Back of Building

MARMORA, Jan. 12 (ENS) — Three families were burnt out of their Marmora Twp. homes at 1 a.m. today, when the double frame building near Marmora CNR station burned before firemen were able to quench the flames.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lajoie and their seven children, were occupants of the east side of the house, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Izzard and Mr. and Mrs John Izzard were in the west side.

Fire broke out in a chimney at the back of the building and by the time firefighters from Marmora and Deloro were able to get to the scene, the blaze had enveloped the house.

Save Some Furniture

The three families were able to leave the building without being burnt and some furniture was dragged out from the ground floor Everything in the bedrooms however, was lost.

The three men are employees of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company, which owned the building.

Bruce McInroy, a neighbor, housed all three families in his home, which for many years was known as the Laycock homestead. Royce Kelsh, a tenant living in part of Mr. McInroy's house, also helped look after the homeless families.

Notice Smoke

Mr. and Mrs. John Izzard, son and daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Izzard, were the first to notice the fire. They had been to a hockey game at Marmora during the evening, and had been in bed only a short time when they woke to find thick smoke in their bedroom.

They rushed into their parents' room without waiting to dress and also stirred the Lajoie family. The Izzards helped Mr. and Mrs. Lajoie get their children out of the house and put them in Mr. and Mrs. Fred Izzard's car in the garage. The youngest child is less than two years of age.

Railroad Unions Deplore Low Wage Rate

MONTREAL, Jan. 12 (CP)—Two major railroad unions, in a brief presented to a Federal conciliation board, contended today that thousands of Canadian railway workers are being forced to live on wages "which fail to provide a decent standard of living."

The brief came from the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees both affiliates of the Canadian Congress of Labor, and was presented by T. McGregor, chairman of the joint negotiating committee.

A 53 page document including graphs and statistical tables backed the unions' demands for a general wage increase of 10 cents an hour, introduction of the 40-hour work week without any loss in take home pay, and a measure of union security.

The two groups represent 35,000 workers on Canadian railways and in railway hotels.

Refer To Tables

Reference was made to studies of the Toronto Welfare Council which showed a minimum of $1.09 an hour for a 48 hour week was needed to support a family of five. Of employees affected by the application more than 96 per cent of those on hourly rates and more than half those on monthly rates were below this minimum standard.

Mr. McGregor told the Board:

Deny Invasion of Hainan

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 12—(AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's staff tonight flatly denied that the Communists have invaded Hainan Island. They said no invasion whatever had occurred. They said the invasion report, which came to this Chinese Nationalist capital from abroad, was "absurd." The Nationalist navy report today that it sank 30 of 50 Communist junks trying to invade small Weichou Island off Liuchow Peninsula in South China. Additional Nationalist warships were rushed to patrol duty in the area to try to smash an expected Communist attempt to invade big Hainan Island, 10 miles off the Liuchow coast.

Dispatches reported a big concentration of Communist craft mainly in Hangchow Bay for an invasion of the Chu San Islands, 100 miles south of Shanghai. The Chu San Islands are used as a base by Nationalists warships maintaining the Shanghai blockade.

Neither the Navy, Army nor Air Force, which has been bombing coastal Communist China, had anything to confirm a rumor that 1,000 Red craft were bound for Hainan.

Meanwhile, Nationalist troops guarded against an outbreak by Red guerillas who have a part of Hainan under their control.

Gen. Pai Chung-hsi, commander in the south, has better than 40,000 Nationalist troops on Hainan. Other Chinese commanders have smaller forces.

Canadian Dept. of Trade Worried About Cocoanuts

OTTAWA, Jan. 12—(CP)—Frankly, the Trade Department is worried about cocoanuts. You wouldn't believe it, but this brown-shelled innocent-appearing tropical nut is filled with morsels of many of Canada's external troubles. Trade experts see in cocoanuts visible signs of the problem of dollars, of Canada's trade problems with the Commonwealth, even the all-important problem of coping with the Communist thrust in Asia.

Canadians like cocoanuts. They import about $2,750,000 worth of them each year, mostly from the Philippines, a dollar area.

Now, say the experts, if we can switch the source of supply, from say the Philippines to Ceylon, we not only will be boosting trade with the Commonwealth, but also helping to conserve Canada's supply of dollars and giving Ceylon the chance to buy more from Canada.

Prices Too High

The trouble with Ceylon—like many other Commonwealth countries—is that her prices are "too high."

Nevertheless, Canada must find a means of not only increasing trade with Ceylon, but with other

UK Unions Drop Wage Demands

LONDON, Jan. 12 (Reuters)—Leaders of all important British trade unions today voted to drop all wage claims for one year as a contribution to the country's economic recovery.

Voting on the wage-pegging policy was 4,263,000 for and 3,606,000 against.

Union executives, heading 187 unions with some 8,000,000 members, affiliated in the Trades Union Congress, had been called to pass on the government's appeal to hold off wage demands through 1950.

The appeal, approved by the TUC general council, is in line with the government's two-year-old holddown on wages, prices and profits aimed at preventing inflation.

Executives committees of the National Union of Mineworkers, with 665,000 members, and of the Civil Service Clerical Association with 154,000 members decided on Wednesday to vote against the appeal.

But the Transport and General Workers' Union, with 1,270,000 members and other strong labor organizations are behind the council's policy.

Warships On Prowl

LONDON, Jan. 12—(AP)—British warships will continue protection of British shipping off China from attempts by Chinese Nationalists to blockade Communist held coastal ports, the Admiralty said today. However, an Admiralty spokesman indicated the warships would not go beyond the three-mile limit of Chinese territorial waters. The spokesman declined to confirm or deny Tokyo reports that an armed convoy was being prepared to run the blockade from Hong Kong to Shanghai.

Mao Striking A Snag With Stalin Deal

HONG KONG, Jan. 12 (AP) — The unprecedented four week stay of Chinese Communist leader Mao Tze-tung in Moscow indicated today he is finding the Russians tough bargainers.

Customary procedure for a high-level international conference in Moscow is for senior members of a mission to remain only a few days. Then they leave subordinates behind to iron out details. But Mao still is in Moscow.

Does his prolonged stay mean he is finding the price asked by the tight-fisted Russians too high? That is the opinion of experts here.

Veteran China observers think Mao went to Moscow primarily to seek badly needed economic aid for China.

He likely is requesting relief from the Manchurian barter agreement 'Concluded last summer, it calls for Manchuria to provide agricultural products to the Soviet Union in return for manufactured goods.

It has caused resentment in food short China. Reliable sources say even normally food rich Manchuria cannot now meet the export quota for Russia. North China, although plagued with famine, has been asked to make up the heavy deficit.

The result: new anger has been stirred up against the Russians.

Reports from inside China picture it as an economic quagmire. There seems to be little prospect the Reds can pull themselves out unaided.

Water Shortage Faces New York

TORONTO, Jan. 12 — (CP)—A serious water shortage will face residents of suburban North York next summer unless something is done immediately, Township Engineer Gordon Baker said today.

One of the fastest-growing municipalities in Ontario, the water system was built to accommodate 35,000 people. The present population is 50,000 and by summer will increase several thousand more, Mr. Baker said.

North York officials have appealed to Toronto to extend their water mains to pipe lake water into the suburb. They said nothing has been done on the matter yet.

Hospital Fire Set By Woman

DAVENPORT, Ia., Jan. 12 (AP). — A murder charge was filed today against a woman who is reported to have admitted setting a hospital fire which took the lives of 41 women here last Saturday.

County Attorney Clark O. Filseth said he filed the charge against Mrs. Elnora Epperly, 23, of Rock Island, Ill.

This development followed the announcement by State's Attorney Bernard Moran of Rock Island County that Mrs. Epperly had admitted she started the fire in her room at St. Elizabeth's Mental Ward of Mercy Hospital.

Moran cautioned that a question exists whether full faith can be placed in the woman's story. He said Dr. Werner M. Hollander, Davenport psychiatrist who attended her, described the woman as a "schizophrenic."

Two Policemen Held In Robbery

MONTREAL, Jan. 12 (CP).—Two city policemen are being held in detective cells for the armed robbery a week ago of an east-end grocery store, Police Director Albert Langlois announced today. The director declined to identify the men. Each has served on the force for about 18 months.

Langlois said the two policemen entered the Orleans Street grocery store of M. A. Savaria, and after holding up the proprietor, took $25 from the till and $100 out of Savaria's pocket.

Beats Woman Brutally Then Steals Her Car

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (CP)—John Williamson, 25, was charged with robbery with violence today after police said a 50-year-old woman was brutally beaten, and her automobile and purse stolen early today.

Mrs. Emily Gold told police she was pulled from her car and dragged by the hair up the east-end street where she had visited a sister-in-law.

She said "I had to plead for my life he was so vicious. He said he was going to kill me."

Police said they found four bottles of whisky, taken from the car, the woman's purse containing $40 and personal papers belonging to the woman. Police said they were all in Williamson's possession when arrested.

Indo-China Key Country To Hold Back Communism

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Jan. 12 — (AP) — British Commonwealth foreign ministers appeared to be in agreement today that Indo-China is the key to holding the line against Communism in southeast Asia.

Delegates pointed out that Burma had collapsed, despite long months of civil warfare; that Thailand (Siam) is on her feet and British troops are catching up with the Communist threat in Malaya.

The big question before the conference is—can the French-supported Annamite leader, Bao Dai, hold coastal Indo-China against the Communist tide that has engulfed sprawling China?

In his review of the situation, Malcolm MacDonald, British Commissioner General for southeast Asia, said there is a good possibility a sound national regime will be established in Indo-China.

On this point, India, Pakistan and Ceylon may have other ideas. With their traditional dislike for colonialism, they may agree with the opinion expressed by a Colombo newspaper recently:

"Even a victory for Communism in Indo-China would, as far as the fight against Communism in the east is concerned, be a lesser evil than the continued operation of French Imperialism in that country."

Percy C. Spencer, Australia's Minister for External Affairs, warned that the vast Chinese population in many parts of southeast Asia constituted a potential fifth column. No one, he said, expected Communist China to attack southeast Asia countries, but he urged security measures.

The discussions on Communist China led to no firm conclusions.

Hydro Workmen Find Hidden Drug Cache

WELLAND, Jan. 12 (CP)—Provincial police today revealed a cache of drugs, believed to be for illegal purposes, was found Wednesday by Hydro workmen in sparsely settled country near Effingham, eight miles west of here.

The drugs were found in brush near a power line by George Glynn and Al Heeney of Niagara Falls. Included in the cache were quantities of codein and morphine.

The drugs were turned over to the local detachment of provincial police who notified RCMP.

Soviet Looses Crerar Blast

LONDON, Jan. 12—(CP)—The Moscow radio today accused Gen. H. D. G. Crerar of Canada of advocating "aggressive war against peace-loving nations." The broadcast was picked up by the Soviet monitor here.

The broadcast said a recent speech in Ottawa by Crerar, Commander of the Canadian Army Overseas in 1944, was "bellicose."

(Speaking to the annual conference of defence associations last Friday, the retired General said that Germany and Japan must be integrated with the western Democracies swiftly and to the maximum. In that step may lie the only hope the west has of "first holding and then dominating the growing and most-serious Communist threat to peace," he said.

The Moscow radio said:

"Following in the footsteps of his American colleagues, the retired warrior Crerar calls for aggressive war against peace-loving nations. It is quite plain from what he says that Anglo-American imperialists need war, that the very principle of international co-operation is unacceptable to them and that they do not observe and will not observe international agreements aimed at ensuring peace. He attacks the Yalta and Potsdam agreement with furious hatred."

Privy Council Committee Rejects Espanola Appeal

LONDON, Jan. 12 (CP) — The judicial committee of the Privy Council today rejected a petition by the K. V. P. Company, Limited, of Espanola, Ont., for special leave to appeal against injunctions restraining it from "polluting" the Spanish river.

The pulp and paper firm was ordered to pay costs.

The injunctions were the result of actions brought by owners of property bordering the Spanish river who are engaged in fishing, farming and operation of tourist camps.

The law lords gave the decision upholding a judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada. The hearing lasted 1½ days with lengthy arguments by Frank Gahan, formerly of London, Ont., for KVP, and D. R. Walkinshaw, KC, of Toronto, representing the Spanish river property owners.

The Supreme Court of Canada had granted a stay of execution of six months until next April. The basis of the appeal was that operation of the KVP mill after that time would be affected.

In his concluding arguments, Gahan said a constitutional issue had been raised relating to the power of the Canadian Supreme Court to interpret in retrospect new legislation enacted in Ontario. He said this legislation specifically referred to river pollution in Ontario.

Wednesday Gahan contended that the case should be reheard in view of the new Ontario legislation, passed last year, as an amendment to section 30 of the Lakes and Rivers Improvement Act.

Dog Upsets Lantern Madoc Barn Burns

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 12 — When the owner's dog upset a coal oil lantern, the frame barn of Stephen Mahar of the O'Hara Settlement, northwest of Madoc, was destroyed early Wednesday morning.

The fire occurred at 6 a.m. as Mr Mahar was doing the morning chores. He had set his lantern down and had gone to the well for a pail of water and returned to find the barn afire.

Also destroyed were three horses, about 20 hens, 20 tons of hay and farm machinery including mower, plow, seed drill, cream separator and syrup making equipment. Loss was estimated at approximately $4,000.

The dog escaped the fire.

Find Agriculture Playing Bigger Role In International Affairs

Accumulating Food Surpluses Big Worry To Farm Federation Heads; Purchasing Power Drops 15% in 15 Months

TORONTO, Jan. 12—(CP)—The increasing importance of agriculture in world affairs has been stressed to the Ontario Federation of Agriculture now in annual convention here, along with warnings that falling farm prices are of concern to the whole community. The farmer and agricultural conditions generally will have an increasing influence in shaping international relations, the convention was told Wednesday by H. H. Hannam, president of the International Federation of Agriculture and also head of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers.

"We as farmers are not only going to take a greater part in shaping policies of the world, but we will advise those doing this," he said. A consistent advocate of price-support programs and an International Marketing Agency, Mr. Hannam said that another depression would result if agriculture was permitted to relapse.

Mr. Hannam joined with C. H. Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) and CCF member of the Ontario Legislature for York West in forecasting economic disarrangement resulting from a loss of world markets and accumulating surpluses.

Must Stabilize Market

Unless some action is taken to stabilize the world market for agriculture there would be restricted production, dwindling purchasing power, exploitation of soil, strained finances, unemployment and possible political unrest, said Mr. Hannam.

He cited the international wheat agreement as an example of what could be done to control and steady the international market for farm produce. But he said one threat to Canadian agriculture is the increasing surplus in the United States, mostly in products which Canada wishes to sell.

Mr. Hannam quoted Washington figures showing a 33 per cent drop in farm income in the last three years in the United States. In Canada, he said, farm purchasing power had dropped 15 per cent in the last 15 months, and a further 20-per-cent decline was possible this year.

He outlined the IFAP plan for distributing farm surpluses to needy countries with international control of markets. Surpluses, he said, could ruin producers if they were not distributed.

Falling Prices Worry

Mr. Millard said "falling prices are giving all of us grave concern. When farm prices drop below the economic level, unemployment is going to result."

Labor, like the farmer, is interested in eliminating the problems of production and distribution, said Mr. Millard

R. H. Morrison, president of the CFA, in his annual report said farmers have a responsibility as individuals to share in producing enough food to meet the world's needs. But the responsibility broadened in the federation, he added, to the point of ensuring a fair return for the farmer's product.

Rail Adjustments

V. S. Milburn, secretary-manager, reported progress is being made in negotiations for adjustment of freight rates and minimum loads for livestock, together with a program for more careful handling of cattle in transit.

Cecil Belyea, fieldman, in his report deplored the cry for cheap food that existed in boom years and the cry for cheaper food when a depression arrived.

But the time had ended when the farmer was the economic cushion—or pin cushion—for the nation. Agriculture was becoming stronger and no longer had a farmer to be satisfied with inadequate social and educational services or a disproportionate share of the nation's income.

An hour's wrangle on whether the Women's Institute should have direct representation on the federation executive was tabled for consideration at next year's convention.

Hear Evidence In Murder Case

WELLAND, Jan. 12 — (CP)— George Morrison, slain in a "jungle" shack at an abandoned stone quarry near Port Colborne December 15 had alcohol in his blood and wine equivalent to consumption of 13.3 ounces of liquor, 35 ounces of wine or 106 ounces of beer.

That testimony was given today by Miss Verda Vincent, provincial analyst, as the trial of Frank Mahagen, 43, of Port Colborne, for the murder of Morrison, 41-year-old transient sailor, continued today.

Miss Vincent testified that samples of blood obtained from Morrison's body contained 2.67 parts per thousand of alcohol by weight, and that urine contained 3.73 parts per thousand which indicated he had been drinking over a period of tie.

Under cross-examination Miss Vincent admitted that a habitual drinker built up a tolerance to alcohol.

Examination of clothes worn by Mahagen showed stains which tests showed to be human blood, she stated.

Uranium Finds At Superior Look Promising

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (CP)—Two recent uranium finds on the east shore of Lake Superior "appear to have excellent possibilities for commercial production," says a geological report released by Mines Minister Welland Gemmell today.

The report said the discoveries, both 55 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie, are on properties of the Labine-McCarthy Uranium Mines and Ranwick Uranium Mines Limited.

W. C. L. Greer, resident geologist at Port Arthur who examined the area, said the deposits "compare favorably with 1948 and 1949 finds in the Lake Athabaska and Black Lake regions of Northern Saskatchewan."

He said insufficient work has been done to make any estimate of tonnages of pitchblende ore, but the strike of both properties "should persist to considerable depths." Estimates of tonnages will be possible when underground tunnels are driven beneath the deposits or drill holes are bored.

Officials said that some 4,000 uranium claims were staked in the general area in 1949. Mr. Greer said that while geology has not been mapped in detail there are only two rocks of importance —granite and diabase. The latter occur as dykes and pitchblende has been found in at least five of these, he said.

Obituary

CHARLES A. THEOBALD

Charles Augustine Theobald, 108 Dufferin St., died suddenly at his home Wednesday night. He had been ill recently, but appeared to be improving, and his condition was not considered serious.

Mr. Theobald was born in Peterborough, the youngest son of the late Thomas Theobald and his wife, Elizabeth Wade. He had lived here all his life, and was employed with the Peter Hamilton Co. and the Wm. Hamilton Co., and subsequently with Canadian General Electric Co.

He leaves his wife, the former Ann O'Brien of Douro, three sons, Clayton of Cleveland, O., Clare of Peterborough and Dr. Joseph Theobald of Toronto; and daughters, Miss Mary Theobald, R.N., Toronto; Mrs. Michael Horrigan (Kathleen) of Roslin, Ont.; Mrs. E. J. Hurtubise, Jr. (Carmelita) of Cobourg; Mrs. Allan Holmes (Dorothy), at home; also three brothers, John of Peterborough, and Thomas and Edward of Iowa, U.S.A.

Mr. Theobald was devout member of the Church of the Immaculate Conception The funeral will be Saturday at 8:45 a.m., from his late home to the Church of the Immaculate Conception for requiem mass at 9 o'clock. Burial will be at St. Peter's Cemetery.

Freed On Charge Giving Minor Liquor

Charged with supplying liquor to a minor, Wesley DeLarge, 52 Alfred St., was found not guilty by Magistrate W. R. Plumptre, KC, in police court today.

It was alleged that he bought beer for Mrs. Jack Campbell, 19, of O'Connell Rd. in a local beverage room Dec. 30.

Mrs. Campbell told the court she had told DeLarge she was 19 and married when she first met him about four months ago. Cross questioned by DeLarge, Mrs. Campbell said she had given her age as 21 to a waiter in a Lindsay hotel beverage rom some weeks ago.

Mrs. Campbell said the night of Dec. 30 she had gone into the hotel beverage room with DeLarge and his friend Garnet Smith. She said they had avoided the table at which DeLarge's wife was sitting. She said DeLarge ordered the beer and paid for it and she drank it.

DeLarge said he did not know Mrs. Campbell's age but assumed she was over 21.

The possibility of exchanging Canadian wheat and flour for Ceylon's cocoanuts is being discussed.

Now a straight exchange of goods—barter—is something the government will not undertake on a government-to-government level.

It has been suggested that an exchange on a private-industry level could take place. Canadian importers would buy wheat from the Wheat Board, ship it to Ceylon in exchange for cocoanuts and take steps to sell the cocoanuts on the Canadian market.

But so far, few importers have come forward willing to bid for the exchange job.

Railroad Unions

"An increase of 10 cents an hour would still leave more than 80 per cent of the hourly rated clerks and other classes well below the Toronto Welfare Council minimum. It would leave over a quarter of the monthly rated employees under this agreement below the Toronto Welfare Council minimum. It would leave nearly all the hourly rated hotel employees below the minimum, all the weekly rated employees and over 86 per cent of the monthly rated employees. It can, therefore, hardly be said that the increase requested is excessive; indeed, on the basis of the Toronto Welfare Council minimum, the brotherhoods could have justified a much more substantial increase."

Railway wages have not gone up as rapidly as wages in other industries, and they showed a remarkable stability during the war, the brief said.

"Insofar as the work week is concerned the six-day week has remained the official standard since 1921 in the railway industry while in other industries there has been a rapid trend toward the shorter work-week.

"The replacement of steam locomotives by diesels will further cut the railways' costs and displace large numbers of employees in the motive power department. The five-day week will give the employees a share in this increased productivity, and will help provide employment for the employees displaced."

Introduction of the 40-hour week would not affect the railways' wage bill so far as many thousands of the non-operating employees were concerned. The unions asked a 20 per cent increase in hourly and daily rates, and no reduction in the monthly rates, when the shorter work-week came into effect. This would maintain the take-home pay.

"The fact must be kept in mind that the Brotherhoods seek the shorter work-week as an improvement in the conditions of employment and not as a back-door method of raising the wage rates," the brief said.

Captain Fears Explosion On Freighter

By WAYNE RICHARDSON

ABOARD THE FLYING ARROW, Jan. 12 (AP) — This American freighter, her No. 5 hold about to explode, weighed anchor this afternoon for Tsingtao, Chinese Communist port.

Water used to extinguish a fire in the hold caused expansion of the cargo of jute, baled cotton and caustic soda. The ship's master said the danger of an explosion was so pressing he considered it dangerous to wait and try to get into Nationalist-blockaded-and-mined Red Shanghai.

The ship's owners, the Isbrandtsen Line of New York, also ordered the vessel to Tsingtao. Aboard the vessel are 43 crew members and 12 passengers.

Before the Flying Arrow weighed anchor in international waters off the Yangtze Estuary, the British freighter Elsie Moller, out of Hong Kong, edged toward the river mouth but remained outside Chinese Nationalist waters. A Nationalist gunboat and destroyer escort slid toward her.

Warships Retreat

The British sloop Black Swan skimmed toward the Chinese warships. They edged back into Chinese territorial waters. No shots were fired but it was a crucial moment in the Yangtze Estuary incident.

The Flying Arrow was hit by some 40 Nationalist gunboat shells Monday on the high seas off Shanghai, her destination from Hong Kong. She is carrying a cargo valued at $10,000,000 for the Communists.

Two American destroyers, which had come to the aid of the Flying Arrow after the shelling and subsequent fires aboard, were ordered by the United States Navy to depart from her vicinity after she was seaworthy.

However, Capt. David Jones, 31, said one of the destroyers, the Baussell, would accompany the Flying Arrow on the 350-mile voyage to Tsingtao, once the base for the U.S. Far Eastern Fleet. The Tsingtao harbor is believed free of mines.

Western Oils Hold Against Exchange Drop

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (CP) — Western Oils held against an otherwise downward trend on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Prices gained in early dealings but pressure appeared in midsession and the market, with the exception of Western Oils, slipped.

In the industrial list, steels continued stronger while foods, refining oils and liquors were mixed.

Steep Rock Iron Mines held the limelight on the mining board. Activity boomed and the price climbed as much as 20 cents following news Wednesday of an agreement with Inland Steel of Chicago to develop Steep Rock property in northwestern Ontario.

Atlantic oil, Pacific petroleum and Central Leduc were higher in the firmer western oil list. Gains ranged up to about 10 cents.

4. Provisions concerning the Dominion and all of the provinces, which could be amended by parliament and a majority of the legislatures and on any such other conditions as might be decided on. The committee did not specify what should constitute a majority of the provinces in this case, leaving that to the main conference.

Fundamental Rights

5. Provisions concerning fundamental rights and the matter of changing the amending procedure. These would be amendable only by parliament and all the legislatures. Items under this heading would include education, language, marriage, administration of justice, provincial property in lands, mines, and other natural resources.

6. Provisions which should be repealed, on which the committee make no recommendation for procedure.

Another recommendation of the committee was that a single province or parliament itself could set in motion the procedural machinery for dealing with the matters in the last four categories.

Goebbel's Favorite

MUNICH, Jan. 12 (Reuters) — Raven-haired Czech-born Lida Baarova, Goebbels' favorite actress, has left Germany for Argentina after trying in vain for a film contract in Germany or Austria. She has been working as a waitress in a small town near Salsburg, Austria.

Plan Old Home Week

SMITHS FALLS, Jan. 12 (CP) —For the first time in more than 20 years, Smiths Falls will hold on Old Home Week this summer. Decision was made at a citizens' meeting Tuesday night. Celebrations, with J. T. Pearson heading the committee, will be held from June 30 to July 8.

Living Cost Up In Toronto

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 (CP)—The regional cost-of-living indices increased slightly in Toronto and Saint John, N.B., during November, but declined in five other Canadian cities, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday.

Declines were recorded for Halifax, Montreal, Saskatoon, Edmonton, and Vancouver. The Winnipeg index was unchanged.

During the month, the national average of the regional living cost indices declined 0.2 points to 160.2.

The bureau said the increases were due to higher rents, which overbalanced lower food prices.

The Toronto index rose from 157.2 to 157.4, while the Saint John index rose from 157.9 to 158.

Discover Six Bodies In Fire-Swept Home

HAMMOND, Ind., Jan. 12 — (AP) — The bodies of four adults and two children were found in a fire-swept home here today and Deputy Coroner B W. Tidlaw said there was evidence of murder and suicide.

Police said "blood was all over the place." They said they had found several bloody butcher knives and empty .22-calibre cartridges in the houses.

Four of the victims were identified as Felix Samas 33, a machinist, his wife Katherine 24, and their two children, Felix Jr. 4, and Phyllis Elaine, 18 months.

The two other adults were identified as Richard Norman, 23, and his recent bride, Shirley 18. They were staying in the Samas home. Officers said they were informed Samas and his wife had separated before Christmas.

Bandits Rob Office Of $5,000 In Cash

MONTREAL, Jan. 12 (CP). — Two bandits today held up the office of General Bakery Ltd., and escaped with from $5,000 to $6,000 cash. The staff of about 20 was herded into a vault. The two bandits, one armed, followed the staff into the vault and began gathering up money, much of it rolls of coins.

Employees said the two were so loaded down with money they had to leave about $2,000 behind.

Secret Talks On Cold War

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (CP) — A report is circulating in European capitals that the United States and Russia have begun, or are about to begin, secret talks aimed at a relaxation of the "cold war" between eastern and western powers, the New York Times says today in a dispatch from Paris.

(In Washington, a state department spokesman said Wednesday the United States is "ready and eager" for a peace discussion with Russia but is opposed to a world peace based on a bilateral settlement. Michael J. McDermott of the state department said there had been no peace feelers from Russia. He added he wished to "knock down" a German news agency report that the two countries are negotiating for an end to the cold war.)

The Times dispatch from Paris says rumors current in Germany and France say that such clandestine negotiations were prepared by the resignation of George F Kennan as counsellor of the United States state department.

But the story adds that responsible diplomatic sources say such information is incorrect. It says that United States diplomats throughout the world have been authorized by the state department to make clear to the governments to which they are accredited that Kennan's replacement has had nothing to do with U.S. policy towards Russia.

Italian Gov't Resigns, Will Reorganize

ROME, Jan. 12 (AP)—Premier Alcide De Gasperi's coalition government decided Wednesday night to resign, clearing the way for a reorganization he has planned since last October.

The decision came, by coincidence, after a day in which Communists demonstrated by the thousands against Italian police for the slaying of six foundry workers in a riot at Modena on Monday. Communist spokesmen threatened a new anti-government campaign. These demonstrators, however, did not precipitate the cabinet crisis.

De Gasperi, 68-year-old Christian Democratic chieftain, is to submit his own resignation and that of his ministers today to President Luigi Einaudi, who presumably will then ask him to form a new government.

Absolute Majority

The Premier's party has an absolute majority in the Chamber of Deputies and control of the Senate. He has run the country lately with a coalition of Christian Democrats, Liberals (Conservatives), middle of the road Republicans and Independents.

De Gasperi hopes to form another coalition, but a strong faction within his own party is expected to demand a government made up solely of Christian Democratic ministers.

The proposal for a shake-up dates back to the resignation of Vice-Premier Giuseppe Saragat and two other Labor-Socialist ministers from the cabinet three months ago. Internal differences among the Labor-Socialists were the cause.

Ploughs In January

MARMORA, Jan. 12 (ENS) —Ploughing in January is probably as rare as snow in July and when Dermont Bedore of Marmora Twp. took his plough into his fields last week he felt he was being grossly unconventional.

Mr. Bedore had left a piece of land unploughed in the late fall, but he was out again this month to complete the job.

Dr. Hobbs Heads Millbrook School Board

MILLBROOK, Jan. 12—(ENS) —At the first meeting for the year of the public and continuation school board held Tuesday evening, Dr. M. E. Hobbs was again elected as chairman, with Mr. Louis H. Winslow as vice chairman. The three members who had held office last year, Dr. Hobbs, Mr. Winslow and Mr. Fred Lowery, welcomed the two new members to the board, Mrs. W. W. Kennedy and Mr. Ed Nattress.

Mr. David Fowler was appointed trustee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Percy Stinson, and Mrs. W. W. Kennedy was appointed to the library board in the place of Rev. C. M. MacLean, who has moved to Niagara Falls, N.Y. Miss Edith Clarke will again be secretary.

Two 14-Year-Olds Held In Break-ins

PRESTON, Jan. 12 (CP) Police Wednesday announced the arrests of seven persons—two of them 14-year-olds—whom they charge with 15 break-ins and thefts in Preston, two in nearby Galt and one in Waterloo Township.

Warrants have been issued for two other men. Police say some of the break-ins date back to 1948.

Three of the men under arrest are brothers: Kenneth Griffin, 18; William, Griffin, 27; and Russell Griffin, 17. Others are Albert A. Zieman, 23, and Richard Maracle, 18. They have been remanded to the county jail. The two juveniles have been turned over to the Children's Aid Society.

Police said that in a swamp behind the home of one of the men they found cigarets, a saw, an electric hand drill and many other small articles.

Ask Handle All Sales Through One Channel

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 12 — (CP)—Handling of all sales in the fruit industry through one channel was supported Wednesday at the annual convention of the Niagara Peninsula Fruit Growers' Association.

At the concluding session the association passed a motion recommending that the marketing committee of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association should work out a practical scheme for "one desk sales."

The growers favored this scheme over a "one-desk quotation" system such as is practised in some branches of the industry.

Small Fry Get Hour Of Skating In Omemee

OMEMEE, Jan. 12 (ENS) —An hour early in the evening is to be set aside at the skating rink for young children following a request to the village council from the Home and School Association.

The matter was discussed at a meeting of the Association Monday.

Mrs. Chambers, chairman of district No. 10 of the Federation of Home and School, addressed the meeting.

The secretary read a letter of thanks from the High School for the Christmas treat given by the association. Mrs. Pooley reported on membership. Mrs. H. Bent, health convener, gave a brief talk on the importance of providing extra vitamin "D" for children at all times of the year.

Mrs. L. McQuade reported that the total cost of Public and High School treat was $26.95.

The date for the postponed euchre party for the defraying of this expense was set for Friday, Jan. 13, Coronation Hall at 8 p.m.

Refreshment convener, Mrs. R. Brooks was given charge of the refreshments and Mrs. A. Stephenson is convener for tables and cards.

Arrangements were made for the Founders' Day tea at the next regular meeting Feb. 6. Conveners appointed are: In charge of table arrangement and decorations, Mrs. W. Earle; refreshments, Mrs. Brooks, and program, Mrs. J. B. Hough. Mrs. G. Nelson, Mrs. W. Earle, Mrs. Scott Young and Mrs. L. McQuade are to make the birthday cake.

Current events were presented by Mrs. Stephenson. Mrs. R. James gave a reading entitled "Be an active member," and Mrs. J. Hayes sang "The old church choir" and "Without a song".

President, Mrs. Northey then introduced Mrs. Chambers, who began her address with reasons why we have Home and School Associations, discussing it from the view points of the child, the parents, the teacher and the community. In the olden days, said Mrs. Chambers, when the home was the main centre of the child's activities and interests, character and a sense of responsibility were developed there.

Today when the influences of community life have such a strong bearing on the actions of our children, it is necessary for the parents to know what is going on in the community.

Home and School helps much in this respect. The aim of Home and School, she stated, was: "a fair chance for every child everywhere". She believes that the problem of alcoholism must be approached from an angle of education which is one of the projects of Federation at the present time.

The vote of thanks moved by Mrs. Lennox was extended by the president to Mrs. Chambers. Mrs. Hayes and all who took part in the program.

Refreshments were served.

Not By Western Windows Only

The most significant aspect of the new conference of Commonwealth Foreign Ministers which assembled Monday is its venue: Colombo, Ceylon. Since the war, Commonwealth conferences have been concerned primarily with western conditions arising out of the European war. Yet most of the Commonwealth is eastern and south-eastern, and the problems of that vast area, complicated by the war, the new republicanism, and the rise of Communism, are crucial. It is fitting that Colombo, the capital of the new Dominion of Ceylon, should be the seat of this conference. It is in the geographical centre of the Commonwealth in Australasia, and it is an Eastern country. The host of the Foreign Ministers is its Prime Minister, the 67-year-old Don Stephen Senanayake, a Buddhist and leader of the four million Sinhalese of the island. Holding the conference there and not in London emphasizes the importance with which Britain and Commonwealth leaders view post-war south-eastern Asian affairs, as well as giving recognition to the stature of the three new dominions of India, Pakistan and Ceylon. It is a significant shift of emphasis, reassuring to New Zealand and Australia.

* * *

Our map on this page indicates at a glance the central problem facing the conference: how to meet the threat of Communist expansion across southern Asia and to promote the political and economic well-being of the Commonwealth's eastern and antipodean members.

* * *

The war with Japan left the people of Burma, Siam, Indo-China, Malaya and Indonesia in a ferment of nationalism and economic discontent. Communist agitators are quickening the unrest. The new Chinese regime points up the urgency of the times. These southern countries are loured over by a communist third of the world: Russia and China. The chains of islands from the Philippines to New Guinea, which is at Australia's back door, are all within the sphere of the new Communist political offensive in the Orient.

* * *

Three problems confront the Conference: the necessity for giving economic help to the peoples of southeast Asia, as it was given to western Europe; the policy towards China and the Japanese treaty. India, Pakistan, Ceylon and Britain have already recognized the Peking Governments. Australia is fearful of Japan, which only eight years ago had formidable troops almost on her doorstep. A Japanese peace treaty is in the offing; the Australians are not convinced that Japan is as democratic and peace-loving as General MacArthur has been preaching.

* * *

What is Canada's role at Colombo? Through its spokesman Mr. L. B. Pearson, Canada recognizes the danger of the new communist imperialism in the east, and in the interests of security and trade is anxious to help curb it. Canada is the only dollar country at the Conference, and a specially watchful eye is being kept on the economic measures which may be adopted to better the conditions in the eastern Commonwealth countries. Canada is desirous of maintaining and extending its trade with Australia and New Zealand, and fostering healthy economic relations with the newer dominions. The economic discussions will be a prime concern to Canada, and it is noteworthy that Mr. Mayhew, now in India, will join Mr. Pearson in Colombo at a later stage of the proceedings.

Sally Ann Record

Wherever Canadian servicemen went during the war, Sally Ann went with them. Sally Ann—thousands of Sally Anns—were at the sign of the Red Shield. They were the Salvation Army's mobile canteens bringing hot tea to cold and tired men, recreation huts and tents to relieve the boredom of the days and to give a man a place where he could loll, write letters, or play games; they were the centres at battalions, and hostels at leave towns giving creature comforts, advice and sociability to our armed services. The story of the Canadian Salvation Army war services in the second great war is favourably known in bits and pieces to tens of thousands of soldiers, airmen, and seamen, and their sisters in the services; it has now been brought together in a book by Scott Young, entitled Red Shield In Action.

The Sally Ann was one of the Auxiliary Services authorized by the Minister of National Defence—others were the Y.M.C.A., the Knights of Columbus and the Canadian Legion. The Salvation Army might have taken part in the Chaplain Service, but it chose to minister in a characteristic way. As did the other Auxiliary Services, the Salvation Army provided most of its own buildings, equipment, help and provisions. It was a voluntary service, and not run for profit.

The extent of that service is indicated by the expenditures for food, rentals, wages and canteen supplies of some twenty million dollars in Canada and overseas. A surplus of a million dollars from canteen sales and other sources has been remitted to the Department of National Defence which is using it for welfare purposes among ex-servicemen and their families.

The Sally Ann was popular with the men; its officers were friendly, compassionate without being pious, and liberal. Commissioner Charles Baugh, in a forward to the book, says that:

"Our people moved amongst the forces as those that serve. They did what they could, with the materials they had. The films may have been 'tripe' (and some of them were); cigarette smoking may be enslaving and extravagant (and Salvationists think it is); yet our people were not ministering to Salvationists but to Canadian Service personnel."

This broad and generous attitude, and the type of devoted men and women who served under the sign of the Red Shield, help to explain the high regard which service folk had and have for Sally Ann.

Ontario Co-Operative

Premier Frost's approach to the Dominion-Provincial conference at Ottawa has been co-operative. Ontario will approve, and hope that the same readiness to work out a solution to the constitutional tangle will be with him throughout the sessions. Canada is one country, not ten; its health as a nation is more important than the special well-being of any one Province, though of course, no one knows better than Ottawa that the soundness of all provinces is necessary to the good estate of the nation as a whole.

The Provincial Premiers cannot complain that the Federal Government is dictating to them. It has put forward no specific plans. It is sitting in session with the Provinces, waiting for them to declare themselves. This has two advantages: the Provinces have full opportunity to air their views; and they must be constructive, for there is no Ottawa plan for them to waste their time deriding.

We Could Not Keep Him

Very few of the obituary articles about Dr. Isaiah Bowman, the world-famous geographer and former president of Johns Hopkins University, mentioned the fact that he was a Canadian by birth. In the course of his remarkable career that fact became so submerged that several of the tributes made to him by leading Americans spoke of him as a loss to the state, to the nation, and so forth as though he were American born. He was also a loss to Canada. We lost him many years ago, when his distinguished career was still to be made.

He was a very great geographer. The U.S.A. depended heavily upon his expert knowledge in decisions relating to boundaries and similar problems. His interest in geography extended to the peoples of mankind, and he was learned in matters relating to populations and races. Not only his knowledge but his tremendous energy made him a remarkable and invaluable man.

He was born in Canada, in Waterloo County, and we do not know what necessities or shifts of fortune took him south of the border. But one thing is clear; fifty years ago, when he was a young man on the threshold of his career, there was no outlet in Canada for his talents and energies. Canada was not to blame. It was just too small. But Canada is growing up; it has doubled its population since Isaiah Bowman was twenty, and we may wonder how long it will be before it is big enough to keep its brilliant men at home, and to give them the atmosphere in which they can work out their destinies, benefitting the country of their birth, as well as themselves.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Texas girl has been chosen as "Miss Everything"—which, when we come to think about it, is as ambiguous a title as we have ever heard.

New Mood In U.S.A.

By FRANCIS WILLIAMS

SINCE the war the world has grown accustomed to what was in the past by no means customary—a positive and continuous American public interest in international affairs. This interest has expressed itself through that bi-partisan co-operation between the two major parties to which the President paid tribute in the Message to Congress last week. It has been a major factor in the Marshall Plan, the Atlantic Pact and the Military Aid Programme.

* * *

WE must recognize, however, that the President's expression of gratitude for this bi-partisan co-operation was in part a hail and farewell. Even before he spoke, it had become clear from the statements of such Republican leaders as Senator Taft and ex-President Hoover that the arrangement had little chance of surviving the strains and stresses of an American election year.

* * *

THERE is no lack of awareness by Americans of the extent of the responsibilities that their country's progress from the outer edge of the very centre of world affairs has brought with it. By devoting the first half of his Message to foreign policy, Mr. Truman made that very clear. Yet it would be foolish to imagine that the climate in which American foreign policy is formed will be the same in 1950 as it was in 1949.

* * *

BI-PARTISANSHIP, and the willingness of Congress to endorse without serious dispute the initiatives of the Executive, sprang—as under the American system, with its deliberate division of power between the two branches of Government, it could only spring—from a wide public interest which both branches had to take into account. Now domestic affairs are moving to the centre of the political stage and absorbing more and more public attention. We must expect more controversy in foreign policy, and a much more cautious initiative on the part of the Administration.

* * *

THAT domestic policy should return to its accustomed place in the centre of public interest, and that this should have reactions on foreign policy, was inevitable. But the transition has been sharpened by the fact that the struggle over the Fair Deal has given the mid-term Congressional elections next November unusual significance, and by the complementary but in the long term even more important fact that events are forcing the American people to a profound reassessment of the course they should follow in domestic affairs.

* * *

IT is impossible to travel throughout America at the present time without being made constantly aware of the increasing preoccupation of the ordinary American with personal security. From the Eastern seaboard to the Pacific Coast, from New England to the Deep South, I found an intense interest in the British social services. It was neither predominantly appreciative nor antagonistic, but was primarily concerned with how far these services could offer a clue to an American answer to widely felt anxieties.

* * *

AFTER the Democratic successes in last autumn's elections in New York, California, Pennsylvania, and elsewhere, one of the most level-headed of American periodicals, "U.S. News and World Report," surveyed opinion among both Democratic and Republican district leaders. It reported: "Pensions and social security have an appeal to voters that cannot be laughed off. The Welfare State is not a bogy that frightens voters. 'Statism,' big Government, even the cry of Socialism as political issues, are duds with voters." This does not mean that America is moving towards Socialism in any European understanding of that term. Nor does it mean that the central American faith in private enterprise has seriously diminished. But it does mean that the standards by which private enterprise is judged are changing, and that the social demands upon it are increasing.

* * *

WHEN Phillip Murray, the steelworkers' leader, was told that the cost of workers' pensions, which have replaced higher wages at the centre of the trade union struggle, might put some firms out of business, he replied: "Any firm that is so inefficient it can't afford to give its workers security ought to be out of business." And "Fortune," the Luce superbusiness magazine which has some justifiable pretensions to the role of intellectual High Priest of private enterprise, was among the severest critics of those who rejected the pensions demands. Industrial pensions, it argued, provide the true American answer to the legitimate demand for social security, and to refuse them was to invite an increase in the power of the State.

* * *

YET this answer sets its own dilemma before the American way of life. It has long been a central thesis of the American way that men must have freedom to change their jobs, to be ready at any time to seek the opportunity round the corner. But all these industrial pensions schemes require the worker to have 25 years of continuous service to a single employer.

* * *

THERE are other domestic dilemmas which now force themselves upon American attention. The traditional struggle between States' power and Federal power has been given a sharper edge by the campaign for Federal social security; by the crying need for big educational developments—millions of American children are attending overcrowded classes in warehouses, basements, and disused stores, or are going to school only half-time because of the lack of the buildings and teachers that the poorer States cannot afford; and by the need for vast new power and irrigation developments requiring Federal aid in the Columbia, Central and Missouri valley areas, and in New England.

* * *

THIS struggle between the States and the Federal Government enters into the opposition to the President's Civil Rights programme. It is the cement which has held together the Republican-Southern Democrat alliance against much other Fair Deal legislation. Yet even while the Southern States resist the Federal imposition of fair wages and practices, post-war industrialization in the South is subjecting them to economic forces which are already beginning to change their political character.

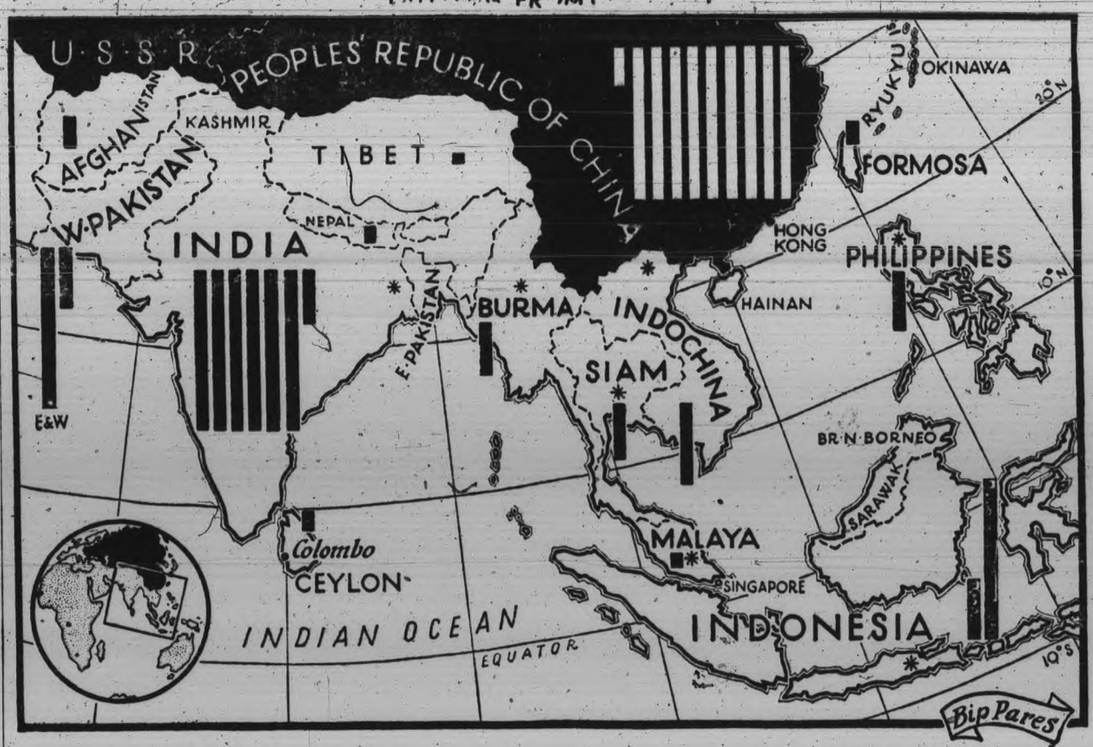
* * *

TODAY, the opportunity and need for bold American investment are greater than ever before. Yet because of the progressively higher proportion of investment capital now managed by trust and insurance companies, either on behalf of widows—for American businessmen-husbands tend to die young!—or as a result of private efforts to achieve social security through insurance, American capital is becoming much less ready to take risks. This has seriously handicapped the attempts by the State Department to interest the big financial interests in the overseas investment side of the Point Four Programme for under-developed areas.

* * *

FINALLY, over and above these long-term problems, there is the immediate issue of the Congressional struggle, and the question of what answer, if any, the Republicans can find to the challenge of the new Democratic Party that has emerged as a result of a Liberal-Labour alliance analogous to, but much wider and more potent than, the Liberal-Labour alliance which contributed to the triumps of British Liberalism in 1905.

* * *



THESE domestic preoccupations do not mean, as they might once have done, that there is danger of an American retreat to isolationism. But they do mean that we must prepare for a growing irritation with the cost and the slowness of the European Recovery Programme, and for an insistence, capable of reaching dangerous force if it is not ably answered, upon one of those quick, simple solutions which can create more problems than they solve.

* * *

AND they probably mean that if a constructive approach is to be made to the vast problems of the Far East, a large part of the task of preparing and initiating measures which can gain acceptance must, for the time being, fall upon Britain. This is a responsibility which we must be prepared to undertake quickly, if action is to come in time.

(Special to The Examiner from the London Observer.)

OUTLOOK FROM COLOMBO

COLOMBO, where the Foreign Ministers of the Commonwealth are meeting, looks straight at Southern Asia, now the chief theatre of the political world struggle.

This vast region, home of more than 600,000,000 people has only recently emerged to political independence and is disrupted by strong national disputes and antagonisms as well as handicapped by under-development and poverty.

It borders on Communist China, harbours large Chinese populations, and is in many places under strong Communist attack from within. Its defence against the threat of Communism is the chief topic of the Commonwealth Conference.

On the map, each large column represents 50,000,000 people, the smaller columns proportionate numbers. Stars indicate local centres of Communist activity.

Noblesse Oblige

(CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR)

THE bigger the town the tougher its toes. As a rule, you can tell a New Yorker or Londoner right to his face how you'd hate to live in his city and get no more than a tolerant smile. But you say that to the native of Wahoo, Neb., at your peril.

There are limits to tolerance, however, even to that of O. Henry's cosmopolite—"E. Rushmore Coglan, citizen of the terrestrial sphere....not tied down to anything that isn't 8,000 miles in diameter." E. Rushmore reached his limit when a stranger passed remarks "about the bum sidewalks" in Mattawamkeag, Maine, "the place he come from," and the fight began.

Texas may be learning, too, that even New Yorkers can't be kidded beyond a point. Some Lone Star boosters sent a huge tank truck full of native water consigned to "parched displaced Texans" in gay Gotham who had made the error of ever leaving home.

Maybe the water shortage for New Yorkers has passed the joking stage. Maybe even Texas humour gets watered down (no pun intended) by the time it has travelled 1,200 miles. Anyway, New York wouldn't let the rescue truck parade the streets, but shunted it into a parking lot at $25 a day. Unkindest cut of all, the whole story got only six inches on an inside page of a New York paper.

That's too bad. It only serves to confirm Texas suspicions that the East is indeed effete. New York should have sent the truck back, cargo untouched, with a trailer full of its own hydrant water hitched behind. Or, at the least, it might have dumped the whole consignment in the East River to the accompaniment of a war dance by the Tammany Indians.

The Male Costume

The fact of the matter is that clothes, and especially those worn by men, need more colour in them. Drabness in any form is a poor thing and we sometimes wonder whether older males don't let themselves get into a rut when it comes to clothes. Nevertheless it is doubtful whether any of them would even be seen dead in some of the costumes the 'teen-age and even older elements in our younger population have taken to wearing.

The death occurs of J. Arthur Ash, one of the city's longest practising electricians.

Letters To The Editor

TRIBUTE TO F. J. A. MORRIS

Sir: With this letter I am enclosing a poem in memory of "Bobbie" Morris, our dearly loved English teacher.

Sincerely yours,
GLADYS H. PATCH.

IN MEMORIAM — F.J.A.M.

Brief be the dark, and bright the dawn that wakes you
To walk again, in wider worlds than this,
The climbing road you loved, until it takes you
Beyond our brittle joy, our wistful bliss.
Beyond the flower, the form, the rhyme, the token;
From pity and from pain rise glad and free;
"The long day's toil who bore", unbowed, unbroken,
Take, mortal, now thy immortality.

—G.H.P.

AFFECTED

After preaching a powerful sermon against betting, the vicar was dismayed to learn that one of his wardens was a heavy gambler, and at once hurried round to apologize.

"Oh, don't worry about it," said the warden. "After all, it's a poor sermon that doesn't hit me somewhere."

Lakefield Red Cross Branch Holds 10th Annual Meeting

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 12 (ENS)—Lakefield Red Cross Society formed 10 years ago held its annual meeting Tuesday in Memorial Hall. Mrs. W. W. Leonard, president, presided.

Mrs. Leonard spoke about the responsibilities of the Red Cross and said Lakefield Branch had exceeded its allocation towards the campaign.

"The Red Cross is manually operated," said Mrs. Leonard "no matter how modern the times and is based primarily on good fellowship."

Mrs. R. McCracken, secretary presented the annual report.

The Lakefield Branch was formed a the beginning of World War 2, she said.

During the past year, eight regular and three executive meetings were held.

Two money making projects were held: the national campaign in March, when Lakefield's objective was $800 and $944.09 was raised; and the formal dance.

Two delegates were sent to the convention in Toronto. Two members took the first aid course in Peterborough this all, and will hold First Aid Classes in the spring.

Five speakers heard during the year were Mrs. S. A. Grylls who spoke on the Red Cross Program in the Free Blood Clinic; Mr. C. J. Davis, "Our Mental Attitude"; Dr. H. Campell "Dental work"; Mrs. Mackie, who had been in South Africa for two years with the British Empire Exhibit; and Dr. H. Gastle, who spoke on work done by the Red Cross in the Well Baby Clinic and the school.

Help At Christmas

At Christmas as in other years the ill, needy and aged were remembered with plants, fruit baskets and groceries.

School nurse's inspection of heads was perfect this year. Two hundred and fifteen children had eyes examined and 41 found to have defective visions.

Dr. Gastle's work among grades one and two included 24 vaccinations, injections against 26 diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough, with 31 step up doses and 43 doses of tetanus.

Swimming and water safety program was much better than the previous year. Last year 16 seniors, 17 juniors and 4 intermediates passed swimming tests. Three received intermediate life saving awards, three the Bronze Medallion and one the Bronze Cross.

Eighteen quilts were made and shipped and two mothers gowns were made for the loan cupboard.

Start Blood Clinic

A blood donors' clinic was started four weeks ago. Five donors are send to Peterborough every Friday and this program will continue until the supply of donors is used up.

Garments knitted included 10 toques, two scarves, five pairs of men's mitts, seven pairs of men's socks; five pairs of children's socks. Ready for shipment are two pairs of men's socks and twelve pairs of boys golf socks. Donations of seven pairs of childrens socks and one pair of mitts were received.

The hospital bed has been on loan ten months of the year.

Bed pans, back rest, rubber ring and other sick room equipment were loaned. A family whose home was burnt, was given bedding, towels, and other necessities, also clothing donated by local citizens.

Clothing was given twins born in the village, two layettes were sent to the Children's Shelter in Peterborough.

The Baby Clinic was held 33 times during the year. Forty-six new babies and 32 other ones are registered. Seventy-eight babies attended during the year and there were 305 visits, with an average of 10 a week.

Thirty-three serums first doses for whooping cough, diphtheria and whooping cough were given; 29 second doses, 27 third doses, 15 stepup doses and seven were vaccinated.

Beaver Club's Work

Mrs. McCracken also read the report from the Beaver Club in Smith. During 1949 the club made five quilts and has already made two this month. Members also made a Santa Claus costume for Smith Public School No. 6.

Total recients were $62.85, expenditures $19.60, leaving a balance of $43.25.

A humorous play "Ada gives First Aid," was presented by members of the Young People's Group of the United Church. The cast included Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jackman, Mr. and Mrs. George Tanner, Mrs. Neil Wood, Mrs. Archie Stuart, Mrs. R. McCracken and Mrs. C. Caldwell.

J. M. Kerchar was in the chair for the nomination of officers. No action was taken because there was no one willing to accept the presidency.

Mr. E. W. Bailey first vice-president presided for the closing. Mrs. W. Gillman extended a vote of thanks to members of the group presenting the play and to Mrs. Hull.

Mrs. Leonard thanked the Red Cross executive members, and members of all organizations for their splendid co-operation during the year.

Lunch was served by Mrs. J. Huddart and her committee. The tea table was laid with a lace cloth, with tall red tapers in silver holders and silver services at both ends. A birthday cake was in the centre of the table.

Tea was poured by Mrs. H. D. Willford and Miss Grace Yonge.

Mrs. Hull contributed two solos accompanied by John David Grylls.

CHRISTIANS HELD JOBS

The governor, the sheriff and the mayor of Bombay in 1949 were all Indian Christians.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

SAND WITCHES of the early 1900's and the present demonstrate what's been coming off in the last 50 years. Both these beach costumes produced plenty of tsk-tsking. The junior Mother Hubbard outfit at left was considered really daring in its day. Why my dear! In Victoria's time, NO decent woman would appear on a public beach with such bare arms. And as for that SKIRT that displays the er-er LIMBS in such brazen fashion—well, I NEVER! Of course, no one wants to be catty, but you can wager she hasn't got more than two petticoats under it. And probably flimsy cotton instead of respectable flannel. And furthermore—oh! land's-sakes-amighty! What's that over at the right? That's a 1950-style swim suit? Wow! Where do we go from here?

Apsley WI Approves Lighting Plan

APSLEY, Jan. 12 — (ENS) — Twenty-two members and three visitors attended the January meeting of the Women's Institute at Mrs. Wellington Lean's home.

A map of the proposed plan for electric lights was approved and the W. I. committee will meet members of Municipal Committee to complete the plan.

A committee was appointed to make arrangments for a bingo party, when tickets on a quilt will be drawn.

The sum of $5.00 was voted for Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto.

Several Christmas cards which had been sent to members were displayed.

A letter from Miss Verna Card, who has been a nurse in charge of Apsley Hospital, was read. She is now in the most northernly nursing home and her only means of transportation is by dog team. While at the Outpost she was a valued member of the Women's Institute.

Mrs. N. Wilson, who was delegate to the area convention in Toronto in November, assisted by Mrs. Rol. Tucker, who also attended, gave a report of the proceedings.

District President Mrs. H. A. Shearer of Buckhorn gave a talk on citizenship.

A contest was conducted by Mrs. Rol. Tucker and another contest conducted by Mrs. Bert McIlmoyl was won by Mrs. Norman Reddick.

The February meeting will be in charge of the historical research committee and the film "Let There be Light" will be shown. Members of Chandos Branch will be guests.

The sum of $45 will be sent to the Unitarian Service fund to help a European child.

Lunch was provided and served by Mrs. Herb Tucker, Mrs. Syd. McCauley assisted by Mrs. Hales and Mrs. Chesel McColl.

ALBERT LOOKS AHEAD

Dr. J. L. Robinson, Alberta's labor minister forecasts that power lines would reach 30,000 farm homes in the province by 1955.

ROBIN HOOD POPOVERS

1 cup sifted Robin Hood Flour — 1 cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt — 2 eggs
1½ teaspoons melted shortening

What wonderful puffed-up popovers you make the Robin Hood way — crisp and golden outside, light as thistledown!

1. Preheat oven to 475°F. (Very hot oven.) Place approximately 9 thick muffin pans or custard cups in oven to heat while making batter.
2. Measure sifted flour into sifter, add salt. Sift together into mixing bowl. Add milk gradually, beating until smooth.
3. Beat eggs until thick and light. Add to flour and milk mixture, then add melted shortening. Beat for 2 minutes with rotary beater. Batter should be thickness of heavy cream.
4. Remove pans from oven and grease thoroughly (butter gives best flavor.) Pour batter into pans, filling half-full.
5. Bake in a very hot oven 475°F. for 20 minutes, then reduce heat to 350°F. (moderate oven) and bake 20 minute longer.

Serve warm. Yield — approx. 9 popovers.

Rockets Zoom Upward As Triple Links Downed

He who hesitates is lost.

Benny Mason, speedy winger of the Oddfellows, hesitated for a split second at the eight-minute mark of the second period, with the puck beside his net, and Hogan slapped it home. That goal gave the Belleville Rockets the edge needed to take the game 3-2. The win was their second this week, taking Oshawa 4-2 on Monday, and their third win this year.

A poor crowd in the Civic Arena saw the fast-stepping Oddfellows jump to an early lead 2-0, only to lose it in the first two minutes of the second Hogan's goal finished the scoring for the game. Play in the third was dominted by the Oddfellows who failed to slip the rubber past Tripp in the Belleville nets.

Much bigger than the Triple-links the Belleville squad used their bodies little in the first period. But in the second and third, every time they had the opportunity to throw their weight it was thrown. Pletsch, wearing No. 13 for Belleville, probably the biggest player in the league, shook the teeth of the light locals in th last parts of the fray. Several times his teeth were jolted as the IOOF-ers managed to slip clear as he crashed against the boards. Ernie Trumble on the Belleville, defence was shaking the Trips at every chance.

Seven Pile Up

Dean Wasson picked up the best penalty this season when he stopped a three-man break-away in the late stages of the second. As he took the lead man out, they crashed into the other two players, taking them to the ice. About seven players piled on. This was only one of eight penalties handed out by Referee Ralph Wakelin of Lindsay. Each team had four.

Tripp played a standout game in the Belleville nets throughout the game, especially in the third period when the locals pressed in close. He neatly picked up all loose pucks around the net.

On both goals by the Oddfellows he never had a chance. Benny Mason, standing on Tripp's doorstep, whacked home brother Ross' rebound at the 3:54 mark of the first after the Tripps had pressed while Carmichael was sitting in the sinbin for interference. Gordie Fennell zipped in the locals' second goal at 17:59 of the first with a fast slider from the blueline. Ron Turner had passed to Bob Wyatt in the Belleville corner who in turn passed to Fennell for the shot.

Rockets Burst

Belleville lost little time breaking into the scoring in the second as Delaney flipped a pass to Turland at the Petes' blueline. Turland's long shot was tipped into the net by Pletsch at the 40-second mark. They continued to press and were rewarded when Wright's pass from the corner glanced off Fennell's stick into the locals' net at 2:39 Hogan added the finishing touches at 8:54.

Gord Fennell worked hard on the locals' defence, while Ross and Ben Mason went well up front. The Mason brothers worked off several of the Triplelinks' penalties. Ben Mason and Fennell were the marksmen.

The line of Hoagn, Samark, and Murphy was the pick of the Belleville squad offensively, while Trumble starred on the defence.

The win put the Rockets closer to the Lindsay juniors who are in third place in the local grouping. The Oddfellows are still in the first slot with four wins and a tie.

The lineups:

Belleville Rockets — Goal, Tripp; defence, Trumble and Carmichael; centre Hogan; wings, Semark and Murphy; alternates, Pletsch, Delaney, Wright, Strachan, Gilmour, Brown, Turland, Green.

Peterborough Oddfellows — Goal, Red Wasson; defence, Fennell and Millar; centre, Turner; wings, Wyatt and Floyd; alternates, Birch, Casey, Doris, Desjardin B. Mason, R. Mason, Richlark, D. Wasson.

Referee—Ralph Wakelin of Lindsay. Linesman—Richard Ouimet of Peterborough

The summary:

First Period

Oddfellows—B. Mason (R. Mason) 3:54
Oddfellows—Fennell (Turner, Wyatt)) 17:59
Penalties — Carmichael, Pletsch, Richlark, Millar.

Smash Trenton 13-6

LINDSAY, Jan. 12 (CP) In the first afternoon hockey game in Lindsay's history the local Flyers Wednesday handed Trenton RCAF Sixardee a 13-6 defeat. The game was clean and wide open with Lindsay taking over after Trenton scored two early goals in the first. Hank Goldup, Mike Burns, Jack Connolly and Guffer Abercrombie led the scoring parade with two apiece. Johnson with two and Christie, Twigg, Koch and King were the Trenton marksmen.

Collegiate Set For Season Of Hoop Play

A continual hum ereeps through the corridors at the Collegiate from the direction of the gym Day and night, the small roar of basketballs hitting the backboard and bouncing through the hoop makes the students realize that it is basketball time again.

For the past month and a half Coach Bev. Goulding has been trying to whittle down the 100 boys who turned out for positions on the teams, senior, junior "A", junior "B" and bantam. Friday night is show night. The senior and junior "A" squads take on the crews from Cobourg while the Junior Bees will clash with the Port Hope High School boys.

Although Coach Goulding feels that it will be three or four years until there is a senior team as strong as last year's squad, he believes this year's will hold its own in the local league. The seniors last year were the first to take the C.O.S.S.A. senior basketball honors away from the Niagara District.

Missing These

The older squad will miss such steady players as Don Griffin Howard Hempstead, Hugh and Dave Dibben. Don Richardson Blair Thomson and Henry Dinsdale. Harold Grafstein, Al Northcott and Neil Thompson will be the backbone of this year's team Others who will see action Friday nigh, are Darrell Ackford. Roy Armstrong, Pete Bailey, Ted Cranfield, Ted Evans, Garth Jopling, Carl Sargeant, Tom Taylor and Bryon Young.

The junior "A" squad this year is completely new. Coach Goulding has cut his team down to eight fast young players. Dave Langhorne, Terry Brown, Owen Hendren and Murray Grafstein are expected to spark the team which includes Reg Fowler, Ron Doughty, Lionel Hempstead and Larry Cunningham. Cunningham is a boy who is pretty lofty and shouldn't have much trouble finding the basket.

Lineups for the Junior Bees and the bantams were still undecided Wednesday afternoon Coach Goulding, had 22 out with the juniors which he had to cut down to 12 for Friday night and 25 were out with the bantams.

Schedule of Collegiate games:

January 13—Senior vs. Cobourg (here); Junior A vs. Cobourg (here); Junior Bees vs. Port Hope (here).
January 20—Seniors at Oshawa; Junior A at Oshawa.
January 21—Seniors vs. Eaton's (here); Junior Bees at St. Peter's; Bantams at St. Peter's.
January 27—Seniors at Lindsay; Junior Bees at Lindsay; Bantams at Lindsay.
February 1—Junior Bees at St. Peter's; Bantams at St. Peter's.
February 3—Seniors vs. Lindsay; Junior Bees vs. Lindsay; Bantams vs. Lindsay.
February 7—Junior Bees at Port Hope.
February 10—Seniors vs. Oshawa; Junior A vs. Oshawa.
February 17—Seniors at Cobourg; Junior A at Cobourg; bantams at Cobourg (semi-final).
February 24—Junior A and Junior B semifinals.
March 3 — Senior and Junior finals.
March 10—Senior and Juniors finals.
March 18—Senior and Junior C.O.S.S.A. finals in Toronto.

Kinsmen Team Upsets Kingston Vics 6-1

LINDSAY, Jan. 12 (CP)—Hank Goldup's Kinsmen Junior C team upset Kingston Vics Wednesday night 6-1. Lindsay rapped home four in the first and two in the second before Kingston ran in their lone tally in the third Jumbo Jenkins fired two for Lindsay while Hank Debois, Don Sinclair, Dawson Kimble and Jerry Nichols added singles. Dave White scored the lone Vics goal.

Dave Latimer of Kingston was banished from the game in the second when he made a dash for referee Ken McArthur of Peterborough and was held back by three tackling teammates. Dave Shepherd suffered a shoulder injury in the last period and was taken to the hospital here.

Last Night's Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Harry Watson, of Toronto — whose third period goal gave the Maple Leafs a 2-1 decision over New York Rangers.

Bill Quackenbush, Boston defenceman — whose third period goal gave Bruins a 2-1 edge over the league-leading Detroit Red Wings.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Basketball on various fronts here this week-end. At the YW tomorrow eve, Nurses seniors play Normal girls, followed by CGE against Black's. We hear Cobourg claim a win over Togs, saying the score wasn't added up right and the tilt should not have gone into overtime. COSSA group play opens at the Collegiate on Friday p.m., Port Hope playing the junior "B" PCI-ers, while Cobourg meets PSVS junior "A" and the seniors, first fixture at 6.30. A starry men's squad of basketeers from Hamilton will tackle the Outboard Mariners on Saturday eve here in an exhibition, following a prelim at seven when the "Y" city leaguers open their schedule. Lots of action for cage fans.

Better than a bunch of windbreakers as a civic gift in recognition of winning a provincial title, the Petes' ballsters appreciate the council's wiping off of $400 owed by the club for ground rental at Riverside this year. Unusually hot weather, and the fact that there was no covered stand in Riverside last summer, made for a slimmer financial season for the Petes. The club also aids minor ball with a percentage of senior gates going to the City Loop. No covered stand is necessary there if games are under lights. The finance committee's comment recently that "there'll have to be a different setup next year" might mean that the council is considering helping the baseballers get lights, the cost being paid back on a yearly rental basis.

Unlucky For Someone

Tomorrow is Friday the 13th and that means tough luck for either Gananoque or the Petes when they clash here in a senior "B" puck fixture. At 8.30 in Civic Arena. Both teams are pretty well down in the race and most anxious to grab off this one. It will be recalled that the battling Gans upset the dope in their last tussle here with the Petes and skated off with a victory. Gananoque has been bolstering with Kingston players lately and might well pull another upset, though we don't really think so. The Foley flock will be hustling this time and can't afford a loss now. Should be a swell scrap though before a big Friday night crowd.

Quinte columnist remarks: "The Diesels-Electrics didn't lack for support in Peterborough on Monday. Seems Legion and Petes have their own quota of supporters and Monday the Petes' adherents were cheering lustily for the Diesels. They say these Petes-Legion jousts in Peterborough are really the thing. The boys have as much love for each other as a couple of cats strung over a barbed wire fence, and they really let their hair down and go all out when they clash on the ice. 'Tis no picnic, we're told, for a brace of referees, especially for those of the local brew. Both factions have asked for two neutral refs for future games so casualties can be kept down to a minimum." You're not kidding, chum.

Rockets Edge IOOF-ers

Quite a scramble developing in the OHA junior "B" grouping up this way. While the surprising Scugog boys were beating Kingston Vics on Lindsay ice last e'en, Belleville Rockets nosed out the IOOF-ers here 3-2. The husky Quinte puckists used their extra weight to advantage and Bun Kingdon's chaps had a tough time trying to pierce their defence and fool Goalie Tripp. Huge Pletsch up front looked nice, also. Ross and Benny Mason were probably the pick of the Oddfellows on the firing line with Gordie Fennell generally solid at the blue line. A rather small crowd for a fine fry. IOOF-ers have three fixtures next week.

Puck action aplenty around the district last gloaming with fan turnouts generally good. Marmora opened their home TVL stand with a 12-6 verdict o'er Frankford, Gus Leonard seeing action for the winners. At Norwood, it went to a 6-6 tie betwixt that team and Hastings, with no overtime, Murray Fife was in the Hastings' lineup. TVL tussles tomorrow: Hastings at Frankford, and Campbellford at Norwood. An OHA romp at Lakefield saw Percy Nicholls score eight and aid on two more as the villagers knocked over Bowmanville 21-7. Looked like they could have had some more if they needed 'em. Same squads tangle in Bowmanville on Saturday. No report on the industrial game in Omemee, but tonight here, Ventilating plays De Laval and CGE meets Brintons.

Leafs Edge New York 2-1 As Wings Bow To Bruins

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

The law of averages may be catching up with the Detroit Red Wings.

After zooming almost out of sight of the other National Hockey League clubs, the Wings suffered their third straight loss on Wednesday night, a 2-1 defeat at the hands of Boston Bruins.

Toronto Maple Leafs edged New York Rangers 2-1 in the other game of the night. Detroit still holds an eight point advantage over New York, with Montreal Canadiens another point back in third place. Canadiens, idle Wednesday night, have 39 points, Boston 36, Toronto 35 and Chicago is well down in the cellar with 30 points.

Terry Sawchuk, brought up from Indianapolis to replace Lumley during the latter's illness, performed valiantly at Boston but the Bruins were too much for the Wings, Kenny Smith scored for Boston in the second period and Bill Quackenbush got the other late in the third. Sid Abel's goal on a pass from Ted Lindsay, with less than three minutes to play, saved Detroit from a shut-out.

Quackenbush's winning goal was scored unassisted after the Wings had been caught flat-footed in the Boston defence zone.

Couldn't Make It

The Wings twice yanked Sawchuk in the dying moments of the game for a six-man offensive, but couldn't get the equalizer past goalie Jack Gelineau in the Boston net.

At New York Howie Meeker scored the Maple Leafs' first goal early in the opening period, and centre Edgar Laprade tied it up shortly after the middle frame started.

Claude Rayner, in the Ranger nets, playing his usual brilliant game, then was unbeatable until big Harry Watson netted the winning goal at 11:01 of the final period. Rayner had just made three straight hard saves on shots from Watson and Bill Eziniki when Watson snared a pass from Johnny McCormack and scored from a difficult angle.

The Leafs' managing director, Conn Smythe, breaking a Florida vacation to watch his team, announced that McCormack would be signed to a professional contract when the team returned to Toronto today. McCormack was playing his third game with the Leafs, the limit allowance by CAHA rules for amateur players before they turn professional.

Marmora Gains TVL Win Over Frankford

MARMORA, Jan. 12 (ENS) — Their traditional third period rally secured the win for Marmora against their doughty opponents Frankford, in the opening game at the Marmora rink on Wednesday evening, the final score reading Marmora 12, Frankford 6.

For the first two periods the visitors held a slight edge over last year's Trent Valley champions and led at the end of the first period by the score of 4-3. At the end of the second the teams were evened with each having scored six goals. Putting on pressure in the third, Marmora scored six goals without response. Claud Trumble, Darrah and Gray who are making their debut in Trent Valley hockey this year showed good promise. Darrah scored the first goal of the game and also got an assist. The game was watched by 550 spectators and while lively in the last 10 minutes, was marked by only one penalty given towards the close of the second period.

Teams

Frankford—Goal, Davis; defence, Schmidt, Farmer; centre, Cook; wings, Cole, Mitts; alternates, Rankin, McKee, Courtney, Hood, Morgan, Kruger, Hagearty, Howard.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

And once again we wish to remind all curlers that we begin the second schedule this evening, 7:00 and 9:00. Consult the schedule book.

The Saturday program is the same as usual—2:00 p.m., men's bonspiel; 7:45 p.m., mixed rink bonspiel. Both 'spiels draw from the board.

We thought we would have been able to announce winners in Groups 2 and 5 tonight, but with a couple of games not played it looks like there may be playoffs. More later.

One should allow everyone three faults. If we make that allowance, we find that the rest is surprisingly nice.

Men's Scores

E. Brown 9, H. Michaelson 8.
N. Hamley 7, Richmond 9
M. Hardill 14, B Scott 5.
Dr. C. McKee 13, F. Stenson 7

Price and G. Palmer; 6, F. Leether and F. Parsons; 7, T. Craig and F. Honour; 8, F. Brand and D. G. Metcalf; 9, A Wagstaff and G. Gimblett, Sr.; 10, G. LaPlante and A. Jackson; 11, F. Bell and W. Gracie; 12, L. Jackson and A. Pilling; 13, P. P. Schweir and O. Varty; 14, C C. Thackery and D. Pilling; 15, G. Foster and W. Wilson; 16, G. Lowes and H. Lundy; 17, T. Nice and J. Wilson; 18, D. Bartley and W. Sorrie; 19, V. Read and J. Douglas; 20, E. Amyotte and H. Clapnam; 21, F. Hopgood and C. Joyes; 22, S. Cummings and G Gimblett, Jr.; 23, P. McLean and G. Groombridge; 24, E. Nicholas and G. Fullbrook; 25, E. Panter and A. Rusaw.

The doubles to be played on a specified night and time each week until completed. Any player not able to play as scheduled must contact another player to take his place for that game only. In case of working nights the players are allowed to play their game any other day or night in that week. Balance of rules for this playdown are posted at the Legion Hall.

Schedule for the doubles draw for Tuesday, January 17, at Legion Hall: 6 v. 21, 7 p.m.; 13 v 18, 7 p.m.; 7 v. 15, 9 p.m.; 22 v. 17, 9 p.m.

Full doubles draw is posted at the Legion Hall, or telephone the secretary.

Bakers were at home to the Sons and lost their game 7-13. In the second, the game was tied at 8 each in the ninth frame, then the Bakers finished ahead in the last three frames to take it 11-8.

Firemen visited the Anglicans but were staggered by their hosts when the Anglicans swept both games 15-10 and 10-9.

King Billie and his Orange-squeezers just were not squeezing when the Posties were their guests and Billie lost both games 14-7 and 14-8. When the Big Bens met the Quakers, they found out that while they pride themselves on the perfection of their own product, they had to give way to the famous Full-O-Pep lines 8-8 and 12-7.

The Glens repulsed the Old Sweats in the first attack 15-12 even though the Old Soldiers finished strong. The Glens were going right along still in high in the second assault when their opponents all at once chased them into their foxholes in the sixth frame and kept them there, taking the second by 15-7.

By The Canadian Press.

Henry Armstrong, sensational Negro holder of the featherweight boxing crown, raided the lightweight ranks to knock out Enrico Venturi in the sixth round 13 years ago tonight. It was Armstrong's first fight in the year that saw him become the only man in boxing history to hold three world titles at once — featherweight, lightweight and welterweight.

Norwood Draws In Opener With Hastings

NORWOOD, Jan. 12 (ENS). — Hastings and Norwood drew 6-6 here last night to open their TVL intermediate schedule on good ice before nearly 500 fans. It was a swell struggle, with no overtime, the Norwood players and fans kicking at the refereeing, especially when Hamilton drew a misconduct penalty and when Coones got a major for fighting, his opponent escaping free. There were a number of new faces in this tilt, including that of Murray Fife.

The teams:

Hastings — Goal, McKenty; defence, Petticrew, Hendy; centre, Kife; wings, West, Greenley; alternates, Wilson, Mullen, Fairman, Carr, Grills, Edwards.

Norwood — Goal, Morrison; defence, Hamilton, Payne; centre, Kelly; wings, Evans, Clements; alternates, Webb, Brown, Dracup, Rogers, Smith, Lonsberry, Pettersen, Coones.

Referee — Scriver. Linesman—Pufefr.

First Period

Norwood—Hamilton (Webb, Brown) 6:12
Hastings—Fife 7:07
Norwood—Lonsberry 11:00
Hastings—Greenley 15:02
Norwood—Webb (Lonsberry) 16:27
Hastings—Wilson (Petticrew) 17:46
Penalties—Payne, Hamilton.

Second Period

Norwood—Clements (Evans) 4:30
Norwood—Coones 13:56
Norwood—Coones (Lonsberry) 18:58
Penalty—Petticrew.

Third Period

Hastings—Petticrew 11:54
Hastings—Edwards (Fife) 15:40

TONIGHT AT THE BROCK —Fred Atkins, the Australian wrestling champion, shown above, who takes on Yukon Eric in the main bout at the Brock tonight. Atkins has been doing a lot of beefing about being matched with "an unknown from the back bush country." He claims he is too prominent and established a grappler to be matched with a lumberjack. Eric in the meantime has been silent figuring action will speak louder than words in the ring tonight. In the other matches Kay Bell will oppose Wee Willie Davis and Joe Christie will grapple Toar Morgan.

Welcomes Canadians

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Jan. 12 — (CP)—Welcoming the Canadian Empire Games team at the Auckland City Hall today, Mayor John Allum said New Zealanders are glad of the opportunity to repay the hospitality given New Zealand servicemen, particularly the airmen who trained in Canada during the war. The Mayor and Mrs. Allum entertained the Canadian team in the mayoral rooms. Allum said a larger reception would be held when all the teams arrived.

Rain Delays Playoff

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12 (AP)—Rain Wednesday washed out the 24th annual Los Angeles open golf tournament playoff, forcing postponement of the Sam Snead-Ben Hogan 18 hole match until next Wednesday. It was an embarrassing decision for the climate-conscious Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the $15,000 tournament.

Windsor Crushes Galt Hawks 18-0; Marlboros Clinch Top Senior Spot

By The Canadian Press.

Earl Reibel, leading scorer in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, pounded in four goals Wednesday night to pace Windsor Spitfires to an 18-0, four point win over Galt Black Hawks the most prolific scoring display ever seen in Windsor.

The win brought the Windsor crew right back into contention for OHA honors and was the third extra point game played by the Windsor club.

In other games Wednesday night, Toronto Marlboros clinched first place in Senior A standings with a 5-0 conquest of the last place Hamilton Tigers and Stratford Kroehlers vacated the Junior A cellar by beating the ne woccupants, Oshawa Generals, 10-1.

Windsor counted five times in the first period, added seven in the second and closed out the game with a six-goal effort. The high-scoring Spitfires whistled 80 shots at Slim Somerville in the Galt crease while Glen Hall only had to handle nine.

Glen Skov followed Reibel in the scoring parade, scoring three times, a performance that was matched by Jack Bailey and Earl Johnson.

Eddie Stankiewicz counted twice while singletons were notched by Erwin Grosse, Vic Howe and Jim Hay.

Runs Wild

Stratford jumped into a 2-0 first period lead, increased it to 4-1 in the second and ran wild over Oshawa in the final frame, rapping in six goals.

Bibber O'Hearn was the big gun for the winners, pounding in a trio of markers. Bob Hartlieb, a Junior B recruit, counted a pair while singles were scored by Doug French, Earle Clements, Doug Williams, Bob Armstrong and Roy Leckie.

Dinny Flanagan, Stratford's star centre, failed to connect for a goal but assisted on five of the winning markers to lead the scorers. Doug Chapman scored the lone Oshawa tally.

Marlboros only scored once in the first period of their contest with the lowly Hamilton Tigers but added two in the second and third periods. They were playing without their centre star, Johnny McCormack, who is up with the Maple Leafs on a three game loan basis.

Al Buchanan, Don Rope, Red John, Gord Hannigan and Howie Lee divided scoring honors for the winners.

Tenor Berini Robbed

MONTREAL, Jan. 12 (CP) — Mario Berini, Metropolitan Opera tenor, was robbed and assaulted in a downtown section of the city Wednesday night only a few hours after he arrived from New York to sing the leading role in Thursday night's performance of La Boheme at a local theatre.

Hold Baseball Meet

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 12 (CP) — The annual meeting of the Central Ontario Senior Baseball League will be held Jan. 22 to arrange plans for next season. Indications are that one or two additional teams may join the four-team league.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

At Ayr, Scotland, Edmonton Mercurys, showing too much speed and dash for their Scottish League opponents, defeated Ayr Raiders 4-2 Wednesday night in an exhibition game before 4,000 fans.

It was the second victory in two starts on that side of the Atlantic for Canada's representatives in the world hockey tournament in London next month. Edmonton whipped Falkirk Lions, another Scottish team, 4-1 in their debut last Saturday.

But the Mercurys came out of Wednesday night's fixture with another injury. Centre Ab Newsome was struck on the head with a flying puck in the second period and needed three stitches to close the wound. He returned to action to score the Mercury's third goal.

The Canadians played without defenceman Jim Kilburn, who suffered a concussion in the Saturday tussle.

Middleweight champion Jake La Motta signed Wednesday at Detroit for a non-title 10 round scrap with Dick Wagner of Toppenish, Wash., at Detroit, Feb. 3.

It will be La Motta's 17th appearance in a Detroit ring and his first bout there since he won the middleweight title from the late Marcel Cerdan in Briggs Stadium last June.

At Detroit, Tony Janiro, the reformed playboy from Youngstown, O., fought his way back into the top ranks of the welterweight division by soundly whipping the highly regarded Charlie Fusari of Irvington, N. J., in a 10-rounder Wednesday night.

Edmonton Eskimos may be the lone dissenters on the matter of allowing teams in the Western Interprovincial Football Union to carry seven American imports next fall instead of five. The other three teams in the league, Calgary Stampeders, Regina Rougbriders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers, have all gone on record as favoring seven.

One upset victory Wednesday marked first round play when 100 rinks started off in the Rosetown Auto Bonspiel at Rosetown, Sask. J. Bellward of Rosetown, whose quartet was a last-minute entry, defeated the Jack Browner rink from Langham, Sask., in the opening draw.

Howie Meeker, right, winger with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, will coach the Kitchener-Waterloo Legion entry in the Intercounty Baseball League in the 1950 season. The announcement was made Wednesday, along with news that another hockey player —Bobby Schnurr of Tulsa Oilers of the United States Hockey League—will be back as manager.

At Ottawa, Premier Frost said Wednesday the question of Sunday sport will be given "serious consideration" by the Ontario government but not until after the Dominion-Provincial constitutional conference.

Guelph has built a minor hockey program to match its top-notch Arena. Since the opening of the Memorial Gardens in 1948, the program embraces 800 hockey aspirants between the ages of eight and 18. They make up 50 teams.

Suzanne Morrow, 19-year-old Toronto figure skating star, will defend her Canadian singles title and compete in the world championships this year, it was announced by her mother, Mrs. Bruce S. Morrow, at Toronto on Wednesday.

She now is training at Lake Placid, N. Y. The Dominion championships will be held at St. Catharines Feb. 3 and 4, while the world title event is set for Wembley, Eng., March 6, 7 and 8.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Ted Lindsay, sharpshooting Detroit left winger, added another assist to his lengthy string Wednesday night against Boston to bring his point total to 43 in the National Hockey League scoring race. Lindsay has been in the top spot in the scoring column for nine consecutive weeks. He has 17 goals and 26 assists. Teammate Sid Abel picked up a goal to stay within two points of Lindsay. Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens is third with 36 points. Boston's Paul Ronty moved into a fourth place tie with Chicago's Roy Conacher on the strength of a goal against Detroit. Both have 35 points. Doug Bentley of Chicago is fifth with 34 and Detroit's Gordie Howe follows one point behind.

Young Briton Confident Of Ice Crown

By MICHAEL O'MARA.

LONDON, Jan. 12 (CP)—"And when I win the world championship," said the 104-pound stick of skating dynamite, "I'll turn professional and and go on tour."

That would be just big talk from most 15year-olds, but Michael Carrington, youngest ice comet ever to win Britain's senice figure skating title, means business.

The wavy-haired kid, likeable for all his self-assurance, is rated in these parts as the most phenomenal thing on two skates in many a long, lean year.

Winner of the British junior title two years ago, and tagged as a potential world beater, Michael moved another long step up the ladder when he skated admittedly weaker than usual opposition off the ice of Empress Hall to capture the senior crown early in December.

His next shot is for the world title at Wembley in March. But he doesn't expect global honors at the first attempt.

Competition figures to be tough. Hardest man to beat will again be dazzling Dick Button of Englewood, N. J., defending titlist. Also turning on the whirls and leaps will be Canadian champion Roger Wickson of Vancouver, Australian champion R. G. Park—whom Carrington whipped for the British title—and a variety of continental ice kings.

Will Announce Playoff Plans

TORONTO, Jan. 12 — (CP) — George Panter, assistant-secretary of the Ontario Hockey Association, said Wednesday night that playoff arrangements for the groups' senior A teams will be announced tonight.

His statement came shortly after Conn Smythe, managing-director of Toronto Maple Leafs, said at New York that Leafs' farm club, Toronto Marlboros, would not go into the playoffs with a full roster if there was any long layoff. Smythe said the organization couldn't afford to keep up the payroll with no gate receipts coming in.

Marlboros now lead the four-team senior race by 21 points.

Costly Business

"We do not know who will make the playoffs, or how long we will have to wait until Quebec and the Maritimes declare a winner," said Smythe. "It costs us $2,000 a week to operate the Marlboros and we cannot afford to sit idly by at that price.

"Meanwhile," he continued, "our affiliated clubs, Pittsburgh in the American League, and Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League, need help. They must have that help before Feb. 15, the deadline for movement of players to and from the NHL.

"We could use one or two players with Leafs, absorb several with Pittsburgh and send some others out to Los Angeles. It is beginning to look as though that is what we will have to do unless the OHA gets down to business and let us know where we stand."

Yachtsmen's Group Accepts Challenge

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—(CP)—The Yachtmen's Association of America has accepted the challenge of Harold Wilson, holder of the North American speedboat record, for another Harmsworth Trophy race this year, it was announced Wednesday.

Leonard H. Thomson, Jr., of Detroit, assistant to J. Lee Barrett, YAA secretary, said tentative dates of Sept. 1 and 2 had been decided upon, with a third contest Sept. 4 if necessary.

R. Stanley Dollar, Jr., of San Francisco, successfully defended the British International Trophy last summer at Detroit with his boat, Skip-a-Long, which later sank in a race at Lake Tahoe, Calif. Wilson's boat, Miss Canada IV, was the unsuccessful challenger in 1949.

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, Jan. 12th—Some of the sweetest memories of home are bound up in the cakes that Mother bakes! Particularly so if they are Swans Down cakes — delicate, light, richly flavorful, moist to the very last crumb! These are the things that make a Swans Down cake exceptional! For SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR is sifted again and again until it is 27 times as fine as ordinary flour. Enjoy, like countless women, wonderful cake baking success every time by baking with Swans Down.

Heard About a brand new use for VEL yesterday on the "Barry and Betty Show"—a new daytime radio programme which, incidentally, you won't want to miss! Keep your mirrors brilliant with "Vel"! Mirrors, any decorator will tell you, make a room seem bigger — and when they're kept sparkling clean, they make a room seem cheerier, too! It's so easy to do with "Vel". In fact, "Vel" makes so many housework chores seem easy! It helps make glassware — china and windows gleam . . . kitchen and bathroom floors — refrigerators and woodwork whistle-clean!

Cold, Crisp Mornings call for specially good breakfasts to get that sleepyhead family of yours out of bed! That's why I suggest smo-o-o-th, delicious "Cream of Wheat"— it's a real "eye-opener" at breakfast time—*any*time of the year! So easy to serve! . . . 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT" cooks to complete digestibility in just 5 minutes of boiling! It's so good — and so good for you . . . for it contains Iron, Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. Less than 1c a bowl, too! Ask your grocer for 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" the very next time you're shopping! You'll soon discover for yourself why "Cream of Wheat" is a "bright-and-early" breakfast habit with so many families!

"I'm Going To Be Thrifty In '50" . . . probably you think that can't be your slogan for this new year, with food prices what they are! But it can be if you have the equipment in your kitchen to help you cut budget corners. Take a FRIGIDAIRE REFRIGERATOR, for instance. Its big compact interior enables you to buy a whole week's supply of perishable foods at once and take advantage of price specials. There's loads of space in the Frigidaire Super-Freezer, too, for pounds and pounds of frozen foods. Never any wastage of left-overs, either, with your Frigidaire Refrigerator. And the powerful Frigidaire Meter-Miser refrigerating mechanism is so simple (only two moving parts) that it uses only a trickle of current. "Going to be thrifty in '50"? Of course you are, with a Frigidaire Refrigerator in your kitchen!

Ever Sat Down With A Full Box Of Candy at your elbow and found it empty by bedtime? Trying to keep a budget without a proper savings plan is just like that. You dip into your purse — for expenses that seem necessary at the time — and then there's not enough left for the really big things. But here's the best, the sure way to deal with budget worries . . . and start off 1950 right. Open a Savings Account at the BANK OF MONTREAL — an account for savings only. Save regularly, and you'll soon have a really useful sum put by. That's what men and women all over the country are doing today, for Canadians keep one billion dollars in savings in "My Bank".

Cold Weather needn't be a hand-care problem at all, I've found. I simply make sure that I'm well supplied with soothing JERGENS LOTION . . . it's the best insurance I know against chapped, roughened hands! Yes, hands stay soft and lovely with the smoothing care of Jergens Lotion! No matter how rough 'n' blustery the weather may be — no matter what your daily chores . . . Jergens keeps hands white and satin-smooth. Keep a bottle handy in both kitchen and bathroom and use it after every watery job. No wonder Jergens is the hand care preferred by more women than any other hand care in the world . . . for, used regularly, it makes real "beauties" of your hands!

One Touch Of Warm Colour will make your mid-winter meals so much more appetizing! Tomato Red is my favourite for January meals . . . the rich, rosy red of HEINZ TOMATO PRODUCTS! No need to go without tantalizing tomato seasoning in mid-winter. Heinz Tomato Juice — Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup — Heinz Ketchup and Heinz Chili Sauce are always in season — always fresh, spicy and colourful! Heinz Tomato Juice is a wonderfully zestful appetizer, Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup a warm and friendly first-course . . . and besides these uses, these two varieties have scores of uses in cooking! So do Heinz Ketchup and Chili Sauce! So "stock up" now on Heinz Tomato Products — for January meals with lots and lots of zest!

Remand President

BRAMPTON, Jan. 12 (CP) — Henry B. Asquith, president of the Malton Lions Club, Wednesday was remanded a week for disposing of goods in an illegal manner and having liquor for sale. Provincial Police raided a Malton garage Dec. 16 and found a turkey roll in progress and confiscated 86 pints of beer. The club is alleged to have sponsored the roll.

Battle For Baby Fought Again

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (CP) — A legal battle over a baby was carried a step further Wednesday when permission was sought to appeal in the Supreme Court of Canada a decision which returned the child to his mother.

Evidence at a court hearing in December was that the mother, a 28-year-old former member of the British Women's Army, signed a consent to adoption 28 days after the baby was born out of wedlock March 3, 1948. Within a month, she made inquiries about regaining custody of the child.

A court order last April granted custody to the foster parents, now living in Dunnville, Ont., but Ontario Court of Appeal reversed the finding last month and returned Fly At 710 M.P.H.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan 12 (AP)—Kirkland Air Force base announced Wednesday night three F-86 Sabre jet pilots averaged slightly more than 710 miles an hour on a 325-mile flight from Tucson, Ariz., to Albuquerque Wednesday. The Kirtland public information office said the unofficial world record is 710 miles an hour, set by Maj Frank Everest in an F-86

R. B. Sayers Re-elected Chairman Of Havelock School Board

HAVELOCK, Jan. 12 (ENS)—The Public School Board has re-elected R. B. Sayers chairman. D. Chevalier, F. L. McKenzie and C. B. Morten, who were also nominated, withdrew in favor of Mr. Sayers.

Requisition to the town council for 1950 expenditure was set at $9,600.

Improvements to be made to the school building include completion and furnishing of the room in the basement and redecoration of the school rooms.

A salary increase of $100 for the teachers was approved and Principal R. D. Buchanan and H. Hunter will each receive an extra $100 increase if they obtain their degrees.

Samuel Southward was appoint truant officer at a salary of $80 a year.

Dr. D. J. Holdcroft and Reeve E. J. Leeson addressed the board asking that a nurse be engaged for monthly health inspection of the public school pupils. They said the Board of Health was 100 per cent behind the project and was ready to give full co-operation to the Public School Board.

Principal Buchnan's report was as follows: the school was open 10 days in December; enrollment 170, average attendance 161.13, actual aggregate 2578, perfect aggregate 2720, percentage of actual aggregate to perfect aggregate 97.78.

The average attendance for 1949 was 160.37; one child had left school.

Mrs. D. McColl had been supplying since Christmas owing to the illness of Miss G. Hunter. Mr. Buchanan referred to increments in teacher's salaries and stated that the teachers were in favor of the salary schedule outlined by the Teachers' Federation.

Hockey Schedule

A plan for hockey for the public school was presented by Mr. Buchanan and Mr. Hunter for discussion with the Board which suggested three hours a week for grades 5, 6, 7, and 8, Mr. Buchanan to supervise the girls for their skating period and Mr. Hunter to be in charge of the hockey.

This schedule was adopted, with the addition of a one hour period for the other grades and supervised by the three women teachers.

Principal Buchanan informed the Board that the Department of Agriculture, Peterborough, plans to present a short course on Friday, January 13, in the Havelock town hall, when films will be shown. The public school pupils taking agriculture had been invited. Mr. Buchanan also said he had received notice that there would be no entrance examinations this year.

Hold Revival Meetings In Guelph Reformatory

GUELPH, Jan. 12 (CP)—For the first time in Ontario penal reform history, evangelistic revival meetings are being held in the reformatory near here.

The Rev. Bob Munro, the evangelist, and Superintendent Col. G. Hedley Basher have expressed amazement at the results after six nights of meetings.

Starting with an attendance of 98 the first night, the meetings have swelled to the point where no more can be accommodated in the schoolroom-chapel. One hundred and sixty-three were present Wednesday night and attendance is voluntary.

Invoke Curfew

PENETANGUISHENE, Jan. 12 (CP)—The council of this town some 80 miles north of Toronto revived a 57-year-old curfew Tuesday night. It called for enforcement from now on of the by-law forbidding children under 16 from being on the streets after 9 p.m. Penalty for the first offence is $1 fine, the second $3 and from there on $5.

Telephone Convention

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Jan. 12 (CP)—The sixth annual convention of the United Telephone Workers of Canada (CCL), opened its four-day session Wednesday. A total of 33 delegates, representing tele - communication workers in Saskatchewan and Ontario, are in attendance.

Siamese Twins Fine

TOFIELD, Alta., Jan. 12 (CP)—Canada's only living Siamese twins, Brenda and Beverley Townsend, are "doing fine" and no operation to separate them will be attempted before they are at least six months old. Dr. W. H. Freebury said Wednesday.

Newfoundland Premier Confused At Conference

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Jan. 12—(CP)—Confused and doubtful about what this Dominion-Provincial conference is all about?

Well don't fret too much; so is at least one of the 10 Provincial Premiers and he doesn't hesitate to say so. For Joey Smallwood of Newfoundland, bow-tied and glib-tongued, is a self-admitted babe in the constitutional woods the Federal and Provincial spokesman have headed into.

A small, natty figure at the foot of the long conference table in the Commons Chamber, Mr. Smallwood spends hours looking through a pair of thick-rimmed glasses at the world around him.

Occasionally, he takes out a cigaret holder, inserts a cigaret and blows smoke into the lofty, complex conversations farther up the table.

When Mr. Smallwood speaks it is with the smooth, polished phrases that sounded far and wide through Newfoundland in the fight for union with Canada and which come from Joey's years before the micropohone as a radio narrator.

STRANG EWORDS

But the words that come out are strange words for a table thick with legal experts and others immersed in the dignities of constitutional phraseology. The first premise of each Smallwoodian pronouncement is an admission of mystification.

His first was the frank and rattling declaration that Newfoundland has been so busy with the constitutional problems of joining Canada that "frankly we had not given the matter (of finding a way to amend the Constitution) a single thought "until the Conference started.

But he hasn't been letting that still his tongue. He said Newfoundland is shocked that Canada's constitution was given her by the British parliament, shocked that the Federal parliament can request the United Kingdom to amend the constitution in matters affecting the Provincial field.

Right off, he said, Newfoundland is ranging itself beside those who stand for absolute provincial rights in provincial fields.

Wednesday after each premier had given his views on how Canada should go about devising a method for amendment, Mr. Smallwood arose again in confessed confusion.

As he had listened, he said, Ontario's Premier Frost had seemed to make everything crystal clear. Then Nova Scotia's Premier Macdonald came along with more detailed proposals and finally Premier McNair of New Brunswick turned up with the argument that what Canada needs is a new constitution altogether.

"Frankly," he said, "I am a little puzzled about it."

Blasts Convention

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 12 (CP)—The Dominion Fire Chiefs' annual convention is "just a good drunk," delegate Robert Spears charged Wednesday night in London Labor Council (CCL) in urging that council protest the spending of city money to send Fire Chief R. C. McRonald to this year's convention in Vancouver.

Acquitted of Murder

TORONTO, Jan. 12—(CP)—A jury which deliberated 15 minutes Wednesday acquitted Mrs. Ruby Smith of attempting to murder her five-year-old daughter, Wendy.

Cornwall Fire Loss Lowest In 5 Years

CORNWALL, Jan. 12 (CP) — Property loss caused by fires in the Cornwall district in 1949 fell to the lowest point in five years, Fire Chief Cory Moore said Wednesday in his annual report to city council.

Although firemen last year answered 247 alarms—10 more than in 1948—total loss for 1949 was placed at $22,824, compared with $66,173 the previous year.

Delay Amalgamation

TORONTO, Jan. 12 — (CP) — Municipalities in the Toronto area decided Wednesday to delay further consideration of amalgamation plans pending a conference with Ontario Government officials. The conference was proposed by Premier Frost.

Juniors Give $5,300

Businessmen Buy Lord Elgin Hotel

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 (CP) — A group of Montreal and Ottawa businessmen have purchased the Lord Elgin Hotel, the capital's second largest hotel, it was announced Wednesday.

C. E. Pickering of Ottawa said Wednesday night the group was made up of six men, three from Montreal, and that they would take ove the hotel effective Jan. 20.

Members of the group include Hugh Ross of Ottawa and Senator W. A. Fraser of Trenton.

CPR Introduces Machines To Keep Track of Boxcars

MONTREAL, Jan. 12 (CP) — Railwaymen have come up with a round the clock spy system to keep tabs on thousands of freight cars along the 850 miles of track between here and Windsor.

The CPR, which for six months has been testing the new system, using automatic business machines and modern teletype apparatus, told about it today.

Formerly, the conductor's waybills, carried with him in the caboose supplemented by information exchanged among railway offices by Morse telegraph, was the standard means of keeping track of shipments along the line.

The CPR's new system, said to be the first of its kind in Canada, employs machines of more than human engenuity and accuracy to sort out car numbers, contents, shipping points and destinations and feed the information instantly to the teletypes.

As a freight train is being marshalled in the Windsor yard, for example, the yardmaster places into a machine a card for each car. The card tells everything — number, type of car, commodity, routing, date and number of train, departure time, name of shipper and consignee.

The information is automatically teletyped to all intermediate offices along the line and into headquarters of the transportation department in Montreal.

Poor Percentage

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (CP)—Dr. J. D. Griffin, medical director of the National Committee on Mental Hygiene, said Wednesday night that "five out of every hundred children in our elementary schools today will spend part of their lives in mental hospitals." Addressing some 400 parents at a meeting, he said that school surveys in Ontario showed 10 per cent of the children already needed expert treatment for emotional disturbances.

Convicted of Rape

TORONTO, Jan. 12 — (CP) — Lawrence Jacobson, 18, was convicted Wednesday on a charge of rape involving an 18-year-old girl during a party at his home last July. Chief Justice J. C. McRuer delayed sentence pending a report from probation officers. It was the accused's second trial on the charge, the first ending in a jury disagreement.

Maureen O'Hara Plays Part Of Boy In New Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 12 (AP) — Ah, the wonder of the movies! Now they're making Maureen O'Hara look like a boy.

Now you may think that Miss O'Hara well-known assets are impossible to disguise in masculine form. But the script of "Sons Of The Musketeers" has a scene with the actress masquerading as a boy. So the wonder men of the studio went to work.

"Thank goodness," sighed Maureen, "the script doesn't try to stretch the credulity of the audience too long. My identity is discovered quickly."

She described the process of finding the proper costume:

"They tried a good many disguises that didn't work. At first they put a cape around me. But that was no good. It still showed the curves, and after all, the wind might blow.

Padding Does It

"Then they tried putting a wide strap across my chest, but that still didn't hide anything. They tried a few other trick until they decided to pad me.

"They put cotton padding above and beneath the bust. That gives me a straight line. To cover the hips I wear a short jacket that flares slightly. That's necessary too. A woman's figure is different from a man's; you certainly could tell a woman's hips."

Her legs are hidden by long boots and she wears a wig and cap over her flowing hair. That completes the disguise.

"The scene in which I'm discovered is very funny," she admitted. "I am posing as a son of one of the Musketeers. The other sons meet at the old inn where our fathers used to gather. According to tradition, we are all supposed to sleep in one big bed.

A Giveaway?

"When I refuse to join them, they start rough-housing and call me a 'pretty-boy.' In the process my shirt is ripped open. My wig and cap are knocked off at the same time, so the Johnston office will believe that was the give-away."

Miss O'Hara plays both extremes in the picture—she also has some scenes as a sexy female. She'll wear low-cut gowns.

She added that she doesn't mind cheesecake, as long as the part calls for it. But she would prefer to wear plunging necklines rather than expose her legs. "That's the nicest part of a woman," she said.

Humane Society Plans DriveForNewMembers

The Peterborough Humane Society at it's first monthly meeting of the new year made arrangements to start the Society's drive for increased memberships. The excellent record and the good work being done by the local society it is hoped will no doubt recommend it to many as a cause worthy of support.

In his report for December Inspector Gerald Dunford listed many complaints of neglect in feeding and housing stock which were investigated in six different districts. Mr. Dunford also reported that investigations were continuing in regard to the mysterious slashing which caused the death of a horse owned by Zack Miller in Smith township. In caring for his horse Mr. Miller found eleven inch wound on the right shoulder. What creates a mystery is that an examination of the stable has revealed no way in which the wound could have been self inflicted.

December records list 63 dogs and 44 cats humanely destroyed. Most of these were victims of distemper indicating little or no improvement in the current epidemic.

Also listed in December records were 13 dogs killed in city traffic. It was found that most of these casualties were pets that had been allowed to follow their masters to school. The Humane Society has again cautioned owners against this practice.

Want Home Back

TORONTO, Jan. 12 — (CP) — An elderly couple Wednesday asked a court to force a daughter to give them back their home. Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Cowl are suing Mrs. Annis B. Robinson, 37, the youngest of their seven children, for legal title to a five-room house.

Two Youths Arrested In Hog Pen

LINDSAY, Jan. 12—Two Toronto youths locked in the pig pen in stables of a Manvers Twp. farmer, whose house they are alleged to have robbed, were arrested this week after police broke down one of the doors. The youths, Gordon Harris, 18 and Russell Cane, 19, were found crouching in the pig pen and were taken into custody.

The farmer Willard Fisher R. R. 4 Lindsay, and his wife, found on their return home at 4 a.m. Saturday, that their house had been entered. Some money had been taken and also a number of Ghristmas gifts and clothes. Mrs. Fisher reports most of the missing articles have been recovered.

Police were baffled when, searching for the offenders, they saw footprints in the snow leading away from the stables. The youths had apparently walked backwards to the building, to make it appear as though they had gone in the opposite direction.

The boys were taken to the police station at Cobourg.

Wins $29,000 Suit

TORONTO, Jan. 12 — (CP) — Gordon Richard, who claimed damages for injuries he said he suffered when an automobile in which he was riding was struck by a bus, Wednesday was awarded $29,000. Richard, Toronto industrial engineer, sued Gray Coach Lines, Limited.

Maj. D. Morwood Heads RCASC Group

Major Dave Morwood, an Army Service Corps veteran of the Second World War, who was named president of the RCASC Officers Association Monday at the annual meeting in Ottawa, is a brother of the Rev. B. S. Morwood, minister of Mark St. United Church Peterborough.

Major Morwood, now working in the Bank of Montreal at Ottawa, was ammunition officer on "D" Day and later was officer commanding the Second Motor Ambulance Company, RCASC. After that he became senior supply officer for the Canadian Occupational Forces when they were first formed.

Other officers elected were Jack Shiles, vice-president; W. H. "Pat" Rigney, secretary; William Bower, treasurer; and three other members of a committee: Alex Milne, chairman of the membership committee; Roy Mainguy, chairman of the entertainment committee and Reg. Steads, chairman of the public relations committee. Past President Walter Cunningham conducted the election of officers assisted by Don Kirby, chairman of the nomination committee.

Claims Paid 1005 Unemployed In City

The Peterborough Examiner

VOL. C. No. 9 PRICE FIVE CENTS THURSDAY, JANUARY 12, 1950

City Properties Net Treasury $12,503 In 1949

An estimated surplus last year of $12,503.93 from properties owned by the city has been reported to the members of the council by City Clerk Outram as manager of the municipal realty.

Receipts amounted to $28,633 46 and disbursements $16,129.53. The items of income were: 1948 balance $4,457.40; receipts from properties last year $24,117.60; bank balance $4,457.40.

The larger items of expenditure were: alterations to the fire hall $4,605.96; painting exterior of city hall and welfare office, and repairs to those buildings, $1,875.55; furnace and repairs to Hunter St. property, Ashburnham $582.97.

Insurance premiums on incinerator $420, three years; horse barn, three years, $553.75; city buildings, fire hall, etc., three years, $627.57; bodily injury liability, two years, $261.40; miscellaneous premiums $52.85.

Taxes on city property $1,302.45; redecorating of Mayor's office and council chamber $286.14; repairs and paint for Burnham's Point community hall $276.86; office equipment for police identification office $263.15; repairs to Water St. property $66.17; repairs and fence at Hilliard farm $52 25; repairs to George St. properties $277.50; cleaning police station $102; miscellaneous expenditures $29.48.

The surplus from 1948 was transferred to the general account and was listed in the disbursements.

Five-Day Week At City Hall

Continuance of the five day week for the city hall staff was recommended to the council by the finance committee Monday night.

The Saturday morning closing of the offices during the months of last summer and fall is to become permanent. The hours for the employees of the several offices are from 8. 30 a.m. to 5 p.m., beginning half an hour earlier than formerly.

It was said that the change conformed with the general work-week adopted in most of the city's industries, and that it had been accepted by the public in their business affairs at city hall.

City Clerk Outram said the heads of departments had recently met as suggested by the council. They were entirely in accord with retention of the five-day week. Mr. Outram said it contributed to efficiency, particularly in the extra work that was now done in the first half hour and more of the day when interruptions were few. It was also a benefit to the employees and gave them the advantages enjoyed by many other office staffs.

Court Releases Truck Hirer In Copper Case

Hyman Albert, 697 George St. N., was freed today in police court on a charge of receiving almost two tons of stolen copper in a judgment given by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC.

Two other men, Francis McGrath, 34, of 252 Charlotte St., and Cyril Gerster, 35, of 262 Simcoe St., were committed for trial by a higher court on the same charge in a preliminary hearing Dec. 20.

Evidence at the preliminary hearing showed that Albert had hired Kenneth Metcalfe, 25, of Bewdley, to pick up a load in Peterborough the night of Oct 16 which was to be delivered in Lindsay at a yard operated by Gerster before 8:30 the next morning.

Three Arrests

Metcalfe was arrested that night while sitting in a car on Aylmer St. and McGrath about 3 a.m. the next morning. Gerster was arrested a day or two later. Charges against Metcalfe were later dropped.

Fifteen coils of copper rod had been stolen from a Smith Transport trailer parked in the Peterborough terminal warehouse. Metcalfe's truck was picked up the same night with 15 coils of copper rod loaded on the back.

Defending Albert, T. J. Carley KC argued that there was no evidence to show that Albert knew that the goods were stolen. Magistrate Philp held that that was correct. He agreed with Mr. Carley that Albert's actions that day were just as consistent with innocence as with guilt and there was therefore no evidence upon which to send Albert to a higher court.

Driver Jumps Out of Car As Vehicle Strikes Train

Motor traffic was held up for about 10 minutes at noon today at the CNR crossing on Lansdowne St., east of Monaghan Rd. when a car collided with the noon passenger train pulling out of the city for Toronto. The driver of the car, Alton Manley, 35, of Lansdowne St. W., jumped out of the skidding vehicle as it slowly slid onto the tracks in the path of the south-bound train. He was uninjured as was a small dog in the back seat of the car.

Manley, a postman, was on his way to work.

The front of the car was badly smashed; one fender was torn completely off, and the frame was bent. Damage is estimated at not less than $500.

Manley pointed to a 40-foot strip of ice leading up to the tracks and explained that he attempted to apply the brakes when he saw the Toronto-bound passenger train but they did not hold.

At the last moment he swerved the steering wheel left, trying to turn the car parallel to the tracks, but it continued on. He then leaped from the vehicle which he estimated at that point was travelling slower than five miles an hour.

The engine of the train struck it on the tip of the left front wheel, crumpled the radiator and ripped off the right fender. But it remained in the position where it was originally clipped.

Police Constable Harold Mesley and Harold Andrew investigated. The damaged car was towed away.

Board Completes Hearing Dispute

After a two-day hearing the Board of Conciliation, appointed by the OLRB to help settle the contract dispute between the Peterborough Lock Co. and Local 527 UE, adjourned Wednesday afternoon. The cases for both the union and the company were concluded.

Chairman of the Board was Judge W. S. Lane, of Picton.

Included in the union demands are the following: 40-hour week with no reduction in the take-home pay and a substantial wage increase.

Pay for all statutory holidays with no penalties and the elimination of the four-month eligibility clause.

Increase from eight to 10 cents an hour on night shift bonus.

If additional layoffs necessary, a reduction of 10 per cent per week in hours of work in that section or department. No reduction in number of working employees.

The vacation plan, with pay, to be one week after six months' continuous service, two weeks after a year, three weeks after 10 years, and four weeks after 25 years.

A hospitalization and pension plan fully paid for by the company.

Besides Judge Lane, the three-man Board appointed by the Ontario Labor Relations Board consisted of E. Macauley Dillon, K.C., Toronto, company nominee, and Drummond Wren, Toronto, representing the union.

TB STAMP SALES

Stamp sales of the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association now total $8,498.90 it was reported by the treasurer of the fund today.

Moccasin Dance To Feature Rink Opening

With a cushion of ice that has been in the making since the week-end, the Otonabee Memorial Arena is all set for formal opening and dedication Friday next, Jan. 13 at 7 p.m.

The evening's program begins with a hockey match between Keene and Nashua Paper. Speakers invited by the Arena committee to join them in getting away with a booming start and much eclat are: Senator J. J. Duffus, himself a native of Otonabee, Hon. H. R. Scott and Gordon K. Fraser, M.P.

The dedication of the Arena with particular reference to its memorial aspect has been assigned to Rev. George Murray, Rev. Chris McCarney and Norman Greene.

Moccasin Dance

Archer's Orchestra has been engaged for the evening and will play for the concluding moccasin dance. The music will be broadcast by a public address system.

The dance will follow a skating period, also with background of music. Generally that is the complete program. The people of the county and city will have pleasant opportunity of seeing Otonabee's new community centre built as a memorial to its sons.

The Arena opening is two weeks later than was planned, but the committee had to bow to the mildness of the weather. They are hoping to make up for the postponement with a big crowd Friday night.

Suspended Sentence Given For $32 Theft

Henry C. Dunn, 47, of 375 Holloway Drive, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing $32 from his employer, and was placed on two years suspended sentence in police court today.

Dunn collected $32 from a customer which he failed to turn in.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said he was consenting to a suspended sentence because of Dunn's wife and children and said he believed Dunn's job was still open to him.

Police Prying Parkers Loose At $1 A Head Big Wigs And Small Get Calling Tickets

Meter receipts and parking penalties for 1949 will be totalled in the financial statement City Clerk Outram has prepared for the council next Monday night. Licenses fees, police court revenue and the collections owners of motor vehicles are paid through the office of the City Clerk.

A down town office man said this morning he had contributed to the city treasury $12 last year in parking tickets. He has already been nicked for one dollar for his first infraction of the parking by-law for 1950. He said as in comment and not in complaint that he was only five minutes in a bank. Meanwhile a friend was sitting in the car, saw the constable approach and dig out a ticket.

Mayor Nicked Twice

Mayor Swanston was taken for two dollars last week. One of the penalties was attached to his car while he was presiding at the inaugural meeting of the council. Assessment of a recent dollar is also said to have been affixed to Judge Smoke's automobile. Manifestly the police are nailing them as they come.

Constables made an unexpected swoop on Hunter Street between the bridge and Water Street this morning, a non-metered area. A dozen office and commercial men who have parked their cars there since the year one came out at noon to find tickets under their windshield wipers. Charge: they had parked beyond the hour limit.

Their fee is 3½% of the total cost to the city, instead of the usual 6%.

Say Man Robbed Of $330 While Asleep

At the preliminary hearing on a charge of stealing approximately $330 from Charles Kelly, 543 Park St., Earl (Duke) Laing, St. Thomas, was committed for trial by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KS, in police court Wednesday.

It was alleged the theft took place the night of Dec. 23 in Kelly's home after Kelly, his brother George, for whom Laing worked, and Laing had spent the evening in a hotel drinking beer.

Evidence showed Laing had started working for George Kelly, a Haultain logger, in September, at $4 a day and board. Laing worked on an average of about four days a week.

Had No Money

George Kelly and his wife both testified Laing had no money a few days before Christmas. George Kelly had bought Laing his supper in Peterborough the night of the alleged theft. Charles Kelly paid for all the beer the three drank in the hotel.

He paid for the drinks from change in a money pouch at his belt. Once, however, he reached into his right hip pocket and pulled out his wallet containing about $330, to get a bill to pay for a round of drinks. At that time Laing was sitting directly across the table from Charles Kelly in a position to see the money.

Started For Camp

When the three drove to Charles Kelly's home, he invited them up for a beer. George Kelly refused and said he would start hitch-hiking back to his camp in Haultain. Laing, however, went into Charles Kelly's upstairs apartment with him.

Mrs. Charles Kelly, who was in the apartment when the men came in, testified her husband fell asleep in a rocking chair after the two men had talked a short time.

She said she went out of the apartment to see if George Kelly was about the premises. She said she was gone about ten minutes. Laing was alone with the sleeping Kelly, except for two infant children who were in bed. When she came back Laing was sitting on a couch beside her husband's chair. In a few minutes he left.

Discovered Money Missing

Charles Kelly said he discovered the money missing when his wife woke him later to go to bed.

In the meantime, George Kelly had hitch-hiked home. He said, about three a.m. Laing knocked on the door of his house and said he had brought in the battery from Kelly's truck which had previously broken down about half a mile down the road.

He told Laing to put the battery in the shed. He added that he looked out and saw Laing had arrived in a taxi. He watched Laing go back to the taxi which had waited and heard him say everything was alright and then go to his bunkhouse.

The taxi driver, Earl Turner, testified he had driven Laing to Haultain on the night in question. When they arrived at Kelly's camp, Laing had told him he would have to go to the house to get the $7 fare. He returned in a few minutes and paid the taxi driver.

The next morning, according to Mrs. George Kelly, after her husband left to go back into Peterborough, Laing had told her he was going to his sister's in St. Thomas. When she asked him where he would get the money for transportation, he answered he would wire his sister for the money from Peterborough.

Detective W. A. Clarke testified St. Thomas police were notified that Peterborough police had a warrant for Laing's arrest. A few days later Laing was arrested by St. Thomas police. He had less than $10 in his pockets.

Detective Clarke said Laing had bought a 1929 coupe in Lindsay for $125 Dec. 24. Vernon Wilson, Lindsay used car dealer, said he had sold the car to a man who gave the name Duke Laing and had been paid in cash. He said the man had some money left after paying for the car.

Laing has been in custody since his arrest. Bail has been set at $1,000.

1,321 In Peterborough Area Drawing Insurance Increase 368 Over Last Year

Unemployment insurance claims are being paid to 1,321 persons, William Mellis, manager of the National Employment Office in Peterborough, said today. Of this number 1,005 reside in Peterborough and the remainder are in the other parts of the area, which includes Peterborough and Haliburton counties and parts of Victoria, Durham and Northumberland counties. There are 754 others registered as unemployed who are not drawing claims.

At this time last year there were 953 claims according to Mr. Mellis who said that in his opinion the unemployment situation in this area is nothing to worry about. Although the number has increased slightly, it is largely seasonable and in some instances is due to shortages of coal and steel. Mr. Mellis looks for an easing of the situation late in February or early in March.

Those drawing claims represent five per cent. of the 24,000 insurable workers in the area and of the 1,005 in Peterborough 702 are men and 303 are women. In the district there are 251 men and 65 women. Of the 702 men on claims in Peterborough 61 are short time claims, that is they may draw for one week and then be on work for one, two or even three weeks.

Mr. Mellis said that more men and women were coming into the city seeking employment. One boy hiked from Nova Scotia recently in search of work. He said he had been told that Peterborough was one of the busiest cities in Canada. At present one man from Newfoundland is drawing claims.

Shortages of materials, he said, have held up two large construction projects which are expected to hire at least 250 men. One is the Hydro sub-station near Lily Lake where about 200 men will be taken on and the other is in Haliburton where there will be jobs for 50. Some industries in the city have been operating on a four-day week but the situation has now reached the point where only some of the departments are on part-time work. This was said to be due to shortages of materials.

Besides the 1,321 on claims in Peterborough there are 584 males and 170 females registered with the office as unemployed and not drawing money, not being able to meet the requirements of the Act. Besides these there are 391 males and 171 females in the district outside the city registered as unemployed.

Last year in January in the Peterborough area there was a total of 953 drawing funds. Outside claims numbered 269 and 35 women.

Numbers Increasing

Public Welfare Officer Arthur G. Metheral said Wednesday that for the past three months the number desiring aid from the department of Public Welfare has been increasing. If help had been given all the people who asked in December, said Mr. Metheral, 250 to 300 people would have been served. As it was, 196 individuals received aid from the department, 37 heads of families, 99 wives and children, nine single men and 51 single women. The service is only received by people who are out of work due to illness and are able to produce a doctor's certificate.

Mr. Metheral said he felt that the federal government should do something to help the unemployed who are not eligible for either unemployment insurance or the welfare help. He suggested that the number of displaced persons being brought to Canada should be curtailed until positions of employment are readily available for all.

In Toronto, Bart Sullivan, Ontario Regional Superintendent of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, said today that there are 4,644 more unemployed men and women in Toronto Jan. 5 than a year ago.

Some of the increases in unemployed—from 10,231 to 14,875—is due to the material increase in the working force, he said.

During 1949 $2,925,924 was paid out in Unemployment Insurance in the Toronto area. In that area 402,000 workers are covered by unemployment insurance.

Charge Dropped In Swindle Case; Hunt Continent

A charge against Richard O'Brien, 512 Stewart St., of being an accessory after the fact in the $100,000 swindle worked by Aubrey S. Hancock and Paul Imming, which came to light Oct. 28, was withdrawn in police court Wednesday by Crown Attorney A. Bradshaw.

He intimated that a similar charge against Jack Douglas, Toronto, believed at the time to be Hancock's right-hand-man, would be also withdrawn Jan. 17, when the case against Douglas is due to come up again. Had Douglas or his attorney appeared in court today, it is believed the charge would have been immediately withdrawn.

Douglas is on $3,000 bail, which originally had been set at $10,000 when he first appeared in police court here in November after being picked up in Toronto.

Still At Large

In the meantime, Hancock and Imming are still being sought by police with reward posters distributed all over Canada and the United States. It was believed the pair might have escaped to Mexico. They made their getaway some two weeks before the swindle was discovered.

The two had fleeced the Colonial Finance Co. of Toronto of $100,000 by promoting car loans on cars which for the most part did not exist. They used as the fictitious buyers of these non-existent cars, real names with fictitious addresses or completely ficitious names O'Brien, by the way, is still listed in the city directory as an employee of Ideal Auto Body, the front name used by Imming for his illegal operation.

Mineral Find To Bring More Dollars To Canada

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 (CP)—More of Canada's mineral wealth will be turned into dollars with the development of an extensive deposit of iron ore in the Steep Rock region under an agreement announced Wedesday by the Trade Department.

Third iron ore discovery in that area, the deposit is expected to yield the greatest output of any of them—about 3,000,000 tons a year by 1953. With ore selling at $8 a ton at the lakehead, this would mean an annual production value of $24,000,000.

Most of this ore likely will find its way into the United States, the department said. The area containing the ore has been leased by the Inland Steel Company of Chicago.

In Toronto, Inland Steel and Steep Rock Mines, Ltd., announced an agreement under which Inland Steel will lease a large acreage from the mining company. The company is located about 150 miles west of Port Arthur.

Steep Rock is situated south of the main line of the CPR and is near Atikokan, Ont., in the Rainy Lake district.

Philip D. Block, Inland vice-president, said the new exploration program is expected to start soon. Inland Steel ranks seventh among U.S. steel producers. It is believed that much of the mined ore will be shipped to its steel plant at Indiana Harbor, Ind., on Lake Michigan.

Public Works Plan

TORONTO, Jan. 12 — (CP) — City council's welfare committee Wednesday suggested a public works program to cut unemployment in Toronto. It asked board of control to discuss the situation with provincial and federal authorities. Meanwhile, the number of jobless persons in the Toronto are was announced at 14,875.

Novelist Opposes Silent Censorship

VANCOUVER — (CP) — Censorship is costing Canadians "the liberty of free circulation of thought." Dr Earle Birney, poet and novelist told the University of British Columbia's Civil Liberties Union here recently.

"Canadians are being denied some of the outstanding books of this generation through censorship of all books entering this country," Dr. Birney said.

Bad books should be killed, he said, not silently "by one man who decides for the whole of Canada what is morally and politically suitable for Canadians to read," but by public exposure.

The worst feature of the law was that Canadian publishers could smuggle in copies of banned books, republish and circulate them freely.

He said this meant that cheap books, for which there is large demand, were printed in Canada, while works of literary value remained unprinted.

Bob Pratt Leads Sea Scout Troop

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 12 (ENS)—Bob Pratt was named Troop leader in succession to Morley Brown at the Sea Scout meeting Tuesday.

Murray Edwards was nominated Patrol Leader, a position formerly held by Bob Pratt, and Terry Doubt succeeds Harry Rath as Ship's Writer.

The wrist watch donated by Skipper Ken. Jakins as a prize for making fire by friction in 10 minutes, was won by Bob Pratt.

It was decided to divide the troop into junior and senior groups.

A paper drive was planned for February.

Skipper Ken. Jakins was in charge of the meeting, held in the United Church basement.

Jack McCabe Great Star Of Field Lacrosse

When Jack McCabe began work in what is now the CGE Co. here, nearly half a century ago, he was an established field lacrosse star. Not only the best in Peterborough but one of the all-time greats in that strenuous Canadian game as played in the 1890s and first part of this century.

Field lacrosse differed considerably from the modern game of box lacrosse. The field was far bigger then with more players to a side. With few, if any, substitutions in the good old days, players had to be powerful men who could stand the gaff. They had to run long distances up and down and across the field. They had to pass accurately to a teammate a long piece away, and they had to take passes that would startle present-day lacrossers.

Started Young

This quiet, tall, grey-haired man, was tops in those days. He had the size, speed and uncanny ability required to be an ace in the rough gutted-stick game of yesteryear. He started at the age of 17 as a senior, playing his first game in Campbellford. A recent piece in the Peterborough Work News recalls his feats to oldtimers here. Young McCabe took home a gold locket that first afternoon after playing two strenuous games in a tournament.

Shortly, Jack was playing in Ottawa against the Capitals, world's champions. He played for Peterborough the next couple of seasons but in 1901 and '02, he and Rollie Glover were imported by the famed Ontarios of Port Hope. Later he played for Brantford and Newmarket. In '04, McCabe starred for Toronto Varsity when they won the world's college championship against Johns Hopkins University on the latter's grounds. With Glover and Fred Dobbin, Jack went to Chicago and was in the finals for the American lacrosse championship. He was an international star at this time with many trophies and offers.

Brother of Dan

While brother Dan McCabe was proving a one-armed baseball sensation, Jack was making an enviable name in the lacrosse world. He liked other games, too, and played briefly in the Trent Valley Hockey League, but lacrosse — then at its peak of popularity — was his game. He practised hard, kept in the pink of condition, abstained from liquor and was always seeking to improve his ability with the webbed stick. He was frequently honored to presentations in Peterborough and other centres.

Jack McCabe liked sports only slightly more than he did amateur theatricals. He was in various Irish plays, minstrel shows and some Shakespearean presentations. Besides playing parts, he became quite a makeup artist. He was an idol in his day and is now a highly respected and active man, who has little time to dawdle over memories of 50 years ago.

Cleveland Tramples St. Louis Flyers 7-4

By The Canadian Press

Cleveland Barons Wednesday night made American Hockey League history.

The Western Division leaders trampled the crippled St. Louis Flyers 7-4 to take an 18-point lead over second-place Indianapolis Capitals—greatest margin at this point of the schedule made by any team.

In the Eastern Section, Providence Reds, defending champions, dropped into second place, one point behind Buffalo Bisons who whitewashed New Haven Ramblers 5-0. Grant Warwick supplied two goals.

Jack Johnson, former world's champion boxer, once was issued a patent on a monkey wrench.

Minor Hockey Results

At the Arena Monday it was 5-2 for St. Peter's over Trojan, No. 2 bantams. St. Peter's, playing a very slow game, scored their goals in the last half. Whitnnell for Trojans was good on breakaways, scoring two goals. Goals for St. Peter's were by McDougal (one) with Courneya and O'Connell two each.

It was a rough and fast second game before a good crowd with Oddfellows taking over again the lead, beating SPS 6-0 in the juvenile section. Three penalties to each team held in check some play that looked like developing into a more than rough game with only one referee, Tony Giardino, who did a good job. Several times lads were stunned either by hitting the boards or from hard checking. Goals for Oddfellows were by Pammett, Ferguson, Buckton, Ryan, with Golaska getting two.

Keene Games

Marines midgets whitewashed Keene 11-0 at Keene in a one-sided fray in which the Marine lads were on and the Keene boys way off. Marines' goals were by Byrne, McCormick, McGrath, Strickland, McGillen, Kelly (one each) with Strickland getting three markers and Spencer getting two.

The second Keene game Monday saw Trojan juveniles and Keene fight out a 5-all tie. It was a close game all the way with Keene having a bit of an edge on the playing in the early part of the game.

In th first tilt St. Peter's defeated Trojan No. 1 bantams 4-3 last night in a good game in which both teams were evenly matched in play and scoring chances. Byrne stood out for St. Peter's who played a below average game for them. Goals for St. Peter's were by Byrne with two, Ferren and O'Connell with one each. Trojan goals were by Merritt, Cuff and Floyd.

In the second game Trojan midgets took St. Peter's 4-2 in a good closely-played game. There was no scoring until half-way through the second period when Trojans sank one. It wasn't till the end of the last period when, after going hard all through the game, the boys slowed down and allowed the goals.

St. Peters' goals were by Cupoli and Pearson; goals for Trojans were by Patterson and Foster with two each.

School Hockey

Confederation edged Queen Elizabeth 2-1 to open the intermediate School Hockey League schedule. Floyd got both goals for the winners, he and J. Brown going best in the clean tussle. Medland counted for the losers, he, Tighe and Lyons being best.

Confederation—Smillie, Druery, Goldie, Floyd, J. Brown, Scharf, Rose, McArthur, Parcell, Jones, Kimball, R. Brown, Douglas, Hill.

QE—Tighe, Cameron, Whitnell, Lyons, Harrison, Medland, Willis, Ward, McMillan, Harrison.

Central Seniors won 5-2 from Prince of Wales. Rowley, Faiers and Gardner scored in the first, the latter having one assist and Downer another. Krogh counted from Pagett in the second and Mongraw and Gardner hit the twine. Mongraw got the one in the third from Rowley. Evans, Brooks and Noble also turned in fine chores along with the main snipers. Teams:

Prince of Wales—Evans, G. Speirs, Faiers, Pagett, Downer, Dummitt, B. Speirs, Heigh, Krogh Clarke, Barrier.

Central — Bertrand, Noble, Brooks, Gardner, Mongraw, Patterson, Heffernan, Rowe, McIntyre, Burrows, Rowley.

Mauled By Lion

LONDON, Jan. 12 (Reuters)—Acrobat Freddie Black, mauled by a lion backstage at a London theatre Wednesday night, insisted on leaving hospital to go on with the show. Black was helping to move equipment for his act when the lion, reaching through the bars of its cage, clawed his back. Ten minutes after stitches were inserted, he was on stage in the climax of his team's act, "The Slide of Death."

WILL "COUNTING SHEEP" HELP YOU TO SLEEP?

If sleeplessness is caused by being overtired, nervous, run-down and worried — it takes more than "counting sheep" to help you sleep. Though you toss and turn, hour after hour, you can't "wish" yourself to sleep!

Many find that taking a tonic regularly is beneficial—and helps them rest more easily at night. And Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is first choice with thousands! For the Vitamin B1, iron and other needed minerals it contains are sometimes just what your system lacks. And Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does so much to build you up —by increasing appetite and improving digestion.

So if worry, anxiety, a run-down condition or the strenuous pace of modern living is upsetting your nerves so you can't relax and rest —try taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for a while. The name "Dr Chase" is your assurance. 11

Lakefield Gets Easy One To Begin Play

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 12—(ENS)—Led by Percy Nicholls here last night, Lakefield OHA intermediates waltzed through Bowmanville 21-7 in a group game before a good-sized gathering on speedy ice. Play was clean most of the route but one-sided, the homesters' playing coach counting eight goals himself and aiding on two more.

Gilhooley scored from Yourth for the B's to start it and then it was a Lakefield parade. Ernie Nicholls got three in the first, Peloquin and Henry had two assists apiece, with one going to Blewett, Burton and E. Nicholls. Bird got a pair in the second for Bowmanville and Cowle one, as Gilhooley, Lintner and Yourth earned an assist each. Lakefield goals were by P. Nicholls (2), Wasson, E. Nicholls and Blewett, an assist apiece going to Hunter, P. Nicholls and E. Nicholls.

In the third, Percy got one to open it and later, after Blewett and Hunter scored, he slammed in three in a row, Marshall getting the last. Blewett had two assists, with F. Nicholls, Jopling and E. Nicholls having one each. Teams:

Bowmanville: Goal, Rowe; defence, Cowle, Rundle; centre, Gilhooley; wings, Yourth, Bird; alternates, Short, Lintner, Dolby, Yuill, White.

Lakefield: Goal, Acheson; defence, Jopling, Marshall; centre, Fawcett; wings, Payne, Henry; alternates, Burton, Lonsberry, P. Nicholls, E. Nicholls, Blewett, Wasson, Peliquin, Harris, Hunter.

Referees, P Nigh and T. Junkin.

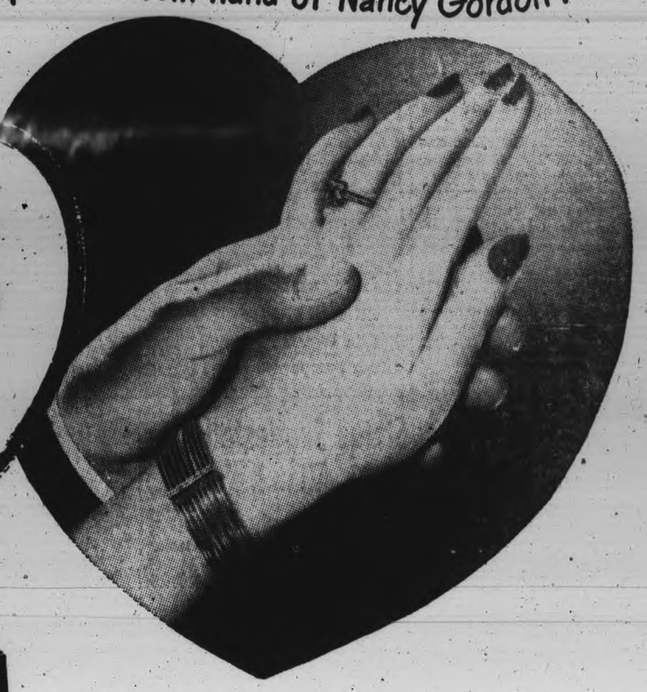
Alert Police Chief

NAPANEE, Jan. 12 (CP)—With no more than a verbal description of the man's appearance Police Chief Thomas Moore said Wednesday he had picked up a man wanted in Kingston for forgery. Carl Hamm, 24, of Napanee, has been charged here with forging a cheque in a Kingston store for $24.



Says CBC Not Entitled Television Privileges

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 12 (CP)—The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation should not be given television privileges in larger centres like Montreal and Toronto, General Manager Stuart M. Finlayson of the Canadian Marconi Company, said in a Canadian Club address Wednesday.

Private applicants, he said, "should be given a chance to spend their money in Montreal, Toronto, Windsor and other major cities; while the CBC should use its funds elsewhere to spread television among a larger audience.

Sales Efforts Paid Off In U.S. Trade

BI FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Undoubtedly, the sustained prosperity of Canada through the post-war years has been a surprise.

As Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, put it on Wednesday:

"We have shown a surprising resilience and adaptability—surprising to other countries at least, if not to ourselves."

He addressed the Canadian Exporters' Association in Toronto, and like other current speakers, he put considerable stress on the possibilities of the United States market in this time of difficulties in overseas trade. Said Mr Towers:

"Much will depend on the adaptability and initiative of Canadian business men, and here we should look to the example of firms which refused to be dismayed by the hurdles and uncertainties which have traditionally characterized the American market.

GET GOOD RESULTS

"When they have investigated the United States market on the spot for themselves, and have made aggressive efforts to sell, extremely good results have often followed.

"Much will depend on the maintenance of high levels of activity in the United States, and willingness in that country to remove obstacles to the entry of foreign goods. On both these points, the events of 1949 give cause for encouragement.

"The mildness and brevity of recession in the United States was, I believe, one of the most welcome factors of 1949, for the rest of the world as well as for Americans. This result suggests that the forces tending to check recession in the United States may be somewhat stronger than had previously been thought."

Canada has remained more prosperous than was expected in the face of circumstances which have been worse than was expected. Of these Mr. Towers stated:

"If in 1944 or thereabouts there had been full realization of the scope and depth of post-war problems, if it had been assumed that the world was to be divided into two cold warring camps, and that we faced not simply reconstruction but a remaking of important trading areas of the Globe, then I believe that people appraising Canada's prospects in the post-war period might well have taken a most apprehensive attitude in view of our great dependence on international trade.

"In the event, our affairs have gone quite well."

91 Consumers Get New 60-Cycle Power

SARNIA, Ont., Jan. 12 (CP)—A group of 91 consumers in the Corunna and St. Clair districts of the Sarnia region Wednesday were hooked up with 60-cycle power, the first in Western Ontario to be converted to the new frequency.

They are being fed 60 cycle power direct from the giant power house of the Polymer plant here. The switch was thrown shortly before noon, inaugurating Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission's frequency conversion program in the south-western section of the province.

Too Much Absenteeism

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (CP) — A growing problem of absenteeism in some departments of the civil service may result in reduced leaves, George T. Jackson told the Canadian Federation of Civil Servants meeting Wednesday. Mr. Jackson, director of organization and classification of the Civil Service Commission, said that younger employees are the worst offenders.

ON THE BANKS OF THE WABASH—The gentle Wabash River of the songs is anything but gentle as it goes on a rampage through York, Ill. Heavy rains brought the worst flood the area has seen since 1942. High waters in Illinois, Indiana and Missouri left some 4,000 persons homeless.

Statue Suggested Of Dr. Allan Dafoe

TORONTO, Jan. 12—(CP)—Suggestion that a life-size statue of the late Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe be erected at Callander, where he attended the birth of the Dionne quintuplets, was made Wednesday by Leon Wookey, reeve of Himsworth Township in which Callander is located.

Mr. Wookey was among delegates to a meeting of historical societies and tourist resort operators which conferred on suggestions for improving historical sites to develop the tourist trade.

Referring to the famous "country doctor" Mr. Wookey said "I would like to see a statue six feet high, cut from Queenston limestone, and I am sure it would lure many more tourists to Callander."

Foils Lone Bandit

TORONTO, Jan. 12 — (CP) — Screams of a girl bookkeeper Wednesday frightened off a lone bandit and foiled a $1,200 payroll robbery at the Banack Clock Company in west-central Toronto. Florence Drutz, 25, held on to her purse, containing the money from a nearby bank, although jabbed twice in the back with what "felt like the barrel of a revolver."

Former Hotel Keeper Dies In Windsor, Ont.

APSLEY, Jan. 12 — (ENS) — News has been received of the death of Mr. Bert Wilson in Windsor. He was a native of Apsley and at one time he and his brother kept the hotel here, which now bears their name Wilson Lodge.

812 Traffic Deaths

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (CP) — A record total of 812 traffic deaths in Ontario fo. 1949 was estimated Wednesday night on the basis of official and unofficial figures for last year. The figures were official for the first 10 months and unofficial for November and December. The total compares with the previous record of 801 in 1941. There were 740 traffic deaths in 1948.

Quite A Change

DETROIT, Jan. 12 (AP) — Venison broiled Wednesday in the kitchen while Angus Ward, former United States Consul-General at Mukden, Manchuria, told of existing 28 days on bread and water fall diet. That was the length of time the grey-bearded, Ontario-born American diplomat was held in a Communist prison before being expelled from Manchuria. The venison—a favorite of Ward's—was kept over from the hunting season.

Convict 3 DP's Of Armed Theft

SUDBURY, Jan. 12—Convicted of armed robbery of a Sudbury jewellery store two nights before Christmas, three DP's were sentenced Wednesday to four years each in Kingston Penitentiary by Judge Edmund Proulx. They were Joseph Kucera 23, Jan Bezdek 28, and Antone Simko 21. All have been in Canada only a few months.

Evidence at the trial was that one of the trio had waved a black air pistol which appeared like an automatic in front of R. C. Chapman, store proprietor, and his wife, and then tied both to chairs while they took watches and ransacked the store for cash. About $1,200 in cash and several thousand dollars in jewellery and watches was taken. Most of the loot was recovered when the three were captured a week later.

In their own defence, the men had little to say. Simko and Kucera cmlaimed they had come to Canada as stowaways to escape Communism. If they were to be deported, they asked to be sent anywhere but to Czechoslovakia.

"We are sorry for what we did, but we wanted money for Christmas," said Simko. "We were drinking before the robbery."

All three asked that their terms be short with lashes, rather than of a long duration.

BABY'S COLDS

Help Nature To Fight Them Off

Medical Science denies there is any such thing as a cure for colds—only Nature herself can do it. So when baby's sniffles, or stuffy breathing warn you of a cold's presence—cooperate at once with Nature.

See that baby is kept warm, gets plenty of sleep and take extra care that the bowels are thoroughly cleared of harmful wastes. To do this without upsetting baby's whole system and further weakening it, try Baby's Own Tablets. Mild, yet act promptly in getting rid of the irritating materials that make baby restless and feverish. Mrs. George McBride of Scarboro says: "My baby of 26 months caught a nasty cold so I tried Baby's Own Tablets and she threw this cold off quicker than ever before. I certainly am for Baby's Own Tablets from now on." Effective also in teething troubles, constipation and other simple baby ailments. 20d.

Vegetable Garden To Be Found On Spring Hats

By GLADYS LENNON

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—(CP)—"The flowers that bloom in the spring, tra la," have little to do with milady's eastern millinery.

It's not roses, but radishes, not orchids, but oranges, as designers turn to the vegetable garden and the orchard for their trimming inspiration. Touches of velvet may be used to set off the fruit or vegetable arrangements, or to line the hat-brim by way of contrast. Ribbon, either in mounting bows or in little-girl streamers, is popular too.

Spring styles by 57 exhibitors, including such well-known names as Hattie Carnegie, Lilly Dache, and Mary Goodfellow, seemed to have all the answers to the problems of making women hat-happy.

The hats are styled to fit the head comfortably. Contours range from demure bonnets to sailors, tiny and trim or wide and gracious. The level-headed look vies with the side-slant, giving plenty of opportunity for choice of a becoming style.

Because of a growing trend toward shorn locks, attention tends to focus on back interest, achieved either through the basic silhouette or placing of the trimming.

Backbone of the season's styles is finely-sewn braid of the Milan type, but other straws include shantung bakou, sisal, bali-buntl and toyo. Fabrics such as organdie, pique, velvet and taffeta are also important, either alone or in combination with straw.

Colors are keyed to be harmonious with costumes—natural, sunny golden tints, red, pineapple green, soft yellows—all good with navy, black or grey.

Home and School Association News

CENTRAL SCHOOL

Beautiful coloured pictures projected on the screen at Central School Monday evening at the Home and School Association meeting were the photography work of Mr. Morley Powell, ardent naturalist and conservationist. They covered a wide variety of subjects, showing the beauty of nature at different seasons, flowers, birds and other wild life. Mr. Powell gave a running commentary on the pictures.

Further entertainment was provided by Boy's Town choir which presented several numbers with Walter Bent directing and H. Kearney accompanying at the piano. The latter also played solos as did youthful Barry Wills.

President Mrs. S. Malsch expressed appreciation to the teaching staff and pupils for $25 collected for a Dutch child being sponsored by the Association. She also conducted the regular business.

Mrs. W. J. Armstrong had a table of health literature on display.

Attendance prizes were won by the morning kindergarten and Miss M. Brock's room junior school and Miss J. Buck's room in senior school.

Appreciation of the audience to the guest artists was expressed by Mrs. H. Youngs.

Refreshments were served at close of the meeting.

KING GEORGE SCHOOL

Mr. W. F. Bent and the Boy's Town choir gave a most entertaining evening Tuesday for the King George Home and School Association. The story of organization of Boy's Town in Peterborough, the work of the boys and success of their choir was told by Mr Bent.

He stated that Peterborough had been selected as a model Boys' Town for Canada and the U.S.

The choir presented nine numbers, assisted by Michael Tunnicliffe, soloist, and Mrs. H. Race, pianist. Barry Wills played two piano solos.

Amusing number were three boys imitating the Andrews Sisters, and Terry Roberts, mayor of Boy's Town imitating Frank Sinatra. Karl Cullen, soprano, and Terry Roberts, gave a splendid rendition of "Glowworm." Terry Killen sang "Galway Bay" and Dick Atchison and Jack Mann sang "Billy Boy."

Mr. Emmett Carney contributed a piano solo and also played for sing songs.

President Mrs. B. Bell conducted a short business meeting and also thanked Mr. Bent and the boys.

Mrs. J. Nornabel outlined the work on home education for this term. Mrs. C. Ferguson announced plans for a tea bazaar on April 26.

Lunch was served by Mrs. K Ferguson and her committee.

Leader Complimented

Warsaw Homemaker's Club seventh meeting was held in the Institute rooms with 10 girls present. Roll call was answered by presenting books, written up to date. Marlene Darling gave the financial report. The subjects discussed were healthful clothing, proper care of various parts of the body and function of the skin. Home Economist Miss Jean Noble was present, also last year's leader, Mrs. M. Digwood. Club leader Mrs. Lloyd Payne was complimented on the splendid way she had conducted the meeting. Miss Noble inspected minute books and first aid kits and found them in good order. She distributed recipes and gave some pointers on Achievements Day.

To Give Paintings For Sunday School

The Excelsior Bible Class is planning to present a gift of two paintings to St. James' Sunday School. This was one of several projects in the 1950 program, discussed at the January meeting held at the home of Mrs. E. Williamson, George St.

A devotional service was led by Mrs. G. Cuffe, assisted by Mrs. L. Robinson and Mrs. D. English.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. E. Williamson, Mrs. G. Cuffe, Mrs. L. Robinson, Mrs. W. Baldry and Mrs. D. English.

Lang Couple 49 Years Wed

ROSENEATH, Jan. 12—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Spiers celebrated their 49th wedding anniversary at their home at Lang on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Spiers spent the greater part of their lives in Alnwick township on a farm west of Roseneath. The residents of the township recall the hospitality enjoyed in their spacious home, in the days of house dances and oyster suppers. Mr. Spiers is one of the older members of Roseneath Agricultural Society, and is still active directing traffic on fair day.

Mrs. Spiers before her marriage was Miss Eliza Minifie of Hamilton township. A son, Alex Spiers and an adopted daughter, Mrs. Harold Davidson reside near Roseneath.

Teacher Transferred

Miss Dorcas A. Atkinson who has been teaching on the Indian Reserve at Chippewa Hill, has been transferred to the Indian Reserve at Garden River near Sault Ste. Marie.

Miss Atkinson previously taught on the Alderville Reserve, near Roseneath, for seven years. She is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Atkinson, Roseneath.

WMS at St. James' Reviews Successful Year

St. James' Church Baby Band has increased membership to 87, under the leadership of Mrs. F. James and the Motners' Auxiliary, which was formed recently, already has a membership of 24. This was announced at the annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society Tuesday.

Miss M. Bowers presided while a review of the year's work was given.

The president spoke in appreciation of the faithful service of Miss C. Wagar as Mission Band leader, and announced that the band had exceeded its financial obligations.

A report of the CGIT activities was presented by Mrs. W. Prest.

A junior mission circle, organized in November, had got off to a good start with 14 members, and the Jean Wagar Circle had just completed a successful year. As was shown in a letter from the departmental secretaries, the efforts of the senior auxiliary had met with success.

The treasurer, Mrs. R. B. English, reported that $414.64 had been raised. The allocation had been $395.

Community Friendship secretary, Mrs. G. H. Rowe, reported 123 calls in homes and hospital, 90 cards sent and gifts of four sprays and two bouquets.

Supply Secretary Mrs. A. E. Prest reported four layettes, six crib quilts, a shipment of clothing to the overseas relief, and assistance to two families whose homes were destroyed by fire.

Installs Officers

The Rev. F. W. Craik installed the officers and gave a brief message on "The Voice of Discipleship," counselling the members to hear the voice of God and obey it.

Mrs. E. L. Woodley, a former president, now a shut-in, requested the hymn, "I Would Be True," as her message for the coming year.

Mrs. E. Johnston led in the responsive service of worship. Scripture passages were read by Mrs. R. English, Miss M. Morton, Mrs. R. Peel, Mrs. R. Monerief, and Mrs. J. Dinsdale. Mrs. H. F. Doig sang, and Mrs. L. Bird led in prayer.

The offering was received and dedicated by Mrs. F. Craik.

Delegates appointed to the Presbyterial in Knox Church on January 24 were Mrs. G. H. Rowe, Mrs. H. Doig, and Mrs. E. Johnston.

Silver Cross Group Reviews Year

Silver Cross Chapter annual meeting was held in the Green Room at the YWCA Wednesday under the chairmanship of the president, Mrs. B. W. Harvey.

Annual reports were presented by the treasurer, Mrs. E. Pruner and secretary, Mrs. N. Fee, revealing the year had been a financial success.

Mrs. B. D. Hall reported for the new Civic Hospital Chapel Committee.

A tea was planned for March 15 at the YWCA.

Mrs. Freure led the closing prayer, after which Mrs. J. L. Young and her assistants served refreshments.

Rector Installs Officers of Choir

The Rev. E. C. Moore installed officers of St. George's Anglican Church choir Wednesday after the weekly practice. The officers are:

Organist and choir leader, Mrs. T. H. Garland, who is also president; vice-president, Mrs. A. Howarth; secretary-treasurer, Mr. T. H. Garland; librarian, Mr. A. Howarth; robing mistresses, Mrs. W. Firth and Mrs. A. Howarth.

Social convener, Mrs. E. Cooper; visiting committee, Mrs. C. Crouter; telephone convener, Mrs. W. Farr Sr.

Mission Band Officers Installed

Maurietta Rosborough is 1950 president of hte Nettie McKenzie Mission Band and other officers are:

Past president, Dorothy Ann Johnston; first vice president, Glen Crawford; secretary, Marilyn Barry; treasurer, Dennis McDonald; secretaries: Watch Tower, Mary James; peace, David Ross; temperance, Christine and Carol Douglas; worship centre convener, Daisy Panter.

The officers were installed by Mrs. R. Hanscom at the first meeting held in the primary room.

Christine Douglas led a January resolution worship service and was assisted by Bobby Barry, Carol Douglas, Ann Mander, Dennis McDonald, Daisy Panter, June Osborne, Mary James, Bernice Rosborough, Marlene and John Richardson. Karen Osborne and Earl Daynes took up the offering.

Nominating committee for 1950 includes Mesdames Verna Tanney, Marguerite Robinson and Miss Eleanor Chapman.

Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of Peterborough Children's Aid Society, was introduced as guest speaker, by Miss Eleanor Taylor. Miss Eleanor Chapman proposed a vote of thanks to Miss Young, for her talk on the work of the CAS.

HILL OF TEMPLES

The Satrunjaya Hill, in Palitana, India, is covered with temples and shrines dating back to the 11th century.

HEY GANG, look at this. It is all sugar and spice and everything nice as prepared by pastry chefs that attended the Hotel and Restaurant Association convention at the Mount Royal Hotel in Montreal, recently. It would be fun to get in the kitchen when these men are working and get first chance at licking the pans.

Mrs. E. H. Brown Installed President of George St. WMS

Members of George St. Women's Missionary Society, who took office for 1950 at the January meeting Tuesday in the school auditorium are:

Report Good Year

Mrs. E. H. Brown presided at the meeting and Mrs. R. Powell, retiring recording secretary, presented a report of the past year's activities. Mrs. J. Fanning, treasurer, reported a highly satisfactory financial report. Committee conveners' reports also revealed a satisfactory year.

The Rev. Dr. James Semple encouraged the Society to continue its work and make even greater progress. He installed the new officers.

A promotion ceremony was directed by Mrs. W. H. Morton.

With Mrs. Sherman Rowe, a group of Baby Band children who had reached the age of six, presented a program of entertainment. The youngsters were Patricia Hutton, Janice MacDonald, Robert Thompson, Graham McMillan, Robert Essex, and Barry Black.

Mrs. A. W. Townsend retiring Mission Band leader, with the new leader, Mrs. A. Olmstead and members: Marlyn McKimm, Margaret Munroe, Shirley Ann Howard, Joyce and Shirley Youngs, Eva Mary Ridout, and Clarke Hayman, formed a guard of honor and sang a welcome to the new members.

The WMS president presented a story book of the Life of Jesus to each new member of the Mission Band.

Members of District No. one led by Mrs. Alex Rosborough, will take charge of the February meeting.

Bridgenorth WMS

Reports of progress during the past year were presented by Mrs. W. W. Nichols and Mrs. J. W. Robinson at the January meeting of Bridgenorth Women's Missionary Society. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. W. W. Nichols and the president, Mrs. J. H. Johnson was in charge.

Members quilted during the afternoon, making a quilt which is to be sold. The hostess served refreshments.

American Women Learning To Pick Becoming Clothes

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP).—The next half of the century will be the better half, says Maurice Rentner, as far as women's clothes are concerned.

He believes North America's fashion growing pains have been worked off in the flapper styles of the '20's, the Eugenie nonsense of the '30's, and the late but not lamented "new look" of the '40's. Now, says he, women have learned by trial and error to wear what is becoming, right and functional.

To prove it, he shows a series of superlative styles, slim and understated for daytime, elegant and flowing for evening. His "debonnaire" touch consists of flaring collars or lapels on suits, flaring cuffs on elbow length sleeves.

Pauline Trigere shows her usual suave, sophisticated collection, this year slim-skirted and draped or bloused above the belt. She uses a great deal of sheer chiffon, organza and georgette, sometimes in two layers of different colors, to give an iridescent effect to afternoon and evening clothes.

Revival of 1920's

Capri's collection is strictly a revival of the 1920's, with sheath camisole dresses and sheer redingotes galore. Designer Vera Jacobs, of this house, likes the "peekaboo" styles of a generation ago, in dark georgettes and nets, and accents short dance dresses of printed chiffon or lace.

Christian Dior of Paris, in his American wholesale collection, stresses the rounded silhouette, with all fullness above the belt and with skirts for the most part short, straight and tight. But it is in his sleeve tricks that the designer lets himself go. These are bloused, shirred, cut in melon, flower or lantern shapes, sometimes cuffed just below the elbow, always full of interest.

DOROTHY DIX

Should Girl Marry Man And Live With His Mother

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been engaged to a boy for three years and we are no closer to marriage than when we started. He is the sole support of his mother, who is a woman 53 years old, and he does not make enough money to support two homes. We could get married if I would consent to live with his mother, but I don't think that is a sound investment for a happy marriage, although she is nice. He says if I loved him that I would be willing to make this sacrifice for him, but I say that it is because I love him that I am afraid to risk breaking up our marriage.

What should I do?

NINETEEN.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You will find the answer to your problem in your own heart. Look carefully into that and try to find out whether you love your fiance so much that the very thought of life without him is intolerable.

If you feel that existence without him will be cinders, ashes and dust, then go ahead and marry him, notwithstanding the handicap of a mother-in-law. But play fair. Don't take your happiness at the expense of that of the man and his mother.

Better Off Alone

Of course, a marriage has a better chance of success if a young couple can go off by themselves and set up their home alone. But there are many cases, like yours, in which a man cannot support two establishments and where it is necessary for his mother to live with them.

Whether this is a curse or a blessing depends, as a general thing, upon the spirit in which the young bride meets her mother-in-law. The mean mother-in-law is the exception rather than the rule.

It is perfectly possible for the young wife to make a friend of her mother-in-law and to really find in her another mother. Mothers-in-law can be an ever-present help in times of trouble, especially when the babies begin to come, and an overworked and overtired young mother is glad enough to have a little assistance.

It seems to me that a woman cares very little for a man if she lets a little thing like a bugaboo of a mother-in-law scare her off from marrying him. But you are right about one thing, and that is that if you are going to let the idea of living with a mother-in-law keep you from marrying this man you had better break the engagement off now. It is folly for you to tie yourself longer to a man whose conditions of marriage you cannot alter and will not accept.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Won't you please tell me how not to be a human doormat? We have two young children and a small but thriving business; but my husband takes everything and gives me nothing. He uses the car and I walk. He buys the best of clothes. The children and I wear bargains. He buys the groceries. I cook whatever he brings in. He selects all of our clothing even to the color. He supervises the arrangement of our furniture and I'm supposed to like it. He goes out at night. I stay at home. I enjoy going places, too, and my lonely nights are driving me wild. What shall I do?

SLIPPING.

ANSWER: Perhaps your husband can be made to see how unjustly he is treating you, but unfortunately selfish people always consider that somehow they have a divine right to do as they please and take what they want.

Don't try to tell him, because if you do, he will fly into a passion and you will begin crying and there will only be a scene. Write him a calm letter in which yau set forth your grievance and mail it to his office. Then he can contemplate it in a cold silence that may bring repentance to his heart

Of course, if you had only yourself to consider, you could pack up and leave your petty tyrant, but you can't do that with two little children. You could not earn enough money to support them, and your duty is to them. And it is also your duty, for their sakes, to live in peace with your husband because the atmosphere of a discordant home poisons the very souls of children.

But how terrible is the crime of a man who browbeats a woman until he takes all of the joy out of life for her, and who wrecks what might be a happy home by his selfishness.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am in love with a school teacher, who is four years older than I am, and who is a college graduate. I am 19. I took three subjects from her in my last year at school. Should I tell her of my love, or just keep on being friends with her?

BILL.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Just keep on being friends with her. Nearly all the schoolboys fall in love with their teachers if the teachers are young and pretty, but they get over it, and are, oh, so glad that they did not marry teacher when they get grown up and fall in love with some girl of their own age.

What's Right

A man arranges to meet a woman in a public place.

WRONG WAY: He arrives a few minutes after the hour set, assuming that she will probably be late.

RIGHT WAY: He arrives a few minutes ahead of the time set, so that he won't run the risk of having her arrive ahead of him and have to wait for him.

Spring Fashions A La Carte, Pick Your Own

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—(AP)—Fashion will be "a la carte" this spring and summer, says Mattie Carnegie—you choose what you like and mix it as you fancy.

With this in mind, she shows a series of separate skirts, blouses, jackets and basic sheath dresses which can form the backbone of an almost limitless wardrobe. A shining example is a simple, low-necked sheath dress of black barathea, completely unadorned yet with a knowing cut. With this you may wear a matching black fitted waist-length jacket, buttoned to the chin; a longer peplum jacket, lavishly embroidered and trimmed with big gold buttons; or a white linen jacket with heavy white cord embroidery.

Other variations are colorful shantung or linen skirts and exquisite matching or contrasting blouses of handkerchief linen, sometimes embroidered in seed pears or rhinestones.

The "little Carnegie suit" is still the backbone of the collection, slim, elegant, beautifully rounded and expertly tailored.

Nettie Rosenstein shows the "jibger jacket," a shoulder bolero, over smooth little strapless diner dresses, usually street length, and does wonderful tricks with combinations of Irish linen and contrasting colored lace. She puts little-boy starched collars on taffeta dresses, puritan collars on white blouses worn with her slim waist-jacketed suits.

6—In Memoriams

LEE—In fond and loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. G. A. Lee, who passed away January 12, 1945.
We have only your memory dear mother,
To remember the whole life through
But the sweetness will linger forever
As we treasure the image of you.
—Sadly missed by Dorothy, Ken, Allan and Gordon.

MANNING—In loving memory of a dear husband and brother, B. W. Manning, who passed away on Jan. 12, 1949.
A tribute of love and remembrance to a dear one gone to rest.
The joys that he missed on life's highway
May he find in God's garden of rest.
—Ever remembered by his wife and sister.

Baby Band Mothers Instal Officers for 1950 Season

Trinity Baby Band Mothers' Auxiliary on Wednesday evening installed their 1950 slate of officers, at an impressive ceremony in the church parlors.

Mrs. Eric Edmondson is the new president. She succeeds Mrs. W. R. Philp who held that office for the past two years. In 1949 Mrs. Edmondson was first vice-president.

Following are the 1950 officers: Mrs. D. B. Gordon and Mrs. S. D. Carver, honorary presidents; Mrs. W. R. Philp, past president; Mrs. Eric Edmondson, president; Mrs. Mel Elliott, first vice-president; Mrs. J. M. Davern, second vice-president; Mrs. L. W. Thompson, recording secretary; Mrs. E. M. Malcolm, treasurer; Mrs. K. R. McVeety, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. D. Huffman, mite box secretary; Mrs. G. Harrison, layette convener; Mrs. D. Clark, wool convener; Mrs. M. E. Knox, diaper convener; Mrs. J. Howes, gown convener; Mrs. K. F. Barltrop, social convener; Mrs. S. A. Bowman, assistant social convener; Mrs. K. R. Kemp, pianist; Mrs. J. G. Pierce, program convener; Mrs. A. Parker, telephone convener; Mrs. G. T. Cheatle, librarian; Mrs. W. Taylor, cradle roll convener; and Mrs. J. E. Wilson, card convener.

Mrs. A. Legon led officers and members in rededicating themselves to the Christian missionary effort.

Annual Reports

Mrs. Philp presided during the business meeting at which the various annual reports were read. Letters of appreciation were also read from several recipients of layettes in England, and from Miss Rachael Young of the Children's Aid for the pocket money donated to the Shelter children at Christmas.

Included in the allocation of 1949 funds was a sum of $25 to the building fund of the hospital for Sick Children, Toronto. The donation was described as an expression of appreciation for what had already been done there for members' children.

A letter was received from Miss Sparling, an executive secretary of the Missionary Board, noting the progress made toward the recognition of the Baby Band Mothers' Auxiliary as an independent organization among the many already established in the United Church.

The devotional part of the meeting was conducted by Mrs. J. Pierce, assisted by Mrs. R. Huffman and Mrs. E. M. Malcolm.

Mrs. Elliott read two humorous poems by Edgar A. Guest: "On Being a Dad," and "The Right Family." Mrs. Parker sang "Trees" accompanied by Mrs. O. Jamieson.

Tea was served by the executive at the close of the meeting in a setting of fruit, candles and holiday greens.

Keep Out Of Trouble On Friday The 13th

CHICAGO, Jan. 12 (AP) — Thirteen ways to avoid trouble Friday, the 13th, were listed today by the National Safety Congress:

1. Keep your hands off the radio while taking your shower.
2. Be careful walking downstairs.
3. Start to work early so you won't have to hurry.
4. Open your garage doors before warming up the car.
5. Watch for children when you back out the driveway.
6. Keep your windshield clear.
7. Follow cars at a safe distance.
8. Don't speed.
9. Don't daydream at the wheel.
10. Don't weave in and out of traffic lanes.
11. Get in the proper lane ahead of a turn.
12. Don't jaywalk. Cross streets at corners.
13. If you drive, pass up that pick-me-up on the way home.

The council added the rules are good any day of the week.

Young Women Meet At Norwood

NORWOOD, Jan. 12.—(ENS).—Mrs. Stan McMillen was hostess to the Young Woman's Auxiliary of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church at her home on King St.

Mrs. Keith Ross prepared the program. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Ronald Rothwel and Mrs. S. Cassidy. Scripture passages were read by Miss Isabel MacMillan, Mrs. Kenneth Kavanagh and Mrs. Wilson Small.

The topic, the first chapter of the new Study Book, "Towards a New Dawn in Japan," was given by Mrs. J. Rogers. This first chapter, entitled "The Land of the Rising Sun," gave an outline of the historical background of Japan from before the birth of Christ up to the present day.

Several hymns were sung, with Mrs. L. Biertt at the piano.

Following the close of the regular meeting, Mrs. Ross and Mrs Small conducted a contest, the winners being Mrs. R. Rothwell and Mrs. Cassidy.

Mrs. McMillen served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. C. Cuthbertson, Mrs. G. Rothwell and Mrs. K. Kavanagh.

Mrs. Wm. Golloher extended a vote of thanks to Mrs. McMillen for opening her home to the society and to her assistants with the lunch.

UK Shipyards Afraid Of Depression

LONDON, Jan. 12 (CP)—Over Britain's slightly inflated, but internally - prosperous economy brooks the fear of "depressed areas" returning to mar the full-employment map.

In no industry is dread of unemployment more deeply rooted than in the economically sensitive shipyards. There, especially in Tyneside and on the Mersey, signs point to the post-war boom having run its course.

"There is an alarming dearth of inquiries and new orders," said H. B. Rowell, president of the Shipbuilding Conference, in a year-end review of the industry.

During the war the shipyards absorbed 100,000 additional workers, many of whom continued in the industry after hostilities ended.

"This state of affairs cannot continue and many will have to return to their former employment," said Rowell.

The drying up of repair work, plentiful for some time as a consequence of uninterrupted hard war service by most of the world's merchant navies, already has hit Tyneside and the Mersey hard.

Along the Clyde, where the industry depends more on new construction than repair contracts, full employment is looked for through 1950.

Many shipowners, Canadian Pacific Steamships among them, want to replenish their war losses and modernize their fleets. But current costs make it uneconomical to proceed with these plans.

Hairs On Jacket In Evidence Deer Theft Case

Charged with stealing the carcass of a deer from Jack Loucks, 301 Townsend St., Dec. 14, William Brick, 34, Haultain, was found not guilty by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court Wednesday.

Loucks testified that he had a deer carcass hanging in his summer kitchen along with some pork, chickens and ducks. A roomer, James Conway, told the court that night he had securely locked a screen door and a wooden door of the summer kitchen which led to the backyard. The next morning he discovered that the deer carcass was gone, and the locked doors forced.

Mrs. Loucks said she had heard a commotion while she was sitting in her kitchen about 11.45 that night. She opened the door to the summer kitchen and saw Brick standing there.

She said she did not see what business he had there, although Brick had been in the house once or twice before.

White and Grey Hairs

Gordon Godfrey, another roomer, said he was in the kitchen when Mrs. Loucks discovered Brick. He said he saw white and grey hairs which he thought were deer hairs on the chest of Brick's jacket.

When brought into the kitchen, Brick was reported to have said that he wanted to see Loucks, who had gone to bed because he was not feeling well. Loucks said Brick came up to the door of his bedroom and asked for a drink, but was refused. Brick then left.

Denies Charge

Brick testified he had nothing to do with the deer. He said that he had not gone in the front door because he had been brought in the rear way on his previous visits to the house. He said the door was unlatched and he did not have to force it open.

His lawyer, W. C. Grant, said there was no direct evidence connecting Brick with the deer except the few hairs on his clothes. Brick might have picked up these by merely brushing past the deer, Mr. Grant argued.

Magistrate Philp said although the circumstances were very suspicious there was undoubtedly some doubt in the matter.

Found Not Guilty As Second Offender

Charged with second offence intoxication, Harry Seabrooke, Fraserville was found not guilty in police court Wednesday by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC.

Magistrate Philp said he would give Seabrooke the benefit of the doubt when evidence was presented to show Seabrooke had a nervous disorder and walked with a limp because of a food injury. Dr. John Wright also testified that Seabrooke suffered dizzy spells in which he lost his equilibrium.

Constable Douglas Farthing testified Seabrooke had been brought into the police station Dec. 18 by Constable Harold Andrew. He said Seabrooke was in a belligerent mood, smelled of alcohol and was very unsteady on his feet.

Clear Rail Line

PRINCE RUPERT, BC, Jan. 12 (CP)—Clear and cold weather in this area Wednesday helped road crews in their battle to clear Canadian National railway lines to the east. Higher Steel Output

LONDON, Jan. 12 (AP)—Britain's steel mills produced more metal during 1949 than ever before in their history, the British Iron and Steel Federation said Wednesday night. Production was 15,552,900 ingot tons. The goals set in the government's economic plan for the year was a minimum of 15,250,00 tons.

$20 Rent Fine On Four Counts

Martin Hollend, 767 George St., pleaded guilty to four charges under the Wartime Leasehold Act in police court Wednesday and was fined $20 and costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC.

Hollend was charged with not applying to have the maximum rental fixed by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board for two flats at 426½ George St. He was also charged with collecting a rent higher than was reasonable and just for both flats.

For a six room flat he was charging tenants $30 a month when the rental was eventually fixed at $20. In the case of a three room flat maximum rental was eventually fixed at $15, but Hollend had been charging $25. When the flat was expanded to become four and one-half rooms, maximum rental was fixed at $19, but Hollend had been collecting $33.

Although he pleaded guilty, Hollend said in his own defence that he thought any dwelling which became vacant after November 1, 1948, was no longer subject to restrictions.

Tenants Collected $20.

He said he believed the rent he charged was not unfair because he had installed facilities and decorated rooms. He said he had been persuaded to rent an extra room and a half to his tenant who had three rooms because the tenant wanted to give two girls a place to live. He said although he got only an extra $8 a month for room and a half, his tenant collected $20 from the girls for the accommodation.

Parent Study Group Discusses Discipline

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 12 — The Campbellford Home and School Association held their regular monthly meeting in the High School Wednesday evening. The meeting opened with the singing of O'Canada, after which the president, Mrs. A. C. Newman, cited the need of new publications and renewal of magazine subscriptions.

A sing-song, conducted by Mrs. H. R. Hendershot and accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Geo. Nicholls was enjoyed by the members. The parent study group discussed child discipline.

A film depicting the dangers of shielding the young child, and also the results of restricting the growing child was shown.

Charge Negligence

CRANBROOK, BC, Jan. 12 — (CP) — A verdict of accidental death, "due to the negligence of the entire (freight train) crew," was returned Wednesday by a coroner's jury investigating a Jan. 6 rail collision in which two men died. In the accident Engineer Peter Linton and Brakeman John Myles died of burns from flaming oil that filled the cab of their Canadian Pacific Railway Diesel freight locomotive.

Inaugural Meeting Of Norwood Council

NORWOOD, Jan .12—(ENS)—A brief inaugural ceremony marked the beginning of a new municipal year for the Norwood village council at a meeting Wednesday morning.

Reeve Rork S. Ferguson signed the declaration of office together with Councillors William Garden, Dr. A. R. Atkinson, Rod Webb and J. G. Nixon, as well as Walter Bitten, Harold Bolton and Kenneth E. Pakenham for the newly-formed Public Utilities Commission. R. K. Tedford, who was not present, will sign his declaration later.

Reeve Ferguson addressed the meeting briefly. Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Norwood Presbyterian Church offered a short prayer, asking for a blessing on the activities of the Council.

The Council's first regular business was to rent the village hall to the Badminton Club for $1 a session. The club is to be responsible for any damage.

Farmers Want Voice In Prices

TORONTO, Jan. 12 — (CP) — Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario said Wednesday that farmers want a voice in setting market prices for their produce.

He was speaking at the opening session of the 13th annual Ontario Federation of Agriculture convention. Some 650 delegates are expected to attend the meetings, which end Friday.

Mr. Kennedy said the time was gone when a man could do everything himself. The federation could organize farmers to sell cooperatively. His greatest personal difficulty in farming was marketing his produce.

He condemned farmers who last year set up a fund through their commodity group to export a white bean surplus and received $1 more a bushel for their surplus crop.

Responsibility for marketing rested with the farmers. He didn't believe in excessive government supervision.

Rural Ontario was the backbone of the province. Not only did farm people enter urban centres but 78 per cent of Ontario farmers were sons of farmers and 92 per cent of better farms were operated by farmers' sons. The figures were based on a survey taken in Wellington township.

Trapper Turns Up

KIRKLAND LAKE, Jan. 12 — (CP)—A search for Fred Rutter, a 55-year-old trapper, ended on Tuesday when he walked into nearby Shillington to claim his mail. Police began searching the bush when Rutter did not call for mail or supplies after more than four weeks. He had stocked up early in December and spent the Christmas season in his cabin.

Pain In Back and Legs 14 Years — Helped By Syntona

Says Herbal Medicine Also Relieved Stomach Disorders, Headaches, Dizzy Spells. Praises It Highly.

"Since I've been using Syntona Herbal Compound I have obtained relief from pains in my back and legs for the first time in 14 years," said Mr. A. Waller, 93 Beland Avenue, Hamilton, Ontario, in a recent statement telling of his experience with this well-known and popular medicine.

"Sometimes the pains were so bad that when I stooped over it was all I could do to straighten up again. I would often get dizzy spells with dark spots before my eyes. I was subject to headaches and never slept well. In more recent years I began to suffer with stomach disorders having a lot of gas, sour acid risings and heartburn, although I was careful what I ate.

"I tried just about everything I heard of, but got no real relief from these troubles until I began taking Syntona. Since then I've constantly improved and am now so much better that I get around easily with scarcely no pain at all. At the same time this medicine has relieved the headaches, dizzy spells, and stomach distress and I am getting better sleep than I did in years before."

Why not let this Pure Herbal Medicine help you as it has so many other sufferers from common disorders of the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels? Many people say that even after the first few doses, symptoms begin to disappear and the whole system takes on a new feeling of strength and energy.

Rail Wages Said Higher Than Industry

Collective Bargaining Over Long Time Builds Strong Set-Up

MONTREAL, Jan. 13 (CP) — The railways told a Federal conciliation board today that wages paid Canadian railway workers are higher, on a national average, than those paid workers in industry as a whole.

The railway statement, before a board hearing a dispute with two major unions, said average hourly earnings for all Canadian manufacturing at last May 1 were 98.6 cents.

At the same date average wage for non-operating rail employees who now seek shorter working hours, more pay and the check-off, was 103.2 cents.

The railway statement was a continuation of the case begun Thursday by R. C. Johnston Canadian National Railways assistant vice-president of personnel. He was speaking on behalf of all Canadian lines concerned in the dispute with the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CCL) and the Brotherhood of Express Employees (CCL).

The unions contend that "thousands of Canadian railway workers are being forced to live on wages which fail to provide a decent standard of living."

"In making comparisons between railway wage rates and industrial wage rates certain factors must be borne in mind," the railways said. "The railway wage structure has been developed by collective bargaining over a long period of time and recognized relationships have been established between rates of pay for various occupations.

"By comparison with outside industry a particular rate may seem high or low, but unless long standing relationships are to be disrupted, its adjustment may be impossible without concurrently changing rates of many other occupations which may already compare favorably with rates generally paid in outside industry in the same area.

"A comparison must, therefore, take into account the general over-all comparison of a number of individual rates of pay rather than only rates for specific occupations where conditions in outside industry may have caused these to be established on a higher level than in railway service.

LARRY LEACH, 3, happily shakes the paw of his faithful dog, Bozo, who bounded into the Leach trailer home near Irwin, Pennsylvania, after walking 800 miles from Tennessee — so 'tis said. The Leach family said they last saw the dog in Oak Ridge in September. They left Bozo with friends there when they moved because the dog got sick on long trips.

Leads Railmen A Merry Chase

ORILLIA, Jan. 13 ((CP) — Lassie came home Thursday, and Canadian National Railways expressmen were relieved.

The large Scotch sheep dog broke away after being taken out of her crate for exercise while en route from Geraldton to Midland. She made off down the tracks with express employees in hot pursuit. When last seen she was three miles north of here

Later, employees decided to send the empty crate on to Midland. The workmen lifting it thought it was unusually heavy Looking inside, they found the dog sleeping curled up inside her temporary home.

U.S. Freighter Makes Tsingtao Port Safely

ABOARD FLYING ARROW, Jan. 13—(AP)—The Flying Arrow steamed into the communist port of Tsingtao today after bidding farewell to its United States destroyer escort eight miles out.

For at least the next week the American freighter will lie here repairing the damage of a shelling by a Chinese nationalst gunboat.

The U.S. destroyer Baussell had sailed alongside the damaged Flying Arrow on the 350-mile voyage from the point off the Yangtze where the gunboat shelled her Monday.

The voyage northward was without incident. There was no trace of nationalist gunboats.

Just Kidding Labor Leader Tells Fire Chief

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 13 (CP)—Canada's fire chiefs, aroused over a slighting reference to their annual meeting as "just a good drunk," can relax. The author of the statement says he was only kidding.

London City Council, prepared to consult its solicitor on possible legal action in defence of teetotaling fire chief George McRonald, president of the Dominion Fire Chiefs' Association, were assured Thursday night by Labor leader Robert Spears that his remark wasn't intended to be taken seriously.

Spears made the "drunk" reference Wednesday in a session of the London Labor Council (CCL) in emphasizing his protest against the city sending Chief McRonald to Vancouver at public expense to attend the Association's annual meeting.

Another Opinion

At Ottawa, Controller C. E. Pickering said Thursday that attendance of Controllers and Aldermen at out of town conventions "is a waste of taxpayers' money."

He said he would introduce a motion at the next city council meeting to prohibit city representatives being granted expense money to attend such gatherings. To start the ball rolling, he announced he was returning $358 in expense money granted to him last year for attending a fire chiefs' convention at New Orleans.

Unprovoked Attack

TORONTO, Jan. 13—(CP)—An 18-year-old boy was jailed for two months today for committing an unprovoked assault upon his mother Thursday after they had argued about his being unemployed. Lawrence Stokes locked the kitchen door in their home to keep his stepfather out and then started to beat his mother.

Considerable Headway Reported At Conference

OTTAWA, Jan. 13—(CP)—Canada is a step closed to national maturity. The leaders of Canada's 11 governments put into motion at a three-day Federal-Provincial conference, concluded Thursday, machinery to provide complete Canadian control of the constitution—the British North America Act. The frame-work of this new constitutional organization is in a formula for classification of Federal and Provincial governing powers. It was approved by the conference just before adjournment. A standing committee of Federal and Provincial powers in six categories, each subject to a different system of amendment.

Altogether, it took six conference sittings since last Tuesday morning to narrow discussion to this grouping of constitutional provisions.

At that point the conference accepted a formal motion by Premier Macdonald of Nova Scotia to create a standing constitutional committee representing Federal and Provincial governments.

On this committee will fall the work of classifying the terms of all constitutional legislation applying to Canada and saying what are those concerning parliament only, one or two legislatures only, or parliament and any or all legislatures.

Difficult Job

This will be a difficult job because on its outcome will hinge the strength of guarantees sought, for example, for Quebec's particular system of education and the language rights of French-Canada.

Chairman of the standing committee will be Canada's Justice Minister, Hon. Stuart Garson. Members will be the Provincial Attorneys-General or their representatives.

In their hands was placed this formula:

That all Canadian constitutional laws be grouped broadly and be subject to amendment as follows:

1. Provisions which concern Parliament only—amendment by act of parliament.

2. Provisions which concern the legislatures only—amendment by act of the Provincial legislatures.

3. Provisions which concern parliament and one or more but not all of the legislatures—amendment by Act of Parliament and act of each of the legislatures concerned.

4. Provisions which concern parliament and all the legislatures and on such additional conditions as may be decided.

Police Want Knives Curbed

TORONTO, Jan. 13—(CP) — City police are attempting to have spring knives placed in the same category as revolvers and regarded as offensive weapons.

A conviction against William Manning, 19, charged with having an offensive weapon—a spring knife—while allegedly attempting to steal a truck with which to bring about the result.

If the conviction is obtained and upheld by the Appellate Division of the Ontario Supreme Court, it would set the pattern for all Canada, officials said.

Manning was arrested after a truck driver found him behind the wheel of his truck when he returned from making a delivery. The youth had a spring knife in his pocket. He was also arrested on a carge of attempting to steal the truck.

Report Coal Shortage Critical In 36 Cities

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP) —The United States Chamber of Commerce today reported a "critical" coal shortage in 36 cities, hard on the heels of President Truman's new denial that that the three day mine week has created a coal emergency.

The Chamber statement apparently was prepared before Truman's indication to his press conference Thursday that he has no immediate plans to force full production in the coal fields by using his Taft-Hartley Act emergency injunction powers against John L. Lewis' 480,000 United Mine Workers.

"With an average of less than seven days' supply in dealers' hands in 36 average-sized towns surveyed. . . widespread suffering and hardship has been averted so far primarily because of the unseasonably mild weather."

In Chicago, the American Retail Coal Association said Truman's statement "will surprise those citizens who are not burning wood because coal is unavailable."

Asks Free Lunch Counters Operated For Unemployed

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP) — Mayor Hiram McCallum today advocated that free lunch counters for the jobless be operated by the Federal Government in conjunction with National Employment Service offices.

At the same time, he said the 1950 program of civic building and improvements may relieve the city's growing unemployment problem. There are about 15,000 out of work in the city, he said.

The mayor proposed that the cards jobless receive when they register for work at employment offices should entitle them to a free meal.

Within the next three weeks, the Mayor said, Board of Control must select priority projects under the city's $17,000,000 master plan. By building up to the $8,000,000 a year provided by the plan, "some thousands" of jobs could be provided.

"If unemployment continues to increase," the Mayor said, "we can start $25,000,000 worth of work this year—provided the Federal government gives financial assistance under its timed public works program."

The city has many needed projects on which to start. Among these are a new city hall or courthouse. Work will be started this summer on whichever is chosen.

St. Laurent, Frost Hold Secret Talk

Agreeable Attitude Hints Differences May Be Nearing End

OTTAWA, Jan. 13 — (CP).— In the wake of a harmonious Dominion-Provincial conference, Prime Minister St. Laurent and Premier Frost of Ontario conferred this morning in the Prime Minister's office.

Speculation immediately sprang up over the meeting. They also held a long private chat Thursday during a lull in the conference itself.

Mr. Frost left shortly after the morning meeting to go to his home in Lindsay by car and could not be reached for comment.

However, his conciliatory attitude during the conference and the talks with the Prime Minister opened the avenues of conjecture about this fall's Dominion-Provincial conference on fiscal matters.

At the 1945-1946 Dominion-Provincial conference Ontario and Quebec found the Federal proposals unfavorable and the conference ended in failure. Since then all provinces except Ontario and Quebec have concluded taxation agreements that are due to expire March 31, 1952. Renewal of the agreements will be discussed at the autumn conference.

Gets Four Years For Perjury

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 13 (CP)— Appearing for sentence on a charge of perjury here today, Floyd Wood, 34, of Sidney township, was sentenced to four years in penitentiary.

Wood was also given consecutive sentences on eight other theft charges.

Four other Belleville and district men, Thomas Watt, 40; Everett Cook, 23, of Rossmore; Henry G. Hubbs, 34, Belleville; and Murray Roblin, 19, of Brighton, were sentenced to one month in jail on perjury charges. A sixth man, Ross Sweet, of Belleville, was also charged with perjury but elected trial by judge and jury.

The perjury charges against the six men arose out of evidence given in county court last December on a charge of car theft against Wood. Following evidence given by Wood and corroborated by the five men, Wood was acquitted of the charge.

The theft charges against Wood were laid just before Christmas as result of thefts from parked cars.

Madame Chiang Returns Home

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 13 (AP) —Madame Chiang Kai-shek returned to Nationalist China today to help her husband save the remains of his shrunken domain

They were reunited at Peach Orchard Field, a Nationalist air base an hour's automobile drive south of Taipei.

It was their first meeting since Madame Chiang left Nanking for the United States late in November 1948 on a fruitless mission to enlist United States aid.

Since then the Nationalists have lost four capitals—Nanking, Canton, Chungking and Chengtu

Madame Chung came from Manila in the Generalissimo's private plane.

Husband wife, dismayed but not broken by the rise of Communist China, shook hands.

"Welcome home," said Chiang, a smile on his care-worn face.

"I'm glad to be back," she replied, also smiling.

The main welcomers were a small group of Chiang's intimate friends and associates—diehards who have aligned their fate with his, come what may.

Estate Must Pay

OSHAWA, Jan. 13—(CP) —A Supreme Court jury today found the late Laidlaw Addison of Belleville 60 per cent. to blame for a traffic accident here in May, 1948, which fatally injured two boys, and ordered the Addison estate to pay $900 damages. George Dorzduck of Oshawa sought $5,000 damages in his suit against the estate for the loss of his two sons, Edward and Ronald. The boys were riding bicycles when struck by Addison's car on a city intersection.

Canada Decides Not To Suspend Air Line Licence

OTTAWA, Jan. 13 — (CP). — The Air Transport Board today announced a decision not to suspend the licence of Colonial Air Lines of New York.

The decision was made because the United States Supreme Court is expected to settle the issues between the board and Colonial when it tests the validity of the Canada-US air agreement. The case will come before the court February 17.

"Under the circumstances," the board said in a statement, "the board does not propose to take the action with respect to Colonial Air Lines which it considers would be justified."

The decision appeared to end the long dispute between the board and Colonial over Colonial's persistent opposition to an application by Trans-Canada Air Lines to compete on the Montreal-New York route.

Complete Talks

At the same time, the Department of External Affairs announced completion of the talks between the Canadian and US governments over the difficulties of implementing the agreement.

It said the remaining sections of the agreement—giving US lines the right to routes from New York to Toronto and from Great Falls, Mont., to Edmonton—would not be put into effect until after the court hearing.

The injuncion restraining the Civil Aeronautics Board of the US from granting TCA permission to fly the route will continue until the Supreme Court completes the validity case.

Colonial obtained the injunction last August when it claimed the air agreement, signed here June 4, was unconstitutional. The agreement was signed by the head of ATB and CAB. Colonial said the agreement should have had Congressional approval.

The External Affairs Department said that Canada has been assured by the US that if the Supreme Court upholds the agreement, CAB will expedite the TCA application to operate between Montreal and New York.

Have A Lemon?

CHATHAM, Jan. 13 — (CP) — Thousands of lemons — $1,700 worth—were scattered over the highway near here today in the collision of a three-ton transport truck and an early model car.

All Crew Have Escaped From Unflooded Parts, 15 Saved, 9 Known Dead

Swedish Ship Collides With Submarine Sinking It Immediately; Rescuers Get No Answer To Messages

LONDON, Jan. 13—(CP)—The Admiralty announced tonight no hope can now be entertained that there will be any further survivors from H.H.S. Truculent, the submarine sunk in the Thames Estuary. Fifty-six men are feared dead aboard the Royal Navy submarine which was rammed Thursday by the Swedish tanker, Divina.

The Admiralty's announcement followed a report that all the crew in the unflooded part of the undersea vessel had escaped. Fifteen men have been rescued and nine others are known dead, including three picked up Thursday night after the collision and six bodies were found today.

Divers and frogmen tapped out messages on the hulk of the Truculent, which lay 54 feet deep at high tide, but up to this afternoon apparently had received no response.

Vice-Admiral G. B. Middleton of the Chatham Navy Yard posted a notice saying "Great Loss of Life" is feared.

Arrest Tanker

The Admiralty ordered the arrest of the Swedish tanker as a prelude to a court of inquiry into the disaster.

An Admiralty Marshal went to Sheerness, Kent, to post a warrant for the arrest of the tanker, which puts the ship under the marshal's control until it is released by the Admiralty.

Word from rescue craft at the scene indicated hope was fading swiftly for the men still believed to be aboard the submarine.

"We have practically given up hope," an Admiralty spokesman said after divers came up and reported that they found no sign of life. Dusk was beginning to close in on the rescue operations.

In addition, all five men aboard a Lancaster rescue plane were killed early today in a takeoff crash at an R.A.F. station in Scotland. The plane was to have picked up divers for the Chatham operation.

The submarine lay in silt about 42 feet below the surface at low tide. The ebbing tide had aided the divers in reaching the craft, which had gone down in water 54 feet deep.

Of the 80 aboard, 62 were sailors and 18 were dock men sailing as part of the crew in a test cruise after refitting.

4 Masked Juveniles Stage Armed Robbery

MONTREAL, Jan. 13 (CP) — Four masked juveniles Thursday night carried out one of the most daring armed robberies staged here recently when they held up the owner of a St. Lawrence Boulevard firm and escaped with $225. Police said the robbers were "not more than 15 years old."

The victim, S Kogan, owner of a clothing factory, told police that tallest boy snapped at him: "We know today is payday, so give us all the money you've got."

Midwest Centres In US Battling Flooded Rivers

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP) —The danger of more flooding increased today in many midwest river areas of the United States as more rain splashed over a wide belt and threatened further damage.

Weather bureau officials said no break appeared in the warm, moist gulf air which is causing the steady rains or drizzle over the lower Mississippi and Tennessee valleys.

Forecaster A. W. Walstrom at Cincinnati warned that with more rain forecast in the Ohio valley "all interests should keep alert to the possibility that additional rainfall may become heavy enough to change the (flood) picture." He had predicted Thursday night the Ohio river in the Cincinnati district" will fall slowly in the upper portion," and "very slowly in the lower portion during the next 24 hours."

Meanwhile, more than 4,000 persons have fled their homes from the surging rivers and streams in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and Missouri. But hundreds of others have refused to move to higher ground.

The army, the Red Cross and volunteers have joined in the rescue operations and work to strengthen weakened levees at many points along the rain-swollen rivers. The flood front covers areas along the Ohio and Wabash rivers, the two biggest in the midwest's threatening streams, as well as several smaller rivers

The Ohio spilled into the main street of Rosiclare, Ill., Thursday and some 60 familes fled their homes.

The 900 citizens of Shawneetown, Ill., have refused to leave their homes. This village was engulfed by the disastrous 1937 Ohio river flood. The river reached 47.9 feet Thursday. Flood stage is 33 feet.

Sailor Tossed Off Bridge As Sub Rammed

CHATHAM, Kent, England Jan. 13— (AP). — A 26-year-old survivor of the submarine Truculent told today of battling for his life in the freezing waters of the Thames Estuary.

Leading Seaman Fred Henley of Gillingham, Norfolk, said he struggled for 45 minutes in the inky blackness before he and four companions were rescued.

He was in the group, including the submarine's skipper, bearded Lieut. C. P. Powers, who were picked up by the Dutch ship Almdijk.

In an interview Henley told this story:

Out of Control

"I was just going up to the conning tower when the first thing I heard was orders from the captain over the telegraph (intercom) for "Full astern."

"In a matter of seconds after that the collision took place. By that time I was on the bridge and thrown into the water.

"The ship that hit us (the Swedish tanker Divina) was out of control. But she dropped cork lifebelts. Five of us caught hold of these."

Cleric's Wife, Son Hurt In Skid

MILLBROOK, Jan. 13 (ENS)— Mrs. A. A. Chote, wife of the new Anglican minister in the village, and her young son Paul were injured this morning when the car in which she was driving from Peterborough skidded on an icy patch on the Millbrook road, turned completely around, and hit a cement culvert. The lad was temporarily knocked unconscious and Mrs. Chote had two front teeth knocked out, her upper jaw injured, and minor facial abrasions.

Homer Ouellette took Mrs. Chote and Paul for treatment to Dr. M. E. Hobbs, and thence to the Peterborough Civic Hospital. The boy was apparently suffering only from the shake-up.

Shortly after this mishap Alan Earle, driver of the Buckham transport skidded on the same stretch of ice, specially dangerous because the rest of the road was bare, and hit the same culvert, on the north side. Truck and the Chote car were later towed away.

Mr. and Mrs. Chote moved to Millbrook only a fortnight ago, and Mr. Chote preached his first sermon in the parish last Sunday.

Bevin Gives Parley Review On Europe

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Jan. 13—(AP) — The British Commonwealth's foreign ministers got away from the subject of Asia today and talked about Europe.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain gave them a review of the situation in Europe and discussed relations between the commonwealth and the continent.

His talk touched on the western union, Germany, Austria, Greece and Spain. The ministers gave him an "extremely friendly" hearing followed by a question and answer period, an informed source said.

A British source said Bevin told the ministers Britain was "going slow" with regards to Spain.

Hint Boycott By Farmers Of Mfg. Goods

Angry Hog Producers Protest Statement Prices Above Costs

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP)—Talk of a possible boycott of farm machinery and other manufactured products in view of sagging farm prices was heard at the Ontario Federation of Agriculture convention Thursday.

The boycott talk was sparked by members of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association, protesting falling pork prices with costs at a peak. They want federal government action to bolster pork prices by subsidy.

H. H. Hannan, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, recommended in an address that producers work through the Canadian Federation to bring their protests before the federal government.

Mr. Hannam denied in Ottawa today, however, that he said he was prepared to swing the national body into the proposed boycott, as reported by the Canadian press Thursday night.

Made No Mention

"I made no mention of a suggestion put forward by a few speakers to boycott the purchase of new equipment and other unnecessary requirements," he said in a statement. "No resolution or motion or even suggestion was made asking the Ontario Federation meeting to take protest action by way of such a boycott.

"I did positively endorse the protests of hog producers against falling prices with costs at a peak and some actually rising, and inadequate price support being given under the federal price support measure. I did also recommend a course of action through the Canadian Federation to bring the producer protests before the Canadian Prime Minister and the government."

The boycott talk was sparked by the Ontario Hog Producers' Association Thursday.

At a mass meeting of hog producers last week in Walkerton, producers urged all farmers to "curtail purchases of farm machinery and other non-essential manufactured products."

Mr. Hannam's statements followed an outburst in the morning session by the hog producers who protested against statements by Claude W. Lockard, president of the International Harvester Company.

Mr. Lockard, also chairman of the agricultural committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said he is certain that farm prices are still above costs of production.

Produces Figures

Charles McGinnis, president of the Hog Producers' Association, came forward with figures which he said were based on a survey of hog production cost. They showed a marketed hog brought a return of $38.25 after a $43.49 investment.

Mr. Lockard had contended in his address that with his experience in accounting he felt certain that he could not estimate the cost of marketing a hog and believed no farmer could.

W. E. Tummon, secretary-treasurer of the association, said that when the present bacon contract with Britain expires that market will be lost to Canada for years to come.

He disagreed with talk of a United States market for Canadian surpluses. "How can we find a market where they produce one hog for every 1.6 people and we produce one for every 2.3 people," he said.

Endorse Proposal

The convention endorsed a proposal made at the Walkerton meeting calling for a floor price for hogs and also passed two resolutions asking floor prices for poultry and county organization of poultry producers. A complaint by the assembly was that prices, held under a ceiling in 1944 to curb inflation, were being allowed to fall now giving rise to a threatening deflation.

Mr. Lockard said earlier that despite farmers' claims they had lost $50,000,000 through the introduction of margarine, he hadn't noticed a great change in the price of butter. He had been told by farmers that this was because the government had bought and stored surplus butter to keep the price up, taking money from the tax payers for this purpose.

City Club Boasts Good Marksmen

Judging from score sheets, there are some fine rifle marksmen shooting for the Rifle Club of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association on Wednesday evening This, their third meet, at the Armouries butts is encouraging a larger membership each week, although officials regret that some of them are not sons of members. They are very desireous of teaching rifle sportsmenship to youngsters; said Norman Bradley. In the near future the Peterborough club will compete with the Dominion Marksmen of Montreal.

Some of those present on Wednesday night to try their skill were:

A. G. Buott, H. W. Tighe, W. Perry, A. R. Menzies, F. Allen, E. Kimball, Jack Law, Ken Payne, Roy Lee, E. R. Oke, M. Didero, Geo. Moncrief, Ralph Green, R. Duncan, J. Wakeford, D. Rhude, R. Lockie.

Bodies 10 Miles Away

The Admiralty said the six bodies found today were discovered in Barrow Deep, about 10 miles northeast of where the sub went down.

Guided by the sub's yellow buoys, possibly released accidentally, the divers in unwieldy equipment and swift-moving frogmen in web-footed rubber suits crawled over the sunken craft laboriously tapping out messages in Morse code.

But a naval officer at the scene said repeated messages like this had brought no response.

Word from the salvage vessels said the divers found at least four of the Truculent's seven compartments flooded.

"It is possible," a naval officer said. "The last three compartments are unaffected. A diver is making a fresh descent to examine the deck and superstructure to see whether or not the hatches are open.

"If they are open there can be even less possibility of anyone on board being left alive."

Great Disaster

This may be the greatest peacetime disaster to a British submarine since June, 1939, when the Thetis sank in Liverpool Bay with a loss of 199 lives.

The Admiralty spokesman said some of those saved bobbed to the surface in their self-rescue apparatus, which includes a lifebelt and portable oxygen supply.

The spokesman said survivors reported that others had gone up in the darkness with them but were not accounted for.

Scores of ships circled the scene, still hunting survivors despite the fading hopes. The day was gray, but visibility was good.

An Admiralty spokesman said it would be a three to four day operation, depending on how badly the hull is damaged, the currents and the position in the mud

Latest Equipment

The Admiralty ordered the HMS Reclaim, latest type deep water rescue ship, to the scene with equipment capable of resurfacing any but the most-badly-crippled submarines. Divers trained in rescue work were ordered into action.

The Reclaim's equipment includes a special underwater bolt-firing gun which can drive a rivet in a submarine plate without having had a hole drilled beforehand. A tube can thus be forced into the hull, compressed air pumped in and water forced from the compartments to permit refloating.

(When the United States submarine Squalus went down down off Portsmouth, N.H., in May, 1939, a rescue bell was used. The huge bell was lowered from a surface ship to an escape hatch on the submarine. Water between the two was blown out, forming a ladderway passage from the bell into the sub. In this manner 33 survivors were brought to the surface in small groups.)

The Truculent, which itself sent 20 Japanese ships to the bottom during the Second World War, met disaster on Thursday night. The Divina was coming in 55 miles due east of London. The Truculent, bound for Sheerness Dockyards, had been out since Thursday morning on a trial run.

The prow of the Divina, equipped to break through ice, rammed the sub's torpedo compartment, and the undersea craft, which had been running on the surface, sank within a minute.

Most of the men accounted for apparently had been either in the conning tower or the control room, immediately below. The other apparently were trapped below.

Rail Wages

Second Factor

"A second factor is that for a majority of occupations railway rates of pay are uniform across the country, and where certain differentials still survive, these are as between eastern and western Canada rather than smaller geographical areas.

"In industry as a whole, however, there are marked regional differentials between very large centres of population and smaller centres in the same general territory. Again a comparison only with the highest paying locality would be unsound if the railway employees are to maintain in the future, as in the past, their structure of uniform wage rates."

The board, sitting under chairmanship of Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, is expected to adjourn later today until some date in February when the two parties may present rebuttals.

Obituary

WILLIAM JOSEPH CONWAY

William Joseph Conway, 68, of this city died suddenly on Wednesday. He was born in Ennismore township, son of the late John Joseph Conway and Mary Sullivan, and has lived in the district all his life. His wife, the former Matilda Fraley, predeceased him two years ago.

He leaves three daughters, Mrs. Fred King (Teresa) of Oshawa, Miss Helen Conway of Toronto and Mrs. Jack St. Thomas (Mary), who with two sons, John Joseph Conway and Michael F., live in Peterborough. There are two sisters, Mrs. Edward O'Donnell and Mrs. Mathew Foley, and two brothers, Michael F. and Leo J. Conway, all of Ennismore.

Mr. Conway was a representative of the Watkins Remedy Company for many years and a member of St. Peter's Cathedral.

Funeral will be held from the Duffus Funeral Home at 8:40 a.m. Saturday to St. Peter's Cathedral at 9 a.m. Burial will be at St. Martin's Cemetery, Ennismore.

One Charge Out In Work-Hour Taximan Case

One of four charges against Hugh J. Davis, owner of Capitol Taxi, concerning excessive hours worked by his employees, was dismissed by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court Thursday.

Under the Hours of Works and Vacations with Pay Act of 1944, taxi drivers may work 48 hours a week with no more than 100 hours overtime in a year.

The charge dealth with was that in connection with William Witzell, 593 Division St. It was alleged that from Jan. 1 to Dec. 9 Witzell worked an average of 11 to 13 hours a day or about 80 hours a week.

June Investigation

Ronald Bradley, Inspector for the Ontario Department of Labor said he began an investigation into the hours worked by Davis' employees in June. He said Davis was ordered that the working hours of his employees must be reduced in July and again in November.

Witzell said he had worked approximately two years for Davis averaging about 78 hours a week. He said he knew there was a regulation against working that many hours a week. He said when he began to work, Davis told him what the hours were on the job and he had taken the job under those conditions. He said he was agreeable to working these hours and had never complained about them.

Defending Davis, T. J. Carley, KC, argued that the charge was laid from Jan. 1 to Dec. 9 and was one charge only. Because it was a summary conviction matter the charge should have been laid six months after the offence. Because the charge was indivisible, part, at least of the offence took place more than six months prior to the charge being laid and on those grounds should be dismissed. No defence was called.

The three other similar charges against Davis were adjourned until Jan. 19. They involve drivers Wilf Gedge, 584 McKellar St.; William Harrington, 506 Patterson St.; and Vern Birhoff, 160½ Simcoe St.

Better Quality Cheese Wanted

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 13 (CP)—The market for Canadian cheese may be improved only by a better quality product, president Chris Bell of the Eastern Ontario Cheesemakers' Association said here Thursday night.

Addressing a meeting of Western Ontario Dairymen's Association convention, he said: "Only high quality cheese will bring top prices, and will ensure good demand on domestic as well as other markets."

6. Provisions which should be repealed.

Hold Quick Meeting

As soon as this grouping was approved by the conference, Mr. Garson and representatives of the Provincial Attorneys - General held a quick meeting and agreed the constitutional standing committee would hold its first meeting in Ottawa at a date to be announced by the chairman.

In the meantime the Federal and Provincial Governments have undertaken to draw up memoranda outlining their views about the headings under which various powers should fall.

The committee, when it meets, will study the memoranda of the 11 governments and in the words of Premier Macdonald's conference motion attempt to "harmonize" them.

If this "harmonizing" is possible, the committee would report back to another federal-provincial conference which would either accept, reject or attempt to find a compromise on what would be the complete machinery for amending the constitution, in all its aspects, in Canada.

This achievement would represent the historic final step of making Canada completely self-determining, no longer obliged to seek constitutional changes before the United Kingdom Parliament.

'Narrow Squeak' For Taxi Man, Found Not Guilty

"You had a very narrow squeak," Magistrate W. R. Philp KC told Frank Thompson, 531 Douglas Ave., a local taxi operator, charged with keeping liquor for sale, when he dismissed the case in police court today.

Thompson was arrested Christmas night after police raided his house in which his mother, father and one brother also live. Constable Sherman Keliele told the court he seized 15 cases of beer, some of them only partly full and 22 bottles of liquor, most of them full.

The raid followed the arrest of James Vincent Goselin, 30 Ware St., who had been seen by police leaving the Thompson house with a case of beer. A man who looked like Thompson had carried the case to Goselin's car for him.

In court, Goselin said when he had got the case of beer he understood he could return another case of beer for it. He said he had asked Thompson what the beer was worth and was told $8. Goselin added that he had not paid any money for the beer.

Report Prices Slump For Second Session

TORONTO, Jan. 13 — (CP)—Prices slumped for the second successive session on the Toronto Stock Exchange as the market continued under pressure of heavy selling. The market tried to recover but new selling orders quickly appeared forcing prices steadily lower.

Volume for the first three hours was 864,000 shares.

Losses ranged from fractions to almost two points in a wide list of key industrial stocks. The decline started late Thursday when selling orders flooded the market and sent industrials reeling back in the sharpest break since devaluation of the Canadian dollar last September.

Apple Growers To Produce Less; Market Saturated Says Wallace

COBOURG, Jan. 13.—(ENS).—Reduction of varieties of apples grown is the only alternative facing the orchard industry, Bruce Wallace of the Norfolk Fruit Growers' Association Thursday told the convention of the Northumberland and Durham Apple Growers' Association.

He said the 1949 apple surplus was 4,000,000 bushels, of which 2,000,000 will go to the United States. Mr. Wallace said that there was no way in sight to market the 2,000,000 balance and that arrangements made by the Federal government to arrange export of $3,000,000 worth of apples will be the extent of federal assistance.

R. P. Longley, Dominon Experimental Station, Kentville, N.S., said the increased yield had been due to better methods of production but there was the contrast of insufficient markets. In the past the greatest attention had been paid to culture, pest control and marketing, but the matter of economics received the least attention until it became a serious problem, such as was the case today.

Canada's production potential in apples had grown too great for the markets which were available. The east coast had lost export markets but it did not have the protection that Ontario had for its local markets. This resulted from the high cost of transportation of the competing British Columbia apples.

Consumption Decreases

It was a curious fact that the consumption of apples had decreased with the betterment in standard of living. With the loss of the United Kingdom apple trade, requests to the provincial government of Nova Scotia for aid in tree pulling increased materially.

In 1939 there were 142,000 trees more than 50 years of age and 24 per cent were over 40 years old. In 1950 there were 140 varieties recommended for elimination. In 1949 there were 246,000 trees in the one to ten year age group. The last group comprised 22 per cent of the total number of trees.

Discussing methods of pulling trees, Mr. Longley said that the bull dozer had been found superior to the older method of chain and pulley, as the bull dozer helped fill in the hole which remained. The cost of pulling with tractor and operator worked out to 17 cents a tree. With the bull dozer it amounted to 40c a tree in 1948. While the bull dozer appeared to cost more, actually it was cheaper in some respects, because there were more instances of stumps being broken off with the cable method and consequently more work in the long run.

In 1948 there had been no limit to the number of trees which could be destroyed but later it was found necessary to base it on the production figures of the orchard in question. Chemicals had been tried without success in hastening the decay of the stumps.

One fact stood out prominently in the matter of apple production, he said, and that was the ratio between Canada's apple production capacity and the consumption that was possible and it was in the ratio of one barrel per capita maximum production as compared with an actual consumption of one-third of the production.

A report on the Apple Advisory Committee was given by Bruce Wallace, Norfolk Fruit Growers' Association. At the conference of the apple section of the Horticultural Council, the B.C. growers had objected to the proposal that their apples should conform with Ontario standards once they were removed from their shipping containers.

One Set of Grades

It was recommended that one set of grades prevail and this was later approved. One difficulty which might arise would be the interpretation of the colours in grading as the B. C. grower thought in terms of solid colour while in Ontario it was the natural colour of the apples which was the basis. This was something that would come up at the council meeting in Ottawa next month.

Northern Ontario was a good market for B.C. apples as a rule, but last year the Ontario apple got most of that business because it was a better product in 1949.

Plan Price Protest

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP)—At least two Ontario districts have planned meetings in protest against falling prices of farm products. A meeting has been planned by Orillia area farmers for Saturday. The meeting, organized by the Canadian Farmers' Union, will discuss recent cuts in the prices of bacon and eggs and other products. Prince Edward County farmers plan a meeting at Picton Saturday.

BRITAIN'S "ERNIE" — Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain has busy days ahead. He heads the British delegation to the Commonwealth conference in Ceylon and when that's over he'll be in the thick of the campaign leading up to the British general election, Feb. 23. Mr. Bevin, born in 1881, was general secretary of the Transport and General Workers' Union for many years. He entered parliament in 1940 and was labor minister in Winston Churchill's wartime coalition government.

WA Group Three Forms Committees

HASTINGS, Jan. 13.—(ENS).—Group three of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church formed committees at the January meeting at the home of Mrs. Clarence Lockhart.

President Mrs. W. A. Thomas presided. Mrs. Arthur Orr was in charge of the worship period and program. Mrs. Robert Glass gave a reading, followed by a contest. Mrs. G. J. Thompson gave the treasurer's report in the absence of Mrs. C. Hoard.

Visiting: Mrs. R. Burnham, Mrs. A. Orr, Mrs. J. H. Hess, Mrs. W. Montgomery, Mrs. F. Stevens and Mrs. A. Fleming. Telephone: Mrs. W. Dodd and Mrs. Lorne Nelson. Quilting: Mrs .C. Hoard, Mrs. A. Fleming. Fancy work: Mrs. Alton Thompson and Mrs. J. S. Thompson.

Worship and program for February meeting: Mrs. L. Nelson, Mrs. L. Oliver, Mrs. Fred Scriver, Mrs. Cleff Scriver, Miss M. Scriver.

The hostess served a lunch. Mrs. J. G. Thompson invited members to her home for the next meeting on Feb. 7. Mrs. W. Thomas moved a vote of thanks to the hostess.

Coal Workman Buried In Bin

LINDSAY, Jan. 13 — Gordon Thompson, 44, Lindsay Coal Company employee; narrowly escaped being buried alive this week while on the job. According to a fellow workman, Chas. King, Thompson had gone up into an anthracite bin to try and loosen some coal which had become frozen together. However, prior to going up an attempt had been made to loosen it from below by prying up into the hopper. As a result, the coal bin had become undermined and when Thompson climbed in it collapsed under his weight and buried him up to his mouth. Fortunately it went no further and he was able to breath while his fellow workmen dug him out. The digging-out took between one and a half and two hours and King was assisted by Lloyd Noble, of Kawartha Lumber Co. and two other workmen.

KRIPTIN

Checks Cold Misery!

Not in days—but in hours!

This is no ordinary cold pill, quinine, or acetylsalicylic acid that just "soothes" cold misery!

This is KRIPTIN, the new anti-histamine drug that checks cold misery in a matter of hours—before a cold can get a foothold. Here are more facts you should know about KRIPTIN:

PROVED IN U.S. NAVY TESTS

In tests by the U.S. Navy (during the winter of 1947-48) the KRIPTIN formula and several other anti-histamines were tested for cold treatment.

In 9 out of 10 cases, cold symptoms disappeared when anti-histamine treatment began within an hour after the appearance of the signs of a cold.

Even when treatment started within 6 hours, symptoms vanished in 74% of cases . . . in 70% of cases when treatment began within 12 hours.

And in all these tests, patients preferred the KRIPTIN formula over all other anti-histamines tested!

IMPORTANT! For best results, take KRIPTIN at the first sign of a cold!

KRIPTIN works at its very best when taken at the first sneeze, sniffle or sign of a cold. So buy KRIPTIN now... don't wait till hours count. Keep KRIPTIN handy in your purse or pocket for instant action against cold misery.

50 tablets ONLY $1.25

2½ cents each!

Check cold misery for 30c or less! You save money by buying the family-size 50-tablet bottle!

A sound schooling should have a dual aim—to equip a man for hours of work and for hours of leisure. They interact; if the leisure is misspent, the work will suffer.

Britain's General Election

The British Government has acted wisely in calling a General Election on February 23; several important issues which must be decided in the sphere of international politics must hang fire until the new Government is in power, and they should not be kept waiting too long. At Washington decisions must be made about Britain's refusal to abandon the two-price system on coal, and Britain's attitude on U.S. oil, steel and shipping; the establishment of conditions for loans from the International Bank is also pending. There are decisions to be made about the Far Eastern situation between Britain and the U.S.A. The present Government cannot commit its successor on any of these matters. An early election is much the best thing.

• • •

It is impossible even to guess who will win it, for in the election of 1945 the margin of votes between the Labour victory and the Conservative defeat was not very great; it was the distribution of seats which gave Labour its large majority in the Commons. Since then the Labour Government has contested 35 by-elections and has not lost one of them; this is a remarkable record. Labour forces in the Commons have dropped from 393 to 390, since 1945, but only as a consequence of expulsions from the party. Nevertheless, Conservatives hopefully point out that the Labour majorities in the by-elections have been declining, and they think that a 5 per cent. shift in the voting would cost Labour 118 seats in constituencies which they hold by majorities of 5,000 or less.

• • •

Such calculations, however, are remarkably uninformative. Elections are turned by many imponderable circumstances. Sorry though we are to say it, we thing the Conservative Party has a liability in its leader, Mr. Churchill. During the war he was given a remarkable degree of personal devotion; after the war, with the wolfishness which characterizes electorates and nations, he was toppled from his pedestal, and has since been described very widely as a dictatorial old man, greedy for power, and representing the most retrograde elements in the country. The noble leader of the war years appears to be forgotten by millions of his countrymen. While we do not share this ridiculous scorn of Mr. Churchill we feel that, circumstances being what they are, he harms his party by remaining at its head. And it is unfortunate for the Conservatives, also, that they have a rather unimpressive group of leaders apart from Churchill. Anthony Eden might make a great leader, but he has not been given a chance.

• • •

The Labour leaders are, no doubt, anxious. In spite of their protests, the Socialist defeats in New Zealand and Australia must have disturbed them. They know, too, that even if they are re-elected the first enthusiasm for Socialism in Britain is over. The devaluation of the pound cost them dear in popularity. And the Government's static policy on wages has not pleased the trade unions; the trade union vote was solidly behind Labour in 1945; it may not be so faithful this time, though it is hard to conceive of a trade unionist voting for a Tory. There are always the Liberals, of course, and they may emerge from the election with a useful group of members—enough to give them a certain bargaining power.

• • •

The great element favouring Labour, however, is time. Since 1945 millions of British people of the poorer classes have had a chance to enjoy some of the sweets of a Socialist state; they have not yet had time to get the flavour of bitterness which is also a part of the welfare state. They will go to the polls with a consciousness of benefits received, and they will not vote against the party which did well by them. It still looks to us as though Labour would make the grade on February 23. Between now and then we may have reason to change our opinion.

Railwaymen's Demands

The two chief Canadian railwaymen's unions are demanding a forty-hour week with a twenty per cent. increase in hourly wage rates to maintain the same weekly 'take-home' pay, as well as an additional increase of seven and ten cents an hour. When these demands were put to the C.N.R. and C.P.R. last June, the companies rejected them. A conciliation officer was appointed; this did not result in agreement. On Monday two Conciliation Boards began hearings on the two union requests. These are now in progress.

This matter is important to all Canadians. The C.N.R. and C.P.R. are the two largest employers of labour in Canada, and salaries and wages of their employees represent nearly seven per cent. of the total salaries and wages paid in Canada. If the full increases are agreed to, it would result, (so the railways estimate) in an increase of $76,100,000 annually in the combined payrolls. If the increases were extended to wage groups in the companies other than those whom the two unions represent (and this usually follows), $84,147,000 would be added to the annual payroll, according to some company estimates.

All Canadian homes, shops and industries would be affected if these increases were granted and the companies did not find the money to pay them out of present levels of revenue. Freight and passenger rates would rise, or service would be curtailed, or both. We note that both companies already have applications before the Board of Transport for permission to increase their rates, even now, before a decision has been reached on the new demands for raises in wages.

The two unions appearing before the Conciliation Boards are the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport Workers and the International Railway Labour Organizations. These two comprise ten different railway union affiliates. Not included are members of the operating labour groups—enginemen, firemen, conductors, trainmen and yardmen.

Four general wage increases have been given railway workers since 1939, amounting to more than $80 a month, on an average estimate.

The Coffin Nail

When W. G. Jaffray died on December 29 few of his obituary notices failed to mention the fact that during his 22 years as president and guiding spirit of the Toronto Globe he refused to accept any advertisements for cigarettes. We do not recall, however, that it was mentioned that he had no objection to advertisements for pipe tobacco, cigars or chewing plug. It has been estimated that his refusal to accept cigarette advertising cost his paper about $20,000 a year. There was a time about the turn of the century, when Mr. Jaffray's objection to cigarettes was very widely shared.

It was believed by many people at that time that tobacco which was not especially harmful when smoked in a pipe or a cigar became an insidious poison when chopped a little finer and rolled in rice paper. It was popularly thought that to smoke cigarettes was to invite tuberculosis. Boys were warned that cigarettes would stunt their growth. Young men who smoked cigarettes were suspected of even greater turpitude, and it was not uncommon for employment advertisements to bear the note, "No cigarette smoker need apply".

Why this prejudice should have been so great we do not know. The Great War exploded it, for men in the services found cigarettes easy to carry and quick to smoke. When women began to smoke in great numbers there were solemn warnings that their children would suffer for it, but time and statistics have disposed of that bugaboo. Cigarettes are now used more widely, if we may rely on personal observation, than pipes and cigars together. Few young people today appear to know that they were once referred to, jocosely but with an undercurrent of belief, as "coffin nails."

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Parisian fashion expert says "There will be no flat-chested women in 1950 cloths". Is that a promise?

Someone in Ottawa has tried five times during the last month to burn down a school there. As an incendiarist, this fellow belongs in the dunce class.

"Care Should Be Taken Shovelling Snow" says a heading in the Toronto Telegram. Yes, don't be a pig; leave some for others.

Fourteen bedsprings were recently removed from an Alabama man's stomach. A fellow who eats a diet like that must be an awful bounder.

There are some terribly hard-bitten fellows in the newspaper business. The Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph morosely says: "Experience is what you have left when you have completely forgotten her name."

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: As a newcomer to Peterborough from a larger metropolis, there are a few local customs which I find most distressing. Could you tell me, for instance, why the natives insist on dining at noon instead of in the evening, which is the accepted time for dinner in all of the more civilized communities? I find that my constitution simply cannot adapt itself to this change, Alpha, and as a result my health has suffered.

Now consider today at noon, for example. In the short period between 12:15 and 12:45 p.m. I was served a tremendous repast of mushroom soup, roast beef, Yorkshire pudding, browned potatoes, two other vegetables, hors d'oeuvres, rice pudding, chocolate cake and tea. Then, instead of being able to relax and digest at ease as I would have following an evening dinner, I was forced by circumstances entirely beyond my control to rush back to work by one o'clock, and put in a most miserable afternoon of trying to concentrate and digest at the same time, a most regrettable task. Then for the evening meal, when I have always been accustomed to dinner followed by a pleasant hour or two of relaxation, what do I get but beans, and beans only.

I find that even the local hotels cater to this astounding practice by serving the same dinner all day long in an effort, apparently, to encourage local trade as well as that of the stranger within our gates.

Do you not agree with me, my dear Alphie, that this is a most barbarian custom? Was the habit begun by the late Mr. Adam Scott? Fie on it! My gorge rises at it. Would it not be possible to form a Society for the Prevention of Noonday Dinners and Indigestion?

Any progress you might make in this regard would be much appreciated in this quarter and would be doubtless a step forward in the direction of bringing culture to the community.

ANSWER: Better to dine at noon than not have dinner at all. I believe that many people in larger cities have lunch at noon and bean supper in the evening—no dinner at all, unless they are dining out.

The historic reason for Peterborough folk's eating dinner at noon is that it is a habit from pioneer days when town and country did a hard day's work outdoors by midday, and needed a big meal at noon. They were not city softies who could get along on a soft drink and a sandwich.

The reasons for the perpetuation of the practice are (a) It's what mother used to do (b) The city is small enough that most heads of households can get home from their work at the noon hour and do not need to take a box lunch (c) The good and not-so-good folk running boarding houses have no intention of slaving over hot stoves at six p.m. when they know right well that decent, respectable people eat dinner at noon. (Note to boarders: when in Peterborough, do as the Peterburians do; you can't help yourself.) (d) Households which have a maid can't risk running the big meal in the evening more than once in a blue moon, if they want to keep them; the maids like their evenings off, as do the wives. (3) This is the most important reason: Housewives preparing their family meals can't be bothered cooking up the big feast in the afternoon or early evening. It interferes with their social life, and cuts the evening short. Besides, husbands have enough dishes on their hands with only a supper, without having to dig into a dish-pan of dinner plates and half a dozen pots and pans.

It is the fashion in Peterborough to eat dinner at noon, and bulging uncomfortable noontime stomachs, consequent lassitude at work in the afternoon, and ripe hunger at six, when the worries of the day's work are ended and the appetite is free to extend itself, will not quickly change the fashion. I'm afraid Peterborough will have to try for culture without dinner at eight.

SIR: Do the members of the royal family get salaries ? Does Canada pay part of them?

ANSWER: The members of the Royal Family receive annuities and are all on what is called the Civil List. Canada is in the fortunate position of having a King but not having to pay anything for his support.

In old times the King owned all Crown properties and personally drew the income from them. Since Queen Anne's day the sovereigns have derived the larger part of their income from life-interests in Crown property. This is turned over to the nation in exchange for a fixed Civil List authorized by Parliament. Actually, the nation gets the best of the bargain, for income from Crown Lands far exceeds monies paid out to members of the royal family. The King receives for his personal use about £20,000; another £200,000 goes to the upkeep of his household and to provide for royal bounties and the like. As a sample of what other members of the royal family receive, Queen Mary, the Queen Mother, gets an annuity of £70,000.

OUTRAGEOUS ALPHA: That old goat you wrote about at Canada Packers which leads the lambs to slaughter is not a Billy. She's a Nanny. So she's not taking unfair advantage of sex.

RESPONSE: Worse and worse! I recant what I said about it as an unusual example of a male being the deceiver. So it's a female after all. Tut! Tut! the old shegoat. (As a matter of fact, you are not the first person to call my attention to the sex of the goat. An august member of the packing firm actually brought the goat, alive and kicking, up to The Examiner office, to prove that I was wrong. Fortunately, I was away, and missed the inspectoral tour and the amateur goatherd's ribbing.)

SIR: I read in The Examiner that the Nicholls Park Trust made its annual report on Jackson Park. Who are they, and why should they? Is not Jackson Park a city park under the Parks Committee of the Council?

ANSWER: No. Jackson Park, together with Nicholls Oval and Inverlea were provided for the people of the city by Mrs. Charlotte Jane Nicholls, Peterborough benefactress, and put under a Trust set up to administer them and the funds for their care. Increasing costs of upkeep made it necessary for the Trust, with its limited funds, to hand over the Oval and Inverlea to the city, but the Trust still operates Jackson Park. There are four members, the present ones being: R. L. Dobbin, (Chairman), James Hamilton, C. G. Graham, and R. M. Glover. It is a self-perpetuating board.

FOR THE RECORD: Peterborough stores seem to be having more "sales" than—well, not within living memory, but within the lifetime of a ten-year-old boy. January sales started slap-bang after New Year's Day. The situation is general—Montreal and Toronto sales started December 27th. And the situation is normal. The reason the sales hit the eye now so startlingly is that during and after the war there were many buyers and limited supplies; now stocks are plentiful and buyers discriminating.

"EVERY DOG HAS HIS DAY, BUT . . ."

Soft Voices Do Not Die

(MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

IT is now 17 years since I sat one evening in a Workers' Educational Association class that was studying Elizabethan literature. The tutor touched on Elizabethan life, customs, and culture; he mentioned a favourite musical instrument of the period, the recorder, and spoke of its sweet tone. Then he said that he had one with him, and rather tentatively (as memory now serves me) produced it and played a tune upon it.

It certainly had a sweet tone, but its quiet voice did not seem to make much impression in the room against the trundling noise of the two or three tramcars that chose those few minutes in which to pass outside, their trolleys sparking on the overhead wire and sending flashes of blue light through the chinks in the window curtains. We listened until the tune was ended, the tutor put the instrument aside, and we went on with the subject of Elizabethan literature.

Now we see news items such as that recently when a week-end gathering of recorder players was held at Holly Royde, the residential college under the direction of the extra mural department of Manchester University; anyone looking into the window of a music shop is almost certain to see one or more recorders displayed; and many a parent may or may not be surprised to see recorder in the list of desired Christmas presents.

For some 200 years the recorder, a whistle-type flute once known as the "English flute," lay neglected; it yielded first to a near relative from France, the flageolet, and this in turn gave way to the stronger-voiced transverse German flute. It is not clear what instrument Pepys bought when he entered in his diary, "And did buy a recorder, which I do intend to learn to play on, the sound of it being, of all music in the world, the most pleasing to me," for a page or two later he speaks of "playing a little upon my new flageolet, that is so soft that it please me mightily," and then shortly afterwards he again calls it a recorder. But by 1773 it appears to have been long enough neglected for Barrington, the antiquary, to write in "Philosophical Transactions," "A musical instrument, formerly used in England, called a recorder."

Dating back to the eleventh century, in its day it had enjoyed the favour of kings and queens of England; Henry the Eighth had 77 of them. When Hamlet called for music, it will be remembered, he cried, "Come, the recorders!" and, when the players brought them he offered one to Guildenstern, who protested that he could not play it, whereupon we have Hamlet saying, "'Tis as easy as lying; govern these ventages with your fingers and thumb, give it breath with your mouth, and it will discourse most eloquent music."

It is, no doubt, the easiness of playing, together with its cheapness—a well-made descant recorder can be bought for a matter of shillings—as much as the "eloquence" of its music that has brought success to the effort to revive the instrument. Adults have recognized in it a true musical instrument with which they can fulfil their desire to "make music" without the long hours of preliminary practice required by more complicated instruments. Children take to it readily in schools and learn to play together on it in harmony.

It was in 1920 that Arnold Dolmetsch, after years of research, set out to bring about a revival of the soft-voiced recorder, and surely the odds against him were heavy. In that year the trombones were "tearing it" in the various "Rags"; the saxophone then the "Cinderella" instrument of military bands, was soon, after a few sensitive artists had drawn attention to its musical possibilities, to be seized by many less sensitive people and to assault the ears of the world in batteries; novelty instruments of all kinds, designed to add to the cacophony in dance halls and hotels, were to appear and to be pushed by the strong commerical interests backing them. Small wonder that to a class of students of Elizabethan literature in 1932 a recorder still seemed no more than a museum piece having only interest relevant to the subject being discussed.

❖ ❖ ❖

MUCH has happened since the evening when our tutor played his recorder for us. The room itself in which that gentle voice was raised no longer exists, for the agents of a voice that had ranted and screamed itself into power in Europe succeeded one night in levelling the building. But it is the frenzied voice that is now silent, while the recorder is heard in ever-increasing numbers throughout the land. It is said that one London music shop often sells as many as 200 to 300 in a day. Serious composers are once more writing for it, while leading music publishers are reprinting pieces for it by masters of chamber music of the past. Classes are being held in adult educational institutes, and the Society of Recorder Players, now 12 years old, sponsors yearly festivals in which hundreds of school children take part. From right back in those days when "one of them played vpon a Lute, another on a Harpe, another made a maruellous sweet counterten-our vpon a Recorder" that soft voice, though for a long time dormant, has survived to win men once more by its quiet eloquence.

Perhaps we can take it as an omen as we hear the many loud voices that are raised in the world today.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Behold, I have taught you statues and judgments, even as the Lord my God commanded me, that ye should do so in the land whither ye go to possess it. . . . For what nation is there so great, who hath God so high unto them, as the Lord our God is in all things that we call upon him for? . . .

Did ever people hear the voice of God speaking out of the midst of the fire, as thou hast heard, and live? Or hath God assayed to go and take him a nation from the midst of another nation, by temptations, by signs, and by wonders, and by war, and by a mighty hand, and by a stretched out arm, and by great terrors, according to all that the Lord your God did for you in Egypt before your eyes?

Unto thee it was shewed, that thou mightest know that the Lord he is God; there is none else beside him. . . . Know therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart that the Lord he is God in heaven above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none else. (Deut. 4: 5, 7, 33-35, 39.)

❖ ❖ ❖

When the Most High divided to the nations their inheritance, when he separated the sons of Adam, he set the bounds of the people according to the number of the children of Israel. For the Lord's portion is his people; Jacob is the lot of his inheritance. . . .

As an eagle stirreth up her nest, fluttereth over her young, spreadeth abroad her wings, taketh them, beareth them on her wings: so the Lord alone did lead him, and there was no strange god with him. (Deut. 32: 8, 9, 11, 12.)

Minor Leagues Reject Bonus Repeal

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP) — Despite major league opposition, the controversial bonus rule will remain a part of organized baseball law.

The minor loops, in a country-wide ballot, decreed today the rule should be retained. The majors, at their recent meeting, voted repeal of the much debated regulation, but today's action by the minors nullified the major loop decision.

George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, said at Columbus, O., 25 of the minor loops voted to retain the bonus set-up, while 33 leagues opposed it and one passed its vote.

Three-fourths of the 59 minor leagues had to oppose the bonus to oust the rule from the books.

The minors, which turned thumbs down on repeal of the controversial law at their annual meeting in Baltimore last Dec. 8, participated in a mail vote upon the request of the majors.

The majors, with Commissioner A. B. Chandler casting the deciding vote, decided to junk the bonus rule at their annual meeting in New York, Dec. 14.

The repeal proposal had a 32-26 edge with one league passing at the Baltimore vote, but it failed because it could not get the three-quarters vote required to adopt the bonus repeal amendment. It fell 13 votes short.

The bonus rule severely restricts movement of players paid more than a pre-determined scale for signing contracts. Any free agent paid more than $6,000 by a major league, class-AAA or class-AA team, more than $4,500 by a class-A team or more than $3,000 by any other team is permanently tagged a "bonus player."

Such a bonus player cannot be farmed out unless nobody claims him for the waiver price which varies from $10,000 in the majors to $100 in class D. If he remains in the minors, he is subject to unrestricted draft.

Both the majors and the minors must concur in order to repeal the bonus rule.

RETIRES FROM RACING — Mrs. Harry Giddings of Oakville, one of three women licensed as racehorse trainers by the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association, has retired because of ill health. She has sold the breeding farm she managed after the death of her owner-trainer husband last year. Mrs. Giddings is shown here with Jockey J. Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Col. George Machum, president of the British Empire Games Association of Canada, said Thursday night at Montreal that Canada has made its bid for the 1954 games but so far only Toronto and Hamilton have shown interest in staging the athletic spectacle.

Col. Machum said 1954 "will probably be considered our turn."

The application from the Canadian Association is now en route to Auckland, New Zealand, scene next month of the 1950 games. A meeting of federation officials in Auckland is exepcted to decide on the 1954 venue.

"So far I have had no indication that other countries are asking for the games," said Col. Machum. "Usually the major nations of the Empire, except South Africa, hold the games in rotation. South Africa has never asked for them."

Canada'c visiting curlers swung into high gear Thursday, defeating Scottish teams by a total of 68 shots in exhibition matches played at Dunfermline and Perth.

The Canadian B team easily defeated the Dunfermline Curling Club by 37 shots, 136 to 99.

The A team wound up a four-day series of matches in Perth with a 31-shot victory over Perth Province. The score was 142 to 111.

Today the B team moves into Perth for a three-day series, while the A squad goes to Dundee for matches today and Saturday.

Biggest upset in Thursday's play came at Perth when a rink from the Perth ladies curling club defeated a Manitoba foursome by two shots, 9-7.

Professional skating certainly is different from amateur, says Barbara Ann Scott.

Ottawas former world amateur skating queen, who has been touring Canada with an ice show, said at Hamilton Thursday the actual skating is easier. But as for costumes!

"Why, I wear things now that I wouldn't have dared to wear as an amateur," she said. "Now I wear some feathery things and I even have to shimmy. There certainly is a difference."

Don Kolloway, the Detroit Tigers' infield handy-man, signed his 1950 contract Thursday. General manager Billy Evans said that Kolloway was given a "bonus" for his play last season, when he hit .292 in his first year with the Tigers, and also received "a raise" in salary.

Roy Conacher slammed home three goals Thursday night to lead Chicago Black Hawks to a 6-2 victory over the Kansas City Mohawks in a charity benefit exhibition game at Denver. The contest between the National League Chicago team and its United States Hockey League farm club drew 4,827 fans who paid $12,974.

Night harness race meetings, starting July 2, are planned on a five-year lease at Thorncliffe race track, it was learned at Toronto Thursday.

Ray Scarborough, Washington Nationals' top pitcher last year, Thursday became the clubs first 1950 holdout as he rejected a new contract calling for a pay cut. The big right-hander made about $17,000 last season when he compiled a record of 13 victories against 11 losses for the Senators who finished a poor eighth in the American League.

Maxie Males, Toronto bantamweight, gained a unanimous decision over Kid St. Louis, of London, in the five-round headliner of a chicken coop A.C. boxing program at London, Ont., Thursday night.

In another five-rounder at 135 pounds, Curly Moulton, of London, decisioned Joey Peters, of Barrie.

Feller Not Worried

VAN METER, Ia., Jan. 13 (AP) —Bob Feller, Cleveland Indians' veteran right-hander, says he expects no salary difficulties this year. "O course, I dont expect a raise," Bob said. "And about the pay cut, well, that will be discussed when I return to Cleveland the first of next week." Feller, 31, received $70,000 last season. He won 15 games and lost 14.

Keep Robertson Trophy

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP)—Mrs. L. E. Woolley's Toronto Granite Rink Thursday successfully defended the Robertson Trophy in the Granite Club's 19th annual international invitation women's bonspiel. In the final for the Robertson, Mrs. Woolley's four defeated Mrs. D. A. MacKenzie's Toronto High Park rink by 21-14.

Appointed Supervisor

HALIFAX, Jan. 13 (CP)—A. R. Kemp of Forest, has been named supervisor of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's national farm broadcast service and A. K. Morrow of Charlottetown has been named assistant supervisor, it was learned Thursday night.

Unions Sign At Asbestos

MONTREAL, Jan. 13 (CP) — Jean Marchand, secretary of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, announced Thursday night the asbestos workers syndicates have signed collective agreements with two Thetford mines companies for 1949 and 1950.

The companies involved are the Asbestos Corporation and the Johnson Mines. A third company, Flintkote Mines, will also sign a collective agreement with the syndicates as soon as contracts are drawn up, Mr. Marchand said.

The collective agreement for 1949 gives the workers a 10-cents an-hour wage boost retroactive to Jan. 1, 1949.

Believe 2 Cultures Important To Canada

QUEBEC, Jan. 13 (CP) — The Canadian Association of French Educators Thursday told the Royal Commission on Arts, Letters and Science the federal government should proclaim that Canada's most important riches are its two cultures, French and English, and should encourage the preservation of both through contacts and exchanges of ideas.

The association, founded by the committee for French survival at its annual convention in Ottawa in 1947, said he governmen should favor factors which can give a purely Canadian character to the two cultures and neutralize as much as possible "harmful foreign influences."

Lindsay Takes Trophy

LINDSAY, Jan. 13—A Lindsay rink skipped by Graydon King won the E. D. Fee Trophy and the first prizes in the 19th annual district bonspiel here Thursday. King won three games with 33 points and a plus of 4; 2, Dr. Clarke, Peterborough, 3, 31 and 2; 3, W. Mark, Bobcaygeon, 3 and 27 points; 4, E. N. Gregory, Lindsay, 2 wins, 30 and 6 points; 5, Allan Newman, Woodville, 1 win and 27 points.

Lumber Mill Burns

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 13 (CP)—A major fire Thursday night with a sawdust pile as its core levelled the $500,000 main mill of the Lions Gate Lumber Company. Two hours after it started, 150-foot tongues of flame still shot up into the cold Thursday night, illuminating the area for miles around.

Sell Actor's Car If Bill Not Paid

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP) — If Ned Sparks, dead-pan Hollywood movie comedian, wants back his 1934 custom-built, three-ton sedan, he had better speak up before Jan. 24.

That's the day a Bay Street garage has set for the car's sale at public auction for alleged non-payment of $300 in storage fees over a period of months.

Sparks, born in St. Thomas, stored the car here in 1940 and returned to California after performing on a radio show for the Ontario government.

For years, payment of storage fees turned up regularly. But for months now the garage claim they have been unable to locate him, nor have they heard from him

Grove Beats May's

Grove defeated May's 8-3 in a junior School Hockey League tussle to open their schedule. Hotston stood out for the winners with three goals, Chambo and Greeniss going well for May's They both dished up a neat tussle and there was plenty of excitement all through. Teams:

May's—M. McFadden, Orgill, G. McFadden, McGrath, Chambo, Shaw, Burns, J. McFadden, Greeniss.

Grove—Davey, Hotston, Bailey, Gardner, Linsey, Little, Duncan B. Copping, Wood, Heard, Keene, J. Copping, Saunders, Hargreaves

Referee—A. Hill.

Patrick Cautious of Team Says Red Wings Win Title

By JIM BASTABLE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Coach Lynn Patrick sizes up his New York Rangers this way: "We're just not a high scoring team."

High scoring or not, it hasn't hampered the Rangers too much in their National Hockey League campaign thus far. They're now in second place, eight points behind the leading Detroit Red Wings.

The 38-year-old pilot commented on the New Yorkers' progress by calling the tough Red Wings to win the league title for the second time, and predicted the Rangers would wind up in third place — behind Toronto Maple Leafs.

There's something to his prediction. The Rangers have only counted 79 goals in 37 games and have had 82 scored against them. The Red Wings have tallied 121 goals in the same number of games and have had 82 scored against them.

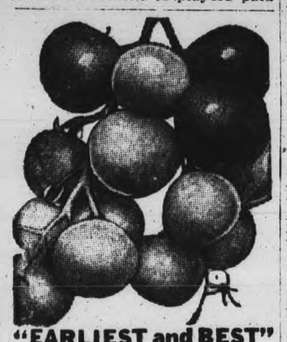
If the Patrick reasoning is right the Rangers are in for a tough week-end. They meet the Red Wings in two week-end games

Says Patrick:

"You don't think a team such as the Red Wings can lose five in a row, do you? I can't be that optimistic." The Red Wings have dropped their last three starts.

But there may be a few lifted eyebrows over the second Patrick prophecy—that the fifth place Maple Leafs will beat out his Blueshirts for second money.

True, it came on the heels of a 2-1 Toronto victory over the Rangers, who boast only one victory over the Stanley Cup champions this season. But that left Toronto five points behind the New Yorkers, who have two games in hand.



The return of injured Captain Ted Kennedy to his centre ice spot pulled the Leafs out of a lengthy losing streak. The signing of Johnny McCormack helped too—the 24-year-old Edmonton born, centre from the amateur Toronto Marlboros looked terrific in a three game trial.

Shake Off Jinx

The Red Wings, too, are shaking off an injury jinx as they welcome back regular goalie Harry Lumley eight days after he sprained his ankle in an exhibition game. A practice session today will decide whether he's ready to face the Rangers on Saturday.

The Leafs have only game this week-end. They meet Boston Bruins at Toronto Saturday. In two other games, Chicago Black Hawks clash with Montreal Canadiens at Montreal Saturday and then play the Bruins at Boston Sunday.

OPPORTUNITY!

We are looking for a man who is determined to make a success of his life. He has confidence in his own ability regardless of whether he has had sales experience or not. He is friendly, honest, is well liked in his community and he is willing to work hard — provided he can secure financial independence for himself and his family. He has seen others build up a successful business of their own and he is convinced that what others have done — he can do!.. Our company, over twenty years in existence, is now in a position to offer such a man an opportunity to establish himself in a pleasant and profitable business which is fully guaranteed to ride through any so-called depression. Send full details of background, experience, if any, etc., to Box 391. We will respect your confidence.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"

Skiing's standout moment!

In 1933, against all odds, a Canadian ski team blazed to Alpine victory!

Gusts of snow swirled around the mountains at St. Moritz, Switzerland. It was the day of the relay race in the International University Ski Championships. And for the first time Canada was competing . . . racing against many of western Europe's finest skiers.

The unfamiliar Alpine snow took its toll of the Canadians. The fourth-lap skier lagged eight minutes behind the leading Italian teams . . . and faced a steep 1,800-foot climb. But at the storm-blown summit amazed officials saw him sweep in—only 30 seconds behind the leaders. With half a minute to make up, the fifth Canadian streaked into the last lap—a 3,000-foot plunge into the valley. He flashed past the favourites one by one . . . and crossed the line a winner by 45 seconds!

Good sportsmanship has won many world friends for Canada . . . just as the spirit of working together has made us one of the world's great nations. These two, sportsmanship and enterprise, keep your opportunities for work and play in Canada . . . unlimited.

The Canadian Ski Championships, together with events of the North American and International University Championships will be held this year at Banff from Feb. 4 to March 5.

Yukon Eric Loses Main Go To Rough Aussie Champion

Huge Yukon Eric lost the deciding fall of the main mat bout at the Brock last night while on his feet, and Fred Atkins won it on his writhing back. As the biggest grapple crowd of the season stormed angrily at Referee Bunny Dunlop, who called it according to what wrestling rules are left. It was a sizzling three-bout card, with Pat Flanagan taking the semi-final over Wee Willie Davis, and the prelim ending in a time limit draw between Toar Morgan and Joe Christie.

COMEBACKER—Ben Hogan, playing his first golf tournament since his almost-fatal accident 11 months ago, checks his scorecard after 72 holes of the Los Angeles Open at Santa Monica, Calif. At the end of the regulation 72, Hogan and Sammy Snead were tied for first with 280. A play-off is slated next week.

Fred Atkins, weighing 255, took the first fall of the main go in 12 minutes when Eric, bumped the beam at 276, was counted out of the ring. Atkins pulled him out, rasped his eyes and slammed a few hard blows into his face—cutting his cheek. Eric staggered into the crowd and couldn't make it back into the rink in time. Up to that point, the Alaskan with the 56-inch chest and beam-like arms just shed all the punishment the angry Aussie champ handed out. He was a colorful character, going in with mackinaw, lumberjack and dungarees, and wearing only the latter during the bout as he padded powerfully about in bare feet. The crowd really went for him in a big way.

Evened It Up

The ex-Lumberjack won the equalizing fall in just six minutes when the referee halted proceedings to save Atkins further punishment. The latter had started it off rough again and had Dunlop busy yanking him off, but Eric broke full nelsons like powder puffs and followed Fred around till he caught up with him, using several one-armed slams to soften him and then hoisting Atkins casually to his shoulders. On Eric's shoulders, the Alaskan bumped Fred up and down several times in a new kind of back-breaker till the referee stopped it and Fred fell. The fans cheered heartily.

Not Popular

The final fall came in eight and a half minutes, and it was most unpopular. Again Atkins tried to rough it but found his boring-in and clean-scrapping opponent too strong for him. The wily Aussie, after being yanked back over the ropes, pushed Eric through the hemp and kept pounding him as he tried to return. Despite valiant efforts of the referee, Fred kept Eric out till the latter reached through and clutched him savagely in a terrific bear-hug. Atkins started to wilt and the referee began to count. But Atkins was on his feet—held there by Eric, and staggering—while Yukon was outside when the count finished. So the referee awarded it to Atkins, who collapsed writhing as soon as Eric let him loose. The latter was rather indignant when advised that he had lost.

Pat Got It

Replacing Bell—who was hurt in Syracuse—Pat Flanagan, only 227, managed to beat 275-pound Wee Willie Davis in 14 minutes of the semi-final when Willie was disqualified by a groggy referee. Bun Dunlop was cuffed about plenty, generally accidentally, in this one and he eventually got the idea that Davis (who played it rough all through) was responsible. So, Dunlop finally took one clout to the jaw too often and he staggered up and awarded the go to popular Pat. Up to then, Flan was fast and clever, while huge Willie played it in villainous fashion in a red-hot struggle which kept the fans yelling, and they were happy at the finish.

Toar Morgan, scaling 225, and 228-pound Joe Christie dished up a dandy prelim which went the limit to a draw, though Toar looked to have Christie down for a popular fall at the bell. They were hustling all the way, with Joe only ahead with dirty work and using tape on his wrist, while Toar showed a lot of stuff to actually have earned it on points. He looked his old self and was popular, and should have won the scrap.

Dodgers Hit Much Better Out Of Town

By JACK HAND.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 13 (AP) — Allan Roth, an obliging fellow with a slide rule mind, pops up with figures showing why Brooklyn was a superior road club in 1949.

Roth, who used to keep tab on Dick Irvin's Montreal hockey players, discloses that eight of the 14 Dodger "regulars"—those with at least 100 at bat—hit better away than at Ebbets Field As a club, the Dodgers batting average was .274 on the road, .267 at home.

Jackie Robinson, Carl Furillo, Duke Snider, Gil Hodges, Eddie Miksis, Mike McCormick, Bruce Edwards and Marv Rackley thrived out of town. Gene Hermanski, Roy Campanella, Pee Wee Reese, Spider Jorgensen, Billy Cox and Luis Olmo liked the home cooking.

The home run figures are interesting as a contrast. Ebbets Field fans saw 86 Brooklyn homers to 66 away. Campanella, Hodges and Furillo, all right handed hitters, did their best long distance sluging at home.

Tough On Lefties

The right field wall, topped by a screen, makes Ebbets Field tough on left handed home run hitters. Snider, for instance, hit 15 away and eight at home Some folks think this promising young centre fielder may become one of the game's greatest stars.

Robinson and Reese scattered their shots. Each hit 16 homers, evenly divided between home and away. Cox never did hit one on the road but smashed eight into the seats in Flatbush.

Robinson, league batting champ at .342, was tops on the road. Jackie did especially well in the west. He hit .690 against Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, and Pittsburgh in their own parks.

Just for the records, the Dodgers had a .363 winning percentage away and .623 at home Actually the difference was only one game—49-28 away, 48-29 home.

King Edward Wins

King Edward blanked Central in an intermediate School Hockey League game by an 11-0 score at Civic Arena. Sutherland counted four goals in a fine showing for the winners while Curtis, Beggs and Keeting each got two, Rusaw netting one. Teams:

King Edward—Halcrow, Keeting, Rowe, Rusaw, Sutherland, Beggs, Hunt, Stevens, Curtis, Gills, Saunders, MacArthur, Simmons, Fisher.

Central—J. Lustic, Smith, Stirling, McInnis, Kelly, Lloyd, McInroy, Tranter, Naish, Dinsdale, D. Lustic, Dunford.

Referee, H. Wilson.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Hoop fans have lots to whoop about here this week-end, with a raft of games on three different floors. Girls go tonight in the YW with Nurses seniors playing Normals at 8.15, followed by CGE vs. Black's. Three COSSA boys' group games this e'en at the Collegiate gym, Port Hope opening at 6.30 in junior "B", followed by Cobourg in junior "A", and then Cobourg seniors, all playing PCVS squads. SPS teams are away tonight. Tomorrow p.m. at seven in the YMCA, a City Cage Loop prelim, folowed by Hamilton Strands against the Outboard Mariners, who play exhibitions while awaiting an OABA playdown bye. You pay your money and take your choice.

* * * * * *

Friday night puck followers will be out in force, no doubt, to see Gananoque tackle the Petes in an OHA senior "B" fixture at 8.30 in Civic Arena. The Gans beat the Petes last start here and this one tonight should be a humdinger all the way. Both clubs are win-hungry (no "e" on the end of that win, please, Mr. Printer) and the pace should be sizzling ere the end. We rather look for a victory for the Foley flock, but they'll have to play hurry-up hockey every minute. A triumph will do the Petes a lot of good as the schedule rolls along. Belleville and Kingston are fighting it out bitterly for second place, with Legion (in Belleville tonight) holding down top spot.

* * * * * *

An Added Starter, Eh?

We're told that interest in a proposed skating race by OHA senior "B" puckists here is mounting. We suggested one betwixt Bill Crowley of Legion and Murray Fife of the Petes before the next Petes-Legion game. Johnny Russelle followed with an offer of $15 to the winner, provided Joe Blewett was added — Johnny liking Blewett. Now word comes that Spiros Zakos would go for another $15 if Bill McMasters' name is added, on account of he likes large William's chances. Okay, anyone else got any ideas? Something interesting might come of this yet, though a limit should be set on the number in the race. All depends, of course, on these players being willing to enter such a race.

* * * * * *

And just after mentioning Arn Dugan the other day and how he was going well in that senior "B" intermediate puck circuit with Detroit Hettche, we note a clipping on a 7-5 Hettche win o'er Sarnia Sailors. One line says: "Second Hettche goal went to Arnold Dugan. It was the slickest solo operation of the night. Dugan shifted three Sarnia players, including Goalie Ken Johnson, right out of their underwear. Dugan starred as did Joss and Anderson." Nice going, Arn, old boy, but shouldn't you return their underwear as there's a lot of winter ahead, yet?

* * * * * *

The Old Master Panter

Colorful Conny Smythe hit the New York sports headlines again the other day when he threatened to withdraw his senior "A" Marlboros from the OHA if the OHA didn't soon announce definite word on the senior "A" playoff plans. Assistant secretary George Panter, deciding against the Retort Courteous, remarked learnedly that Smythe's threat reminded him of a quote in Julius Caesar by Shakespeare. He quoted: "There is no terror, Cassius, in your idle threats. They pass by me as the idle wind which I respect not." A fitting reply, though Conny may run for his five-foot shelf of books and then query Panter as to the ultimate fate of J. Caesar. However, they don't bluff the old master Panter from the faraway hill, as Ted Reeve calls him.

* * * * * *

Those pro grapplers are always amazing you. Last eve at the Brock we saw the most powerful-looking man we ever lamped. Some of you tough loggers around the district should see this guy! He's about six feet tall, scales 276, has a 56-inch chest, arms like beams and not much middle. A young guy. We're not too stupid, and we know that Fred Atkins (who is plenty tough, too, at 255 pounds) is twice the wrestler that Yukon Eric is, but the latter is so strong with that pouter-pigeon porch—it's well above the waist, too—that it's no wonder he is the big drawing card in Rochester, Buffalo, Toronto, etc. A new mat hero. Hope he comes back soon, mackinaw, dungarees, boots and chest. Other two bouts were okay, also, in a lively show before the best crowd of the season.

Tallest Player To Show In Cage Tussle

Canada's tallest basketball player will be seen in action against the Outboard Mariners in the YMCA gym Saturday night as they play the Hamilton Strands Harry Skelton would fit into any college or professional team in the United States just for his height alone. He is seven feet, three inches tall.

Tom Casey, colored football star with the Hamilton Wildcats has lined up with the classy Hamilton crew who are making their fifth appearance here. Doug Brand L. the leading scorer of the Strands, averaging 16 points a game so far this season. Others with the squad are Stew Bard, Bert Carrigan, Sam Hunter, George McKay and Ron Weston.

Revive Loop

The City Basketball League opens after a lapse of four years in the preliminary game which starts at seven. Just recently the four-team loop was organized from players in the fall YMCA Basketball House League. The first game will see Bill Trimm's crew tangle with Doug MacPherson's squad while the second game will be Wednesday night when Clapper's, captained by Al Stewart, will meet Gord Burns' five. Sponsors are still needed for the other three teams.

Four years ago Herb Payne's sponsored team took the city championship. Three of that squad, Ed Nicholls, Chum Gillespie and Gord Burns, are out with the Outboards. Others on the squad were steve Csumrik Bill Jones, Ray Routley, Bill Turner and Jack Craig.

Lineups of the teams are:

Bill Trimm—Hugh Dibben, Bill Thompson, Harold Grafstein Carl Sargeant, Al Northcott Neil Thompson.

Al Stewart (Clapper's) — Vic Griffin, Ed Smith, Ted Payne Bill Dadson, Al Menzies, Tom Taylor, Ted Evans.

Doug MacPherson—Joe Stewart Errol Hanbidge, Bill Moorhead Barney Dundas, Doug Plunkett Jim Thorburn, Bryon Young.

Gord Burns—Chum Gillespie, Bob Green, Bill Edger, Darrell Ackford, Ed Nicholls, Warren Smith Elder Marvin Anderson Al McIlraith.

Lakefield Captures Bush Loop Opener

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 13 (ENS) — Lakefield beat Young's Point 13-2 here last night, as Buckhorn defeated Nepheline Mines 7-1 to open the Bush Hockey League in two wide open tussles. Calberry, Freeburn and Chittick each scored two in the first, with Knox and Patterson getting one apiece for Lakefield, Heard aiding on a pair for the point and Chittick and Patterson on one each for the home club. Wannamaker tallied the only one in the second, while Patterson counted twice and helped on another in the third. Calberry scoring two, and Hamblin and Wannamaker one each. The teams:

Young's Point—Goal, B. McNaughton; defence, Nicholson and Heinz; centre, J. Hogarth; wings, Tedford and S. McNaughton; alternates, Bullock, Coons, Freeburn, Ellis, Heard, Dunford, H. Hogarth and York.

Lakefield—Goal, Huddlestone; defence, Montgomery and Hamblin; centre, Patterson; wings, Calberry and Knox; alternates, Millage, Chittick, Twist and Wannamaker.

Hastings Triumphs

HASTINGS, Jan. 13 (ENS)—In the first game of the OHMA juvenile series, Hastings defeated Lakefield 8-5 before a good crowd. Play was fast, and tempers flared till the blow-up came, with six minutes to go in the third when Morrow and McCracken were the cause of a general flare-up and were banished for five minutes apiece. Both teams seemed evenly matched and promise some real action before the series are finished.

In the first frame, Laver and Morrow got two each for Hastings and D. Fairman one, an assist each going to Stevenson, Forde, McMillan, Morrow, Lockhart and Wartman. Wilfred and Sloan counted for Lakefield, Twist helping on one. McMillan and Morrow tallied for the homesters in the second, Stevenson helping once, while Twist scored from McCracken for Lakefield, and Heffernan from Calberry. D. Sloan counted on J. Sloan's pass in the third for the visitors and Laver ended the scoring.

Lakefield—Goal, Gordon Blake; defence, Bell, Geraldi, Dave Montgomery; centre, Dick McCracken; wings, Douglas, Calberry, Keven, Heffernan; alternates, Jim Sloan, Gord Coyle, Eugene Sabatino, Bill Twist, Delmer Sloan, Derry Wilfred, Gerald Burger.

Hastings—Goal, Archie West; defence, Bob Chambers, Jack Fairman; centre, Jim Morrow; wings, Panul Stevenson, Ken Forde; alternates, D. Forde, Alex McMillan, Ron Lockhart, Don Fairman, Ronald Isaac, Wayne Wartman, Murray Laver.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

Congratulations to Thomas Ryan's rink. They came through with 10 wins and three losses to win the No. 2 Group of the first schedule. And furthermore, congratulations to every rink in Group 2. Girl Golfer, 15 Voted U.S. Athlete Of Year

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—(AP)—Marlene Bauer, the 15-year-old Los Angeles girl who amazed the golfing world with a string of brilliant victories last summer, has been voted the United States' female athlete-of-the-year in the annual Associated Press poll.

Sports writers and sportscasters gave the sensational young coast star 17 first place votes and a total of 73 points, compared to 13 first and 58 points for her closest rival, Louis Suggs, of Atlanta, the U.S. ladies' professional golf champion.

Babe Didrikson Zaharias, still another golfer, placed third with 48 points.

YMCA Bowling Loop Commercials Leading

Commercials kept atop the heap in the YMCA senior men's bowling league standing this week by beating Artists 4-2 and rolling high pinnage of 3149 as Tip Tops led in singles with 1115 in losing 4-2 to B'nai B'rith. Quakers won 4-2 from Packers, while Aberdeens swept it all against Jaybees. Ray Bennett Jr. led individuals with 774 (323) while A. Black hit 718 (291) and M. Doris had a 717 triple. Standing to date: Commercials 50, Artists 48, Aberdeens 46, Quakers 42, CPC 35, B'nai B'rith 33, Tip Tops 32 and Jaybees 28.

Play was close enough in the YM lasses' league with all wins by two points, Aces, Lucky Strikes, Corvettes and Commandos defeating Tigers, Glengarrys, Bombers and Hurricanes. Toots Hewitt had high three of 658, followed by Addie Jackson with 648, Dot Woods 639, Gladys Pinch 635, M. Menzies 623, Ag Anderson 621 and E. Stanbury 618. Ethel Stanbury led in single efforts with a neat 313, May Johnson hitting 267, Helen Reid 262, G. Pinch and D. Woods 241. Lucky Strikes had best single with a 1009 count

Bobolinks blanked Eagles 4-0 in the Kawartha girls' circuit. Majorettes beating Wrens 3-1 and Rookies taking Easy Aces 3-1. Majorettes rolled high pinnage of 2595 and best single of 1035. Helen Ball took down individual honors with a 658 threesome and leading single of 248.

Chicago Cubs Buy Newark Franchise

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP)—Chicago Cubs Thursday acquired a second triple-A farm club, purchasing the Newark (N. J.) International League franchise and shifting it 120 miles northeast to Springfield, Mass.

Marking the first franchise switch in the top minor league strata in a dozen years, the Springfield entry will give the clubs a triple A-A running mate to their Los Angeles club in the Pacific Coast League.

The Newark franchise was acquired from New York Yankees after the Bears suffered painfully in attendance decline The Yankees still have a triple-A farm club in Kansas City of the American Association.

Providence Bows To Indianapolis 7-5

By The Canadian Press.

Providence Reds and Springfield Indians, deadlocked for second place, Thursday night muffed their chance of taking over leadership in the eastern division of the American Hockey League.

The idle Buffalo Bisons still head the section by a single point, the result of Providence's 7-5 loss to Indianapolis Capitals and Hershey's 5-1 victory over the Indians.

Cellar tenants in the western section. Cincinnati Mohawks came through with their second win of the week, downing New Haven Ramblers 3-1. Winger Giles Dube scored what proved to be the winning goal and Jimmy Moore put the game on ice.

Gordon Holdout

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 13 (AP)—Joe Gordon, Cleveland Indians' second baseman, intimated today that he is a holdout. He said he had received his 1950 contract offer from Cleveland and was "disappointed." He indicated he would not sign. He said he was offered $30,000.

Jury Requests Police Make Further Inquiry

BRAMPTON, Jan. 13 (CP) — Investigation of the death of Margaret Robertson, 21-year-old co-ed of the University of Western Ontario, is being turned over to the Provincial Police.

A coroner's jury, resuming the inquest which started last December, returned an open verdict Thursday night and recommended further investigation by the Crown because of the "conflicting evidence" of witnesses.

Miss Robertson died Nov. 20 as she was being admitted to the General Hospital in this town 20 miles northwest of Toronto. Evidence at previous hearings was that death was due to an illegal operation.

Two men witnesses at the resumed inquest were David Flannery and Elmer C. Weaver, salesman and sales executive respectively of a firm at Fergus, who had been mentioned in earlier evidence. Thursday they told of various interviews with the girl and claimed that she had threatened to "smear" their names.

Denies Responsibility

Flannery denied emphatically that he was responsible for the condition of the girl, who was five months pregnant when she died. Weaver testified that Flannery had asked him to act as a negotiator with Miss Robertson.

John Gross, Toronto brewery salesman who drove the dying girl to hospital, testified that he never had sexual relations with Miss Robertson.

Both Flannery and Gross admitted knowing the girl, but testified they had been nothing more than good friends.

"I don't want to marry him; I want money," the girl was quoted as telling Weaver when he suggested that she marry Flannery. Flannery said the girl had mentioned $250 or $300 which she wanted from him.

Flannery said that Miss Robertson told him she was pregnant and that she added: "You're it, mister. If you don't help me, I'll be forced to go to your employer."

Weaver said that after Flannery had asked him to act as a go-between the girl had accepted $300 from him at a meeting in a Toronto hotel Nov. 4, when she signed a statement releasing Flannery from any responsibility.

Demands More Money

"Then she said she wanted another $200, or both of us were going to get smeared,' Weaver testified. "I'm afraid what I said to her next wasn't very complimentary. She started to scream and I told her to get out of the room, and pushed her to the door. I left the room right afterward. I saw her going down the corridor with a bellhop."

Cecil Goodman, hotel bellboy, testified he heard a woman screeching in room 479 and on investigating noticed a woman coming out in a distressed condition. She asked him to get her some coffee and when he returned a man who said he was the woman's lawyer was with her.

Asked if he could identify the man, Goodman said he didn't know. As he left the witness box Goodman almost bumped into Gross, who had just arrived for the hearing. Recalled to the stand, Goodman identified Gross as the man in the room.

BELATE DALLY

The Soviet Union declared war on Japan on Aug. 8, 1945, seven days before VJ Day.

UNCONCERNED OVER SHOOTING — Harold Ward, 32, doesn't appear to be worrying about the murder charge he faces after a wild shooting spree in a Mendon, Mass., bar. The Mendon police chief and a woman patron were killed during a hold-up police say Ward was committing. The chief, Matthew Mantoni, wounded Ward just before he fell dead. Ward is in a Milford, Mass., hospital.

Rev. W Tonge Inducted At Lakefield Church

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 13 (ENS)— The Rev. W. Tonge was inducted minister of Lakefield United Church on Wednesday. The induction ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon, of Trinity United Church, Peterborough.

Rev. E. E. Pugsley, of Norwood, emphasized the fact that the church was not just a building, or just for any particular group, but that it was for the spreading of the Gospel. Before the church was a living church it must have the Holy Spirit in its midst.

Rev. B. S. Morwood, of Mark St. United Church, Peterborough, told the new minister that often a congregation calls a minister to do certain things, but the minister must not always do as the congregation wishes, or as he himself wishes, but must do the things Christ demands that he should do.

"The social life in any church," said the Rev. Morwood, "is very necessary, but must be kept in its place. Unless the minister keeps on guard, he is apt to forget the essential portion of his work—the preaching of the Gospel."

Music At Service

Mrs. J. Hull sang "I shall not pass this way again," and the choir rendered an anthem. The choir was under the leadership of Mr. D. Landry with John David Grylls at the organ.

Mr. and Mrs. Tonge received at a reception in the church basement after the service. The young adult group served refreshments with Mrs. Ray Jackman as convener and a committee of Mrs. George Tanner, Mrs. C. Caldwell and Mrs. A. Graham.

Mrs. Herbert Brown, Mrs. Charles Tanner and Mrs. W. Milburn, members of the Session, poured tea.

Mrs. Hilliard McCracken, Mrs. Percy Darling and Mrs. E. Rath, members of the Women's Association, and Mrs. Roy Brown and Mrs. Herb. Kemp, members of the WMS, assisted in the kitchen.

James Burns Spencer Dies Very Suddenly

OTTAWA, Jan. 13— (CP). — James Burns Spencer, 84, member of the Federal District Commission and former director of publicit yin the Dominion Agriculture Department, died suddenly at the home of a friend Thursday night. A native of Brooklin, Ont., he graduated from the Ontario Agricultural College in 1894 and later was associate editor of the London, Ont., Farmer's Advocate.

Butter Subsidy Dairymen's Goal

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 13 (CP)— A resolution urging that the Dominion government continue the present 58 cent floor price for butter after March 31 will be put before the Western Ontario Dairymen's Association today. Creamery operators voted solidly for such a resolution Thursday, and it was decided to bring it formally before delegates. Support of the Cheesemakers' Association was expected.

Earlier, C. F. Lackner of Toronto suggested establishment of a permanent British market for Canadian cheese by setting aside a quota of the yearly production.

Jailed 14 Years

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 — (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Skeoch, 23, who was convicted of strangling her six-day-old baby daughter last August Thursday was sent to prison for 14 years. Judge Julius Miner, in passing sentence, called the slaying "a merciless killing for personal convenience."

Radio Shows Dead Now Fred Allen Says

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD Jan. 13 (AP) — Fred Allen, a man with high blood pressure and a low regard for Hollywood arrived here in a rainstorm. His comment:

"I thought God was weeping over the state of the movie business."

Allen is here briefly to guest on some radio shows. There is no chance that he will settle in Hollywood, however.

"This is no place for an actor to live," he said. "They come and go too fast. The first time I was out here, Laura la Plante was the rage. The next time it was Harry Landon and so on.

"Everybody lives in somebody else's house. James Mason is living in the house that once belonged to Buster Keaton. Somebody else is living in Marguerite Clark's old house."

Radio Dead

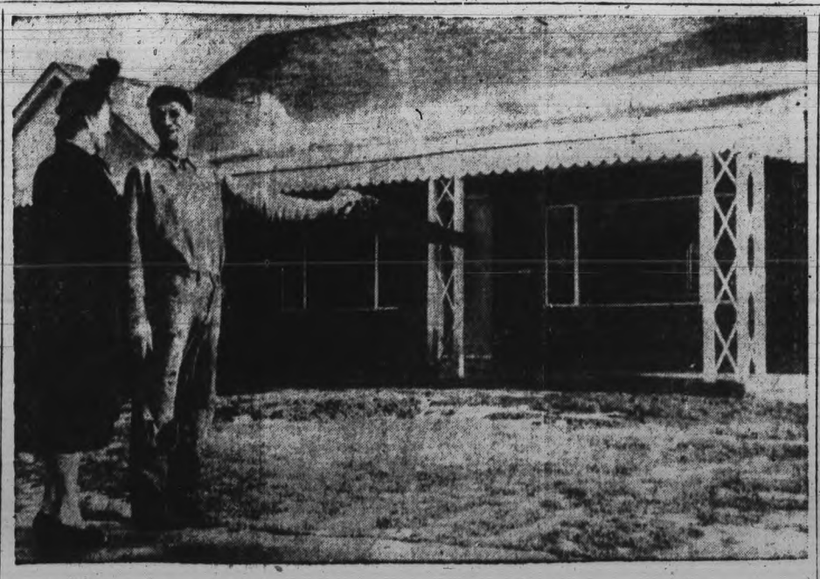
The comedian is off the air this season on doctor's orders. He feels that radio is dead anyway.

"It was doomed from the start," he said. "The networks cared only about selling their time, the advertising agencies about getting their 15-per-cent commission and the sponsors about selling their product. Nobody cared about entertainment."

New Yorkers talk only about television now, he told me.

"Everything is Hopalong Cassidy," he said. "Kids run around in cowboy suits. Even women in the drug stores ride the stools side-saddle."

Allen himself will plunge into TV next fall. NBC has given him free rein for whatever he wants in the new medium. But don't get the idea that he predicts a rosy future for TV.



Indigent Morons

"People sit in one room all evening and peer at a little screen!" He commented. "It won't be long before the art of conversation is dead."

The trouble with TV entertainment, he added, is that "programs are designed in terms of vaudeville, not video. People like Milton Berle playing to a bunch of indigent morons who attend free television shows, not to viewers in the homes."

Find Body In Ice

BLIND RIVER, Ont., Jan. 13 (CP)—The body of an unidentified man was found frozen in the ice of the Blind River Thursday. Workmen who found the body had to chop away the ice before they could free it. An autopsy has been ordered. It is believed the man had been dead several weeks.

HIS BUDDIES PUT THE HEAT ON—Gas heat in the new house he is building cost veteran coal miner Charles Waichekauskas of Collinsville, Ill., his job, but he and his wife look over the new home proudly. Waichekauskas, a miner 37 years, ran into trouble with his union and his fellow workers because the house is heated with gas instead of coal. He was discharged when the other miners refused to work with him.

3 US Secret Service Veterans Will Go Into Retirement

By GEORGE KITCHEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (CP)—Three hardy veterans of the United States Secret Service are about to go into retirement.

They have picturesque names Queen Mary, Queen Elizabeth and Sunshine Special.

They are the three White House limousines, long, shiny convertibles, heavily armored and otherwise unconventionally built.

Now 12 years old, the cars are serving out their last days of presidential use. Though they still have plenty of power under the hood, replacements are on order and are expected any day.

Leased by Manufacturers

These much-travelled cars have gone about 130,000 miles each under their own power. They have been in every state in the union and in a number of foreign countries on their mission of protecting the President.

One was at Yalta for the big three conference and others went to Ottawa for presidential visits.

All three were built in 1938 to specifications supplied by the Secret Service, the "Queens" at a cost of about $20,000 each and the "Special" for about $30,000. They have been leased by the manufacturers for a small annual rental. The Queens are custom-built Lincoln.

The manufacturers went all out on protective devices.

The special has 1¼-inch bullet-proof glass and a rear tonneau windshield which collapses and also is bullet-proof. Motors, hood sides and gasoline tank are heavily armored and the bottom of the car is bomb-proof.

Guns For Emergencies

Each car has two-way short-wave radio to communicate with the White House and Secret Service. There are firearms compartments for emergencies.

The Queens originally had 16-cylinder engines, but they later were converted to eight cylinders to facilitate repair and maintenance. The special has a 12-cylinder engine said to be so powerful that it can be throttled down to three miles an hours without taking the car out of high gear.

President Roosevelt, it is said, was responsible for the naming of the Queens. Out on the road one day he said it was like riding on the liner Queen Mary. From then on, the car was the Queen Mary, her sister car the Queen Elizabeth. The Sunshine Special won its name through many trips through the southern states.

Butter Production Cut

OTTAWA, Jan. 13 (CP) — Creamery butter production fell 1.8 per cent in 1949, the Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday. The year was the first full year during which margarine could be manufactured and sold in Canada. During the year, butter production was 279,409,000 pounds, compared with 284,431,000 in 1948.

Defeated Hold Dance

BETHANY, Jan. 13 (ENS). — Lewis McGill and Addison Scott, unsuccessful candidates in the recent Manvers Township election, held a dance in eBthany Town Hall on Wednesday, in appreciation of the votes of their supporters. Many attended from all parts of the township.

Crashes In Street

EDMONTON, Jan. 13 (CP) — A light plane crashed in a residential street Thursday killing the pilot and passenger. The plane landed upside down on the roadway, less than 50 yards from several houses. Eyewitnesses said the ski-equipped craft, a privately owned Tiger Moth, plunged almost vertically in a spin. When residents reached the tangled wreckage, the occupants were dead.

TB SAFETY

Canada's death rate for tuberculosis in 1948 was 37.1 for every 100,000 persons, compared with 81.7 per 100,000 in 1927.

Warn Full Test Of Hudson Bay Port Facilities

SASKATOON, Jan. 13 (CP) — The Hudson Bay Route Association, promoters of Northern Port Churchill, will press during 1950 for a "full test" of the port's facilities as a shorter route to market western Canadian produce in Great Britain and Europe.

Frank Eliason, president contends the $70,000,000 Federal investment has never been given a fair chance to prove itself. In an interview with The Canadian Press he listed as deterrents to the outlet's development:

1. Hull and cargo insurance rates, which determine the length of the shipping season.
2. The Canadian Wheat Board policy of moving wheat stores from western elevators to the elevator company terminals at Fort William and Port Arthur.
3. Inadequate port facilities which limit the type of cargoes handled.
4. "Division charges" assessed by elevator companies on wheat stored in the Port Churchill government elevator to recoup storage charges lost to their lakehead terminals.

The season now runs from Aug. 5 to Oct. 10—66 days. It is not fixed by statute, but by insurance regulations set by Lloyds of London. Lloyds assess a surcharge on hulls and cargoes using the port outside the prescribed period.

In November of 1949, Graham Spry, Saskatchewan's agent-general in Great Britain, announced the regular insurance rate would be reduced by 25 per cent this year. Thus a ship-owner could enter the port outside the fixed season, accept a 25 per cent surcharge, and still save a little money on his premium.

ALTHOUGH FIREMEN WERE OBLIGED to sound a second alarm to bring more equipment to the scene, a blaze in Montreal recently, was brought under control in less than an hour. Damage was heavy, but no one was hurt.

Discuss Loan For Burmese

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Jan. 13 — (AP). — The question of a loan by members of the British Commonwealth to Burma was discussed Thursday at the commonwealth Foreign Ministers Conference. An informed source said Burma was likely to get a loan, but declared it would be "much less" than the £25,000,000 ($77,500,000) she is reported to be seeking.

Main responsibility for a Burma loan is expected to fall on Britain, India, and Pakistan.

Australia's delegate said his country would consider sympathetically the question of contributing to a Burma loan. New Zealand was reported studying the proposal. South Africa's representative said his country would not participate and L. B. Pearson, Canada's Minister for External Affairs, also indicated that Dominion was not interested.

The conference today issued this communique:

"At the meeting this morning the Commonwealth Foreign Ministers completed their study of the political situation in Southeast Asia. They considered in particular the current position in Indo-China."

Denies Wage Charge

BRANDON, Man., Jan. 13 (CP) An official of Anglo-Canadian Oils Ltd., Thursday night denied a union contention that Brandon was the lowest wage area in Canada. The answer was directed at Alex McAuslane of Ottawa, first vice-president of the Canadian Congress of Labor. Mr. McAuslane told reporters in Winnipeg that wages "particularly in the oil industry," were lower here than anywhere else in the country.

Appeal Granted

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP)—Permission was granted Thursday for a Dunnville, Ont., couple to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada in a child custody case. The couple, seeking to adopt a baby boy born in March, 1948, will appeal against a court ruling which returned the child to the mother after she changed her mind about permitting the adoption.

HALF CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

"HORSE AND BUGGY AGE" was still in its heyday when the 20th Century was new. Some kind of "rig," powered by faithful Dobbin, was still the common way for the family to get about. Few villages, however small, were without a livery stable that rented horses and rigs to those who did not own their own and blacksmithing was a profitable trade. Buggy drivers, liverymen and blacksmiths heard an annoying, popping noise—but they didn't know it sounded their doom. It was the gasoline motor. Pioneers of the auto age—Duryea, Olds, Ford and others—were to revolutionize our way of life. Their autos looked like buggies—were, in fact, "horseless carriages." But Grandpa quickly learned that the new-fangled contraption was just perfect for courtin' Grandma.

300 Delegates At Conference

MONTREAL, Jan. 13 (CP). — Some 300 delegates from across Canada are expected to attend the 16th annual winter conference of the Canadian Electrical Association in Quebec City on January 16 to 18, it was announced Thursday.

Problems dealing with generation, transmission and use of electricity will be discussed at the gathering.

A CEA Resuscitation Medal will be presented by E. D. Gray-Donald of Quebec, CEA president, to Odilon Genois of Shawinigan Falls, Que., for saving the life of a fellow worker at the Shawinigan Water and Power Company last August. Genois revived his co-worker after the latter suffered a severe shock.

Main speakers at the convention will be A. L. Brown of Montreal, president of the Canadian Electrical Manufacturers' Association; Dr. G. R. Langley, Toronto; J. P. Skillen, Hamilton; A. H. Frampton, St. Catharines; T. Ingledow, Vancouver; and N. J. MacDonald of Elizabeth, NJ, and New York.

Have New Racket

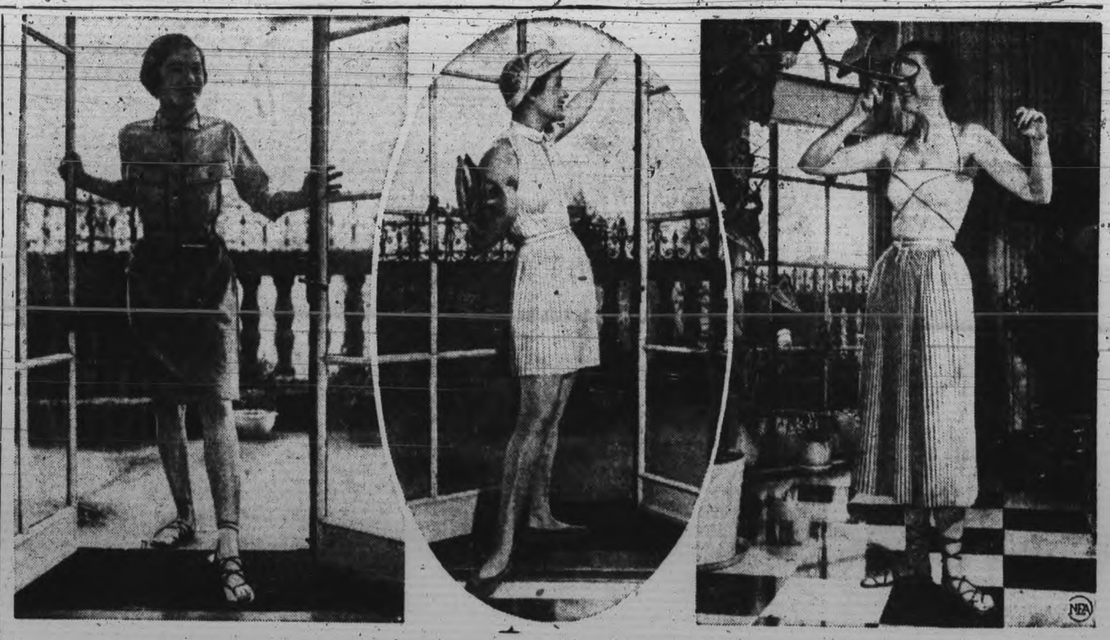
TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP)—Police said Thursday counterfeiters are using a wax-like substance over serial numbers of bogus $10 to render ineffective the "smudge test," the substance is said to be applied over red figures which normally smear when rubbed with a moist finger.

Chief Blasts Drunk Charges

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 13 (CP) —Fire Chief R. C. McRonald, who says he is a teetotaler, lashed out today at a charge that the Dominion Fire Chiefs' Association Convention "is just a good drunk."

"As president of the dominion association, I don't know of any men who drink less," he said, adding he was demanding an apology from Robert Spears who made the charge Wednesday night.

Mr. Spears made the charge in sponsoring a resolution at a London Labor Council meeting asking the city to curtail out-of-town trips "on tax payers' money" by aldermen and city officials. The council endorsed the resolution.



Chief McRonald, scheduled to attend this year's national convention in Vancouver, said he might "take action against Spears on behalf of the Dominion Association and myself on the grounds that the statement is a defamation against the association and myself."

Lewis' Mother Dies

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 13—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Louisa Watkins Lewis, Welsh-born mother of Labor Leader John L. Lewis, died at her home Thursday after a long illness. She was 91. Mrs. Lewis, in poor health for two years, broke her hip in a fall last September.

Captain Promoted

MONTREAL, Jan. 13 (CP) — Capt. J. H. Rankin of No. 25 Central Ordnance Depot, Canadian Army, in suburban Longue Pointe, will assume the post of officer commanding No. 35 Ordnance Ammunition Depot, Petawawa, Ont., next Sunday, it was announced Tuesday night. Capt. Rankin will be promoted to Major, the announcement said. He was born in Calgary, Alta.

The cabana dress (right) with accordion-pleated skirt of beige jersey has string-wrapped top of elasticized white jersey.

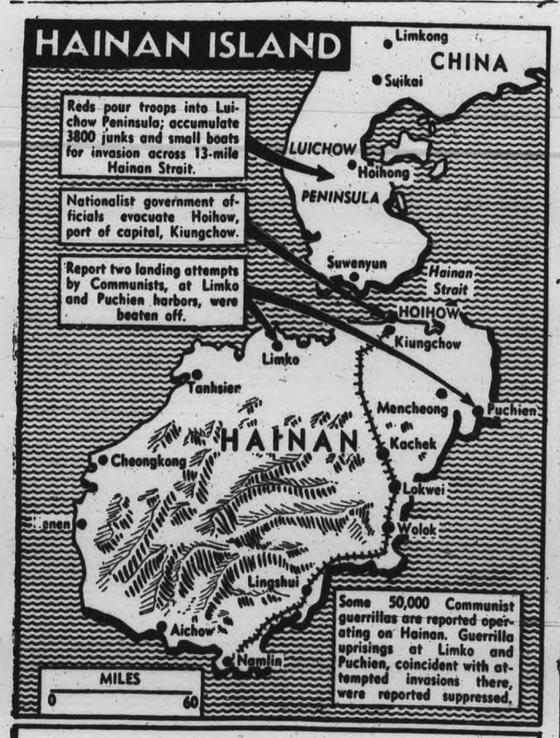
BC Woman Finds Loophole In Income Tax Regulations

OTTAWA, Jan. 13—(CP)—The Income Tax Appeal Board today gave a British Columbia woman the "benefit of her astuteness" in finding a loophole in Federal Income Tax Laws.

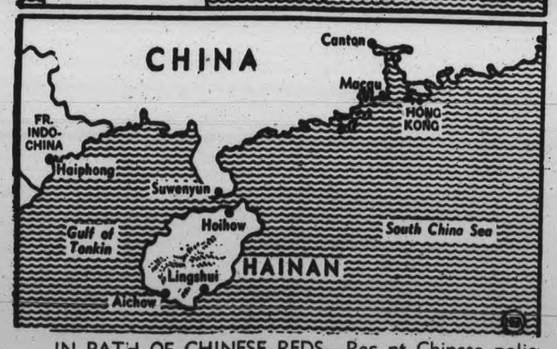
The three-man board unanimously upheld her claim that the $2,400 she received from annuities in 1946 is not subject to Income Tax.

The hearing of her appeal was held in private and the woman was not identified.

Under 1945 amendments to the Income War Tax Act, only part of annual annuity payments are regarded as income for tax purposes. The rest of the payments are regarded as a return of the capital invested in the annuity and a formula is laid down to determine the proportion of capital and income in each payment.



When passing the amendment, however, Parliament left unchanged a regulation passed in 1940. That regulation gave a $1,200 tax exemption on payments on annuities purchased before June 25, 1940.



The woman, who brought the annuities in 1933, claimed that only $1,099.74 of her total income of $2,400 was taxable under the formula laid down in the 1945 amendment. She also claimed that the 1940 regulation completely exempted her from payment of taxes.

When the revenue department ruled the woman must pay taxes on the $1,099.74 she took the case to the board which upheld her appeal.

Up To Historians To Decide Key Parley Man

By JOHN LEBLANC.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13 (CP) — There's no telling who will pop up as the key figures of a Dominion-Provincial conference.

Perhaps the historians will have to figure out who were the dominant personalities of the constitutional conference that adjourned Thursday, but in the meantime a man from the east and one from the west can qualify as the two who actually initiated the actions taken by the conference.

And the two—Premiers Angus Macdonald of Nova Scotia and Byron (Boss) Johnson of British Columbia—are of types about as dissimilar as you will find on a long stroll through the Canadian political scene.

Premier Johnson was the man who, after the conference had meandered almost two days through a constitutional maze, suggested shipping the whole business to a committee for specific proposals.

After that committee had come up with a clear-cut chart for procedure on amending the constitution, Premier Macdonald started the move to send the problems to a continuing committee. This was done.

The resemblance between the two Premiers ends at the point where they came together as the initiators of the only two specific actions taken by the conference.

Most Silent Man

Premier, Johnson, no constitutional expert but an industrialist converted to politics comparatively recently, was the most silent man at the gathering. A Premier for barely two years, he listened for most of the sessions while other government heads—most of them lawyers—argued out the fine points of constitutional law.

That was a line with a reputation for taciturnity that had preceded him here and given him the name of "clamjuice" Johnson.

Premier Macdonald, on the other hand, had taken a front line part in the conference right up to the time he laid down a carefully drafted resolution for sending the problems to a committee of legal experts.

A government head for 16 years and a former Federal Cabinet member, Mr. Macdonald is recognized as a top Canadian authority on Dominion-Provincial relations. Before he went into politics he was a law school teacher at Halifax.

But the Dominion-Provincial conference, where Provincial differences are thrown into the melting pot, found no difficulty in spanning the difference between him and the western Premier.

CHOCOLATE, NOT OILS—No, it's not an oil painting. Frank Verheul, 25-year-old Dutch chef, used 12 pounds of icing sugar and light and dark chocolate to make this picture of a mill which once stood near Nijmegen in his native Holland. He displayed it at a convention of hotel and restaurant proprietors in Montreal.

Acquit 3 Wardens

ARTHABASKA, Que., Jan. 13 (CP)—Three Quebec fish and game wardens have been acquitted of charges of theft. The wardens, Thomas Bolduc, Paul Marcotte and Fernand Angers, confiscated quantities of deer meat last November when Honore Girard of Princeville refused to produce the antlers of the slain doe in his possession. Girard laid a complaint that the officers had stolen the venison

Has Gruelling Trip

THE PAS, Man., Jan. 13 (CP)—Walter Fidler, stocky dog handler who will compete in the Manitoba trappers' festival championship races Feb 2, mushed into The Pas Thursday after a gruelling 550-mile trip from Churchill. It was the first time in 20 years that the trip from Churchill to the The Pas has been made by dog team. The trip took a month, with Fidler resting his dogs along the route.

Third Set Of Twins

ST. FERDINAND, Que., Jan. 13 (CP)—Birth of Mrs. Onesime Bisson's third set of twins in four years was reported in this Megantic County village Thursday. The babies, a boy and girl, were born during the week-end. The first twins, also a boy and girl, were born in January, 1946. The second pair, two girls, were delivered in May, 1948.

Mock Parliament

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP) — There will be a "Liberal government" at Queen's Park Thursday night, when student groups of the University of Toronto hold their annual mock parliament in the Ontario Legislature chamber. A new venture for the students will see the student Liberal group on the government benches, with the CCF Club as the official opposition.

31 In Tractor Rodeo

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP) — Thirty-one younger farmers from different parts of Ontario will compete in a tractor rodeo at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds January 19, held in conjunction with the Ontario Retail Farm Equipment Dealers Association, the Ontario Crop Improvement Association and the Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Association meeting.

May Save Hand

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP) — Doctors said Thursday night there was a good chance to save the mangled right hand of three-year-old Stewart Branscombe, rushed to the Sick Children's Hospital early Thursday from Niagara Falls, Ont. The boy's hand was sevecely burned and crushed when caught in an electric ironer.

Scalds Child's Leg

BONARLAW, Jan. 13 (ENS).—Alice Mathews, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Mathews, was badly scalded on Monday. She was standing close to the stove when the kettle boiled over, scalding her right leg. She will not be able to attend school for several days.

Quench Chimney Fire

BETHANY, Jan. 13 (ENS)—The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McGregor, Lot 20, Con. 10, of Manvers township, about two miles north of Bethany, was in danger of being destroyed during the wind storm Tuesday night and neighbors and a volunteer brigade from the village went to their assistance. The flames were soon under control.

IN CUERNAVACA, Mexico, actress Faye Emerson, accompanied by Licenciado Valenzuele, her lawyer's aide, appears in court to file suit for divorce from Elliott Roosevelt. She charged mental cruelty. The Mexican divorce takes three weeks.

ON RED GRILL, Sanzo Nosaka, above, Japan's number two Communist, is charged by the Cominform with being a servant of "American imperialist" occupation forces in Japan. The Soviet denunciation is seen by Tokyo observers as a move in a long-smoulding inner party fight between Nosaka and Japanese Communist Party secretary Kyuichi Tokuda.

Major Disasters For Submarines During 35 Years

By The Associated Press

The largest number of peacetime casualties occurred in 1939. Then 196 lives were lost in the sinking of an American, a British and a French submarine in the space of less than a month.

Major peacetime submarine disasters during the last 35 years include:

March 24, 1915, the F-4 (American), sunk in Honolulu Bay, 21 dead.

Sept. 25, 1925, S-1 (American), sunk off Block Island, R.I., by steamship City of Rome, 33 dead.

Nov. 12, 1925, M-1 (British), sunk in collision with S.S. Vidar in English Channel, 69 dead.

Dec. 17, 1927, S-4 (American), collided with coast guard vessel Paulding and sank in 100 feet of water off Provincetown, Mass., 40 dead.

Oct. 3, 1928, Ondine (French), sunk in collision with Greek steamer off Portugal, 43 dead.

July 9, 1929, H-47 (British), sunk in collision with sister ship, submarine L-12; 21 dead.

June 9, 1931, Poseidon (British), sunk in collision with Chinese steamship Yuta off northeast coast of Shantung Province, China, 20 dead.

Oct. 24, 1931, Russian submarine sunk in Gulf of Finland, 50 reported lost.

Jan. 26, 1931, M-2 (British), sunk off Portland Bill, England, 60 dead.

July 7, 1932, Promethee (French), sunk off Cherbourg, France, 62 dead.

July 25, 1935, B-3 (Russian), sunk in collision with another warship in Baltic, 55 dead.

Dec. 12, 1936, Spanish submarine sunk by torpedo off Malaga, 47 reported dead.

May 23, 1939, Squalus (American), sank off White Island, N.H., 26 dead, 33 rescued by diving bell. Later raised and renamed the Sailfish.

June 1, 1939, Thetis (British), sank in Liverpool Bay, 99 dead, four rescued. Later raised and reanmed The Tunderbolt.

June 15, 1939, Phoenix (French), sank off the coast of Indo-China, 71 dead.

Dec. 7, 1946, submarine 2326 (French), reported two days overdue at Toulon and hope abandoned for 23 men aboard.

Aug. 26, 1949, Cochino (American), exploded and burned in Arctic waters, seven dead, 84 rescued.

U. S. LOW POINT

Death Valley in California, 276 feet below sea level, is the lowest spot in the United States.

"MOON" AT NOON—That may look like moonlight but this photo of Vancouver harbor was made at high noon. Eric Cable, a Vancouver Daily Province photographer, used a red filter to obtain this effect.

Canadian Vessel Sailing For Shanghai

MONTREAL, Jan. 13 (CP) — The freighter Santa Ana, operated by Canada-Asiatic Lines Ltd., of Montreal, will sail from Halifax for Shanghai on schedule Jan. 16 "but we are certainly not going to send a ship in there to get shot up," a spokesman for the line said said Thursday.

The Santa Ana, under charter to the Canadian company, is due to sail with a general cargo for the area where the American Isbrandtsen Line freighter Flying Arrow was fired on by Chinese Nationalist gunboats a few days ago.

Wants Niagara Falls Power Used

BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 13 (AP) —The chairman of the National St. Lawrence Project Conference said Thursday night it is "incomprehensible" that consideration should first be given to the proposed St. Lawrence river hydro electric plant when 50 per cent more power might be obtained from Niagara Falls.

Carroll B. Huntress, New York made the statement in a speech prepared for the annual dinner meeting of the Central Railway Club of Buffalo. The conference is composed of business interests, railroads, Chambers of Commerce and other groups opposing the St. Lawrence project.

"It seems incomprehensible that anyone should give any consideration to development of St. Lawrence power ahead of Niagara power, except for political reasons," said Huntress.

"Political seasoning has surrounded both these projects for years. In 1948 Senator Ives (Rep N.Y.) called the attention of the United States senate to the superiority of the Niagara power development over that of the St Lawrence and urged the desirability of proceeding at Niagara."

Farm Prices Dip

OTTAWA, Jan. 13 (CP)—Farm prices in Canada dipped slightly in November, continuing a steady decline that began around August, 1948. The Bureau of Statistics index of farm prices for November was 246, compared with 247.1 in October and 258 in November, 1948, the bureau reported Thursday.

Train Kills Antelope

LETHBRIDGE, Jan. 13 (CP)—A freight train Thursday ran into a herd of foraging antelope, killing 23 of the animals, near Bow Island, Alta., about 75 miles east of here. The antelope herd was crossing the right-of-way at the time. Police said herds are moving south because there is no feed in the Bow Island area.

Overlooked Stamps

MONTREAL, Jan. 13 (CP) — Max Schneiderman, owner of the Blue Star Jewelry Company Thursday was ordered to pay the federal government $5,000 — double the amount he withheld by neglecting to cancel excise stamps on taxable goods—and was fined $25 in court here.

Cattle Prices Up 50 Cents During Week

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP). — Cattle prices gained 25 to 50 cents on steers, heifers and cows and up to $1 on bulls, at the Toronto Livestock Market this week, the Dominion Marketing Service reported today. Trade opened briskly at the beginning of the week but eased off slightly toward the close.

Calves were $1 a hundredweight higher, while sheep and lambs were steady. After an unsettled opening, hogs gained $1 a hundredweight.

The cattle run of 8,901 head for sale was an all-time record for the week of the year. Truck deliveries of cattle, 5,300 head, were also an all-time record for the Toronto yards. Well finished cattle were in the minority.

Common to good weighty steers sold at $20-$24 with a few choice up to $25. Medium to good light steers were $19.50-$22. Good heifers sold at $20.50-$21. Common light steers and heifers sold downward to $17. Good cows closed at $15.50-$16 a hundredweight. Cannersm and cutters were mostly $11-$13. Good heavy export bulls sold at $18.25-$19.50 with plain light bulls downward to $16. Medium to good fed yearlings were $20-$24 with a few choice up to $26. There were no stockers of any account on the market.

Export buying was fairly good with 1,000 head of cattle moved to the United States.

Calves totalled 1,454 head. Prices gained $1 with choice vealers selling at $28-$30. Common to medium vealers were $17-$27 and a few thin grassers sold for slaughter at $14-$15.50.

Hogs were only 3,177 head. Early trading was unsettled. Some Wednesday sales were made at $26.50 for Grade A, with no prices established on the balance of the run. Some sows sold at $15, but no definite price was reached.

Sheep and lamb receipts were light at 460 head. The few good ewes and wethers offered sold at $25.50-$26. A few bucks sold at the usual $1 a hundredweight discount, and culls were from $16-$24. Small lots of good, light sheep sold at $11-$12 and cull sheep were downward to $15.

No Comment On Roads

CARLETON PLACE, Ont, Jan 13 (CP) — Highways Minister George Doucett of Ontario said Thursday night that he is not in a position to disclose the various building and road improvement projects planned by Ontario this year. He was commenting on a Toronto report that the Ontario Government plans to extend the four lane section of Highway No. 2 east of Oshawa this year.

Build Anti-Sub Ship

VANCOUVER, Jan. 13 (CP) — An $8,000,000 anti-submarine ship will be built at suburban North Vancouver, chairman J V Clyne of the Canadian Maritime Commission said Thursday. The keel probably will be laid at Burrard Dry Dock Co. Ltd. in May or June, he said, and about 400 men will be employed.

Kiwanis Program Provided By Key Club

PCVS Key Club members conducted the luncheon meeting of their sponsors, the Kiwanis Club Thursday in the Empress Hotel. The Kiwanis Club is one of a few clubs in Ontario, Quebec and Maritime district which sponsors two Key Clubs, the Collegiate club and St. Peter's High School Club.

Harry Taylor, president of the PCVS club, presided over the meeting in place of Al Plaskett president of the Kiwanis Club James Fowler, with the assistance of Stan Northrop at the piano, conducted the weekly singsong after the luncheon.

Some of the members told the Kiwanians briefly of some of the projects in the school, Sam Murphy of the Student Council. James Fowler of the school magazine The Echoes, Al Northcott of the sports and Bill Nicholls of the Collegiate concert band. Mr. Albert Croasdale played two selections on the piano. The Key Club members were Harry Taylor, Sam Murphy, Allan Northcott, Donald Curtis, William Logan, Al Fettes, Arthur Low, Douglas Fanning, David Mitchell, George Fanjoy, Ronald Sargent Donald Pollock, Donald Allen, Richard Schram, William Nicholls, Jim Fowler, William Carruthers, and Ronald Duncan. Other club guests introduced by Mrs. Plaskett were Alex Sinclair Albert Croasdale, John Monteith and Clarke Murkar.

Brazil Offers Opportunities For Exports

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Canadian exporters are being called upon to do a big job of salesmanship.

Many current observers declare that even while some markets are closing out because of currency difficulties, others offer opportunities, even despite currency troubles.

Henry Borden, president of Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Co., points specifically to Brazil. Says Mr. Borden:

"It is my opinion that Canadian manufacturers as a whole have not made and are not yet making sufficient efforts to capture their proper share of that export market which is being rapidly developed by others.

"I believe that Brazil's future is unlimited. I also believe that Canada can and should play an increasingly important role in the development of that great and friendly country."

Resting On Oars

Apparently Canada has not been sharing to any major extent in increased North American exports to Brazil, for Mr. Borden says:

"In 1939 approximately 29 per cent of Brazil's total imports came from North America. Canada supplied 1.3 per cent. In 1948 the figures were 53 per cent and 1.6 per cent respectively.

"Brazilian exports to Canada averaged slightly less than $1,000,000 a year in 1935-39. In 1948 they reached a total of more than $15,000,000, and in 1949 they are expected to equal and possibly exceed Canada's sales to Brazil at a level of close to $20,000,000 each way.

"For the first time a practical balance has been achieved. This improvement in the statistical position is a strong factor in favor of Canadian exporters to Brazil and should assist them in gaining a larger share of that important dollar market."

Mr. Borden made his comments Wednesday to members of the Toronto Stock Exchange in one of the gatherings at which members from time to time hear from representatives of various industries.

Brazilian Tractor, a Canadian Corporation with assets in excess of $500,000,000, through its operating subsidiaries supplies public utility services in Brazil.

JOB FOR VETERANS

From May, 1945 to December, 1948, about 50,000 veterans have been appointed to positions in the Canadian public service.

It's so different today

In olden times they started the day with a juicy steak and a tankard of foaming ale! Today the ace-high breakfast dish is Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes . . . ready-to-eat; easy-to-digest . . . made not from one but TWO grains — sun-ripened wheat and malted barley.

That famous Grape-Nuts flavor in the form of delicious, honey-golden flakes is scrumptious. Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes are nourishing, too . . . provide useful quantities of carbohydrates and proteins for energy and muscle; phosphorus for teeth, bones; iron for the blood. Pumpers At $12,500 Each Smith Ratepayers Told

If several areas of Smith township set up sectional fire departments for their separate protection, each will need a pumper of estimated cost of $12,500, Mr. David Lowe of the Ontario Fire Marshall's Department told a ratepayers' meeting.

For definite and basic information it was decided to call for tenders for a pair of pumpers.

The meeting was arranged by Smith council at the request of suburban and rural citizens. The council had instructed the clerk to ask the Fire Marshall to send a representative of his department for advice on necessary equipment and recommended bounds of areas.

Survey of needs suggested that one pumper be stationed at Bridgenorth and the other in the suburban section immediately north of the city. The area to be served would be all that part of Smith west of the Buckhorn Road and south of the 12th concession, through Selwyn.

Financing Plan

It was proposed that financing would levy only on building assessment, thereby providing that farmers would not be paying on a large land assessment. To make this legal, the council would have to receive a petition signed by two-thirds of the property owners in an area.

After receiving a 35% subsidy from the provincial government, cost of equipment and maintenance was estimated at probably 6.6 mills.

It was also proposed that Lakefield be approached for an agreement to undertake fire protection within a three-mile radius of the village.

Young's Point residents have their own pumper. The remaining areas would be Buckhorn and south of Selwyn. No solution was offered for fire protection in that district, other than a possibility that some plan might be worked out with Harvey township.

The Tuesday night meeting was attended by ratepayers from the suburban area, Chemong Park, Bridgenorth and the rural community.

Lost Four Teeth Hit By Car

Eleven-year-old Kenneth Dunn had one tooth knocked out and three broken off as well as his left arm and leg bruised when hit by a car on Clonsilla Ave Thursday evening.

The boy was taken to Civic Hospital for treatment after first going to the Clinic.

Driver of the car, William Cunningham, Fraserville, told Constables Grant J. Gillespie and W. S. Fife, who investigated, that he was driving south on Clonsilla Ave. He said he saw a group of boys and girls start across the street then step back. But, he said, one of them, young Dunn, started to run across the street. The left front fender caught the boy and threw him to the pavement. Dunn later got up and ran across to a service station.

Cunningham stopped his car and took the boy to the Clinic, where he was ordered to the Civic Hospital by Dr. Robert Pow.

Kenneth Dunn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Dunn, 375 Holloway Drive. The other children in the group were: Adell Uolan, 380 Holloway Drive; Arleen Gordon, 368 Armstrong Drive; Ronald Mace, 363 Holloway Drive and Frank Rochetta, 383 Holloway Drive.

Centenary Event Every 3 Weeks During Summer

If centenary events turn out as they appeared to be prospective at the meeting of the reception committee of the council Thursday night, there may be one every three weeks from early spring to late in the fall.

The committee recommended that Wm. G. Ovens, James Hamilton and Robertson Davies be invited to assume the duties of a co-ordinating committee.

Ald. Adam Sands, chairman and other members of the committee reported enthusiasm manifesting itself already. Three or four associations have been enquiring about the form the celebration is likely to take, and the place where they might fit into it.

The chairman drew up a list of twelve or fourteen affairs that are likely to materialize as winter passes. The first one is to be what might be called the municipal occasion, and thereby the main celebration of Peterborough's 100 years of corporate history.

Invite Premiers

City Clerk Outram, who is being asked to be secretary of the steering committee, was instructed to write to Prime Minister Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, and Premier Leslie M. Frost for suggestion of dates which might be open to them to visit Peterborough.

The Lord Mayor of Peterborough, England, has expressed a wish to be here for the central celebration, and it may be that the Mayor and a municipal group from Peterborough, New Hampshire, will be invited. The inten-

Resort Owners Resent Remark Fish and Game Head

Resentment was expressed by the Resort Operators section of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday night at the statements of the retiring president of the Fish and Game Protective Association in December.

They pointed out that they had great interest in fish and game conservation because it provided them with their "bread and butter."

Campbell L. (Cam) Rowatt, retiring president of the Fish and Game Association, said in December that the chief disappointment of the year so far as the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association was concerned was the small interest shown in the organization by those connected with the local tourist industry

He added that the people who depend on the natural resources of fish and game for their livelihood—resort owners, guides and bait dealers—were among the apathetic.

Ready To Co-operate

James Fraser, manager of the Peterborough Chamber, said that the operators are prepared anytime to meet with the Association to discuss fish and game conservation. So far, he said, they have not been approached. They feel that action should be taken by both groups to discuss various problems such as the opening and closing of the seasons and the size of legal catches.

The resort operators, added Mr. Fraser, are opposed to the rumoured move on the part of the Fish and Game Protection Association to ban the use of minnows in the district.

"Peterborough County is penalized, and has been for the past 10 years, by the Association's action in having trolling banned in the month of June for pickerel," said Mr. Fraser.

Many American tourists, he explained, who arrive in the district in June to fish for pickerel often leave when they find they have to fish from an anchored boat. Only four counties in Ontario have this regulation.

Brakeman Suffers Fractured Left Leg

A CPR brakeman, Roy Tully, 234 McDonnel St., fell from the top of a box car and suffered a compound fracture of the left leg, in front of the CPR station about 7.50 p.m. Thursday.

Constable Grant J. Gillespie reported that Tully had been walking along the top of a box car, acting as a signaller to the engineer Harry Pollick, Havelock. Engineer Pollick told police he was watching the signal lantern when he suddenly saw it disappear. He immediately stopped his engine.

Another brakeman, Roy Bacon, 133 Lake St., who was standing in front of the train, said he saw the light when it disappeared and he heard Tully yell, "Whoa."

Brakeman Roy Bacon shouted to Tully and asked him what was the matter. Tully answered he thoughout his leg was broken.

The police and Dr. Robert Young were notified. Tully was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by ambulance.

High Pressure Salesman Becomes Thing of the Past

The high pressure salesman with his foot in the door and the set spiel ready is now a thing of the past. At any rate that's the claim of the Peterborough Sales and Ad Club and they're arranging a series of lectures to convince the sceptical.

More psychology and less gumbeating in a one way conversation where the customer never so much as gets a word in edge ways. That's the new order of the day.

The Club has promised to bring in a series of speakers to outline "modern sales technique." All are said to be authorities on salesmanship.

First speaker will be Vernon E. (Sam) Vining, merchandising consultant of the Westinghouse Electric Appliance Div., Mansfield, Ohio. His subject will be "The Customer is a Right Good Guy."

He will address his audience at the PCVS auditorium on January 26.

Other lectures will be at Queen Mary School auditorium.

February 2—James H. Welsh of Toronto, sales manager of Electrolux of Canada.

February 9—John A. Marsh of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, general manager of Canadian Exporters Association.

February 16—Stuart M. Philpott of Toronto, sales manager for Northgrave Ltd.

February 23—Ralph Davidson of Toronto, vice-president and director of sales for the Grolier Society.

Widely recognized in the selling field, Mr. Vining has from time to time pushed such merchandise as men's hose, oil, underwear, envelopes, flowers, can openers, signs, oil furnaces, books bed spreads, linens, and canned goods.

VERNON E. VINING

His experience includes both selling from the floor and door to door canvassing.

His syndicated "Sam's Selling Slants" now in book form, is widely used in schools and throughout industry. He is now writing a monthly column for a merchandising publication.

Sentence Laing To 8 Months For Theft Of $330

Charged with stealing $330 from Charles Kelly, 543 Park St., Dec. 23, Earl (Duke) Laing, St. Thomas, was sentenced today to eight months definite and two months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in police court today.

Laing originally chose trial by a higher court. In preliminary hearing Wednesday, Laing was committed for trial. After the hearing, Laing decided he wanted trial by magistrate's court.

Today, the Crown's evidence heard in the preliminary was applied to the trial. In the evidence it was alleged Laing took the money from Kelly in Kelly's home while the victim was asleep.

Laing had spent the night drinking in a hotel with Kelly, for whom Laing worked in a Haultain logging camp.

Evidence also showed that Laing left the camp the next day to go to his sister's home in St. Thomas and he had bought a car in Lindsay for $125 to get him there.

George Kelly and his wife both testified that Laing had no money a day or two before he disappeared. George Kelly said he owed Laing $84 back pay.

In his own defence, Laing said he had a little money when he first went to work for George Kelly in September. He added that he had received about $60 or $70 in wages since he started to work.

Under cross-examination by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Laing admitted that he told Mrs. Kelly he was broke two days before the alleged theft and he said "I wish George would soon pay me so I could go home."

Laing has a record stretching back to 1935 which includes an eight-year sentence in Kingston penitentiary for armed robbery with violence, house breaking and theft of a car.

He was first sentenced in 1935 to 18 months for the theft of a car. In 1944 he served another two years when convicted of breaking, entry and theft. In 1949 he did two months when convicted of forging a cheque with intent to defraud.

Local Merchant's Discovery Of Refundable Sales Tax May Start Flood of Claims

A Peterborough china merchant said today he has stumbled upon a ruling under which he apparently can claim a refund on part of the eight-per-ent sales tax paid on goods he has sold. The dealer, who declined use of his name, says that the Excise Tax Act provides that the sales tax need not be paid on goods shipped to a buyer outside Canada. He says that in such cases the merchant who sells the goods is entitled to claim a refund of the tax paid by the article's manufacturer.

The dealer added that he has put in a refund claim "that will amount to a four-figure sum."

According to the Excise Tax Act, section 103A, the sales tax should not be collected if the goods are exported from Canada. This was known by only a few merchants.

But what a mere handful knew, and they didn't tell, was that this tax money was refundable. And according to a recent ruling by the Department, a merchant can claim, and get, sales tax payments made for two years prior to the date he notifies the Collector of Customs he is going to make the claim.

Official Statement

In a letter from the Excise Audit Office in Belleville he was informed: "The amount of tax refundable is that originally paid by the manufacturer; if this cannot be ascertained, by the claimant (merchant), the Department may allow eight per cent. of 50 per cent. of the selling price to the user."

The tax is refundable only on goods shipped to the buyer out of the country. For instance, if an American tourist came into a store and bought some goods and took them away with him, then there would be no refund of the eight per cent. sales tax. But if the American did not take the goods with him and asked that they be shipped to his home in the United States, then the merchant can claim a refund on the tax.

Normally, store owners pay their sales tax every month. Each payment comes due on the last day of the following month. Thus merchants must pay their December sales tax by Jan. 31. The sales tax is eventually included in the retail price and paid by the customer.

Lights On Truck Fail Big Trailer Ditched

A fluke accident resulted in about $40 damage to a car-transport truck early today on Highway 28, just south of Springville.

Thomas Mortimer, of Windsor, was driving his car-transport truck along the highway when the lights suddenly failed. He was temporarily blinded as it was dark at the time. The trailer did a half jack-knife and the vehicle ran off the road into the four-foot ditch.

About $40 damage was caused, principally to the steering column which snapped. The transport did not turn over and was towed out shortly afterwards. It was carrying no cars on the trailer portion as it was being driven back to Windsor after delivering a load.

Provincial Constables Roy Feeley and Earl Berwick investigated.

Chesterfield Afire

A lost bolt caused much excitement at a Sherbrooke St. home Thursday night as it was the indirect cause of a $25 fire.

It seems the bolt slipped out of the chesterfield at the home of Mrs. Annie M. Gillespie and rolled out of sight underneath. A match was struck, the better to see where it was. And that is what did the damage.

The flame caught on a few loose threads on the bottom of the chesterfield and in a few moments it was on fire.

Firemen were called and put out the blaze with a hand pump. Only the underneath portion of the chesterfield was damaged.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

V. S. Milburn Guest Speaker At Federation Luncheon Tuesday, Jan. 17 — G. A. Brethen Discusses Plight Of Poultry Industry — "Parity Prices" Subject Of Farm Radio Forum Monday Night—Birdsfoot Trefoil In Pasture Mixtures.

"Parity and Floor Prices," Farm Forum subject Monday, Jan. 16, at 8.30 p.m., is the second of this month's series of broadcasts dealing with the economics of agriculture. It expresses the desire of the farmer for financial equality with the other groups that make up society. It signifies his concern for the maintenance of the buying power of the dollar in his income as related to the cost of the things he has to buy, and thereby to the corresponding dollar of those other groups.

Parity in this connection embraces a general level of living equivalent to that of other persons, with comparable skill, effort and investment. And further it seeks parity of schools, roads, housing, rural electrification, health services, recreational and cultural facilities.

Farm Forum Guide recalls that in 1933 the U.S.A. passed a law to establish parity prices. It adopted a policy of giving the farm dollar an adjustable value. The idea that the price of a bushel of wheat (for example) should buy as many pounds of food, yards of cloth and other goods needed by farm families, as a bushel of wheat would buy in a basic period from 1910 to 1914.

"In recent years American farmers were guaranteed prices equal to 90 per cent. of the parity price for a wide range of farm products. The parity price for each product was determined each year by the Department of Agriculture."

This idea and practice is still embodied in the so-called Truman "Fair Deal."

"When market prices fell below parity, the Government took over the produce and paid the farmer 90 per cent. of the parity price. This applied only to those products in the parity price program. During the war years and until the end of 1917, farm prices in the U.S.A. were generally well above parity, and there was a demand for all that the farmer could produce. Controlled acreage allotments and marketing quotas were not applied."

The U.S. Government also provided for crop loans, enabling the farmer to borrow from the Commodity Credit Corporation instead of selling his grain on the open market as soon as it was harvested. The amount of the loan could be as high as 90 per cent. of the parity price of the product.

"With parity prices went acreage allotments. Only those farmers who co-operated—that is, who accepted an acreage allotment and a marketing quota for their products—were entitled to full parity payments."

In the Agricultural Act of 1949, price supports continue in 1950 at 90 per cent. of parity of corn, wheat, tobacco, rice and peanuts. Acreage allotments and marketing quotas will be in effect for these products.

Milk, milk products, wool, Irish potatoes and honey will be supported at from 60 to 90 per cent. of parity. All other commodities may or may not be supported. That basic period remains at 1910-1914."

The Forum Guide recalls the recommendations by Dr. E. C. Hope, economist for the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, at the 1949 CFA conference in Saskatoon. He proposed: maintenance of consumer purchasing power; and parity prices for farmers. Dr. Hope contended that consumer purchasing power must be maintained in time of depression so that the farmer would have a steady market for his goods. "The farmer must continue to produce even in times of depression. Unless his market is maintained he suffers severe losses." He suggested for a parity-price program the period from 1925-29, because farm prices then showed a satisfactory relationship to other prices.

That is only a sketchy outline of parity theory and practice. It does not mention its weakness, including effects of surplus and cost to the taxpayer. However, every thoughtful farmer should endeavor to understand this principle. Monday night's Forum broadcast should be unusually interesting.

The broadcast for Monday, Jan. 23, is "Should Tariff Barriers Be Abolished?" Here are two questions Junior Farmers might debate if they are looking for subjects for their winter series of meetings.

"WHAT PRICE EGGS?"

The following contribution to the anxious discussion of the poultry and eggs markets has been received from Mr. G. A. Brethen of Hill-Crest Farm, Norwood:

"Since the fall of '47 by removel of ceilings and setting up of high floor prices on western feed grains, the Federal Government has materially increased the feed costs of the Ontario poultryman. To-day from figures given me by local egg-grading stations and feed dealers, the average Ontario egg producer is receiving a take-home pay cheque of 21 cents per dozen ungraded eggs at a feed cost of 25 cents per dozen, after transportation, grading, and dealer's cost are deducted, on eggs shipped to Toronto or Montreal. At to-day's prices the man with 1000 hens laying 60% (a high average), the operator aces a weekly loss of $12.60 on cost of feed alone. Nothing left for wages, taxes, insurance, depreciation, flock losses and cost of living which inevitably have to be met. What action does the Cabinet at Ottawa intend to take and now to save thousands of egg producers, particularly war veterans and others just getting established, from losing their all? We have read with interest the letters from the Hon. J. G. Gardiner and his colleagues, the Hon. C. D. Howe, in Saturday's Farm Page of the Peterborough Examiner. While their efforts in solving the bacon and cheese problem may seem an accomplishment, in relation to the egg situation they have apparently to date done nothing, "Ottawa fiddling while Rome burns".

For many months the Federal Government has been fully aware of the impending threat to the very livelihood of the Canadian egg producer, if some substitute policy were not provided to take care of the surplus resulting, if and when, the British egg contract was not renewed. Cabinet meetings were announced, postponed for a week, postponed for the Holidays, then indefinitely. With no Government plan or policy announced when the deadline arrived, the inevitable panic struck. Wholesalers became disorganized, cancelled all egg quotations; dealers were wired to withold shipments until advised; many producers, faced with present discouraging below-feed-costs prices for eggs, have been stampeded into sacrificing their laying flocks, and cancelling or withholding their orders for those chicks which should become next season's layers.

Something must be done about it at once. If as Mr. Gardiner suggests Britain can buy eggs from Canada only on a lower level basis, why not as in the case of other export products give some added assistance? If because of impossible trade balances Britain cannot buy our eggs at any price, better do something else. A few months ago the price and consumption of butter was faced with a serious competition that threatened the security of the creameries and the cream producers. The Government evolved a policy of buying butter for storage at a price level of 58 cents per pound in times of peak production and is now bringing this butter into the market at a time when production is insufficient to meet the consumptive demand. Their policy is generally believed to have proved helpful to both producer and consumer.

Egg production like butter is seasonable in its markable volume. Why did not the Cabinet, faced with the threat of ruin to thousands of poultrymen, take steps weeks ago to provide a similar policy for the handling of the surplus in eggs? With a floor price not sufficiently high to encourage increased production and yet acting as a safeguard for a reasonable profit, a price of, say 42c "A" large Montreal, if made effective by the Government at once, would do much to restore stability to the industry and encourage higher year-round consumption at possibly little or no additional cost to the taxpayer.

We believe that the wide-awake poultryman and the public generally will agree with this part of a splendid editorial in the December 24th issue of the Financial Post under the heading "Easier Food Prices don't mean Ruin." "While a collapse in farm prices would be a very different story some declines from recent peaks could certainly be beneficial, even for agriculture. When consumers are asked to pay 75 cents for a dozen eggs or a pound of bacon such food items may come dangerously close to pricing themselves off the table and out of the market at home or abroad." On the other hand, it is just as important that the consuming public realizes the other alternative that he farmer does not have the say in seting the price o his products, and if the price received is out of ratio with his costs of feed, maintenance and operation the laying flocks will be sacrificed, chicks to replenish them will not be purchased and consumers generally will suffer the inevitable result of high peak prices through short supply.

Since writing the foregoing a meeting of several hundred poultrymen in Toronto last night (Jan. 11th.) unanimously supported a resolution asking the Federal Government to put into effect at once a floor price on eggs of 42c per dozen 'A' Large Montreal.

Those present at the meeting, and also in group discussion afterwards, were unanimously agreed, that, due to the present profit-losing price of egg and resulting abnormal low sale of early chicks, egg producers who maintain their flocks and have fall eggs for sale will probably be receiving the highest egg prices in history."

BIRDSFOOT TREFOIL

Experience of some 200 farmers in Iowa has demonstrated that birdfoot trefoil is an unusually well-suited legume for permanent pastures in that State. It bears up under close grazing, heat and drouth. It produces well on a wide range of soil conditions.

At Kemptville last week, Dr. J. T. MacDonald of Cornell University told the Eastern Ontario Crop Improvement Association that trefoil was a great boon in eastern New York where the lime content of the soil was too low to grow alfalfa.

This legume was also mentioned by Ken Fallis of the Ontario Department of Agriculture at the meeting of Peterborough Crop Improvement Association. It is recommended in areas where alfalfa does not thrive.

Birdsfoot trefoil is discussed in an article in Farm Science of Iowa State College. "We found Kentucky bluegrass, timothy and orchard grass all well suited to growing with trefoil. It has weak stems and gives best results in a mixture with a grass that will support it. Results in Iowa, New York and other states indicate that when trefoil gets established in a bluegrass pasture it can be expected to continue indefinitely This is fortunate since most of our permanent pastures in Iowa are bluegrass."

"We seeded birdsfoot trefoil in a very thin, eroded, infertile southwest slope on the Albia Pasture Improvement Farm in early April, 1942. Grazing cattle kept the trefoil and grass eaten just as closely as they could bite it off through seven grazing seasons—from spring to frost. Still the trefoil thickened and spread in each of these years.

Such treatment is not recommended, but the suitability of the trefoil grown with Kentucky grass is well demonstrated by the test. It shows that it can stand the abuse which so many permanent pastures are subject to. You may get best results with orchard grass where it is difficult to get grasses established.

So far, not one case of bloat on birdsfoot trefoil has been reported, including the Pacific Northwest where trefoil pastures have been grazed 15 years.

Practice in Iowa is to sow 4 to 5 pounds of trefoil seed per acre in a bed including 200 or 300 lbs. of superphosphate. "Broadcast on the surface; follow with a cultipacker or corrupated roller Begin grazing at 8 to 10 inches. Adding 3 to 4 pounds of red clover per acre may provide more pasture while the trefoil is becoming established. After the second year it should have high producing pasture forage. It is not perfect, but it shows great promise."

BILLIONS FOR SUPPORTS

At Oct. 31 last the U.S. government had $3,148,577,435 tied up in farm commodities, as reported last week by Ralph S. Trigg, president of the Commodity Credit Corporation. The sum was made up of $1,692,478,677 worth of farm products purchased under price support; and $1,456,098,758 held under loan. Net loss for the fiscal year ending June 30 was $253,000,000 of which $204,000,000 was in surplus potatoes.

Inventory of commodity holdings listed the following costs: cotton, $615,405,202; wheat, $442,379,272; linseed soil, $102,428,703; flaxseed, $97,181,136; dried eggs, $88,894,070; wool, $68,591,529; butter, $54,498,595; beans, $43,018,216; corn, $42,385,599.

Details of the items under government loans were also quoted: wheat, $576,676,006; corn, $484,872,939, and so on.

Mr. Trigg reported CCC still had at Oct. 31 a net borrowing authority of $2,508,000,000 out of its authorized $4,570,000,000, enough to carry all programs through this crop year. But, to assure price support operations for 1950-51 an added $2 billions borrowing authority asked to Congress would be necessary.

The six basic commodities under mandatory support, wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, rice and peanuts are under acreage allotments to curb a piling up of surpluses; and cotton, tobacco and peanuts are under even stricter marketing quotas.

Wheat export in recent years has been ten times its pre-war volume, 'and nobody can expect that record to hold."

ELECTRICITY IN QUEBEC

Fifty per cent of the 150,000 farm homes in Quebec have electricity compared with 21 per cent in 1940, resulting in a large increase in the purchase of electrically operated machines, industrial and domestic. The Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating reports that 16.5 per cent of the houses have indoor plumbing, 25 per cent inside running water. Bell Telephone statistics show that 45 of Quebec's rural homes have telephones compared with 27 per cent five years ago.

PATS BAIL OUT—The first two men of a stick of paratroppers tumble from an RCAF Dakota over the Wainwright Military Camp in Alberta. This photo, taken from another plan in a formation of five, shows the start of the first winter-time mass jump by the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. More than 100 men took part in the operation, part of the unit's training for Exercise Sweetbriar, the forthcoming Canadian-American manoeuvres along the Alaska Highway.

ARMY JUMPERS — Smiling paratroopers, laden with snowshoes and other winter equipment, await the take-off of an RCAF Dakota transport at Edmonton. A few hours later these members of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry hit the silk over the Wainwright, Alta., military camp in their first winter-time mass jump. The same troops will join other Canadian units and United States soldiers and airmen for Exercise Sweetbriar along the Alaska Highway next month.

Omelets, Souffles Return To Family's Luncheon Menu

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Jan. 13—(CP)—Now that eggs once more are dropping within range of the average person's pocketbook, housewives can put omelets and souffles back on the family's luncheon or supper menu.

As well as supplying protein, eggs are important sources of vitamins and minerals, and if the housewife is following Canada's food rules she will see to it that the family is given eggs three times a week.

A souffle is always a tasty dish.

Ingredients: One-quarter cup butter (or margarine); one-third cup flour; 1¼ cups milk; one teaspoon salt; few grains pepper; four egg yolks; two cups cooked vegetable, meat, poultry or fish; four egg whites.

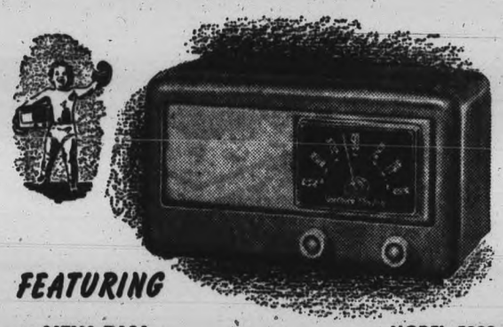
Melt butter and blend in flour. Gradually add milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Add seasonings. Add slowly to beaten egg yolks. Cool. Add beaten egg whites. Fold in the vegetable, meat, fish or poultry, finely chopped or minced. Pour into buttered baking-dish and oven-poach in moderate oven (325 degrees Fahrenheit) about 50 minutes, or until firm.

EGG AND POTATO CASSEROLE—Ingredients: four tablespoons butter (or margarine); four tablespoons flour; two cups milk; salt, pepper and paprika; four cups cooked potatoes (cubed); six hard-cooked eggs (sliced).

Melt butter and blend in flour. Add milk gradually and stir until sauce thickens. Season to taste. Put alternate layers of potatoes, eggs and sauce in buttered baking-dish. Sprinkle top with buttered cracker crumbs or grated cheese. Bake in hot oven about 15 minutes. Serves six to eight.

SHIRRED EGGS IN BACON RINGS—Ingredients: Six slices bacon; six eggs; salt and pepper.

Cook bacon. Line six muffin-tins with strips of bacon, forming each slice into a ring around edge of tin. Break an egg into each bacon-ring and bake in a slow oven (325 degrees Fahrenheit) for five to 10 minutes, or until eggs are set. Remove from tins and serve on toast.



FAIRY DESSERT—Ingredients: six egg whites; one-half teaspoon baking-powder; one cup fine granulated or fruit sugar.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Sift baking-powder with sugar and gradually beat into egg whites. Put mixture into two well-buttered cake or pie tins and bake at 350 degrees Fahrenheit for 20 minutes. Turn out. When cool put together with sliced fruit mixed with whipped cream. Cover top with whipped cream. Chill well in refrigerator before serving.

Home and School Association News

GROVE SCHOOL

Miss Nell Schell, a former physics and mathematics teacher in Holland, spoke to the Grove Home and School Association this week about life in Holland and migration from that country.

Explaining that an area of approximately 100 square miles was populated by ten million people, she said there were few farms and average size was two or three acres. A farm of five acres was considered large. In the north of Holland the land was suitable only for grazing cattle and it was in this area that cheese and butter were made.

Education was expensive and comparatively few could afford to send their children to highschool. Discipline in the schools was stricter in Holland than in this country and teachers usually advised parents the occupation for which their children were best fitted.

Miss Schell also spoke of the Canadian Servicemen in Holland during the war and mentioned the Canadian war graves there. She was introduced by Mrs. W. Higgins and thank by Mrs. Campbell.

A member of the Association spoke to the meeting about the history of Peterborough, basing her remarks on statements made by Mayor Swanston.

Mrs. C. Barnes spoke about the common cold.

Mrs. R. Clements conducted an auction of food parcels and miscellaneous articles.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. H. Bowler, Mrs. D. Keene and Mrs. E. McKinstry.

INSPIRED—Of Oriental inspiration this afternoon dress is of irridescent striped taffeta with trim mandarin collar and self-belt fastened with large golden buckle.

THIS GIRL WEARS A KNITTED WOOLEN TUBE (inset) as a helmet and uses it again as a bare-topped bodice for a swirling skirt. This versatile "tube" can be made in a jiffy by any girl who can knit.

Woollen Glamor Tube Keeps Wardrobe in Gay Condition

By ALICIA HART

A knitted woollen tube, which any girl who can knit will find easy to make, is worth the time it takes because of the many roles it can fill in a wardrobe. It can double now as a chic strapless top for an ankle-length skirt and keep a topknot warm for the remainder of the winter. Come spring and summer, the tube can continue as a sturdy top for swim or sun shorts.

Such a top takes only five ounces of fingering yarn, a circular knitting needle, and a little spare time to make. The thing to remember when knitting is to cast on enough stitches for the circumferences of the body. The top should fit the body snugly. Girls who want an added safety measure for defying gravity can put in a casing at the top of the knitted "tube" and insert elastic.

Several tops in gay colors would provide clever changes for a single black skirt and a background for costume jewelry now when a wardrobe is apt to suffer from mid-season doldrums. For variety, a girl might use metallic yarn for knitting her "tube," trim it with seed pearls, or knit it in a simple design.

To transform the top to a helmet, all that needs to be done is to pull it on over the head. When its winter duties are over, the tubular top can team up with trunks in matching or contrasting colors and continue right into the fashion swim.

NEW LENGTH IS KIND TO LEGS

Spring hemlines rise but length still depends upon legs. In general, the skirt (above) that covers half the calf is best; is both revealing, concealing, and generally flattering.

Slim underpinnings (left) can take shorter hemlines than plump legs. The full skirt (above) can be shorter than a tight skirt because flared hemline gives better coverage.

Shorter Skirts Being Shown Hemline Creeping Up

By ALICIA HART

The hemline is creeping up.

Christian Dior, that fashion arbiter who started this whole business of dropping and raising hemlines, is showing shorter skirts for spring. His New York mannikens who are 5 feet, 10 inches tall with heels are modeling skirts which rise from 15 to 16 inches from the floor.

In spite of that, the French designer who influences fashions on both sides of the Atlantic, says he favors a hemline that covers half of the calf.

To determine the skirt length that flatters legs, examine your new finery—before you hem it up or let it down—in front of a long mirror. Wear the heel height in shoes that you intend to wear with your spring dress or suit.

If underpinnings are a point of pride show as much of them as fashion allows.

Take skinny legs. For them, let your frank appraisal of their attractiveness be your guide. As a rule skinny legs are not faults that need to be hidden by a little more skirt. But plump legs are. A bit more coverage is not only more concealing but has the effect of making short or stocky legs look longer.

When deciding upon hem length for spring, bear this fact in mind: A narrow skirt needs to be a little longer than a full skirt. A full skirt looks deceptively longer than it really is.

Lost Record Holds Victoria's Voice

LONDON, Jan. 13 — (CP) — Somewhere in Britain, possibly tucked away in an attic or a storeroom, there may be a cylinder record of Queen Victoria's voice.

Brian George, head of the BBC's recorded broadcasts department, wants the record for his pricesless collection, which includes records of nursing pioneer Florence Nightingale, Caruso, the Italian tenor, and William Gladstone, 19th-century Liberal premier.

"It is known that in 1876, or thereabouts, Queen Victoria recorded a message to the Emperor of Abyssinia," George said.

"One copy was sent to the Emperor, the sother was retained for filing. To the best of my knowledge this copy has never been destroyed and I believe someone has it."

George has advertised for the record in Britain, but does not rule out the possibility that someone may have taken it to another country.

Charles Simpson, who sells old phonograph records at a store in Charing Cross Road, said a woman living in Manitoba recently offered to sell him a number of records by Caruso and Dame Clara Butt, made in England 30 and 40 years ago.

"I did not buy them," he said, "because the risk of breakage in transport is considerable."

Sunday School At St. Luke's Presents Concert

The annual supper and concert of St. Luke's senior Sunday School was held Wednesday in the Parish Hall.

Pupils teachers, officers and guests sat down to a supper served by Mrs. D. Wyatt assisted by Mesdames Dainton, Biddle, Walker, Ferguson, Lipsett, King, Chapman, Vent and Wiltshire.

The superintendent, Mr. W King, the Church Wardens, Messrs. J. Gemmell and R. Krant, spoke in appreciation of the work done by the pupils, the teacers and the ladies who had charge of the supper.

In the upstairs hall a concert was presented.

A skit, directed and supervised by Betty Merrett, Anita Mason and Mrs. J. Trennum was acted by Diane Pearse, Marilyn Vint, Elizabeth Cutmore Arlene Ferguson, Eleanor Watson and Beverly Pollock.

Other items on the program were piano selections by Eleanor Watson and Diane Pearse; solos by Bernie Morin and Frased Watson.

A skit by Elizabeth Cutmore and Diane Pearse and songs by members of the Girl's Association.

The rector, the Rev. W. J. Gilling, presented attendance prizes to the following:

Marilyn Vint, Eleanor Watson Beverly Pollock, Beverly Fullbrook, June Merrett, Marilyn Clapper, Lois Biddle, Robert Harvey, John Rogers, Bob Pearse, Wayne Robinson, Ronald King and William Harvey.

Large Attendance At Bridgenorth Church Meeting

Attendance at the annual congregational meeting of Bridgenorth United Church Wednesday was the largest for many years. All Elders and Stewards were re-elected. Mrs. C. Telford was reappointed pianist. David Johnson was appointed convener of ushers Ken Robinson, Jack Crookshanks, Glenn Nichols, Bob Hardill, Wayne Nichols, Bill Mann and Sam Bell. The Official Board was re-appointed.

James Jopling was appointed treasurer and W. A. Sidney was re-elected superintendent of the Sunday School.

Reports of the various church organisations were presented as follows:

Mission Band, Mrs. C. Payne; Young People's League, Mrs. W Nichols in the absence of Waynes Nichols, treasurer, and Miss Lois Murray reported on the League's activities.

Women's Association, Mrs W. J Telford; secretary's report, Mrs. C. Payne in the absence of Mr. Hardill; Women's Missionary Society, Mrs. Wallace Nichols and Mrs. W. J. Robinson; Sunday School, W. A. Sidey and S. Bell Sr; Mr. Sidey and Miss Olive Sidey reported on the work they had done among the homes in Ennismore.

C.G.I.T., Mrs. Patterson; Boy Scouts, Mr. MacDouna; Cubs, Mr Patterson; choir, Mrs. W. J. Telford in the absence of Miss Wilma Telford; Bible Society, Mr. Sidey; cemetery board, Earl Nichols; treasurer of Bridgenorth charge, J. H. Johnson.

The C.G.I.T., Scouts and Cubs, which had formed their organisations three months ago, reported good progress.

The Rev. D. P. Morris led in prayer and secretary of the meeting was Wallace Nichols. Mr. Morris reported for the Session there had been one death, one wedding and 14 baptisms.

A vote of thanks to Mrs. S. B. Bell, auditor, was proposed by Mrs. James Jopling and seconded by Mr. J. Johnson and Mr. C Westlake. Mr. Johnson voiced appreciation for the work Mr. Morris had done among the congregation.

Lunch was served.

Surf gets clothes SWEETER

NEW WAY OF WASHING ENDS DIRTY SOAP SCUM

You'll boast about your sparkling "Surf-clean" wash—the whitest, brightest clothes you ever saw!

But that's not all! "Surf-clean" means sweeter, too . . . sweeter 3 ways:

1. Surf dissolves clinging, greasy dirt . . . in a flash!
2. Surf ends your soap scum problem for good.
3. Surf removes germs, deodorizes.

You get mountains of rich, long-lasting suds! Hard-working suds. Why, ounce for ounce, Surf does 3 times the work of leading washday soaps—in hardest water! Think what you save!

But best of all—Surf does all your washing . . . greasy work clothes, the youngster's grimy play suits. It's safe for delicate silks, nylons, rayons, household linens and curtains—even the walls and woodwork! And Surf gets dishes sparkling clean without wiping.

Try Surf in your washing machine—find out why it's more popular than any washing product introduced in Canada in years! Get the attractive blue box at your grocer's . . . For a shorter, SWEETER washday story use Surf.

Not only whiter, brighter but "Fresh-air-Fresh" even when dried indoors

Lettuce Leaf Gown Shown For Evening Wear

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP).—When yuong Miss America dances, it's likely she does it in a Ceil Chapman dress.

These youthful, light-hearted, full skirted and bare-shouldered dance frocks are the year's top choice among debutantes and college girls.

For spring festivities Miss Chapman shows a large majority of short dance dresses in crisp organdies and organzas, white or flower tinted, delicately embroidered, with practically nothing above the waist and yards and yards of froth below.

Fashion editors attending the press week showings of the New York Dress Institute sighed in pure bliss as the Chapman confections passed in review today.

In addition to the full-skirted theme, Miss Chapman shows a strapless sheath with matching bolero, for cocktail or less formal wear—this in such fabrics as mulberry shantung or black taffeta. She shows also a few floor-length evening gowns, notably one with a black sweater top, a red leather belt, and a diaphanous billowing skirt of layers and layers of sheer white organza.

Another highlight of her collection is an organdie evening gown in lettuce green organdie, with a petal peplum pleated and crimped to resemble huge lettuce leaves. The leaf motif also is repeated on the bodice, where leaves, seemingly unsupported, cup the breasts.

Blames Parents For Bad Children

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (CP). — What's wrong with those often-precocious little darlings of today—children?

"Parents!" says Muriel Uprichard, Regina-born expert in child study and newly-appointed national director of the Canadian Junior Red Cross. She received her early university education at Queen's, Kingston.

"By parents, I don't blame individual parents of isolated children," she explained in an interview, "but all parents—persons whom, for the sake of their own children, should share full responsibility for the younger generation of their community."

Miss Uprichard, who has devoted 18 years to the study of youth education, said she would like to see more emphasis placed on homemaking and child raising for students of both sexes in second school education.

Miss Joan Hickey To Be Snow Queen

Final preparations for their annual "Snow Ball" have been made by St. Peter's Senior Sodality and they have chosen Miss Joan Hickey to be Snow queen. The dance will be held on Friday evening, January 17 in the auditorium of St. Joseph's Nurses' residence. Sodality members are selling tickets and have been asked to make their returns by January 22.

At the recent meeting prefect Miss Heen Strano set up a suggestion box and asked for contributions from each sodalist. They will be reviewed by the executive and outstanding ones will be acted upon. Secretary Miss Pat Eggleton and treasurer Miss Shirley McKenzie reported.

Excellent papers were delivered by the following speakers Misses Mary Teresa Doran, Lamoine Cook, Eleanor Collins and Delphine Hulsman. The social and publicity committees combined their talents to present a valety program, after which a delicious lunch was enjoyed.

FASHION RAIDS the kitchen to find spring's most unusual fabric: dishtoweling. The redingote coat (left) which tops a halter-type sun dress of green cotton poplin is made of green-and-white toweling. The blue-and-white dish towel outfit (right) combines tie-on jacket and sun dress trimmed with blue cotton fringe.

Mrs. Wm. Gainer Heads WA At Bailieboro

At the annual meeting of the Women's Association of Bailieboro United which, held recently at the parsonage, Mrs. William Gainer was installed for 1950. The Rev. B. Heywood conducted the ceremony, which also put the following in office:

Honorary president, Mrs. Wm. Fell; past president, Mrs. Lloyd Jewison; first vice-president Mrs. H. C. Howson; second vice-president, Mrs. A. Watt; secretary, Mrs. George Dean; assistant, Mrs. R. Kidd; treasurer, Mrs R. Eagleson; pianist, Mrs. B. Heywood; assistant, Mrs. W. Smith.

Conveners and committees were appointed as follows: flowers for the sick, Mrs. A. Harnden, Mrs. F. McKay, Mrs. C Dawson, Miss Mary Tanner, Mrs Kenneth Dawson; missionary Mrs. Fred Barnard, Mrs. A. Montgomery, Mrs. Hugh Fallis; cards Miss Clara Seens, Miss Margaret Dean, Mrs. Jeffrey Jewison: press, Mrs. James E. Lewis, Mrs R. Kelly; auditors, Mrs. B. Heywood, Mrs. Jas. Plews; booklets Miss Seens, Mrs. A. Montgomery, Mrs. J. Plews, Mrs. W. Jones.

The report on last year given by treasurer, Mrs. Eagleson. showed $753.40 was raised, of which $25 was donated to the Hospital for Sick Children Toronto, $100 for missions, and $400 of the balance added to the building fund for the addition of a Sunday school to the church.

The "group system" will continue to be used as a means of raising funds since it has proven so satisfactory during the past two years. A committee including the president and secretary and Miss Luly Nurse, Miss Clara Seens, Miss Mary Tanner and Mrs A. Watt was empowered to revise the system and appoint group conveners in readiness for February meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. Blanche Dawson.

At close of the meeting, lunch was served by Mrs. Heywood.

MARY K. BIRDSALL CHAPTER

Nomination meeting of Mary K. Birdsall, C.O.E., was held at the home of the honorary regent, Mrs. H. G Carleton, this week. Sixteen members were present.

Three new members, Miss Robin Wright, Marina Armstrong and Esther Campbell signed the register, and were presented with C.O.E. badges. A few moments silence was observed in memory of the Order's official secretary, Mrs. McCulloch, whom many of the girls remembered at conventions.

A letter of thanks was received from the family which the chapter provided with a Christmas dinner, food, clothing and toys. Twelve I.O.D.E. calendars were reported sold.

Nomination of officers took place and will be approved at the next meeting to be held at the home of Misses Fay and Marie Adams on February 8.

Mrs. Carleton read the history of the Trent Canal.

Refreshments were served by Miss Eleanor Carleton, assisted by Misses Joyce and Esther Campbell.

Dish Towel Enters Ranks 1950 Fashion

By EPSIE KINARD

NEW YORK—(NEA)—A raid on the nation's kitchen-towel supplies to find inexpensive dress linens has resulted in a good haul for spring and summer for budget-minded gals.

Low-cost dish toweling has been turned into high-style play dresses, thanks to the adventurous spirit of Tina Leser—the designer who went around the world last year to track down new fashion ideas. Moreover, there's enough linen crispness in a dish-towel dress to satisfy the demands of this mad-about-linen season.

One tailored redingote outfit of Miss Leser's design owes its crisp tailoring and fresh appeal to green and white cross-barred kitchen toweling. The extravagant cutaway of the coat reveals a solid green sundress of poplin with which it is ensembled.

Another style which comes out of the kitchen to take its place in the sun is a dress topped by a tie-and-white-checked toweling is trimmed at pockets and at sleeves of jacket with blue cotton fringe.

Indulgent Parent Produces Spoiled Child Group Told

By MERRILL SWEDLUND

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 13 — (CP)—What's wrong with all of us?

You can get plenty of answers to that query from any number of psychiatrists like Dr. Jess V. Cohn, assistant superintendent of Indiana's Central State Hospital for the Insane.

But Dr. Cohn has decided it's better to let people talk their own way out of their problems. The result is his pioneering work in domestic trouble-shooting forums.

"Lectures are terrible," he said "People may listen, may even solicit your help. But when they get up to leave, they think of all their objections to what you've said."

Dr. Cohn calls himself the "moderator and guide" in his psychological volleyball matches. He tosses out an idea and the discussion group bats it around until everyone is agreed they've hit the right conclusion.

"There is the matter of spoiled brats," he suggested to a discussion group in an Indianapolis church. "How do parents let them get that way?"

"That's easy," someone said. "the parents were spoiled brats themselves."

"Oh, no," another protested "That's not the way of it at all. A parent, spoiled when he was a child, will be selfish, unfeeling and intolerant toward his own children. It is an indulgent parent that produces a spoiled brat."

Of course, there's nothing new about such discussions. What makes Dr. Cohn's forums different is his procedure and the long-range goals he has set up.

When the talk begins heading for some conclusion that a psychiatrist knows is wrong, Dr. Cohn steps in. Perhaps everyone has let his own emotions affect his reasoning, and the group backtracks to start over again on an objective basis.

Mostly, though, he finds groups agrive at "reasonably accurate conclusion." And the participants have been surprisingly frank, even on sox and intimate human relations. Some of the sessions have gone on for 2½ to 3 hours, taking up any number of social problems.

To start with, Dr. Cohn has concentrated on a discussion group of young people about to marry or recently married. Through them, he hopes for "better children out of improved adults."

Dr. Cohn is no upstart in psychiatry. He has revamped the hospital psychiatric department here, adding training for resident psychiatrists, laboratory work for a Butler University class in clinical psychology and a follow-up clinic for convalescent patients.

Woman Complains Husband Shows Her No Affection

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman of 45, happily married to a splendid man, and we have a big family of teen-age boys and girls. We haven't much money and I have to work hard, but I don't mind that because I am repaid in having a happy home, a contented husband, bringing up a lot of fine young people. I know my husband loves me devotedly, but he seldom gives any outward expression of his affection and I find I am lonely much of the time. I would be supremely happy in spite of very little of this world's goods if only he would tell me that he still loves me and manifest some of the tenderness that I know he feels for me Can't you say something that will make him realize how little I ask?

MRS. M. T. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I get thousands of letters like this one, and as I read them I never know which I think has the less intelligence, the romantic goose of a wife or the bottled-up refrigerator of a husband. Anyway, I'd like to knock their stupid heads together and make them see a few stars that might guide them along the way of happiness.

Between the two I think I would give the medal for dumbness to the husband. For here is a man with a wife whom he really loves and appreciates. He realizes that her life isn't an easy one. He would like to surround her with every luxury. But he hasn't the money to do it.

Could Make Her Happy

But he could give her the one thing in the world that she craves more than anything else, and he knows it. He knows that a little affection would set the sun in his wife's day and make her perfectly happy. A few kind words, and he won't say them. Can you beat that for lack of sense?

Unless the wife beats it by her lack of intelligence in making herself miserable over an imaginary trouble, because she does know that her inarticulate husband does love her even if he never feels called upon to mention the fact.

She knows that any man who is as domestic as the house cat and who toils early and late to keep his wife comfortable is giving a proof of devotion that is beyond all question. He is simply saying it with pot roasts and spinach instead of orchids.

In reality, every woman who has a brain that functions even on one cylinder knows that deeds count more than words, and that the husbands who are glib lovemakers at home are oftener than not philanderers abroad.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Would I be doing the right thing by telling a boy friend of mine about some of his faults? Especially about his clothes. He takes me out quite often, but I am ashamed to have him meet my friends, because he looks so slouchy and unkempt. Apparently he never combs his hair and his suit looks as if he had slept in it. I think his personal appearance is keeping him from getting ahead in the world. Should I tell him, or just discontinue going out with such a boy?

PUZZLED GIRL.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you tell the boy about his shortcomings, he will probably automatically discontinue going out with you because young men do not take kindly to criticism.

But you will be doing grand missionary work that may be the salvation of the youth, for, however much he may resent having you hold the mirror up to him and forcing him to see himself as others see him, the chances are that unless he is hopelessly vain and indolent he will reform.

No boy really wants a girl to be ashamed to be seem out with him. On the contrary, he desires her to be so proud of him that she flaunts him before her frfiends, and when he finds out that it humiliates her to be seen with a human ragbag he is very likely to make a break for the barber and the tailor.

And you are quite right in thinking that a slovenly appearance is a fatal handicap to a man in business.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married fifteen years. About a year ago my husband told me that he did not love me any more and never would and begged me to leave him, which I did. A few days later he came for me and asked me to come back home and said he had changed his mind about loving me. Now he wants me to leave again and I don't know what to do. The trouble is that he is crazy for children and I have none. What shall I do?

WIFE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Evidently your husband loves you and you are necessary to his happiness, but when he is with you all the time he does not realize this. My advice is to go away for a while and when he misses you and comes for you again tell him that you will come on the condition that he will agree to adopt a baby.

White Collar Boy Becomes Darling Of 1950's Spring

By EPSIE KINARD

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Fashion's newest darling is the little white collar boy. His influence on styles is seen everywhere.

Besides putting a youthful rim of white around a woman's neck, the little collar of white pique also hits a practical note. More easily renewable than woollen, a detachable cotton collar guards the collar of coat, coat-dress or suit which it overlays.

As used by Nettie Rosenstein, the little boy collar whitens the neckline of simple but smart tweed coats. One collar that gets special treatment — this one's edged with two rows of navy blue soutache braid—frosts a coat of muted blue-and-gray tweed which is self-belted and buttoned to the waistline.

What's Right

Your husband works in an office located so that it is convenient for you to stop by when you are down town shopping.

WRONG WAY: Make a habit of stopping by to get extra money for shopping, to unload packages which you want him to bring home, to ask him to take you to lunch, etc.

RIGHT WAY: Realize that a wise wife doesn't use her husband's office for her own convenience.

Resort Operators Discuss Area Folder

A Kawartha tourist area folder was discussed at a meeting of the resort operators' section of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday night. There has not been such a folder for the district for a number of years.

The operators felt that if tourists are to be attracted to this area some advertising must be done as other areas, such as Haliburton and Muskoka, are engaged on extensive advertising campaigns. The folder should be a joint effort of the retailers in Peterborough and the resort operators, they said.

Members of the executive committee of the operators are: William Inson and Paul Harding of Stony Lake; Wes Doyle of Pigeon Lake; Ernie Bulmer of Chandos Lake; Bus Mitchell of Chemong Lake; M. A. McWilliams of Buckhorn Lake; Arthur Metcalfe, Arthur Elmhirst and George Robertson of Rice Lake; Thomas Lawlor of Clear Lake.

Recognize Red Gov't.

HELSINKI, Jan. 13 — (Reuters) —Finland today recognized the Chinese Communist Government.

The planet Mars, so far as it is known, has no valleys or mountains.

Centenary Event

tion of the committee is that a reception would be held at Club Aragon for the advantage of its broader spaces.

Attending the meeting Thursday night were: Aldermen Sands, Gillespie, Anglesey, Dewart, Mayor Swanston, Mr. Outram and W. F. Huycke, KC, city solicitor.

The proposed appointment of the special co-ordinating committee was moved by Aldermen Dewart and Anglesey.

Programs and other particulars are to be funnelled through the reception committee for final reference to the council and its authority.

"I have been surprised by the number of enquiries from groups of citizens who are quite definitely interested in having a part in the centenary celebration," Ald. Sands said, and Mayor Swanston remarked that he had received similar queries.

List of Events

The first and major event in the council's planning will be toward the end of March.

Below it on the list were such affairs as: the formal opening of Civic Hospital about the second week in July, presumably a Board of Governors affair; official opening of the Lions Club swimming pool; Allied Labor Council's celebration of Labor Day; Peterborough Exhibition in August which might be enlarged for centennial year.

Canadian Legion has first claim for Civic Holiday, which might develop into a reunion of veterans, if some of the branches do not decide separate affairs of their own. Red Patch Club has already been thinking of a reunion, and it might be that they wished to carry on alone. However, the Veterans Day will emerge on some bigger scale than usual for Civic Holiday.

Junior Chamber of Commerce may extend their 24th of May Jamboree to three days. School reunions and their possibilities will be left to the Board of Education and Separate School Board.

The turning of the sod for the new city hall may be advanced into the summer events.

A suggestion will be made by Peterborough's industries that they might be interested in participating effectually in the affairs of this year. Reception committee is hopeful attention may be concentrated in some affair on the importance of this city's manufacturing plants.

Churches of the city are also being asked to consider whether they could take some place in the program.

The extent of the centennial celebration remains in the planning that is about to begin. So far only a few suggestions have been considered. Mayor Swanston said that North Monaghan should have some place and recognition in events because Peterborough was once a corner of the township.

The committee is literally anxious that cost to the ratepayers shall be avoided. There is bound to be some expense, but the attitude of the council is that outlay should be moderate, and that groups of citizens should be encouraged to undertake affairs of their becoming to the anniversary.

Local Merchants

Store keepers who will be most affected by this ruling are those dealing in china, silverware and jewellery and woollen goods. China merchants, it is believed, far outstrip the others in the amount of merchandise they send across the border. The large part of the china they send across is fine English china.

Rush For Refunds

It is expected the news will start a scramble among many of the store managers who have considerable tourist trade. One manager explained that many tourists shopping in Canadian cities are loaded down with their holiday equipment and have not the room to pack purchases. Because of this a good deal is shipped to them.

In England where a similar law is in effect, the price of goods is marked down by the amount of the sales tax for customers from other countries who want their purchases shipped to their homes.

Tax Act

Section 103A of the Excise Tax Act which covers the sales tax reads: "No tax imposed by this Act shall be levied or collected if evidence satisfactory to the Minister is produced to establish: (a) that the goods in respect of which it is imposed have been exported from Canada by, (i) the manufacturer, producer, or licensed wholesaler by whom the tax would otherwise be payable; or (ii) the vendor to whom the tax would otherwise be payable."

Regulations under the Excise Act in section 17 list the conditions which must be met: It reads in part: When taxable goods are exported the following evidence of exportation is required to be maintained for examination by Excise Tax Auditors: (i) Copy of invoice showing sale of the goods to a foreign purchaser, (ii) Copy of bill of lading showing direct and unbroken transit to the foreign purchaser; (iii) Export Entry (Form B13 combining Export Form B) certified to by a proper officer of National Revenue. Claims for refund shall not be allowed on goods sold and used and subsequently exported.

Value Respect For Antiquity Bishop Berry Tells Kinsmen

"Before we in the new world grow too cocky over our present standard of living, and way of life generally, we should reflect on the change in values that will likely have taken place twenty centuries from now."

That was the gist of the brief address delivered Thursday night to the Kinsmen Club by the Most Rev. Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough. Bishop Berry recently returned from a journey to Rome where, among other things, he had an audience with the Pope.

Inhabitants of the new world, he felt, were cometimes supercritical of the old world's respect for antiquity. But the monuments of antiquity "created a unity" that has lasted for 20 centuries and that should demand the respect of people who live in a land where only Indians roamed 150 years ago.

"Some people say that Europe has failed; that the new world is the top in this century. Don't feel that way," he said. "Go over and take a look for yourself."

Their civilisation has stood the test of time. Can the self-confident builders of the new world assume as much?

Mediterranean Roots

Bishop Berry recalled that the civilisation of the west emanated from the Mediterranean basis from a marriage of Greek and Roman civilizations. From that point source sprang our system of law and philosophy, respect for the family unit and the law of property.

Are we developing or just living on the capital of ideas and effort of our forefathers? he asked. Are we living on this capital or are we contributing our share?

In the brief time at his disposal, Bishop Berry gave the highlights of his 5,000 mile journey to the Holy See. He visited six countries in Europe before reaching Italy. They were England, Ireland, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and France.

Green Land

In England he admired the carefully built stone walls, trimmed hedges and "the beautiful green of the countryside" which he had not seen in nearly 20 years. One of his first points of call was Chester where he visited the cathedral ("one of the glories of England").

Although the bombing around St. Paul's Cathedral was severe he felt it had accomplished one good thing: the magnificent lines of the building designed by Sir Christopher Wren were now visible from a distance. Previously they had been masked to the sightseer by ugly buildings.

He also found time to see a game of professional English football and became an enthusiast in an afternoon.

In Ireland he visited the usual sights of Dublin, his father's home and Maynooth Theological College. He described how Maynooth was sponsored with some enthusiasm by the Protestant British when they began to fear that Irish priests—previously forced to train on the continent—would bring back some of the doctrines fo the French Revolution.

Of Irish stock himself he nevertheless chuckled at this piece of Machiavellian statesmanship by the British.

Ruined Railways

Practically every German railway station on the route to Cologne was still in ruins or being repaired, so concentrated had been the Allied bombing. Fifteen to 20 feet of rubble still stands outside the fascade of Cologne Cathedral.

The Cathedral is a short distance away from Cologne station and he said it had doubtless been hit by a bomb which overshot its mark.

He described the Germans today as "serious people" and said their first concern now seemed to be to get the fullest productivity from the land. Large numbers of them now work in the fields by hand.

Reconstruction is held back because much of the material that could be used is in the Soviet Eastern zone of Germany, he said.

Land of Plenty

Switzerland he described as "a land of plenty but plenty expensive." In most countries a traveller paid "a fair price" for things but prices were too high in that mountainous country.

Bishop Berry went to Lourdes, then to Marseilles and spent two days on the French Riviera. From there he travelled on into Italy.

For 18 days he was a visitor in Rome and on the 17th of November he attained the highlight of his journey, an audience with the Pope.

During the 20-minute audience they talked about Peterborough—the district, the people and their problems. Despite the many ecclesiastical and secular matters requiring his attention the Pope was able to concentrate without reservation on the conversation, Bishop Berry said.

At that time serious ecclestical problems were facing him in both Poland and Czechoslocakia and reports were coming in all the time of fresh Soviet moves.

Bishop Berry was introduced by Bill Roche and thanked by James Wharry. President Harley Weir was in the chair.

Police Capture Cheque Forger

WINDSOR, Jan. 13 (CP) — A five-year search for one of Canada's top cheque forgers has ended, police say, with the arrest of Leonard Cole, 34.

Police said authorities of Ottawa, Toronto and St. Catharines hold warrants for his arrest on charges of false pretences and fraud. He was picked up Wednesday on a downtown street by officers who recognized him.

An escort is expected here to take the suspect to St. Catharines where he will face the first charge.

Sunday School Reports On 1949

FAIRMOUNT, Jan. 13 (ENS)—The Sunday school annual meeting was held Wednesday in Howden Memorial Hall. The minister, the Rev. E. S. Linstead, presided.

All reports showed that good work was being done in the Sunday school and that the money raised left a substantial balance after all expenses had been met.

A special collection had been taken in December for the work of the Fred Victor Mission in Toronto, amounting to $22.

Officers elected were: Superintendent, R. F. McIndoo; asst. supt. Charlie Knight; sec.-treas., Roger Hanbidge; sec of adult division R. K. Earle; sec of senior div., W. J. Seymour; cradle roll supt. Mrs. T. W. McIndoo; home dept supt., Lloyd Hooton; missionary supt., Mrs R. C. Hanbidge; temperance secs., Jean Hanbidge and Myrna Seymour.

Teacher training, Mrs C. W. Seymour; flower committee, Mrs W. J. Seymour and Mrs. Lloyd Hooton; music committee, Nelson Ballantyne, Jean Hanbidge, Margaret Earle and Myrna Seymour; monitors, Douglas Ball, Jim Seymour, and Gerald Minnie; auditors, Mrs Walter Windrim and Mrs. C. W. Seymour.

Given New Post

PORTMOUTH, England, Jan. 13 — (Reuters) — Admiral Sir Philip Vian, one of the most decorated officers in the British navy, has succeeded Admiral Sir Rhoderick McGrigor as Commander-in-Chief of Britain's Home Fleet. McGrigor becomes Commander-in-Chief, Plymouth. Vian, 56, led the destroyer Cossack's boarding party to rescue 300 Allied seamen from the prison ship Altmark in a Norwegian fjord in 1940.

Grace Church Well Established After First Year

After a year of activity since the opening of Grace United Church, the congregation reviewed its achievements during that period and discussed the tasks which lie ahead, at the annual meeting this week.

Eric McKinistry was chairman and the Rev. E. W. Rowland read the report of the Session of Elders. Hespoke of the opportunity which faced the church in the rapidly expanding area south of Landsdowne Street.

W. Anderson, C. Gilbank and I. Bennett were elected elders.

Mrs. A. D. Cameron's report on behalf of the Women's Association revealed that the organization was one of the main arteries of the church in helping with financial aid and also was responsible for increasing church membership, and good fellowship among the congregation.

The report of the choir, presented by Mrs. J. Waldie, showed many new members had been recruited during the year.

Fraser McDonald reported on behalf of the Board of Stewards.

The Salvation Army Male Voice choir sang and Mr. Rowland presented a humorous reading to the piano accompaniment of Mrs. Rowland.

Lunch was served.

Not Competent

BUDAPEST, Jan. 13 — (AP) — Communist-dominated Hungary told Britain last night she does "not consider the British competent and qualified to teach the Hungarian government a lesson in how to realize freedom and real democracy." Hungary made the statement in a not replying to Britain's rejection of a Hungarian protest over establishment of the West German government.

Flee Into Streets

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Jan. 13 (AP)—Wellington's citizens fled into the streets this morning as three minor earth tremors set church bells ringing, dishes clattering and door banging. No serious damage was reported— other than a lot of broken chinaware.

Two Planes Collide

SINGAPORE, Jan. 13 — (Reuters)— Two Royal Air Force Mosquitoes collided in mid-air 20 miles East of Point Baram in British East of Borneo today, killing both pilots and both navigators.

Review Suggestion On Power Resources

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Power Commission said Thurday it will review a recommendation by one of its examiners that the federal government develop St. Lawrence river power resources.

The commission ordered the review of a recommendation by Examiner Glen R. Law after an appeal by the New York power authority, the National St. Lawrence Project Conference, the Aluminum Company of America, and the power commission staff counsel.

Law recommended last Dec. 20 that the New York power authority's application to develop power on the St. Lawrence be denied and that the federal government do it.

Locate Runaway Girl

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Jan. 13 — (AP) — A 12-year-old runaway girl, missing for a week from her home in nearby Yonkers and feared a victim of foul play, was found unharmed Thursday taking in a movie show here. The girl, Josephine Leech, run away after a quarrel with her mother.

Two Bandits Get $7,000 In Bank Raid

Follow Manager Into Office At Elmira Bank

ELMIRA, Ont., Jan. 14 (CP)—Two bandits escaped with $7,000 in a hold-up of the Dominion Bank today in this Waterloo county town 14 miles northwest of Kitchener.

Provincial Police said the bandits executed the robbery after having followed the manager into the bank at 9:15 a.m.

Police said they fled toward Guelph in a taxi believed to have been stolen in Toronto. Roadblocks were set up throughout the district in an effort to cut off their avenue of escape.

Abbott Reports Dollar Surplus

OTTAWA, Jan. 14 (CP)—Canada achieved a $10,900,000 surplus in trade with the United States during November—first surplus with that country in a year.

The spectacular climb out of successive monthly trading deficits with the U.S. resulted from November's record exports of $173,600,000 and imports of $162,900,000, a drop of $5,000,000 from October's buying.

This surplus brought Canada's credit balance in November with all countries to the highest 1949 monthly balance — $55,000,000 — the Bureau of Statistics reported Friday.

November's surplus in trading with all countries compared with October's surplus of $37,400,000 and an average monthly surplus during 1949 of $13,000,000. It was slightly below the surplus of $58,200,000 in November, 1948, but more than double the favorable balance of $26,900,000 in November, 1947.

Has Surplus

The federal government ended the first nine months of the 1949-50 fiscal year with a surplus of $299,085,966, Finance Minister Abbott announced.

His report covered the period from April 1 to Dec. 31 and showed that the surplus was about $800,000 lower than at Nov. 30. The fiscal year ends next March 31.

Revenues in the nine-month period were $1,836,447,927, compared was $1,956,207,869 in the corresponding period of the 1948-49 fiscal year, a decrease of $119,759,942. Expenditures were $1,537,361,961 an increase of $190,919,499.

In his budget speech to the Commons Oct. 20, Mr. Abbott forecast a surplus of about $90,000,000 for the current year. The 1948-49 fiscal year ended with a surplus of $595,000,000.

Shows Decline

The nine month surplus of $299,100,000 compared with a surplus of $609,800,000 at the end of the corresponding period in 1948

Revenues in December amounted to $199,600,000, a decrease of 9.4 per cent from the $220,200,000

Further Reductions Hinted By Ambassador

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 14 (CP)—Further reductions in Britain's purchases in Canada may be necessary before the United Kingdom can re-establish its postwar economy, Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, United Kingdom High Commissioner to Canada, told the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario, in convention here Friday.

Such reductions could only be avoided he said, if Canada and Canadian buyers purchased enough British goods to enable the United Kingdom to keep up her purchasing power in the Dominion.

Sir Alexander, closing speaker at the two-day convention, said the "righting of the unbalance of trade between the dollar area and the non-dollar (sterling) countries is "priority number one" in the world today.

Plan To Give All Faiths Shrine Rights

JERUSALEM, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Holy Year may inaugurate a century of "tremendous change" in the holy sepulchre, most venerated place in Christendom.

A suggestion for administration reform, supported by the Vatican, is that "all who believe in Christ shall have the possibility of worshipping at the site of Golgotha," an eminent Franciscan told The Associated Press.

The proposed reform would give Protestants the same rights in the 1,600-year-old shrine enjoyed by eastern and western Catholics. "The message of Christ," the Franciscan said, "is addressed to all who are willing to hear it—not to any particular sect."

The plan has nothing to do with recent political events in the Holy Land, he added, or with the U.N. decision to internationalize Jerusalem. Nor is it an "immediate program" to be put into effect even in a few years.

"Before all has been said and done about it," the spokesman said, "a hundred years may have passed. The tremendous changes in the spiritual, administrative and architectural organization of the holy sepulchre will necessitate intricate interdenominational negotiations and complicated church diplomacy."

It is hoped that the new arrangement will end once and for all the embittered, sometimes fanatical disputes on the various rights and titles in the church which so often have marred the peace around Christ's tomb.

Composes Suite

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. Jan. 14 (CP)—A suite by Ottawa composer Eldon Rathburn, dedicated to the United Nations Children's Fund, will have its premiere in Toronto Jan. 24, it was announced Friday. The Toronto Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Sir Ernest MacMillan, will play the still-unnamed work by the 33-year-old Rathburn, national film board composer.

Royal Navy Seeks Answers About Submarine Ramming

CHATHAM, Kent, England, Jan. 14—(AP)—The Royal Navy today sought to salvage the submarine Truculent and began investigating the wreck that sank her with a loss of 65 lives. Divers went down at daybreak to see how the 1,575-ton submarine could be raised from her silty grave. She lay 54 feet under the Thames Estuary shipping channel some, 15 miles east of the naval base here.

A Navy Board of Inquiry scheduled its first sitting today at Chatham Barracks. It is to investigate how the Truculent came to be rammed and sunk Thursday night by the 643-ton icebreaking motor tanker Divina from Stockholm.

The Truculent went down within a minute after the little Divina sliced her bow in clear weather at 6.55 p.m., 1.55 p.m. EST) Thursday. She had 80 men aboard—62 Navy men and 18 dockyard workers.

Fifteen have been rescued. Ten bodies have been recovered.

One naval officer said, "We are still working on," but the Navy High Command had given up hope of further rescues.

The Admiralty said last night, 23 hours after the accident, that "no hope can now be entertained that there will be any further survivors."

Notify Next Of Kin

It sent telegrams to the next of kin of the 10 dead and 55 men missing. Their names are expected to be published tonight, 24 hours later.

The bodies of 35 or more men were believed to be inside the Truculent.

Of the 15 rescued, five were on the conning tower when the blow came. The other 10 were within the vessel and bobbed to the surface through an escape hatch from the unflooded after third of the vessel.

Globe-helmeted divers and rubber-suited "frog men" swimmers worked until dusk last night seeking signs of life aboard the Truculent.

Divers tapped her hull with their iron boots. They exploded hand grenades in the water. They got no reply. Their effort to fix an air line into the hull failed.

Ceylon Talks Quite Successful

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Jan 14 — (AP)—The Commonwealth's foreign ministers ended their conference today and announced their countries still agree on their approach to most foreign problems.

A communique issued after the final conference session said the discussions demonstrated that "among all members of the commonwealth there is a continuing and substantial community of outlook in their approach to current problems of foreign affairs."

The conference agreed also, the communique said, that "there need be no inconsistency" between Britain's policy toward western Europe and the "maintenance of traditional links between the United Kingdom and the rest of the Commonwealth."

The communique said the foreign ministers had agreed on:

1. Recommendations for economic development in south and southeast Asia.

2. Recommendations regarding conditions for a peace settlement with Japan.

The recommendations for economic development have been described as a program of self-help and mutual aid among Asian countries.

Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain said the conference's work would be "undone by no other," though "the British public may or may not like me to continue this work in six weeks time." Bevin referred to the British general election Feb. 23.

Manslaughter Verdict In Drunken Brawl

WELLAND, Jan. 14 (CP)—A two-man drunken brawl, in which one of the fighters was killed, has culminated in the conviction of a 43-year-old Port Colborne war veteran on a reduced charge of manslaughter.

After a three-day trial, Mr. Justice G. A. Gale Friday deferred sentence to Jan. 18 on burly Frank Mahagen. Mr. Justice Gale told the jury, which took two hours 10 minutes to bring its verdict, it had three choices—guilty of murder or manslaughter, or acquittal.

Mahagen had admitted killing George Morrison, 41, by striking him on the head with a rock during a quarrel last Dec. 15 in a dilapidated shack they shared a mile west of Port Colborne.

He testified he struggled with Morrison after a bout of drinking. The pair drank beer and wine in Port Colborne for several hours before returning to the shack to drink more wine.

Armed Squads Patrolling To Crack Montreal Crime

MONTREAL, Jan. 14 (CP). — Special squads of heavily-armed detectives patrolled Montreal on Friday night in an emergency measure aimed at curbing a month-long crime wave.

Friday, a $2,128 payroll was snatched from a woman clerk and a candy store was robbed of $25. At L'Abord a Pouffe, just north of Montreal, a lone gunman robbed the Bank Provinciale of $300

Assistant Director Wilfrid Bourdon, Chief of the City Police Detective Bureau, authorized the detailing of more than 50 detectives to patrol the city because he said he anticipated further outbreaks. He said the addition of a score of men to overworked holdup squad detectives would find police "waiting for criminals no matter where they strike."

In the last two days, 12 men suspected of having taken part in several robberies have been arrested. Friday, three men were arrested on suspicion of implication in Thursday's $5,000 robbery of a bakery here. They are being held for further investigation.

Two city policemen arrested on suspicion of armed robbery of an East-end grocery store were scheduled to be arraigned this morning.

Wind Drives Ferryboat Down River

65 MPH Gale Blows Telegraph Lines Down In Peterborough Area

TORONTO, Jan. 14 (CP) — A ferryboat was blown down the St. Lawrence River near Kingston by a windstorm which ripped across southern Ontario and brought gusts of 75 miles an hour at Malton, 18 miles northwest of here.

The gale-force winds drove out the balmy weather which the southern part of the province has experienced during the last two days. For today "winter temperatures" are forecast for most of the province, with 'quite heavy' snow in the Lake Huron and southern Georgian Bay regions.

The temperature is expected to moderate in southern Ontario by tomorrow. Skies will be overcast Sunday and snow is predicted for most areas.

The windstorm, the second this week in southern Ontario, was more severe than one which struck Wednesday and caused more extensive damage. Power and communications lines were ripped down in many districts, trees toppled or had branches torn off, roofs were lifted and store windows blown in.

Losing Headway

The ferryboat blown adrift was the Wolfe Islander, loaded with Wolfe Island residents who set out on the three-mile run to Kingston. It was six miles east of Kingston 1½ hours after it started its trip and was reported losing headway in the teeth of the westerly gale.

A houseboat was reported adrift at Brockville in eastern Ontario. First reports said it was not known whether anyone was aboard.

The windstorm moved into eastern Ontario by mid-morning after lashing southern Ontario from Georgian Bay to the lower lakes. The storm centre then was heading towards Quebec province.

Arena Blown Down

An arena was blown down at Chesterville in the Ottawa district. At Brockville, the St. Lawrence River was the roughest residents there have seen it in several years.

Westerly winds of upwards of 60 miles an hour ripped telephone and telegraph lines at Midland on Georgian Bay. The storm started there about 3 a.m.

Hundreds of roofs were damaged in the Hamilton district. The wall of a new apartment building caved in. Plate glass windows of stores buckled and broke. Big trees fell before the wind's sweep, in some cases smashing parked cars and in others blocking streets.

The roof of a large cement barn was blown off at Oshawa and tossed against a house, knocking

Trains Collide Near Regina

REGINA, Jan. 14 (CP)—Two Canadian Pacific Railway passenger trains collided early today on the Moose Jaw-Winnipeg line two miles east of Swift Current, Sask.

First reports indicated that passengers and crew suffered only minor injuries. A doctor and nurse were taken by taxi from Swift Current.

A CPR spokesman said the eastbound No. 7 plowed into the rear end of the second section of eastbound No. 3, lifting the observation car four feet off the rail.

Two cars were thrown off the track and the baggage car was crushed against the tender of the front train.

Swift Current is in the southwest corner of the province, about 150 miles west of here.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, (AP).—The State Department announced today that the Chinese Communists are seizing United States government consular property at Peiping.

Freak Dwarf Fawn

NIAGARA FALLS, Jan. 14 (CP)—The body of a freak dwarf fawn has been sent to the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto by Game Conservation officers. The animal, killed by a train in Humberstone Township, was 14 inches high and weighed 36 pounds. It was one-third white, had toes twice the length of those of a normal deer and its nose resembled that of a goat. When killed, it was with a 135-pound doe.

Province Of B.C. Digging Out In New Blizzard

VANCOUVER, Jan. 14 (CP) — Canada's "evergreen playground" thinks the whole thing is past being a joke.

Since the end of summer, floods, rains, winds and blizzards have combined to give the lie to tourist pamphlets. Now the Pacific-coast area is in the grip of winter, and there is no sign of a let-up.

In Vancouver the thermometer Thursday dropped to 2.7 degrees above zero, lowest recording for the date in 43 years. Water pipes froze, boats at nearby moorings were swamped. Snow clogged traffic.

On Vancouver Island, usually-mild Victoria felt frigid 40-mile-an-hour winds. Airline travel halted and boats from the mainland were delayed. The temperature fell to 7.8 degrees above—the lowest since 1909.

Children Get Holiday

In the Fraser valley, running through low farm land and into the feet of the mountains, blocked roads gave 7,000 school children a holiday. At Chilliwack, 65 miles east of here, an attempt will be made today to reach a detachment of army engineers isolated by 15-foot drifts. Their food will last only one day.

Blizzards closed the new trans-Canada highway between Hope 100 miles east and Princeton, in the Okanagan valley. The highway south to the United States was also blocked.

Tugs battled to free the lower Fraser River from ice which has halted industries along her banks and thrown 11,000 men out of work.

In the interior the town of Smithers, between Prince Rupert and Prince George on the Canadian National Railways line to Edmonton, reported a 12-year record low of 47 below.

Ask Restoration Of Whisky Quota

GLASGOW, Jan. 14 — (CP) — Scotch whisky distillers plan to urge the government to restore the 600,000-gallon annual cut in the home market whisky quota made two years ago to help exports.

They said "irregular" sales of immature whisky at high prices have sprung up in Britain and this can be stopped if the 600,000-gallon cut is restored.

The Scotch Whisky Association has allowed only 2,000,000 gallons of the 11,000,000 gallons available annually to reach the home market. But "irregular" sales in 1949 are estimated to have reached 1,000,000 gallons.

Britain Planning New Cuts In Import Spending To Conserve Her Dollars

Preparing For End of Marshall Aid In '52 New Policy Announced; Sees Billion Target For Next Two Years

LONDON, Jan. 14—(AP)—Britain is aiming at another sharp cut in dollar spending for food, tobacco and raw materials to prepare for the end of Marshall aid in 1952. This was disclosed Friday night in an official memorandum submitted to the Organization for European Economic Co-operation. The drop in purchases from the dollar areas will be accompanied by the cutback in Marshall aid funds expected for Britain in the next two years.

British planning is on the assumption, the memorandum said, that its Marshall aid funds would be $720,000,000 for 1950-51, and $480,000,000 for 1951-52.

In the current 1949-50 period, Britain is receiving Marshall aid help at the rate of $920,000,000 a year. The Marshall aid fiscal year begins July 1.

Britains dollar spending, mostly in the United States and Canada, was $1,544,600,000 in 1948-49.

Paring Expenses

She is now in the process of reducing these dollar expenses to $1,389,100,000 for the current year of 1949-50.

Her target is to whittle these dollar costs to $1,179,700,000 for 1950-51, and to $1,039,600,000 for 1951-52.

The memorandum makes no estimate of Britain's dollar needs after Marshall aid ends June 30, 1952.

While dollar purchases of petroleum products will be slashed, Britain plans to increase crude oil purchases from $20,700,000 in 1949-50 to $44,000,000 in 1951-52. She expects to have additional refining capacity operating in Britain some time in 1952.

Builds Up Stocks

The country has built up considerable stocks of raw cotton. In 1948-49, dollar costs of cotton were $128,000,000, dropping to $98,700,000 in 1949-50. Britain expects to spend on cotton $118,600,000 in 1950-51, and $113,600,000 in 1951-52.

The memorandum said the economic planning was based on the assumption that U.S. business conditions would remain unchanged and continue to provide Britain with a market for dollar earnings, and the prices of dollar supplies would stay around the level of Oct. 20, 1949.

Churchill Decides To Take It Easier

LONDON, Jan. 14 (AP)—Old warrior Winston Churchill is taking it easier in this year's political campaign than he did back in 1945 when his Conservative party lost to Labor.

The former prime minister's plans were published today as both parties decided to start electioneering at once.

Britain's general election is set for Feb. 23. The parties have been marking time since the date was announced Wednesday for fear of over-spending the limit the law allows them in any electoral campaign.

Asks Officers Protected For Differing With Truman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP)—Senator Owen Brewster (Rep. Me.) said Friday top United States military officials due to testify on Formosa in the Senate should be promised immunity from punishment if they differ with President Truman's policy.

Brewster told reporters he doesn't want military men appearing before the Foreign Relations Committee to get into trouble as did Admiral Louis E. Denfeld. Denfeld was removed as United States Chief of Naval Operations after he publicly opposed Pentagon policies, but defence chiefs denied that "reprisals" were involved.

The committee Friday called Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint Chiefs of Staff, and Defence Secretary Louis Johnson to testify Jan. 26 on the strategic importance of Formosa.

President Truman has announced that the United States will offer no military aid to the Chinese Nationalists in their effort to keep the Communists from seizing the big island.

Senator Wayne Morse (Rep. Ore.) took issue with Brewster. He told a reporter: "I don't think a Congressional committee should be used as a sanctuary in which officers can hide their insubordination."

The argument erupted in the Senate after the Republicans had opened up another attack on Truman administration policy in the Far East.

Senator Styles Bridges (Rep. N.H.) led the assault by urging the government to "save Formosa from the Communists." He said the U.S. must be prepared to use "bold methods" if necessary.

Forced Off Road By Truck, Three Injured

LINDSAY, Jan. 13—(CP)—Forced off the highway by a truck, three Ottawa district people and a baby escaped with minor injuries Friday but their car was demolished when it turned over twice.

The driver, John E. Metcalf, 37, of Britannia Bay, was not hurt, but his sister, Mrs. Pauline Dolan, 33, of Woodroffe, suffered a bruised head and spine injuries. Her husband, Sam Dolan, 33, suffered head abrasions, lacerated ear and bruised shoulders while their one-year-old son was bruised about the head.

According to one report of the accident, the Metcalfe car was forced off the highway at the Reaboro curve by an unidentified truck.

Police doubt whether the driver of the truck realized that an accident befell the car which he is alleged to have crowded off the road. Leaving the road, the car turned over twice, and ended up in a plowed field.

A motorist on the scene after the accident said it was a miracle that the occupants of the Metcalfe car escaped with their lives much less with only minor injuries. The damaged car was owned by the Gutta Percha Tire and Rubber Co.

Corporal W. G. Milton of Lindsay OPP detachment, investigated the accident.

Pearson Says Conference Help

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Jan. 14 — (Reuters)—L. B. Pearson, Canadian External Affairs Minister, today told the final open session of the Commonwealth foreign ministers that the Canadian delegation felt they now had a far better appreciation of affairs "in this part of the world."

People sometimes thought Canadians were preoccupied with affairs in the nearby countries of the North Atlantic and Western Europe, Pearson said.

That might be so, but he was sure that after this conference Canada would have a better understanding of this part of the world.

"Therefore, I go back to Canada heartened with what we have done, in the hope that we in the North Atlantic area may in future make a real contribution to the problems of the free peoples of Asia," Pearson added.

Hiccoughs Two Weeks Girl Stops 11 Hours

MAGOG, Que., Jan. 14 (CP)—Olive McKelvey, 22-year-old bank clerk who has been hiccoughing steadily since New Year's Eve, had an 11-hour break Friday.

The girl received a setback early today, however, when the hiccoughs began once more and continued at the same rate and intensity as before. Miss McKelvey is being fed intravenously but doctors say that she is weak and has lost considerable weight during the ordeal.

Friday's break enabled her to recover some strength and doctors said her general condition was better than in some days. The respite occurred after Miss McKelvey had taken a drug prescribed by a Montreal physician.

Farmers Seeking Bridge Gap With Industry

TORONTO, Jan. 14—(CP)—The Ontario Federation of Agriculture is attempting to bridge any gap between farming and other occupations.

The federation, concluding its annual three-day convention Friday, approved a motion from Carleton county which urged improved liaison between occupational groups.

The resolution recommended that the parent Canadian Federation of Agriculture promote consultation between representatives of farmers and other occupations to meet emergency business, trade and employment conditions.

H. S. R. Arkell of Carleton county said farmers have no option but to seek supported prices, although this is considered a "means of getting over the hump" rather than a permanent solution.

Another resolution asked for an inquiry at the provincial and national level to ensure improvements in the supply, processing and distribution of feed grains at prices in line with existing livestock returns.

Don't Want Change

On the advice of Lawrence Kerr of Chatham, the group passed a resolution advising the federal government against any change in methods of calculating depreciation of farm equipment.

The farmers felt that the gradual expansion of city workers into semi-rural and suburban areas is costing them money. Assessment of suburban property, in proportion to services required was said by delegates to be out of line with assessment on farm land. In many areas farmers were said to be paying the lion's share of costs for education and improvments for suburban residents.

A resolution which received approval from the 500 delegates asked the assessment branch of Ontario Municipal Affairs to study the problem and try to bring in more equitable taxation next year.

J. C. Broderick of St. Catharines was elected president of the federation for the coming year.

Unions Take Vote

COBOURG, Jan. 14 (ENS) — Representatives of the IUE, the UE, management of the local CGE and Mr. Mathers of the Ontario Labour Relations Board, met here Friday to arrange for a date for the vote on who shall be the bargaining agency for the men. Those eligible to vote numbered 184, it was found, and date of the vote was set for January 26.

REPORT PROFIT

Peterborough Exhibition will report a surplus of approximately $2,700 at its annual meeting next Thursday afternoon.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

TURN ABOUT COURSE

A move to tie apron strings on boys and thrust hammers into the hands of girls is afoot in Kitchener's public schools. And the pupils like it. It's all part of the "turn-about" courses in manual training and domestic science, tried on an experimental basis last year. This year it was expended on a four-week course.

DIES IN REGINA

Funeral services will be held today for H. N. Gross, 79, founder of the Crescent Finance Corporation, Regina, who died in hospital Thursday. He was born in Brighton, and went to Saskatchewan in 1907 as provincial manager for the Great West Permanent Loan Company.

AT PASTURE MEETINGS

Frank C. Paterson reports a total attendance of more than 300 farmers, including juniors, at the series of meetings he has been conducting on the subject of pastures. Counting the young people, the attendance at Havelock Friday was around 65, and Warsaw on Thursday 85, Westwood 60 and so on. Mr. Paterson reports a greater interest than ever in pasture projects.

PLAN INVESTURE

The investiture of Monsignor P. P. Butler, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, in the distinctive red apparel of the office of Domestic Prelate to which he was recently appointed by Pope Pius XII will be Tuesday, Jan. 24 at 8 p.m. at the Cathedral. The ceremony of vesting will be conducted by Bishop Berry, and the sermon for the occasion will be preached by Bishop Webster, auxiliary Bishop of Toronto. The investiture of Monsignor J. V. McAuley of Lindsay will not take place until after Lent.

CAN'T GET ACTION

Legal committee of the council is apparently about to yield to the silent refusal of the Department of Highways to order heavy traffic off the Charlotte St. entrance to Peterborough. This matter was discussed again by the Sands committee the other night. Councils for five years or more have been trying to reduce noisy, truck traffic off that street. Objection to diversion to Lansdowne St., Ald. Sands said, quoting Department, is two railway crossings, the long hill and the "Y" Junction at its top.

NOMINATE VICE-PRESIDENT

The Kinsmen Club has been left without a second vice-president now that Clarence Smith has been transferred to Fort William. Nominations for the office will be accepted at the next meeting of the club and at the following meeting there will be an election.

GETS CUT NOSE

James F. (Jimmy) Morrow, 16, of Hastings, star centre ice man for the Hastings juveniles, had his nose badly cut in a hockey game at Hastings Friday night. The skate of a Havelock player cut into his nostril. He was taken to Civic Hospital for treatment and was still under observation early today.

Jailed A Year For Hold-up At Campbellford

COBOURG, Jan. 14 (ENS) — Willimer Grieves, 21 and Edward Hicks, 23, both of Campbellford, have bee sentenced to 12 months definite and one month indefinite in reformatory for armed robbery. Th pair, together with Garnet Sleeper, 20, were also charged and sentenced for theft of a revolver and cartridges from Walter Cowle of Campbellford, Hicks receiving six months and the others three months, terms to run concurrently.

It was observed actions of Grieves and Hicks in holding up a man, unmasked, when they were known to him, which prompted Crown Attorney to comment on the foolish nature of the holdup.

Wesley Anderson, Campbellford service station operator, said that around 11.15 on the night of December 27, two men came to his place of business. He heard them outside as he was preparing to lock up for the night. He stepped out to see what was wanted and found himself looking into the barrel of a revolver held by Edward Hicks who told him to "start reaching."

Grieves followed Hicks and took over the gun from him and while he was pointing it at Anderson Hicks said that he owed $20 and had to have the money right away.

"I had two tens and a five in the cash drawer so I gave him the $25," Anderson said. "Grieves asked me where the car keys were and when I started out to get them he shoved the gun in my back and Hicks said 'search him. he may have a gun.' Prodding me in the back with the gun, Grieves handed the gun back to Hicks and said 'if he moves give it to him.' Grieves said he owed me for two gallons of gas and gave me a five dollar bill and I gave him his change.

"Grieves went out and started my car up and they left. After they were gone I phoned for the police. When I got the car back one tire was gone and the car had done about 325 miles while they had it."

Provincial Constable A. Kellogg told of arresting Grieves and Hicks on the robbery charge and of picknig up Sleeper on the charge of theft of the gun and ammunition. The three admitted they stole the gun and shells from the farm of Walter Cowles on Christmas Day while Cowles was away at a relative's house.

Before sentence was passed, Mrs. Hicks pleaded with the magistrate for leniency for her son. She was led sobbing away from the court.

HEINRICH NOLL, 38, of Giessen, Germany, is tired of US military police asking him if he's Adolf Hitler. He is the exact image of the late unlamented fuehrer — toothbrush moustache, droopy forelock and all. Noll won't shave off his moustache because he wants to play Hitler in a forthcoming Austrian film and would like to play Hitler in films in Hollywood. Photo shows US military policeman Corpl. Edward J. Kulick of Michigan, checks Noll's identity papers on a Frankfurt street while the fuehrer's double waits.

Over night the wreck-lifting vessel Moor Fowl stood guard above the sunken submersible. Freighters bound for the port of London, some 50 miles west, passed with flags at half mast.

Conduct Inquiry

The commander of the Chatham base, Admiral Sir Henry Moore, appointed a board of officers to conduct today's inquiry into the sinking. It was not to be a public hearing and names of the board members were not announced. The Admiralty said normally five officers sit on such boards.

Two questions which the inquiry might take up were:

1. How the Divina happened to run afoul of the Truculent. Capt. Karl Hommerberg of the tanker could not explain. He told a reporter he and a pilot both were on the bridge.

"It was dark but clear, and we saw the submarine ahead and gave warning of our approach," he said.

2. Why so much time elapsed before the crash was reported—time during which many of those in the water might have been saved. The Admiralty got its first word of the disaster an hour and 20 minutes after it happened. It was a message from a Dutch vessel picked up by the North Foreland radio station and relayed to Chatham.

Offer Morrow Park For Centenary Projects

Directors of Peterborough Exhibition are offering Morrow Park to the council and the community for any purposes of the celebration of the city's centenary.

The intention of the board was to co-operate with the committee of the council and the citizens in any way desired.

The directors reviewed their financial statement which is to be audited for presentation to the annual meeting of the Exhibition Thursday, Jan. 19 at 2:30 in the city council chamber.

A delegation was appointed to meet the city council and Morrow Trust at he city hall next Monday evening. It includes: Hugh Stewart, Tom Brown, G. A. Gillespie, Norman McConkey and H. T. Rehill.

in December, 1948. Expenditures were $200,300,000 compared with $170,200,000.

Mr. Abbott said excise taxes yielded $49,200,000 in December, a drop of $6,600,000. In the first nine months they yielded $408,700,000 compared with $455,100,000, a decrease of $46,400,000.

Personal income taxes collected in December amounted to $35,600,000 compared with $46,600,000 in the corresponding month of 1948. For the nine-month period the collections were $471,900,000 compared with $564,800,000, a reduction of $93,000,000.

"These declines due to reductions in the tax rates were in the nine months to date, partly offset by an increase in the corporation income tax of $72,300,000," said Mr. Abbott.

Expenditures of $1,537,400,000 in the first nine months were $191,000,000 higher than in the corresponding period of 1948.

a chimney off the dwelling. A hay-filled barn lost its roof in the same area. There were no injuries in either incident.

Store Windows Smashed

In Oshawa itself, several store windows were blown in. At least two minor fires, started by fallen Hydro wires, were put out by firemen. Radio station CKLB went off the air temporarily due to a power break attributed to the storm. More than 100 telephones were out of service for a time.

Lines Down

A westerly wind that at times rose to as much as 65 miles an hour swept across the Peterborough district today playing havoc with telephone and telegraph lines and blowing down limbs of trees in residential areas.

The CNR telegraph line from Belleville to Toronto has been out since early today. However, the Peterborough-Toronto line remains intact.

Repair crews for both Bell Telephone and the local Utilities Commission have been kept hopping since early today answering numerous complaints about breaks in services.

At press time there were no reports of serious damage. Part of the tin roof of the Peterborough Public Library started to peel off and a workman was busy trying to fasten it on at 10 a.m.

A plate glass window at the recently burned-out electrical store of Blackwood & Freeburn, Brock and George Streets, was blown in, revealing the gutted interior to passersby. Glass covered the sidewalk.

On the north side of Hunter Street toward the easterly end of St. John's Church, a large limb broke off and hung down at the road's edge. Several other limbs of trees were reported blown off during the night.

Most of the trouble for the Utilities occurred in short circuits caused when branches fell across the wires and the same was true of Bell Telephone.

Up until 3 a.m. the weather was mild and there was only a slight wind. Many householders found it uncomfortably warm, with furnaces going full blast.

The westerly wind reached its peak between 4 a.m. and 5 a.m. and helped to cool things down. The foggy weather was dispersed and the streets which were wet at bedtime had become bone dry when early morning risers looked out.

Shortly before 11 a.m. the wind was shifting to the north-west the first indication of another cold spell.

Most spectacular feature of the night was reported by residents in the Monaghan Road-Bolivar Street vicinity. Several telephoned the Examiner to say a ball of fire was seen in the air. This pyrotechnic display is believed to have been caused by wires shorting.

City Paralyzed

North Bay was virtually paralyzed this morning as a two-day freezing rain disrupted power and telephone services and brought traffic to a standstill. A large part of the city was blacked out this morning, no buses were running and few taxis were operating.

A howling gale, reaching up to gusts of 65 miles an hour, swept across the city, making it almost impossible for pedestrians to retain a footing on the icy streets. For about half an hour in midmorning the rain turned to a blinding blizzard.

The major portion of the city was without power for two hours during the morning, as ice-laden wires collapsed under the weight or were knocked down by falling trees. Buses and many taxis were taken off the streets Friday night after several drivers received minor injuries in accidents. There were no reports of serious accidents.

HANDY INSTRUMENT

A British firm has produced a pocket-sized hearing aid which at the turn of a switch, becomes a radio.

Small Market Attracts Few Customers

Only a skeleton compared with markets before Christmas the market today offered little to few buyers. A few chose the windy outside to sell their merchandise and only about 50 stalls were in use in the building.

Eggs were selling slowly at an average price of 30c a dozen grade A pullets, 33c a dogen, grade A medium and 35c a dozen grade A large. The low on the market was 25c for pullets, 30c for mediums, 32c for large and 35c for extra large. Large eggs reached up to 38c and extras up to 40c.

Chickens were slow at 45c a pound while capons were 46c and hens 40c. A few ducks were offered at 55c while one goose had an asking price of 60c a pound.

Amber honey, scarce, was $1.50 an eight-pound pail, 85c a four-pound pail and 40c a two-pound pail.

Steel, Coal Strikes Cut Canal Tonnage

OTTAWA, Jan. 14 — (CP). — United States steel and coal strikes cut into the tonnage moving through Canadian canals in November. Total tonnage, the Bureau of Statistics reported on Friday, was 2,054,600, 10 per cent below the tonnage in November, 1948.

Grain shipments were about 245,000 tons higher. But coal shipments were 578,000 tons lower.

Tonnage in the Welland Canal dropped to 1,279,347 from 1,510,615, while St. Lawrence Canal tonnage was 924,708 tons, a gain of 12.5 per cent despite lower coal shipments.

In addition, 3,548,422 tons moved through the combined US-Canadian locks of the Sault Ste. Marie Canals compared with 11,806,016 tons in November, 1948. Shipments of iron ore and pulpwood all were lower.

Impact Thrusts Wife From Husband's Car

OMEMEE, Jan. 14.—Mrs. Beatrice McPhaden, of Omemee, suffered painful injuries when she was thrown to the pavement from her husband's car on Russell St. Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. McPhaden were driving west along Russell St. As they entered Lindsay St. their car was in collision with another vehicle driven by Arnold Warren. Force of the impact threw Mrs. McPhaden out of the car. She was removed to Dr. White's office for first aid, thence to the Ross Memorial Hospital.

Constable Hunter, who investigated the accident, says Russell St.. was icy at the time.

Mr. Johnston spoke briefly on union problems and stressed the importance of teamwork.

Quebec Issues 246 Subpoenas For Jury Duty

QUEBEC, Jan. 14 (CP)—Gustave Chouinard, chief clerk of the peace, said Friday he had ordered the Quebec sheriff's office to issue a total of 246 subpoenas for jury duty Feb. 20.

At the same time Crown Prosecutor Paul Miquelon said that he would ask Feb. 13 that the trial of J. Albert Guay, charged with the murder of his wife, be postponed until Feb. 20. Guay's trial was scheduled to start Feb. 13 at a special assizes court, but it now is probable that the case will be heard Feb. 20. It is believed here that the jurors are being called for the Guay trial.

Guay is charged with the murder of his wife, one of 23 victims who died in an air-crash at Sault au Cochon, Sept. 9. Guay is alleged to have had a time-bomb placed on the plane, exploding the air craft and sending it crashing into a mountain side.

12 Killed In Glider

FORT BENNING, Ga., Jan. 14 (AP)—Twelve men died Friday when a United States air force glider tipped a wing on a runway and crashed, strewing bodies and wreckage over 700 feet. Five men were in the hospital at nearby Lawson air base, four in serious condition. Cause of the crash was not known.

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—The most northerly post office in the United States is on a piece of land cut off completely by water from U. S. soil and well inside what is generally considered Canadian territory.

This portion of Minnesota is a promontory about 14 miles by 12 miles, jutting from Manitoba territory into Lake of the Woods some 28 miles above the 49th parallel.

Its present status rests in the belief of early New World mapmakers that the Mississippi River had its source far up in what is now Canadian territory.

The settlement of the international boundary goes back, through a series of heated disputes which once or twice threatened to start war, to the Treaty of Paris in 1783.

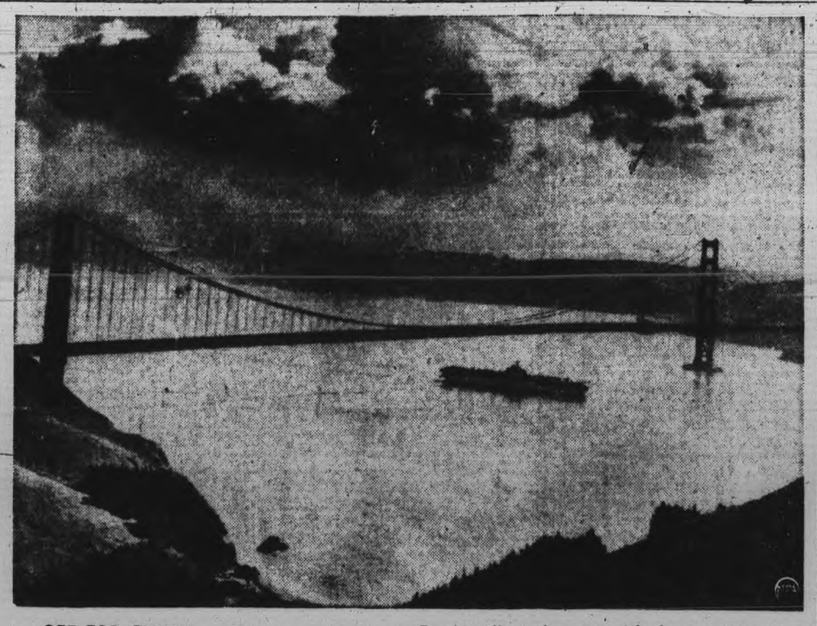
At that time Britain and the U. S. met to settle their claims to property in the west.

The treaty painstakingly traced the imaginary dividing line from the Bay of Fundy on the east coast, through the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes, out of Lake Superior to the Lake of the Woods, through that lake "to the most northwesterly point thereof, and from thence on a due west course to the River Mississippi."

They used a map compiled in 1755, which showed the Mississippi flowing far north of its true source.

In 1803, with both nations now doubtful of the Mississippi's reliability as a marker, a joint committee proposed the boundary should be a straight line from the lake's Northwest Angle as it is now called, to the river's source.

U. S. Refused



This would have given Canada a 130-mile-deep belt of Minnesota and North Dakota territory.

U. S. officials refused the plan because they thought it might interfere with their territorial gains under the recently completed Louisiana Purchase.

The two countries finally agreed on a line from the northwest point of Lake of the Woods south to the 49th parallel. This line gave United States a promontory on the Manitoba shore of the lake which was cut off from Minnesota territory by the lake's southwest bulge.

Thus there are U. S. post offices north of Canadian centres and some Canadian fishermen get their mail at Minnesota centres because they are closer.

One current political by-product of the historic dispute is that William Benidickson, member of parliament for Kenora-Rainy River, sends political circulars to constituents with Minnesota mailing addresses.

OFF FOR CHINA — Sailing under the Golden Gate Bridge, the aircraft carrier Boxer leaves San Francisco on its way to reinforce the American Pacific Fleet. The Boxer will rendezvous with the two destroyers at sea, and proceed to waters around troubled China, to join the Seventh Task Fleet in the Far East. The flat-top carries 90 planes and a crew of 3,000.

J. T. O'Connell Widely Mourned

A long cortege accompanied the remains of the late J. T. O'Connell to the church of the Sacred Heart on Friday morning for the funeral mass.

A solemn grand High Requiem was celebrated by the Rev. W. C McCarney with Dr. F. M. Grant as Deacon and the Rev. G. F. Sullivan as subdeacon.

In the sanctuary among the priests present were Monsignor O'Brien Monsignor P. P. Butler and the Rev. James Greehan.

The honorary pallbearers were V. J. McElderry, KC, W. B. Gordon, F. D. Kerr, K. C., Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick, J. R. Corkery, K. C., W. McAuliffe, Phm. B William Lamb and F. H. Patterson.

The active pallbearers were John Casey, J. Sinclair, Leo Fanning, W. C. McAuliffe, William Grady and A. J. White.

Mr. O'Connell will be sadly missed by his business associates and many friends.

He was very versatile. Not only was he one of Peterborough's keenest and most successful realtor but was also intensely interested in agriculture and stock raising. He was a big hearted man, very charitable to those most in need but very unassuming with all.

He leaves to mourn his loss his daughter (Olive.) Mrs. Joseph Paquette, Montreal, and two grand children Jeanne and J. B Paquette of Montreal. His sister, Sister St. Catharine of St Joseph's Community, Peterborough. Mary A. O'Connell B. A., Elizabeth formerly of Ottawa School Staff, Margaret O'Connell M. A. Toronto and one brother J. S. of Peterborough. The services at the graveside in St. Peter's cemetery were conducted by Rev. Father McCarney.

Gathering Of Clans Pays Scot Gets Some Free Tea

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Jan. 14—(CP) — A gathering of the political clans such as this week's Dominion-Provincial conference has a lot of virtues that are essentially intangible, says Manitoba's Premier Douglas Campbell. For instance, one Scot getting a free cup of tea from another. Talking to reporters after the conference adjourned, Mr. Campbell was making the point that it's a good thing for all Canada when political leaders and lieutenants can get together. It makes for good feeling, he said.

Then he cited what, against the ancient background of Scottish history, he considered a good case to back his point. He had managed to have Nova Scotia's Premier Angus Macdonald buy him a cup of tea.

"When," he grinned, "you get an Angus Macdonald treating a Douglas Campbell, you really have something.

The Campbell and Macdonalds have never quite finished fighting that old incident of Scottish history, the massacre of Glencoe

Smile, Smile

Actually, the two Scots weren't the only clans to bury a hatchet. A couple of veteran campaigners from French Canada surprised a lot of observers by trying to outsmile each other at every turn.

Prime Minister St. Laurent and Premier Duplessis got off on the right foot when they shook hands amiably as the conference started.

For the next three days they were so agreeable that it almost erased the memory of that sharp exchange of letters which preceded the calling of the conference.

Several of the premiers indicated as they left the capital that they thought Mr. St. Laurent had done a great job as conference chairman.

They thought his strategy had been to make as much as possible of the areas of agreement while playing down the areas of difference.

Evidently it worked, because as Ontario's Premier Frost departed from the Commons Chamber he remarked with a smile that he was quite optimistic that Canada would have a formula for constitutional amendment soon.

"How long?" asked a persistent reporter.

"Three months," he said with a grin.

MissNeedhamHostess To St. Andrew's WMS

Would Extend To Marmora Road Paving

NORWOOD, Jan. 14 (ENS) — The Norwood council on Wednesday night endorsed a resolution of the Havelock council asking that the Department of Highways complete the permanent surface on No. 7 Highway from Norwood to Marmora during 1950.

The clerk was also instructed on motion of Councillors Webb and Garden to ask the Department of Highways to appoint some person in Norwood to issue motor vehicle licences and operators' permits. The Hon. Harold Scott will be advised of the action of the council.

Bylaw appointing the village officers for the coming year was given its several readings. On motion of Councillors Nixon and Atkinson the 1949 officers were re-appointed with the exception of the rink commission, on this body Earl Hamblin was appointed for the balance of the term (one year) caused by the resignation of K. E. Pakenham and L. G. Obee was appointed for three years.

The rink commission on decision of the council will be renamed The Norwood and Community Recreation Commission and members were given power to add to their numbers.

A bylaw was passed authorizing the reeve and treasurer to borrow up to $10,000 for current expenditures.

The treasurer was ordered to prepare and submit to the Department of Highways the final report on road expenditures in 1949.

Councillor Garden resigned from the rink commission and Councillor Nixon was appointed in his place.

Program for Trade Recovery Calls for Exchange Stabilizer

Canada's reputation, achievement and strength offset anxieties caused by world conditions — development of resources, increased population and foreign trade needed

A five-point programme for world recovery was a feature of James Muir's Presidential address at the Annual Meeting of shareholders of The Royal Bank of Canada. Mr. Muir also stressed Canada's economic development and her continuing role in world economy.

Reviewing international currency experience during the 19th and 20th centuries, Mr. Muir referred to the stability of sterling before 1914 "Several important factors contributed to the enduring dependability of the sterling standard. First, debtor nations accepted exchange parities which they were able to maintain through relatively small adjustments of prices and money incomes. Second, debtors were willing to accept the discipline of the gold standard and to acquiesce, under the rules of that standard, in the price and income adjustments which their trading position required. And third, the world's creditor, Great Britain, made additional sterling available through the vigorous international lending of her financial and business community and the free trade policy of her government."

COMBINE PAST, PRESENT

"In meeting any emergency we must combine the lessons of the past with inventiveness and imagination in the present. In the past, as in any relatively normal period, responsibility for international economic stability was divided between the creditor and debtor countries of the world But, in the period immediately following the second world war the primary responsibility lay with the creditors; and in meeting this responsibility, the United States and Canada embarked on an unprecedented program of loans and gifts to the war-torn countries of Europe . . ."

"The nations of Europe, through their own efforts and with the help of loans and gifts from abroad, have built up their production to the pre-war standard. Further progress in production would be immensely beneficial, but the immediate problem has become not production as such but efficient production. In other words, we are back to normal times again in the sense that the old problems of competition in international trade, such as costs, prices, and salesmanship, must once more be met Under these conditions, we still need the inventiveness and imagination which have helped debtor and creditor countries by co-operative effort to progress as far as they have along the road to world recovery. But we need also to restore as nearly as we can the favorable economic environment that made international stability possible in the golden age of the sterling standard. . ."

THE CANADIAN ECONOMY

Mr. Muir discussed the Canadian economy in 1949 under four main heads: "(1) Canada's reputation, (2) Canada's record, (3) Canada's weakness, and (4) Canada's strength.

(1) Canada's Reputation. Mr. Muir pointed out that among foreign observers "Canada is at once the bulwark of free enterprise, and a model of wisdom of government regulation; the possessor of an admirable private banking system and of the best practice in efficient Central Bank control: the stronghold of a sound conservative tradition and the home of interesting experiments in political and economic order."

"We don't have to be too modest, at least among ourselves. We can spare ourselves an inferiority complex and the abnormal national behavior to which it may give rise As a nation, we have accomplished much; not all of it is good, but the power for good is there; and in 1949, as in previous years, our good repute is, in large measure, supported by our record."

(2) Canada's Record. Mr. Muir briefly summarized Canadian business conditions in 1949. The year saw "a further increase in Canada's industrial plant and equipment, the maintenance of the high levels of consumption attained in 1948, and the over-all expansion of the net and gross national product beyond the record levels of a year ago." He noted too that "Canada is one of the few countries today that can still boast a substantial budget surplus. This not only contributes to stability, but it turns prosperity to good account by improving the credit of the government."

(3) Canada's Weakness. Mr Muir referred in some detail to Canada's export position and her vulnerability to the current unbalance in international markets After summarizing Canada's trade in 1949, two main conclusions were stressed: "First, our over-all surplus with the world is dwindling; and, second, our direct earnings of dollars through exports to the United States is becoming relatively more important than our indirect earnings of dollars through trade with U.S.-financed Europe."

Mr. Muir referred to the danger of losing established markets in Europe but "the continued failure of our overseas customers to earn sufficient dollars, through trade and investment rather than through gifts from the dollar area may force us to realign our trade. That is, we may have to contemplate the contraction of traditional markets in Europe offset to some degree by increased sales to the dollar area."

"The least transferable of our major exports are wheat and wheat flour." In this case, he pointed out, "shifting is difficult owing to large exportable surpluses of these products within the United States. To finance wheat exports through new loans to the United Kingdom would mean a return to our lending policy of 1945-46 and a return to our dollar-short position of 1947."

"The most favorable development in our world trade would be an increase in our imports from Europe and especially from the United Kingdom, or increased dollar earnings by these countries in their trade with the United States."

"To attempt this shift through further curbs on imports from the United States would be a move backward to more rigid exchange controls with all the disadvantages of such a move for ourselves and for the world economy. Fortunately, the recent devaluations have provided some incentive for precisely the shift we have in mind without an increase in controls . . ."

"The plain truth is that Canada's domestic prosperity depends upon our handling of a complicated foreign-trade problem. And in the final analysis both our domestic prosperity and the future of world trade itself will depend upon a concerted international effort by all nations to return along the path we outlined earlier; that is, along the path to multilateral world trade unhampered by exchange restrictions, bilateral pacts, and all the paraphernalia of government control."

(4) Canada's Strength. "It is refreshing to turn from Canada's difficulties in the next few months to her prospects over the next few years, or better still over the next decade and many more to come. We have the essential elements that need only a little time to bring about an enormous increase in our national wealth. These sources of economic strength are our natural resources and the temper of our people.

"Canada's scarcest natural resource is her working population. Here, as with our forests, mines, and oil fields, we must practise conservation through the wise and economical use of what we have. But to parallel our new discoveries and to ensure their full and efficient use we must embark on a bold policy of immigration. In this way we can increase the quantity of the one resource that is in short supply. In this way we can remove the one factor that sets a present limit to the growth of our natural wealth. Against this prospect the few hundred millions of U.S. dollars that measure our present dollar difficulties pale to insignificance."

"This prospect of economic independence does not mean a reduction in trade. We do not have to turn our backs on the independence of nations that accompanies international commerce. Trade among independent, industrially developed countries is the most profitable trade of all. The world is gradually moving away from trade between industrialized countries and under-developed areas, away from trade that requires colonial dependence, to trade among industrial equals. And in the evolution of world economy, Canada is at present leading the way."

In the development of Canada's natural resources, their use by a larger population, and the exchange of her increased industrial output in "an expanding and enriched foreign trade," Mr. Muir saw "an effective guarantee that Canada shall achieve an assured and pre-eminent place in the economy of nations . . ."

PRESIDENT ADVOCATES FIVE STEPS TOWARD WORLD TRADE REVIVAL

Devaluation has at least broken the log jam; but we must take immediate advantage of this initial break in the barriers to trade which have been thrown up by overvalued exchange rates and rigidly held in place by government controls.

The steps, in my opinion, are as follows:

First, nations of the world should re-learn a basic lesson of the first world war, and settle their war debts. . .

Second, for a certain fixed period, we should let the market determine rates of exchange, as it did immediately after the first world war . . .

Third, at the end of this period of free-market valuation we should stabilize currencies by reference to the rates which the free-market has determined. . . .

Fourth, having stabilized exchange rates at the level decreed by the free market, the world must adopt some device to keep them that way . . . The gold standard kept nations within their means before the days of the great illusion that international equilibrium can only be achieved by clamping the fetters of exchange control upon free international trade.

Fifth, the gold standard (or its equivalent) must be made to work by the proper discipline not only of debtor but of creditor nations as well. This means a return to the two basic requirements of responsible creditor nations: vigorous international lending and free trade.

General Manager Reports Assets, Deposits Are Up

Mr. T. H. Atkinson, General Manager, reviewed the 1949 Annual Report and stated that the bank's assets had risen by $112,498,000 during the year to $2,334,985,000 and that liquid assets constituted 76.27% of the total liabilities to the public. Commercial loans had also increased. Mr. Atkinson reported deposits at a new all-time high of $2,192,140,000, an amount two-and-a-half times that of 9 years ago. The number of deposit accounts totalled nearly 2,000,000, which included more than 1,500,000 savings accounts in Canada. An increase of $1,400,810 in profits over the previous year was noted by Mr. Atkinson and after providing for the customary deductions, including taxes of $4,435,000 and dividends for shareholders, there was a carry forward in Profit and Loss Account of $3,860,313.

IMPROVED FACILITIES

Referring to the provision of new premises, Mr. Atkinson said: "Since our last report eleven new branch offices have been constructed at points where facilities were inadequate and where extension of existing premises was impracticable, and at forty-six other points improvements and extensions of a major character have been completed . . . In order to better serve the public in districts which are expanding we opened twelve branches and six sub-branches in Canada. At the year-end we were operating 665 branches in Canada and 62 abroad."

SERVICE TO TRADERS

Mr. Atkinson stressed the role played by the Royal Bank's 62 branches abroad in facilitating foreign trade. "For well over a quarter of a century we have operated an extensive chain of our own branches in foreign countries; in fact, at certain points we have been established for over half a century, and as at November 30, 1949, we had 62 offices which included representation in the key cities of the major South American Republics, throughout the Caribbean area and, of course, we are established in London, England, and New York City, and our affiliate operates in Paris, France . . ."

"The widespread chain of branches coupled with our extensive correspondent relations throughout the world serves as a constant source of statistical and other information including import and exchange regulations which otherwise might not be readily available to us, and our central bureau in Head Office is thus in a position to give up-to-date and complete information to Canadian companies and others having under consideration establishing business relations with clients abroad. We firmly believe that through helpful information given to Canadian businessmen our foreign organization will continue to serve a most useful purpose to Canada in the development of markets abroad for surplus goods."

PROUD OF STAFF

A warm tribute to the bank staff was paid by Mr. Atkinson. "There's nothing this bank is prouder of than the quality of its personnel. Within every office, I believe, there is a fine sense of pride in this great institution—pride not only in its achievements and its pre-eminent place in Canadian and world banking, but pride, too, in its being a good place to work. The executive, supervisors and branch managers have all travelled the long road to apprenticeship within the Bank; they talk the same language as the young people who are following the same route, and they are united in trying to make working conditions as pleasant as possible . . ."

Resisting U.S. Cultural Influences

The Royal Commission on Arts, Letters and Science is now holding hearings at Laval University, Quebec. Its chairman, the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, said in that city earlier in the week that there is a "strong Canadian feeling across the country and resistance to cultural influences from across the border". Mr. Massey is not the person to use words loosely: his word "resistance" in this connection is interesting.

• • •

To resist is to oppose actively, as the Russians resisted at Stalingrad. People resist what they do not want—as children resist castor oil. They resist what threatens their safety, their well-being or their comfort. Sometimes they resist what is good for them, merely because they are stubborn or short-sighted, as children resist the bedtime call. That Canadians should resist American cultural influences does not mean that American culture is unhealthy or evil; it does mean that it is unwanted, and is such a powerful influence that it must be actively opposed.

• • •

Canada has been resisting American influences since 1763; that it has had some success is shown by the very existence of this nation, despite strong geographical, military and economic conditions which would in the natural course of events have engulfed it long ago. The most insidiously strong force to be dealt with is the cultural infiltration from across the border. Other countries can turn indifferently away from influences of their neighbours. Canada cannot. It must accept or oppose. Passive resistance would be as ineffective as the resistance of a loose pebble to an ocean breaker. But a large granite rock firmly embedded and anchored by steel cables will withstand the breakers for many years. It may be worn smooth—get a splendid polish—but it will endure.

• • •

Whether Canadian culture can withstand, yet be polished by the flood of American literature, movies, radio and touring dollars remains to be seen. The first part of Mr. Massey's statement—"A strong Canadian feeling across the country"—indicates that we are doing pretty well. The Royal Commission can do much to cement as well as build what can become a significant and worthy Canadian culture.

No Flutter Of The French Franc

France had a good year in 1949. It was saved from De Gaulle, from the Communists, and from creaking devaluation. This good year came at a time when outsiders thought that the Fourth Republic was floundering on a succession of cabinets and Prime Ministers. It is said to be the only country which has achieved stabilization without controls (like Britain) or deflation (like Belgium and the U.S.A.). True, when the currencies tumbled in the wake of the British devaluation, France took a look and devalued slightly. (The U.S.A. had no formal devaluation, but her present dollar is worth, compared with the 1940 dollar, as much less as the 1950 pound is compared with the 1940 pound.)

France has not been able to cope with the black market or to keep off inflation. As a writer in the London Observer says, Frenchmen now like to make a virtue of what some would call national irresponsibility. They certainly cannot claim for themselves the virtue some Britons feel from tightening belts as they tighten controls. By financial manipulation (stringent controls on bank credits were imposed late in 1948), a fairly stiff attitude to strikes, and a lively faith in survival, France in 1949 passed a critical milestone.

The intellectual air over there is reported to be healthy, even if there is no deeply serious thought given to the future. Existentialism, blaring communist and De Gaullist ideologies, and feverish political ideas, have waned. More sense and less nonsense prevail; an indication is the better attitude toward Germany. And within the country the franc is worth today exactly what it was worth a year ago.

An End To The German War?

Britain, France, the United States, Canada, and a good many other countries are still legally in a state of war with Germany. No peace has been concluded with any recognized head of any German state. A revived attempt is now being made to end this anamoly. The large western powers and the Benelux countries are now considering ways and means; there seems to be a fair measure of agreement, and a conference of legal experts may be called early in the spring to draft a peace treaty with Germany

Four things must be decided. Who will be "Germany" the Bonn Government, or a new State (yet an hypothesis), or both? What method will be adopted to ensure the continued presence of occupation troops? What duties and privileges must a recognized German Government have if the state of war is concluded (security and financial obligations, indemnities to the victors)? What would be the effect of a state of peace negotiated between the western powers and western Germany, on eastern, Soviet-controlled, Germany? These are thorny problems which must be dealt with before war can be officially ended with Germany. In retrospect, the declaration of a war seems easier than the declaration of peace.

Should Prudence Be Mixed With Religion?

We cannot become excited over the news that evangelists of the Protestant Church of Christ have been stoned in Italy, where they were conducting Bible classes and proselytizing in the close neighbourhood of Castel Gandolfo, the Pope's summer residence. It is regrettable, but it will pass.

We feel that the Protestant evangelists would have been wiser to mix a little worldly wisdom with their zeal before trying to make Protestants out of Catholics on the Pope's own doorstep. Doubtless these poor Italian folk need many things but controversial religion is not one of them. If they insist on trying to convert the Pope's neighbours to their own particular brand of Christianity they must not be surprised if they meet with difficulties; probably the people who chased them sell groceries to Castel Gandolfo. If the evangelists cannot convert the Pope himself their cause in that neighbourhood is an unpromising one.

"Dimwitted Nincompoops"

The Ottawa Citizen describes this paper, in company with the New York Times, the Hamilton Spectator, the Toronto Telegram, and Time magazine as "dimwitted nincompoops", because we think that the second half of the twentieth century began on January 1. The Citizen and the Brantford Expositor (described as "mathematically brilliant") think that it will not begin until January 1, 1951.

We are not surprised at the Citizen and the Expositor. Both those papers are the dupes of the jejune vapourings of the Perpetual Calendar zealots, and are neurotically obsessed with the desire for complete accuracy and convenience in the reckoning of time.

But the editors whom they asperse are all mystics, who know very well that time is an illusion, and that its measurement is an amusement for the spiritually immature. Let the Citizen and the Expositor continue the eager pursuit of their own tails; we care not.

To Night

The heavens declare their winter glory these sharp clear nights, and the mysteries of space and time come twinkling down from the firmament. Orion is astride the sky, the giant hunter of the stellar reaches, and Cassiopea, 'the starr'd Ethiop queen' has her bright chair. The silence and splendour of Night enthralls our northern world.

On such nights the single claim of Blanco White (1775-1841) to a poet's immortality comes to the ear and heart, his sonnet on Night and Death, which Coleridge declared the finest and most grandly conceived in our language:

Mysterious Night! when our first parent knew
Thee from report divine, and heard thy name
Did he not tremble for this lovely frame,
This glorious canopy of light and blue?
Yet 'neath a curtain of translucent dew
Bathed in the rays of the great setting flame,
Hesperus with the host of heaven came,
And lo! Creation widened in man's view.
Who could have thought such darkness lay concealed
Within thy beams, O Sun! or who could find,
Whilst flower and leaf and insect stood revealed,
That to such countless orbs thou madst us blind!
Why do we then shun Death with anxious strife?
If Light can thus deceive, wherefore not Life?

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To the Rev. Simon Goaste, B.D.
Dear Rector:

Can you tell me why it is that so many brides insist on having the Bridal Chorus from Wagner's "Lohengrin" played as they stumble up the aisle at their weddings? It seems to me to be a singularly ill-chosen piece of music for such an occasion.

Consider the story of the opera: Elsa, a silly girl, has got herself into a mess; a young man comes along and very competently gets her out of it; he marries her, on the understanding that she will never ask his name or whence he comes; but Elsa and her relatives nag him insufferably until he can bear it no more, and leaves her. The lesson of the whole opera is that nosiness is a first-class way to break up a marriage, and Wagner, who was married to one of the great snoops of his time, knew what he was talking about. Now why is it that girls want this prelude to a strikingly unfortunate marriage played at their weddings?

I have often wondered what happened to Elsa after Lohengrin ran away. My guess is that she set up in business as a Wronged Wife, forgot completely her part in breaking up her marriage, and passed her time very pleasantly at tea parties, warning younger women that Men Are Not To Be Trusted. What are your views?

Faithfully,
S. MARCHBANKS.

To Raymond Cataplasm, M.D., F.R.C.P.
Dear Dr. Cataplasm:

I was at a party recently where a lady was explaining a new medical theory to me, in which she said that her husband (who is a physician) is keenly interested. The nubbin of the theory is that placid and careful living is just as aging as rowdy living if you make a habit of it, and that the human metabolism needs frequent shocks, just to keep it on its toes, so to speak. For this reason everybody should take care to overeat grossly every now and then, or to get drunk or to run a mile, or chop a cord of wood. Anything will do, so long as it is something to which the body is unaccustomed.

I have been testing this notion myself. You know that I will do anything to further the ends of science. I overate as much as possible all during the Christmas season, and washed the food down with strong waters. Result: except for a slight feeling of otherworldliness before breakfast I felt fine, and my metabolism chugged away like a Bendix. But during the past week I have run to and from my office, carrying a heavily-weighted briefcase, four times each day. Result: my metabolism has seized up, my circulation is at a standstill, and I see everything upside down unless I keep a firm hold on the top of my head.

Undoubtedly there is a great lesson for science in this. Perhaps you will explain to me what it is. Meanwhile I am going to lie down.

Your perennial patient,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

To Miss Minerva Hawser
Dear Miss Hawser:

Thank you for your letter, which contained so many interesting requests; I cannot give you an answer to some of them until I have consulted my lawyers, all of whom have bad colds at present and are more than usually torpid. However, if you really want my old Christmas cards, you can have them; your idea for chomping them up into bits and distributing them for use as confetti at the weddings of the Underprivileged seems to me to be an excellent one, and an accurate reflection of your kindly and ingenious nature. My cards may be a disappointment to you. They were classifiable under the following heads:

Ghastly Good Taste: plain white cards made of hard stuff like the icing of a Christmas cake, with an engraved greeting on them; indistinguishable from old-fashioned death notices.

Art Drearies: designed by people who are determined to get away from conventional Christmas colours and designs; they are usually executed in shades suggesting cheese mould.

Stark Realism: cards to which snapshots of the senders have been pasted, showing them at their worst, and often in company with dead fish, half-dead dogs, and the like.

Canadian Art: showing the same French-Canadian farmer, driving the same sleigh through the same bluish snow, but in slightly different stages of his progress toward a village consisting of a church and three huts.

Phoney Medieval: showing people eating and drinking and playing oversize guitars, and looking cleaner and healthier than was likely in the Middle Ages.

Unspeakables: in which Santa Claus's beard is represented by a real feather stuck to the card.

I sent cards in all these forms myself, for there was nothing else to be had. But I really long for a decent old-fashioned Christmas card, with the Virgin and Child on it, and Santa Claus and his reindeer, and a robin with a twig of holly in its beak, and some mica clinging to it to simulate snow, and a really compendious and warm-hearted greeting, something like this:

Here's for a bursting Yuletide—
To my friends wherever they be!
With laughing and stuffing
And praying and puffing
All under the Evergreen Tree!

Yours sincerely,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.
Dear Pil:

Last night I was at the movies, and as usual it was necessary to sit through a good deal of rather depressing stuff before we were allowed to see the film which had really brought us to the theatre. Among these shorts (why do you suppose they call them shorts? Surely shortness is a comparative thing? Judged by the anguish of spirit they induced, these affairs were immeasureably long) but as I was saying, among these shorts was one in which the audience was asked to join in the singing of such popular gems of modern minstrelsy as "Bye, Bye Blackbird" and "Nature Boy". But the audience refrained from doing so, and sat in a glum and resentful silence until the short had dragged out its weary length.

This is a hopeful sign. Human beings are refusing to be cajoled into doing silly things by machines, and by celluloid shadows. For a group of people to sing because they want to is a splendid thing; but for them to sing because a movie machine asks them to do so is just nonsense, and they know it.

Mark my words, the revolution of Man against Machine is close at hand, and when it comes we shall see the end of that era which historians are already referring to in learned works as The Age of Boloney.

Adieu,
SAM.

DEFINITE INSTRUCTIONS

An employer, on leaving his office, was instructing his new secretary what to say if anyone called while he was out.

"I may be back this afternoon," he told her. "And then again, I may not."

The girl nodded brightly.

"Yes, sir," she said. "Is that definite?"

Letters To The Editor

EMPLOYMENT OF MARRIED WOMEN UNFAIR

Sir: I hope you will find space in your newspaper to print this letter.

It concerns something which is bothering many and which affects all. I am speaking of the ever-increasing numbers of married couples, of which both husband and wife are working. No one would object to a girl working for the first year of her married life, if it would help put them on their feet. What is meant by this, is getting a home together, not buying a new car or tearing the country wide open, as is so often the case today. Such wages could be used to better advantages in feeding an unemployed man's hungry children. This situation affects us all indirectly. These people can afford to pay big prices for everything, whereas a man with wife and family at home can't keep up with the pace. Thus the cost of living, is and will remain at a high level.

At the present time there are approximately 300,000 unemployed in Canada. It seems hardly fair that there are two pay cheques going into one home and none into the next. If a government ruling were made on the employment of married women, the unemployment situation would be eased considerably—yes, even in Peterborough!

If a married woman has a really legitimate reason why she should work, then let her do so, by all means.

But something should be done soon, as the plants are full of married women, whilst unemployed boys and men are standing on street corners, inviting trouble. These boys and men should be doing the work, whilst the women stay home and raise the families on which the future of Canada depends. Let it not be forgotten that the children of today are the citizens and taxpayers of tomorrow.

"FOOD FOR THOUGHT".

YEARNS FOR ICE

Sir: A practical joke can be carried too far; and I want to tell you, here and now, in no uncertain terms, that you and your Weatherman, have gone far enough—and I am talking about the weather!

I realize that colder weather could cause anchor-ice, which in turn, would affect the power situation; but I'd like a little consideration. All I'm asking, is one week of good, cold weather.

Now, see here; I had two weeks' vacation last summer. The weather was hot! I sweated in the hot sun.... (Sweated, may or may not be good grammar; but I sweated anyway.) Now, you're saying, "Well, so what? What has your perspiring last summer got to do with me?" Well, don't say it! I've stood about all I can stand.... But I'll tell you what I was sweating at last summer; and maybe you'll relent....

I was building an ice-house.

Now, how would you like it, if you were looking forward to a nice, cold bottle of Ob-be-joyful right off the ice—and no ice?

See what you've gone and done? You've spoiled everything with your meddling.... You've ruined my next summer vacation. Why don't you let the weather alone? I've looked through numerous law books; but I DON'T so far find a specific case. If I dragged you into a Criminal action, the Crown Attorney might not like cold weather. On the other hand, it may be difficult to find a lawyer who would plead my case in a Civil Court.... But, I still insist, you've carried a practical joke too far.

DISGRUNTLED COTTAGER.

THOUGHTS ON DOMINION-PROVINCIA CONFERENCE

Sir: It is a fact known to all humanity, that a child must learn to crawl before it has strength and knowledge to walk alone. I use that as a simile in comparison to the growth and power of a country, Canada for instance. Compare the work of the government with the work of the brain and heart of a human, that of the people with that of the veins and arteries of the human body: the government acts as the force and seat of control, while the people carry the burdens and pay the bills at all times in peace and in war. Have the people of this country held their power by vote to select the best officials to act as the power or force for the country? I would say, "NO," for they fail to do their duty by voting to hold that power.

The question that should be uppermost in the hearts of every member in the present assembly, "Is this country ready to walk alone and is that the will of the people?" or "Is this assembly justified in making this a most momentous event by completely changing the constitution of this country, whereby the country would be more able to walk alone and stand in world affairs on an equal basis with any other country?"

This country needs most of all, a "Bill of Rights" and laws with the proper officials with power to enforce all phases of a "Bill of Rights" to secure, promote and maintain a lasting stabilization of life, liberty, freedom for worship, justice for every individual within the borders of this country.

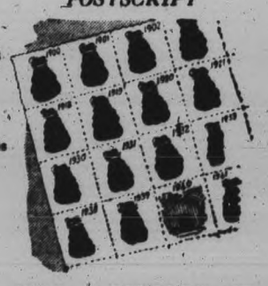
And although, owing to Mafeking celebrations and one thing and another, he was not always quite so upright, he eventually settled down and—

Before long a beautiful thing came into his life—his first son, George.

With the '30's the family began to grow, George having got himself an intellectual wife, whom we know as Vera, and a son, on the floor on the left, also called George. Father is called George. Nearly everybody is called George, come to that.



1914-18 found him winning his first war.

1939—and here he is winning his second war.

Our Mayor, His Worship Max J. Swanston made a statement at a service club luncheon this week that especially appealed to me. Being Peterborough's Centenary Year, he not only reviewed briefly 100 years of achievement but outlined future hopes as well, among them plans to put our Little Lake in shape to use it as a water sports regatta course. Here we are in Peterborough, the gateway to one of the finest summer playgrounds and the largest canoe-building centre on the continent, the largest outboard motor manufacturing centre in Canada. If any community should be water-sport conscious, we should. But it takes a birthday to make us yawn, stretch and scratch our heads a bit and find our feet sopping wet from standing almost unaware, in this natural water playground. We haven't been soaking our feet for a 100 years, however. Just 45.

Yes, it was about 1905 that the last large regatta of any note was held on Little Lake; prior to that, they were grand affairs with colorful evening finales on floats, shorelines, except for Cemetery Point, were illuminated with strings of Chinese lanterns. Single, fours and eight-oar racing shells were driven across Little Lake by young gentlemen in striped jerseys and handle-barred moustaches. Their clubhouse was at the river bank at King St., and their races were run down the Otonabee. There are still two racing shells in the city, a four-oar craft in a shed of the Peterborough Canoe Company and a single seater hanging from the dusty beams of a funeral director's warehouse. And up Stony Lake way the American Canoe Association owned Juniper Island, under trust, at one time. This just gives you a very small part of our water-sport heritage in Peterborough and we hope Centenary Year will be the start of a revival.

Rains Now Summer Fire Menace

It is an odd thought just now to delve into our forest fire control situation for the summer season to come. What with rain nearly every day and creeks and rivers running full to the brim, you would think we might discount the problem. "'Tain't necessarily so," say the experts at the DLF district office in Lindsay. They explained it this way: "High run-off and frosts will dissipate moisture in the bush in the matter of days. The ideal situation is a winter with a great deal of snow and a gradual spring melting period to allow moisture to sink well into the forest floor. Unless the weather changes drastically—and there does not seem to be that possibility—the fire situation in '50 is as menacing as ever." A sober thought for all to heed before spring and summer roll around again.

Algae, Calories and Ponds

Did you ever hear of a branch of science called limnology? The dictionary says that "it is a study of the physical phenomena of lakes and pond life." The Department of Lands and Forests have built a new laboratory, 18 miles north of Toronto at their Southern Research Station. While the Department provides the building services, the Department of Zoology of the University of Toronto will operate it. In their scientific language a press release says, "Present work plans will involve the investigation of the relations of various aquatic organisms to temperature and oxygen, temperature, mineral and light requirements of plankton algae and the calorific requirements of fish." In the words of the man on the street, samples of lake water will be analyzed at the laboratory to determine whether or not it is conducive to the feeding of fish. We think right away of our Pigeon Lake situation and can guarantee its water samples will clog test tubes as no others can.

Four hundred delegates of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, representing 100,000 Ontario sportsmen, will convene in Sudbury on January 30 and 31. Six zones will air their outdoor problems and suggest various legislations for their correction. Peterborough, Lakefield, Havelock and Campbellford should be sending delegates and decide on it quickly. Accommodation will be tough to find in the Nickle City; write about it to Jack Allen, secretary-treasurer, 51 Fir Lane, Sudbury.

A Bid For Bird House Show Early

An item of importance that the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association have fostered is their bird-house building competition. I believe that forms for all schools in the city and country are on the press and will go forward very soon. It is hoped executives will stage their show early in March this year so that children may place bird-houses outside in sufficient time to enjoy watching the first spring birds occupy them. To hang houses too late defeats the club's constructive program to a large extent.

Someone had estimated that at one time there were 60 million buffalo in the American West and that they were slaughtered so fiercely, chiefly for hides, that today only 4,000 are alive, and protected in National Parks. Conservation came too late for the buffalo, was almost too late for moose in Ontario and Quebec, can get out of hand for all other types of game, and fish, unless every Canadian sees to it that the supply is greater than the demand.

Progress of Peterborough: II

'Vines and Walnuts Aplenty' Champlain In Kawarthas

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

From the ancient days of the Mound-builders before 1000 A.D., the Kawartha district was a favourite camping and hunting grounds for the Indians. It was on the best canoe-route from the upper to the lower lakes, and its waters were navigable nearly always except in the winter freeze-up, because the extensive forests and swamps provided natural flood control, holding back the springtime floodwaters and releasing them gradually throughout the season until autumn. The Kawartha forests, meadows and waters teemed with life of all kinds which were essential to the Indians—furbearing animals, deer, fish, rice, berries and roots. It was a land of plenty and beauty which never failed, winter or summer, through the centuries.

In the 13th century A.D. the Iroquoian Indian tribes, originating in the Ohio valley, swarmed north into southeastern Ontario and the Kawarthas, pushing north the more primitive Algonkian tribes. These Iroquoians had two main groups, the Hurons, Tobaccos and Neutrals who settled down in southern Ontario (the area between Lakes Huron, Simcoe, Ontario and Erie) and the Five Nations of the Iroquois—Mohawks, Oneidas, Onondagas, Cayugas and Senecas—who had their main settlements between the Hudson and St. Lawrence Rivers.

All these Iroquoian tribes were able to defeat their Indian neighbours because they were more civilized; and fought ferociously according to plans formulated by their war chiefs. The Iroquoians lived in communal "Long Houses" and were the first Indians in Eastern Canada to begin growing corn, beans, squash and tobacco They did not often starve in the long winters, like the Algonkians, who relied on wild food and lived in small family groups which wandered separately from one camping-ground to another through the seasons.

Indian Warfare

From the first, however, there was bitter enmity between the Hurons and the Iroquois over the Kawartha district, with its wealth of food, skins, furs, bark and shells. Every year Mohawk hunting parties foraged north across the St. Lawrence and up the Kawarthas, trying to drive the Hurons north toward Georgian Bay, fighting whenever their hunting and harvesting parties encountered each other. After 1600 A. D. this warfare was intensified when the French armed the Hurons with rifles and the Dutch and English armed the Mohawks likewise, each seeking control of the fur-trade of the Upper Great Lakes region. By befriending the Hurons, the French earned the undying hatred of the Iroquois, with results narrated in every history of Canada.

To Samuel de Champlain belongs to honour of being the first white man to pass through the Kawartha district, when he accompanied a Huron war-party of several hundred men in 1615 A.D. from Georgian Bay to attack the Iroquois villages southeast of Lake Ontario. Setting out from Georgian Bay on September 4, the flotilla of over 100 war canoes came to Narrows between Lakes Simcoe and Couchiching. First came an advance guard of 50 chosen warriors, led by renowned war chiefs; then the main body of Indians accompanying Champlain and his 12 arquebusiers with their dreaded guns; and in the rear another guard of 50 warriors. Ascending the Talbot River, they crossed by the ancient worn Portage Trail, and thence swept down the long Kawartha waterway until they reached "The Lake of the Burning Plains" — Pimisticotyan. Sahkahaygan — now called Rice Lake.

Champlain described this trip in his 'Voyages': "We continued our way toward the enemy and made about 5 or 6 leagues through these lakes. Thence the Indians portaged their canoes about 10 leagues overland and we came to another lake extending about 6 or 7 leagues in length and 3 in width, from which issues a river which empties into the great Lake of the Entouhonorans (Lake Ontario). When we had crossed we passed a rapids and continuing our course down this river about 64 leagues, we passed 5 rapids, some of them 4 or 5 leagues long, and through several lakes of considerable extent. These lakes as well as the river which flows from one to the other abound in fish, and certainly the whole country is very beautiful and attractive. Along the riverbank it seemed as if the trees had been planted in most places for pleasure, and as if all these regions had once been inhabited by Indians who since had been obliged to abandon them in fear of their enemies. The vines and walnuts are very plentiful, and grapes ripen there, but they always leave a sharp acid taste from not being cultivated; for the clearings in these places are rather attractive. Hunting for stags and bears is very common here; we hunted and took a goodly number of them as we journeyed down. . .As for game, there is a great deal of it in the season. There are also many cranes as white as swans, and several other kinds of birds such as those in France. We went by short days' journeys as far as the shore of the Lakes of the Entouhonorans, hunting all along. . ." (Note: a league was approximately 2½ miles.)

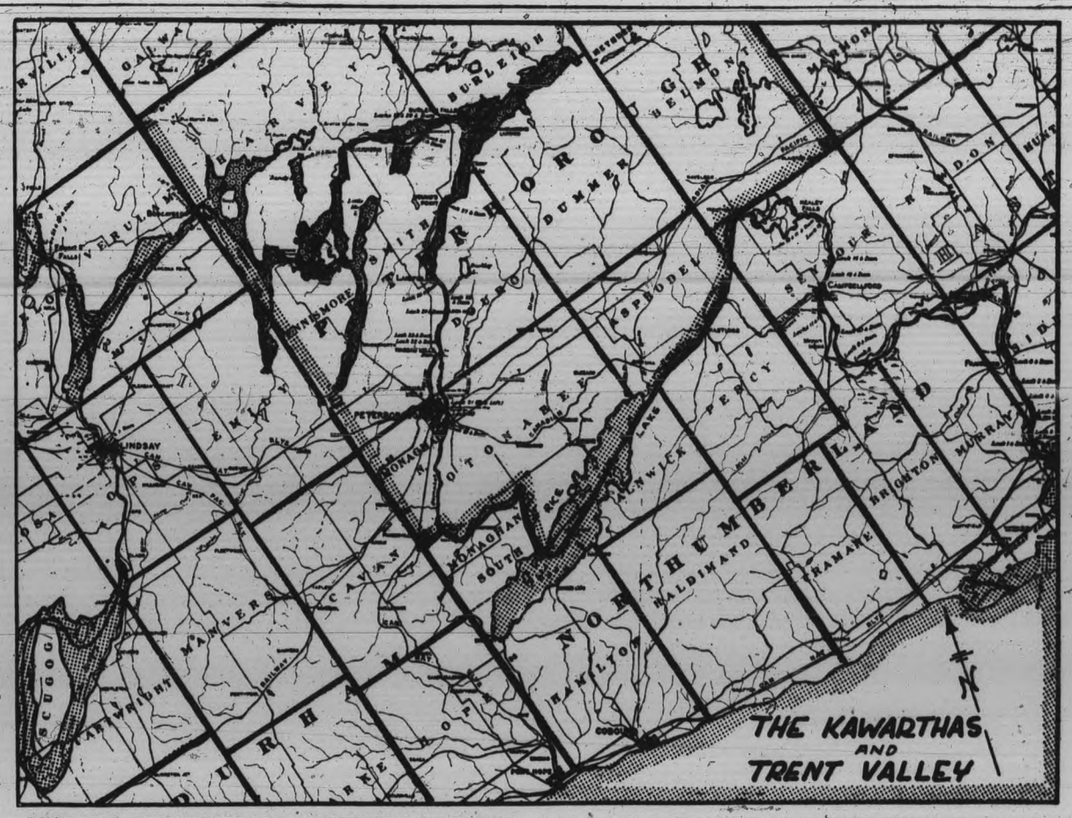
In the notes to his 1632 map, Champlain described the Kawarthas thus "This river is very

To see sad sights moves more than hear them told.
Shakespeare,
Rape of Lucrece.

beautiful and passes through a number of very beautiful lakes and river-meadows, with which it is bordered, many islands of varying dimensions abounding in deer and other wild animals, many good fishing spots full of excellent fish, and a great deal of very good cleared land abandoned by the Indians on account of their wars. The river empties into Lake St. Louis (the French name of Lake Ontario), and many tribes go to these regions for their winter supply. . ."

The Route

Recently there has been some controversy about certain phases of this memorable journey, especially whether Champlain and the Hurons went "downstream continually" through Sturgeon Lake, Pigeon Lake Buckhorn Lake, Deer Bay, Lovesick Lake, Stony Lake, Clear Lake, Katchewanooka Lake, Otonabee River, Rice Lake, Trent River to the Bay of Quinte — or whether he took the shortcut down Chemong Lake, across the Indian Portage Trail to the plains of Peterborough, and thence down the Otonabee River. There is, of course, a good deal to be said on each side, and the actual facts will never be known for certain, but it is the kind of problem over which historians love to debate.



Since the season was getting late and they were speeding on the warpath, it is quite probable that they took the shorter route by way of the Chemong Portage, thus avoiding several rapids Champlain estimated the distance from the foot of Sturgeon Lake to the Bay of Quinte as 160 miles, and the whole distance seemed to him like one river system, regardless of the portages, rapids and likes along the way. After all, to a European 'greenhorn', a portage around a rapids was much the same as a portage across from Lake Chemong to the Otonabee River. One large deer hunt recorded by Champlain, at which the "bag" was exceptionally good, is believed to have taken place in the vicinity of Wallace's Point. Another was held on the sloping north bank of the Trent River about 2 miles below Hastings, near the portage around the rapids.

Return Trip

Coming back from this unfortunate expedition after being defeated by the Iroquois, Champlain narrated "We entered a river 12 leagues in extent, crossed a portage of half a league to a lake 10 or 12 leagues in circuit, and where there was a large amount of game such as geese, swans and so on." Historians also dispute about this return trip, but it is most probable that they returned by the same Kawartha route. As many were wounded, including Champlain, they had to stop for several weeks to recuperate, probably on the Trent near the Bay of Quinte; Champlain was lost in the wood for 3 days at this camp. Held back by the December weather and the river rapids, they did not get back to the Huron town of Cahiaque until December 23, 1615.

Possibly on the trip south, Champlain thought of the site of Peterborough, a plain encircled by seven hills besides the river on a portage in a beautiful land of plenty, as a fine spot for a trading post on this short route from the Huron country to the St Lawrence. But on the return trip northward, defeated and dejected, he must have realized that neither the Hurons nor the French would be able to use the Kawartha route in future without the risk of ferocious fighting against the Iroquois.

Nevertheless, French missionaries later ventured to set up a short-lived mission named Xentsio at the mouth of the Otonabee River on Rice Lake, from which priests visited the camps of the Iroquois and other Indian tribes. There is a local tradition in Peterborough that a French missionary party in those days was ambushed by marauding Iroquois warriors while portaging around a rapids on the Otonabee near the present Peterborough Waterworks. Before they were massacred, runs the legend, they buried their gold and sacred vessels in that vicinity and after 300 years people occasionally try to find this buried treasure. (Next week: "Indian Wars Along the Kawarthas.")

Harrogate Cemetery Visit; Canadian Soldiers At Peace

Ed. Note: When Mr. and Mrs William Tinker were visiting Britain for several months last summer they had the opportunity to go to Harrogate cemetery where many Canadian soldiers are buried. Following is an account written by Mrs. Tinker They also visited a British cemetery near Monte Cassino, in Italy, where Canadians who fought in the Liri Valley in the spring of 1944 are buried, and report the same care for the graves and an atmosphere of quiet sanctity and beauty.)

By A. FLOSSIE TINKER

As we entered the section of Harrogate Cemetery reserved for ex-servicemen a fresh breeze furled and unfurled the Union Jack on the staff embedded in the circular cement base in the centre. To us it symbolized the spirit of all the parents waving a huge kerchief stained with blood and tears.

It was to fulfil a promise to the parents of a boy buried there that we made this pilgrimage.

It was an hour's ride from the old town of York, where we were staying a week, to Harrogate spa, and the drive alone was worth having, for the road bordered with low hawthorn hedges curved between green fields of barley, rye, oats, for no apparent reason except that of beauty. The silvery green fields of oats were scarlet with poppies without number. Near the road stood old brick farmhouses set in their cluster of low brick barns. About half-way there we passed the high boundary walls of the estate of the Earl of Harewood and sighted the ancestral pile among trees in the distance.

SHAME

Sad grey eyes how much
They've seen, looking Through life? what it
Might have been.

Might have been:
And still could be
If earth born man
Would turn to thee.

Turn to thee
Forsake the past.
The long steep hill
To top at last.

To top at last
It cannot be.
Unless our hearts
Are turned to thee.

F. HORN

Beverley Street.

On arrival at Harrogate we asked directions to the cemetery from a chemist. His question "Which one? Woodlands?" stymied us. The Canadian accent gave him a clue that it would be for ex-servicemen at the Stonefall cemetery, and he advised us to take the Todcaster 'bus at the 'bus station for the two mile ride to Stonefall.

White Monuments

Arriving there, we entered a well-cared-for cemetery but there was no sign of soldiers' graves At the office we were given information to follow the path to the first stone, then to turn right and follow that path till we saw the flag. We did; it was a walk almost half a mile before we saw the flag and entered the section reserved for ex-servicemen. Not crosses, as we had expected to see, but rows of small white monuments marked their places. To right and to left there were so many that a short distance from the path they hid the green grass. The sight chilled our hearts.

As we approached the flag we noted that some boys had belonged to the R. A. F., R. C. A. F., R.A.A.F.; one monument marked the common grave of boys killed in a bomber; some were marked with the cross of David; some graves in a row showed comrades killed in the same accident. Some of the inscriptions read, "He loved honour more than he feared death;" "They say time heals but memories last forever;" "Eternal rest, grant unto him, O Lord;" "Our only, dearly beloved child;" "In life loved and honoured, in death remembered."

Oaks and Sycamores

As we walked around, silent and sad, with strange lingering thoughts of this host of young men whole lives in the natural course of events would have been so different, and of the resulting heartaches, skylarks in the adjoining field were singing — a field as extensive and beautiful as a park dotted with huge oaks and sycamores.

How we wished that the parents of the boys were there that would have meant so much to their hearts to see the quiet place their beloved lie. It was bounded on one side by a stone wall, very high and grey, on another, by a low green hedge, and at the foot, an iron fence which separated it from fields of grass.

This new section of the cemetery had been freshly sodded —the edges of some rectangles still showing. About a foot in front of the monuments is a continuous row of small perennials—two kinds, planted alternately—one resembling our chives, the other, our May weed, both, no doubt, chosen for their bloom and hardiness. Never will these new monuments stand at various angles like the score of remaining wooden crosses, for their bases are set in concrete. Not crowded were the tombs, the low mounds were placed well apart. Wide green paths divided the section into quarters and met at the flagstaff. Each quarter had fifteen rows of graves, each row, fifteen graves, making two hundred and twenty five in each quarter, nine hundred in all.

We left this place while the skylarks were singing, the flag flapping disconsolately, thinking "Once dawn was theirs and sunset and the colours of the earth."

Da Vinci's Catalogue

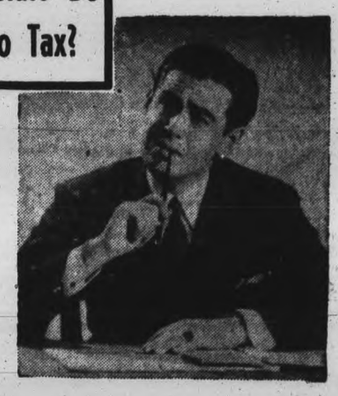
The great Leonardo da Vinci wrote about 1485 a letter to the Duke of Milan cataloguing his abilities—"certain of my secrets". The letter includes the following:

"I can construct bridges—

"In case of siege I can cut off water from the trenches and make pontoons.

"I can demolish every fortress if its foundations have not been set in stone.

"I can also make a kind of cannon.



"I can construct noiselessly . . subterranean passages. . . if necessary underneath trenches or rivers.

"I can make armoured wagons carrying artillery, which shall break through the most serried routes of the enemy, and so open a safe passage for his infantry.

"In time of peace, I believe that I can give you as complete satisfaction as anyone else in the construction of buildings both public and private, and in conducting water from one place to another.

"I can further execute sculpture in marble, bronze or clay, also in painting I can do as much as anybody else, whoever he may be."

Petes Romp Over the Gans To Capture One-Sided Win

Trampling Gananoque into the ice 15-1 here last night, the Petes climbed up comfortably into fourth place and not too far out of third in their OHA senior "B" grouping, leaving the Gans well in the cellar. A fair-sized crowd saw a fast, clean and one-sided contest the Petes getting going properly after 10 minutes or so of fancy skating. They led 4-1 in the first and 8-1 going into the most uneven third chukker.

LIT LAMP--Freddy Garvey lit the lamp four times and helped once more for five points as the Petes trampled Gananoque 15-1 here in a one-sided senior "B" puck joust last evening, Garvey and West being the main snipers.

Gananoque were minus a few spares and short on condition, having no artificial ice, and they were outclassed all the way by a Foley flock that played good passing hockey after a slow start. Only a few minor penalties were handed out as both sides stuck to hockey, the Petes getting better as the game wore along. Their last three goals came within a minute of the finish.

Led The Way

Fredd Garvey and Junior West sparked the home attack, each being in on five markers, and Freddy shining over the whole route. Jack Mortimer and Murray Fife were in on three each, with Jim Conlon, Drake Jopling and Ted Collins figuring in on a pair apiece. Bill McMasters played a sound defensive game throughout with Gus Leonard also effective. Jerry Creighton aided on four in a nice showing, and Don Coughlin was in on a couple. Goalie Ray Harding didn't have much to do but occasionally robbed the valiant thought tired visitors at close range. None of the visitors showed too much this time.

Most of the Petes' scores resulted from smart combination going in fast, with good finish at close range. Both West and Garvey showed some nifty stick-work in spots, a solo goal by Junior in the third being a feature of the evening as he weaved through and pulled the defence and goalie out of position to toss the burnt biscuit into the oven. The whole team went good.

Gananoque: Goal, Parrish; defence, Reynolds and Keyes; centre, Anderson; wings, Jackson and Fair; alternates, Tindal, Murray, Shepherd, Harper and LeClaire.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Horton and Leonard; centre, West; wings, Garvey and Creighton; alternates, Fife, Collins, Griffin, Coughlin, Mortimer, Conlin, Jopling and McMasters.

Nurses-Black's Get Wins In Girls' Loop

The senior Nurses trimmed the Normalites 42-22 and Black's walloped CGE 33-17 last night in a Girls' Basketball League twin bill in the YWCA gym. It was the first action seen in this regular Friday night cage colleen's circuit since before Christmas. The Electrics only had five players in their tilt.

Nurses led 13-10 at the half of a good opening game, but pulled away with nice passing plays and accurate sniping in the second, led by Bev Pringle and Anita Davis. The former had 18 points and the latter 17, Ag Bowler, Joan Smith and Gloria Weichorek getting the other points. Sheila McKeown led the Normals with eight points, Gladys Clarke getting four as did Loi's Cullis. Normals shot better on fouls the first half. Teams:

Normals—M. Coombs 2, M. Kerr, S. McKeown 8, M. Holroyd 1, A. Curtis 3, L. Cullis 4, E. Scriver, G. Clarke 4.

Nurses Seniors—A. Davis 17, B. Pringle 18, A. Bowler 2, B. Deyell, G. Weichorek 2, J. Smith 3, S. Wilkinson.

Second Game

Black's romped to a 16-6 lead at half-time in the second game against the short-handed Electrics. The latter kept fighting and were only outscored 17-11 the last session of a fair fray. Black's passed and shot well, besides checking effectively, and they had a little edge on free throws. Ruth Hewitt and Dot McNeeley led the scoring parade with Ruth Beard also hitting the hoop good for the winners. Marg Kennedy toiled hard for CGE and accounted for eight of the points, with T. Stewart clicking well the second half to notch six. Teams:

CGE: M. Kennedy 8, B. Luther 2, T. Stewart 6, M. Batley 1, M. Perrin.

Black's—M. McGill, A. Hicklin, M. Beggs, C. Ferguson 2, R. Nayler 2, R. Beard 6, M. McKee 1, R. McInroy 1, D. McNeeley 10, M. Knox, R. Hewitt 11.

Referees, J. Castle and J. Vass; timer, I. Black.

Legion Takes 9-4 Win From Diesels

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 14 — The Peterborough Legionnaires showed too much power for the Belleville Diesels-Electrics here last night to win a 9-4 OHA Senior B decision in handy fashion. A large crowd, including a busload from Peterborough, saw a rugged tussle with the referee letting far too much go. He was confused often, having a mixup over the time at the end of the second period, and it was understood that Belleville officials would protest having this Kingston arbiter handle any more group fixtures here.

Legions struck hard to rack up a 4-0 lead in the first period, and they had a 4-2 margin in the second, but were outscored 2-1 in the third. Play was fast, hard and often rough. Montgomery got a misconduct penalty in the second for querying the referee on a minor penalty. Fryia, Hill, Parnell, Rochetta and Crowley were all prominent in the Peterborough attack, while Leo and Vern Goyer worked hard and clicked for a couple. Standing to date:

	W	L	T	Pts
Legion	9	1	1	19
Belleville	6	6	0	12
Kingston	5	3	0	10
Petes	2	7	1	5
Gananoque	1	6	0	2

The teams:

Legion: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Crowley and D. Mortimer; alternates, Montgomery, Parnell, Stewart, Greenlaw, Hill, Fryia, Coombs, F. Mortimer and Hamilton.

Belleville: Goal, Leforte; defence, Woodman and V. Goyer; centre, Jones; wings, Bastedo and MacDonald; alternates, Barrett, Wardhaugh, Meagher, Schreider, Nolan, L. Goyer, Williams and Moher.

Referee, P. Patterson; linesman, K. McNaught.

Goodson Leads With 375 Roll

Fashion Craft blanked Sunocos in the Men's City Five Pin League and took the top pinnage with 3727. Cavanaghs took all three games from Bond Clothes in the closest match of the night winning by 4-8-14 pins.

Shockeys and Babes Place each won 6 points from Charlotte Credit Jewellers and Empress Old Timers.

Clappers, McGills, Esquire and Campbell and Best had 4 point victories over Capitol Taxi, Tem, De Laval and Dunns Tailors. Dunns Tailors had high single game of 1372.

Joe Denault rolled 849 to take high three just 3 pins better than Bud Goodson, Bill Miller rolled 811 and Jim Herron 809. Bud Goodson was out in front for high single with 375 followed by Bill Miller 343, Joe Denault 336-315, Len Anthony 331, Roy Suddards 328, Frank McCormack 324 Jack Murray and Fred Martin 312, Bill Master 301 and Bob Crowe and Tec Caccavella 300.

Shockeys continue to set a fast pace and now have a first place lead of 18 points over the Cavanagh and McGillis entries who are now tied with 66 points each.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

The then baseball commissioner K. M. Landis declared 10 years ago today that five major leaguers and 88 minor baseball players were free agents, following an investigation of the farm operations of Detroit Tigers of the American League. Detroit lost an estimated $500,000 in player-material by this decision.

Edmonton Wins

DUNDEE, Scotland, Jan. 14—(CP)—Edmonton Mercurys Friday night extended their winning streak in Scotland to three with a 4-3 victory over Dundee Tigers—but it was their toughest tussle to date. Three times Canada's representatives to the coming world amateur hockey tournament took the lead and three times the locals fought back to level the count, until defenceman Pete Wright sank the clincher 11 minutes from the final buzzer.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Hamilton Strands tangle with Outboard Marines at eight tonight in the YMCA gym, an exhibition men's basketball game. With one of the tallest cagers in existence on the Strands, the visitors pack a potent team and the local basketeers are in for a busy evening, we expect. This tussle is preceded at seven by the opening game of the City Basketbal League, and the twin bill ought to be right interesting. Elsewhere may be found reports on a lot of hoop action about the place last gloaming. At least, we think it'll all be in, but an early Saturday deadline after a heavy Friday p.m. of sports makes it a tight fit sometimes.

St. Kitts columnist again wonders what became of duralanium baseball bats invented by Dixie Walker and plastic ice—for summer use—proved workable some time ago by a chap in the States. And the vest-pocket radio which threatened to become the rage in New York a few years back. The columnist hints darkly that certain manufacturers bought out these inventions smartly, as soon as they were proven okay, and stored them away in vaults—never to be seen again. Leo Durocher thought the duralanium bat just the thing, one that didn't sting and would last for years. But it never did appear on the market.

A Doctor In The Camp

Something new has been added in the announcement that the St. Louis Browns will take along a doctor of metaphysics, Dr. David Tracy, to their spring training camp. Guess he's supposed to psychoanalyze the players to obtain better results on the diamond. As one writer says: "All the psychologist will have to do is hypnotize the Browns into acting like the Yankees, a mansized job if there ever was one." Up to date, Manager Eddie Murphy of the Petes' ballsters has given no indication that he intends to employ a hypnotist, even part-time, for COBL contests. The thought might have had merit, though, last summer — especially if the "evil eye" could have been directed toward Bill Gingerich on the Oshawa outfit.

As far as we know, but six Peterborough players ever saw action in big-time hockey. Fred Whitcroft did about 1907 in the old NHA with Renfrew. Walter (Jiddy) Miller was with Montreal Wanderers around 1909. Jerry Coughlin played for Toronto in 1917-18 and with Canadiens in '20. Lornie Rose signed with Toronto but went out west instead. Mickey Murray had a brief whirl with Canadiens, while Jake Wade and Bill Calladine saw a little action in war years with Boston Bruins. Red Sullivan played one game this season with Bruins. Other imports to Peterborough reached the NHL, notably Bailey, but those six are the only natives we know who made the grade.

Lindsay And IOOF-ers

The high-flying Lindsay Kinsmen play the local Oddfellows at 8.30 p.m. Monday in Civic Arena, an OHA junior "B" fixture. The Kin weren't considered quite in the class of Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa and the IOOF-ers at season's start, but these clubs now have high respect for the hustling Scugog squad, which has been winning a lot of games lately. The Triple Links are also up around the top of the heap in the tidy junior grouping, so the Monday night melee will be well worth seeing. Oddfellows are off to Lindsay on Wednesday and will likely also have a game away during the week, probably in Orono, since that club along with Cobourg and Port Hope have been added to the setup.

* * * * * *

Both our senior "B" puck clubs are starting to roll as they smell money playoffs. Legionnaires (with some local fans along) rolled to a neat 9-4 win o'er Diesels right in Bella Villa last eve—and maybe, Bro. Carver, your Belleville villains didn't get the breaks, huh? They were well trounced, anyway. Here at home, the Petes amply avenged a previous loss to Gananoque by smothering 'em 15-1 (Belleville only beat 'em 9-6 last Wednesday) in a waltz. True, the Gans didn't get their Kingston imports and they were minus a few spares as well as being shy on condition, but the Petes were really rolling after the first 10 minutes and playing smart passing hockey. Garvey and West led the snipers but all the squad went well.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

"There is only one thing wrong about this curling" says Harold Foster. "The players do everlastingly ignore the opinion of No. 8."

Next week might easily be called bonspiel week. There's the Neill bonspiel Tuesday night; Canada Packers bonspiel, all day Wednesday; the ladies' open bonspiel for the Warne Trophy, all day Thursday and all of Friday up till 5:30 p.m. Saturday afternoon will see the men's 'spiel and on Saturday night the mixed rink bonspiel. That's all. There's just no room for any more.

Don't forget the mixed rink 'spiel this evening at 7:45.

Confeds Tie QM

Confederation and Qqueen Mary tied 2-2 yesterday in a fine School Hockey League tilt in Civic Arena. Roberts got the first one, aided by Cullen and Merrett, but Holland and then Davis counted to put Confeds up. Merrett got the equalizer from Stewart in the second and it ended that way. Teams:

Confederation—Holland, Davis, Simmons, McIntosh, M. Bryan, B Bryan, Dunstan, Miller, Sloan.

Queen Mary—Cullen, Roberts, Merrett, Stewart, Dunn, Deck, Cuffe, Jackson, Franks, Brady.

Referee—E. Dreury.

PCVS Hoopsters Take Two Of Three Frays

Bev Goulding's senior basketballers nearly lost their opener in the Collegiate gym Friday night as they were outscored in the second half by a smooth-working Cobourg High quintet 26-25. That margin of one point wasn't enough to take last year's senior COSSA champions as the score ended 52-44 for PCVS.

Port Hope High's junior Bees, led by Ross, edged the PCI'ers 23-19 in the opener while the local junior "A's" had too much on the ball for the Cobourg juniors, turning them back 36-15.

Grafstein and Thompson for PCVS built up a 15-7 score for PCVS in the first quarter of the senior fray. The Collegians kept up the pace to make the score 27-18 at the half and 42-35 at the three-quarter mark. Cobourg checked the PCI'ers closely in the fourth quarter but had trouble when in range of the basket. PCVS outscored them 10-9 to finish the scoring 52-44.

Led Attack

Jamieson of Cobourg led the scorers with 18 points while Thompson and Northcott each had 14 for PCVS. Other points were made by Grafstein eight, Young seven, Evans four, Goard three and Bailey two, all for PCVS, and Hircock six, Martin five, Spragge four, Brown four, Walton two, Norton two, Dillon and Clark one each.

PCVS Junior A's built up a six-point lead in their game with Cobourg in the first half, 13-7. In a fast, rough third session Cobourg were edged on points five to four but the locals flipped in 17 points in the last quarter to four points by Cobourg.

Doughty and Ash led the PCI'ers with eight points each while Langhorne had six, Hempstead four, Murray, Grafstein, Cunningham, McIlraith, Brown and Fowler each two. Fisher had six points for Oshawa with Epworth having four, Cane and Gadd two each and Bowen a single.

Hopers Win

A fourth-quarter drive by Port Hope put the finishing touches to the opener for the PCVS junior Bees as Ross sank seven points to lead the Hope five to victory. PCVS had taken the lead during the third quarter after Port Hope edged them in the first 4-3 and had the game evened 9-all at the half. The PCI'ers went ahead 15-12 in the third. The final score was 23-19.

Lenahan 11 points, Ross nine and Jordon three were the only scorers for Port Hope. Elcombe sank eight for the Collegians while Jamieson had four, Buckland, Fortner and Halliday two each and Britnell one.

Campbellford Gets Win Over Norwood

NORWOOD, Jan. 14 (ENS)—In a rather rough TVL intermediate game here last night, Campbellford defeated Norwood 6-2 before a good crowd, with the ice heavy before the finish. Lake got the only first-period goal, and Campbellford got three in a row in the second, Tanner from Doug Free, Robinson from Herrington and Doug Free on a solo. Webb got two in the third for Norwood, aided once by Rogers, while Doug Free tallied another for the visitors, and Doughty wound it up from Robinson. Only eight penalties were handed out in the stiff checking. Teams:

Campbellford: Goal, Severn; defence, Doug Free and Taylor; centre, Lake; wings, Hay and Hendricks; alternates, Robinson, Herrington, Doughty, Smith, Don Free, Casey, Forrester and Tanner.

Norwood: Goal, Morrison; defence, Petterson and Fennell; centre, Kelly; wings, Clemence and Evans; alternates, Brown, Rogers, Webb, Coones, Dracup, Lonsberry, Hopkins and Smith.

Referee—O. Hendy; linesman, W. Leggitt.

Conversion And Fellowship Foundation Of Early Church

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Upon the foundation of Jesus Christ the early Christian church was built by two things—conversion and fellowship.

The first great in-gathering was on the Day of Pentecost, 50 days after the Passover, when Peter preached with such power and boldness that many were moved to cry out in repentance, "What shall we do?" About three thousand were then converted and baptized. This company of believers was soon increased for we are told that the Lord added to the church daily such as were being saved (Act. 2:47)

But someone has said that no one goes to heaven alone, and the first immediate manifestation of this new life in conversion was an intense clinging of Christians to one another in a fellowship so deep and strong that at first they held all things in common.

The early Christian communism did not last long, just as most schemes of Christian communism have failed since. If the Christions had all been a noble, unselfish, and pure-minded as Barnabas, it might have been successful; but a liar and self-seeker like Ananias can make havoc in a noble experiment. In any case Christianity places a strong value upon the individual soul, and upon the rightful independence of each life.

Paul understood this well when, urging that Christians should bear one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ, he also said that every man should bear his own burden (Galatians 6:2 5)

That was good sound democracy. The strength of democracy, of a church, of a Christian fellowship, is built upon the integrity and Strength of the individual units.

But the strength of the early Christian Church was in the way the individual Christians, with a new sense of the worth of their own souls, loved one another. It became a byword, marking them from the world in which they lived, "See how these Christians love one another."

One speaks thus of the "early Christian church"; can one say as much for the Christian church of today? Yes, I think, and no. It depends upon one's point of view. The Christian church of today is a vast community of many churches, comprising many lands and many people of all sorts. It is an historic institution, as well as a fellowship of the sincerely devout and consecrated. People join the church from various motives and many attend the services and support the church financially who have never joined it at all or professed any vital experience of conversion, such as transformed the early Christians.

It would be easy to dwell upon the adverse aspects of the church to sound a very pessimistic note but what impresses me is the number and extent of the true fellowship of believers, the Christians whose life is one of prayer, of meditation upon the Scriptures, of communion with Christ and with one another, living was of consecrated service, manifesting good works and love of their fellowmen.

It is the continuing evidence of Christ's presence and power, the deepest, finest, strongest thing in all the world. Would that there were more in that great company of sincere Christians! But let us never forget how great it is, or what the Christian fellowship means to a world in need, more in need than it is ever willing to acknowledge.

Man May Stray From God His Return Up To Himself

By REV. E. R. JAMES

The chief priests, mocking Jesus, said: He trusted in God, let God now deliver Him: if He will have Him.—St, Matthew 27:43.

Have you read these word with bitter horror: "The chief priests mocking Jesus." The statement does not stand alone. Religious quarrels produce such a temper. The heads of the Jews are there in their official garments. They are received with ceremony courtesy by the Centurion, who permits them to draw near to the Cross. They give vent to their hatred by this quotation from the Twenty-second Psalm: "He trusted in God."

HE TRUSTED IN GOD is the key to the whole story. Friend and foe know that his whole heart was bound up in God. He put His whole trust and confidence in God. Yet to all outward appearance God did not answer Him. His life work of three years seemed to be a complete failure. An Apostle betrayed Him, another denied Him, the rest fled and left Him in the hands of His enemies. He came to proclaim the coming of the Kingdom of God and with bitter mockery they crowned Him with a crown of thorns and nailed the title on the Cross: THE KING OF THE JEWS.

HE TRUSTED IN GOD. As a lad of twelve in the Temple courts He said: "I must be about my Father's business. To do that work more perfectly He returned to Nazareth and spent 18 years in quiet preparation. He meditated upon the Old Testament which He read in the synagogue. In the fulness of time He determined to go to Jordon and be baptised by John. Then He received the revelation from the Father: "Thou are my beloved Son in whom I am pleased." He knew that He was the Son of God in a mysterious sense of the word.

HE TRUSTED IN GOD in a vitally true sense. He looked upon God as His Father. As you read the Gospel of St. John you will see how clearly and constantly He claims to be the Son of the Father. He teaches that He has come down from heaven to do the will of the Father. "I always do those things which please the Father." Moreover He claims complete unity with the Father. "I and the Father are one."

In these anxious days it may come to you that the Father's heart goes out in love to us. We can stray away but He will not force us to return. This is the wonderful truth. The prodigal soon had to arise and return before the Father would run to meet him.

The Master's faith was put to the acid test. The darkness fell upon Him but His faith never failed. With His last breath He cried: "Father, into Thy Hands I commend my Spirit."

On the third day The Holy Spirit entered into that dead body and breathed upon it the breath of life and He rose from the dead. "I am He that liveth and was dead and am alive for evermore." This is His reward because He trusted in God. May you and I follow in His footsteps.

Take heed to this scripture:

The Lord saith: When thou passest through the waters I will be with thee, and through the rivers they shall not overflow thee. My presence shall go with thee.

Thanks be unto Thee, O Lord.

Filmed In 1912 Famous Story Has Had A Charmed Life

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

AYLESBURY, Buckinghamshire, England—(CP)—A film history of the life of Christ, directed by Canadian-born Sidney Alcott in 1912, is still being shown in Britain, Canada and many other countries.

"From the Manger to the Cross," as the film is still called, was made entirely in Palestine. Most of the people who played in it are dead, including English actor R. Henderson Bland who represented Christ.

Alcott however, is living in retirement in Hollywood.

The film — running for 72 minutes—is believed by many to be the first full-length screen feature ever made. From the original negative, owned by Rev. Brian Hession, vicar of Aylesbury, hundreds of copies have been made and circulated all over the world.

Sixty of them, to which a sound-track was added in 1937, are still being screened.

"Most of the action was filmed out-of-doors," Mr. Hession told The Canadian Press, "and the photography is remarkably good although the industry with in its infancy then.

"It was seen all over Canada and the United States in 1912, brought to England in 1913 and shown at the Royal Albert Hall [illegible] in 27 different [illegible]

"The film has certainly had a charmed life. It has disappeared several times in the last 37 years —but somehow it always come to light again."

Lost In New York

After a successful revival in 1922, "From the Manger to the Cross" disappeared for a number of years. To find it Mr. Hession went to the United States in 1937

"I tracked it down in New York after a long and difficult search," he said, "and decided it should be brought up to date. The action was slowed down by increasing the speed of copies made for modern projectors. Music and speech were added.

"But I still have the original negative and value it tremendously. In spite o all the progress made by the movie industry since 1912, I believe a better film history of Christ than this one has yet to be made.

"We have produced still pictures from some of the reels and they are as good as anything that could be done today."

Hession said a number of churches throughout Britain apply to him for copies of "From the Manger to the Cross" at Christmas and Easter-time. At these seasons it is often shown at small commercial movie houses throughout Britain.

Young People Train For Church Work

TORONTO, Jan. 14—As The United Church of Canada enters its twenty-fifth year of union, it was announced today that at no other time in the past 25 years have so many young men and women been training to be ministers of The United Church of Canada.

Rev. Dr. W. Harold Young, Secretary of the Board of Colleges and Secondary Schools of The United Church of Canada said today that there are 498 men and women training in Theological Colleges compared with 450 a year ago The number of candidates has jumped from 393 three years ago, to 498 this year, 122 of these being new candidates.

"This response of our youth should stir the whole church as we approach our anniversary year. It does not by any means solve the problem of filling United Church pulpits" Dr. Young said. "We ought to have 650 men and women in our theological colleges each year in some phase of their training."

Dr Young paid special tribute to local ministers who have played a significant part in encouraging suitable young men to make the ministry their life calling. The policy of the Board is to encourage every minister to become a personne officer for recruiting future ministers in his local area. "I am impressed with the soundness of youth in Canada when great issues are placed before them" Dr. Young said.

The Maritime and the Toronto Conferences lead all others in the number of recruits. Newfoundland out of its relatively small population has contributed 36 ministerial candidates. Saskatchewan leads in the number of new candidates this year with 17.

The course required by students in training for the ministry is three years in Arts and three years in Theology. The Church Theological Colleges are Pine Hill Divinity Hall, Halifax; United Theological College, Montreal; Queen's Theological College, Kingston; Emmanuel College Toronto; United College, Winnipeg; St. Andrew's College, Saskatoon; St. Stephen's College, Edmonton; Union College of British Columbia, Vancouver.

NOTEWORTHY FLIGHT

President Roosevelt's 10,000-mile aerial journey to and from Casablanca for the historic meeting with Prime Minister Churchill in January 1943, was the longest air odyssey ever taken by a head of state.

Work Advancing On Erection Of Hydro Station

Sometime in September of this year Peterborough's new two-million-dollar Ontario Hydro transformer station, one mile west of Lily Lake, will start serving immediate and surrounding areas with additional power Construction of the project at the present time, which employs 68 men, is centred on making concrete forms and pouring footings for the control building. To assure work going smoothly during the winter the structure is covered with tarpaulins over timber frame work and heated within by space heaters. A brick and concrete building close by is nearly completed; it is the telephone building.

The function of this station, is to deliver more power locally. It is being built directly under a 110,000 volt line that carries power from Barrett Chute on the Ottawa River to Oshawa. The line will be stepped up to 220,000 volts when the station is completed, as far as Peterborough. From there 44,000 volts will be delivered to each of the following points; Auburn, which will be consumed by this city, Port Hope and Lindsay. Oshawa will still continue to receive its present power of 110,000 volts.

The 100-acre Guyatt Farm, on which the project is rising, is being fully utilized. The barn makes space for stores and carpenter shop and the farmhouse has been turned into a filled engineering

C.G.E. Sold 622,000 Kwhrs Power To City In December

Peterborough's peak of electric power climbed 15% in December and consumption 13%, as reported by R. L. Dobbin, manager of the Utilities Commission Friday. The peak was up from 17,400 kilowatts to 20,100 kw.; and consumption for the month was 8,042,000 kilowatt-hours as compared with 7,114,400 kwhrs. a year ago. Purchase from the CGE during the month was 622,000 kwhrs.

"During the month, in order to help out during the power shortage, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission arranged to take the output of two 1,000-kw. diesel engine-driven generators belonging to the Canadian General Electric Co. The output of the company's steam turbine set was also taken in the evenings."

"Pumpage at the waterworks increased in December 73,000 gallons a day, from 129,132,000 gallons for the month a year ago to 131,468,000 gallons.

"Average air temperature was four degrees colder than in 1948; rainfall was 3.51 inches as compared with 1.76 inches in December last year.

"Steam was kept up all month as a precaution against frazile ice, and the stand-up steam pump was in readiness, but it was not used for pumping water. The river froze over early December but cleared at the end of the month.

"Re-arrangement of the piping in the main pumping station was done in preparation for the installation of the new electrically driven pump."

Additional 622,000 Kwhrs

"Altogether, 486,000 kwhrs were suplied in December by the diesel sets, and 136,000 kwhrs by the steam set. This arrangement will continue during the early months of 1950. The extra cost of this power is to be paid for by the H. E. P. C.

"Construction of new circuits was undertaken on Montrose, McKellar, Erskine, Snelgrove and Manor Hill Avenues, to serve new dwellings.

"The power circuit from Auburn to the main pumping station was partly rebuilt during the month, and the circuit to the new Civic Hospital was completed.

"Other work during the month was: 49 three-wire services built and four two-wire; 149 new street lights installed in various parts of the city; 68 new flat rate water heaters connected."

42 Stop Logs Taken Out

"The flow in the river is very high. Forty-two stop logs had to be pulled out. The flow is close to its greatest peak.

"In December 219 feet of two-inch main were laid on Braund Place, south of Chamberlain St., to serve six houses being built.

"On Gillespie St. 1,119 ft. of 6-inch main were laid for new houses on the north side of the street.

"Although, 27 new water services were constructed, two relaid and two repaired. Two new fire hydrants were placed on Gillespie St."

More Gas Used

"Propane used in the month was 34,322 gallons, and 5,772,000 cu. ft. of gas were made. These figures were 15% more than in December 1948. The boiler at the Aylmer St. office and the heater in the garage were converted to burn gas."

STATION IN WEST END

A substation in the west end is planned by Utilities Commission The first of these auxiliary stations was set up on Romaine St., west of the CNR to Port Hope for that industrial section of the city. No. 2 is in Ashburnham, and the third of these outdoor distributors will be erected somewhere on the west side of the city. R. L. Dobbin, manager, has a spot or two in sight.

Memorial Plaque Unveiled As Otonabee Rink Opened

Seven hundred men, women and children attended the dedication and formal opening of Otonabee Memorial Arena Friday evening in Keene. Reeve Harry Reid was chairman of the proceedings and clergy taking part in the dedication service were the Rev. George Murray, Keene United Church; the Rev. J. H. Greene, Knox Presbyterian Church, Keene and the Rev. W. C. McCarney of Our Lady of the Assumption Church, Keene.

The memorial plaque, located in the south of the building bears the inscription:

"Otonabee Memorial Arena, dedicated and opened December 30th, 1949. To the memory of those who paid the supreme sacrifice World War 2, 1939-45." The opening was scheduled for Dec. 30, the date which appears on the plaque, but owing to inclement weather and lack of ice, it was postponed until January 13th.

After the dedication ceremony the Keene and Nashua Paper Company's hockey teams played a game that proved to be a lively contest. In the first three minutes of play Keene scored two goals and from then on, to the end of the first period, it became a fast shuffle back and forward, with the paper men scoring before the bell rang.

The second period settled down to better playing by the two teams while in the last period the natural ice became soft and heavy and the game took on all the characteristics of an old time "shinny" game, the puck refused to slide on the wet ice and it was necessary for the players to clout the rolling rubber to keep it in action.

The game ended with Keene having scored eight goals and Nashua Paper five.

Hon. Harold Scott, Minister of the Department of Lands and Forests (Ontario), congratulated the citizens of the township on the completion of the project that had been under way for nearly a year. He declared the arena officially opened. Earlier, Gordon K. Fraser, M.P. for Peterborough West, spoke briefly, and he too congratulated the citizens and the building committee on the fine building.

The building committee were each presented with a memento for their "untiring efforts" by David McIntyre, of Keene, on behalf of the citizens. The committee included Charles Nelson, chairman, David McNevin, Mervin Mathers and Robert Keitel. James McCarthy, secretary of the committee, is ill in hospital and Mrs. McCarthy accepted the token for her husband.

Dance In The Water

The artificial ice by this time took on all the appearances of a good regatta course but this didn't discourage a number of dancers who entered the rink with gum boots on to enjoy a few sets of old-time dances.

For over an hour they splashed around in the puddles and ponds that formed on the rink surface to the music of fiddle and bow relayed from a record player over the P.A. system.

Senator J. J. Duffus attended the ceremonies and although he took no active part, he expressed his delight at a reception held in the ladies' lounge for the visitors, over the fine building and the community spirit of the township.

RATE INCREASE COMING

Utilities Commission is forced to consider application of an increase in local power rates. They will likely make an announcement next week, pending Hydro approval, that the higher charge follows the increased power cost imposed by the Hydro-Electric Commission.

No Agreement On First Round Of CG-UE Joint Negotiations

The first round of resumed negotiations between the CGE and the UE-GE Joint Negotiating Comittee ended Friday afternoon still without final agreement between the parties.

It was the first such meeting since the Conciliation Board handed down its recommendations at the beginning of the new year.

Peterborough and Cobourg delegates on the Joint Committee were not present at the sessions. Only those from the Toronto plants took part in the renewed talks.

The Company had previously stated they would bargain with either Peterborough or Cobourg as joint members on the committee until the juridictional dispute between the UE and the IUE was settled.

T. P. Davies, president of Local 524 UE, and Art Hunter, vice president, held consultative meetings with the Toronto delegates between sessions. A Cobourg delegate did likewise.

No Separation

"This is in no way a recognition on the part of the Union that we will agree to separate negotiations," C. R. Sullivan, district representative told the Examiner. Mr. Sullivan said any settlement reached with the Toronto plants would be equally applicable to Peterborough and Cobourg. At present all plants bargain jointly under a master agreement.

"We informed the company that the majority report of the Conciliation Board was inadequate and that we stood instructed by our membership to resume negotiations using the minority report as a basis."

Recommendations

The majority report submitted by Chairman Judge J. C. Reynolds and C. B. Scott, company nominee, rejected a general wage increase but recommended reduction of a 44-hour week in Toronto to 42 hours; and in Pterborough and Cobourg from 45 to 42.

A pay boost of 4.77 per cent, judged sufficient to maintain the take-home pay of a worker whose time was cut from 44 to 40, was also recommended.

The minority report by J. L. Cohen, union nominee, asked that the work week be reduced "uniformly" to 42 hours with maintainance of take-home pay, plus a general wage increase of five-cents-an-hour.

Significance of the emphasis on uniform reduction, local UE officers point out, is that the 4.77 per cent boost is calculated to maintain two-hour cut in his work week Peterborough and Cobourg workers, the board recommended, would be cut three hours and would lose out on the 4.77 per cent formula.

Suggest Fee of $200 a Week For Summer Theatre Group

There is still plenty of doubt that Peterborough will have a Summer Theatre this coming season. At a meeting of the Board of Education's Supervision Committee Friday night it was decided to recommend use of Queen Mary School auditorium for theatre use provided a contract is signed with the actors. The catch is that the stipulations are much more exacting than in the theatre's initial year in 1949.

Rental of the auditorium would be boosted from $80 a week to $200 if the recommendations of the Supervision Committee are accepted by the Board at the special meeting called for January 23.

There is a strong possibility some of these proposed clauses would be unacceptable to the professional actors.

The committee also insisted that there be no interruption of the school curriculum should the actors contract for the premises. Last year the Summer Theatre troupe occupied the auditorium a week before classes were dismissed and this prevented the pupils from using it.

Such a change would mean a run of slightly less than nine weeks compared with about 11 weeks last year.

Require A Supervisor

It was decided there should be a supervisor to look after school property and keep an eye on things generally while the actors were using the premises. And the key should be in the possession of the supervisor.

The school, it was felt, should be closed at "a reasonable hour" and this was generally accepted as about midnight. It was reported by committee members that hammering and other noises were often heard as late as 1 a.m. and 2 a.m. after the evening performance.

Some residents in the area of Queen Mary School also complained last year of Sunday noise caused by the troupe and it was suggested that this be reduced to a minimum. However, this provision was not included in the proposed contract.

(Michael Sadlier, director of the Summer Theatre, explained last fall to the Board that a certain amount of activity on the lot was unavoidable on Sundays as that was the only day the actors had to change scenery and finish their rehearsals for the new play.)

Another "must" decided on by the committee was that the troupe not be allowed to alter or interfere with permanent fixtures. Nor could there be any use of school property without permission.

And another contract clause

$57 Paid By County For 19 Foxes Killed

Herman Rusaw of Norwood this week headed the list of marksmen collecting fox bounties from the County Clerk and Treasurer. He shot five and thus pocketed $15.

Following is a list of all the claims for 19 foxes killed: Nelson Davis of Peterborough, three shot in Otonabee and one in Douro; Joseph McGillen, Peterborough, one shot in Douro; George Coppaway, Curve Lake Reserve, four shot in Smith; Edgar Humber, Peterborough, one shot near springville; in North Monaghan; M Conroy, Peterborough, two shot in Smith; Herman Rusaw of Norwood, five shot in Asphodel; Edward Parberry of Douro, one shot in Douro, and Robert Hill of Havelock, one shot in Belmont.

There were no claims for the $25 wolf bounty.

SWEET MOTORING

Pranksters are responsible for what might prove to be a costly repair job to the motor of a rural school bus.

One of the busses operating between Keene and P. C. V. S. and owned by Fletcher Bus Lines stopped functioning suddenly Friday morning just west of the town while making the usual school run. The operator examined the motor and the working parts but could see no apparent reason for the motor shutting off. Finally one of the student passengers suggested he might be out of gas. That suggestion was waived aside when the operator replied that the tank had been filled that morning. However the student went to the gas tank and removed the cap and found the source of the trouble. Someone had poured granulated sugar into the gas tank! Mechanics say that it may have caused serious damage to the motor. G. D.

Veterans Course In Housebuilding Draws From Afar

A series of lectures on house construction for war veterans started at the Collegiate Friday evening under the direction of William Lower, Kingston regional construction supervisor of V. L. A.

Peterborough is one of four centres in the Kingston V.L.A. region, where the course is being held between now and the end of March, to help ex-Servicemen who plan to start building their own houses this summer.

Men, some of whom were accompanied by their wives, came into the city from outlying areas as far away as Lindsay to attend the first lecture Friday.

The course started with discussion on site location, paying particular attention to land drainage, sounding to get an idea of the rock formation and matters to be taken into consideration to obtain the most sun.

The veterans were also told how to obtain information about local building bylaws, which should be studied before starting to build. Advice on selection of plan and layout, bearing in mind present and future requirement was also given.

Build For Additions

The type of house to which additional rooms can be built in later years, is being recommended by V. L. A. In choosing such a design, builders can start in a modest way eventually have their dream house if they like, Mr. Lower says.

Friday's class was also addressed by Alan McNabb, regional supervisor of V. L. A.

For the second class, scheduled for Feb 3., Mr. Lower has planned a lecture to be given by an expert in concrete. The class will study a layout of batter boards taking the house up as far as the first floor joist.

First 3 Teams To Compete In OHA Playoffs

TORONTO, Jan. 14 (CP)—The Ontario Hockey Association has decided against giving a free ride to a last place club for post-season playoffs.

That decision—which cleared up numerous complications—was voiced at a hastily called executive meeting last Friday night and it means that only three of the four teams in the Senior A loop will advance into the playoffs.

Despite stubborn opposition by representatives of two clubs — Owen Sound Mercurys and Hamilton Tigers—the board voted by a margin of 4-1 against allowing all four clubs to compete in the playoffs.

Tory Gregg of Wingham, was the only member of the executive who voted in favor of a four-team setup.

The decision suited Toronto Marlboros and Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen. The Marlboros have a stranglehold on first place, 25 points ahead of the Dutchmen. The Dutchmen, in turn have a 10-point lead over Owen Sound, and there's only six games to go in the league schedule.

Means Bitter Fight

For the other two clubs, it means a bitter fight. The Mercurys now are in third place, with the Tigers only one point behind them.

Their representatives didn't take it lightly.

Said Jim Keeling of Owen Sound: "I'm very disappointed, gentlemen."

Equally disappointed, although he had nothing to say after the decision, was Tiger coach George Redding, who represented Hamilton owner Percy Thompson.

Keeling added: "If we don't get in the playoffs we're going to be in the red this year and may not be able to operate again."

He suggested that the OHA arrange with the Northern Ontario winners for the fourth team in standing in the OHA senior set to engage the northerners, the winner to play against the OHA champions.

"That's ridiculous," said Stafford Smythe, manager of the Marlboros. "That's practically putting the bottom team ahead of everybody. Isn't there some prize for finishing first?"

W. E. Webber of Kitchener voiced this opposition:

"We couldn't shove that (the four team arrangement) down the public's throat. It would mean that the entire schedule was nothing but an exhibition affair."

New Choir Of 90 In Operatic Oratorio Works

A choir of 90 voices will be heard Monday January 23 as the newly-formed Peterborough Choral Society, under the direction of William Sims, presents its first concert. This will be the first of a series of concerts planned to set the Society on a firm foundation as well as to foster music appreciation in the city.

While several of the great oratorio choruses will be sung, the first program by the Society has been planned as a concert and will present many light numbers in the form of love songs, folk songs, national songs and songs from musical comedies. One of these is the selection Oklahoma, with its rollicking western style.

Climax of the concert will be the entire finale from Gounod's opera "Faust".

The members of the choral society have been rehearsing intensively for the last several months. Several new training devises have been introduced by Mr. Sims: for instance a recording machine is in use. Whereby the singers can themselves hear the quality of voice and enunciation, and hear their faults.

A new Hammond organ which has just been delivered this week will be heard during a group of Victor Herbert's number. Charles Allen will be at the console of the organ for recital numbers. Gwen Craw, piano rehearsalist with the choir, and Mr. Allen are giving a special selection of piano-organ duets, in unique arrangements not before heard in Peterborough.

Among the vocal selections are: My Heart at They Sweet Voice (from Saint Saen's, Samson and Delilah); recitative and aria, O' Ruddier Than the Cherry from Handel's Acis and Galatea; Comfort Ye My People and Every Valley Shall Be Exalted from Handel's Messiah; I Know That My Redeemer Liveth (from Handel's Messiah); and an arrangement of Finlandia by Sibelius.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

A move to whip Vancouver's sport facilities into shape to put it in the running as a site for the 1954 British Empire games got under way Friday.

Civic and sports officials were enthusiastic and Mayor Charles Thompson said he would call a meeting of all interested parties early next week.

Canada's bid for the 1954 games already has gone to Auckland, N. Z., scene of the 1950 games. However, Col. George C. Machum of Montreal, president of the British Empire Games Association, said that while Canada was the probable site of the games, he understood only Hamilton and Toronto were interested.

Mayor Thompson called for immediate action on looking into Vancouver's potential qualifications to ask for the games.

The Ontario Hockey Association is considering fines on players or coaches and managers for misbehavior, George Panter, OHA secretary, said at Toronto Friday.

He was commenting on a report Friday from Calgary that the Western Canada Senior Hockey League will levy an automatic $25 fine against any player drawing a misconduct penalty. President D. P. McDonald of the western loop also announced a $50 fine on any coach or manager for attempts to intimidate referees or unnecessarily delaying games.

Panter said the question of fines for misbehavior or bad conduct — will be submitted to the next OHA executive meeting.

At Casey, Ia., Primo Carnera, former heavyweight boxing champion now turned wrestler, was injured in a traffic accident Friday. Carnera suffered a deep gash on his head when his automobile and a school bus collided. The car then was struck by a truck.

Stan Hack, former star Chicago Cub third baseman, Friday was named to pilot Chicago's Springfield, Mass., club in the Triple-A International League next season.

Jake Mintz, manager of Ezzard Charles, said at New York on Friday he had received two offers for Charles to defend his National Boxing Association heavyweight championship. Mintz said he was holding off his decision for a couple of weeks "to make sure what Joe Louis is going to do."

The University of Western Ontario Mustangs ran wild in the second half of an exhibition basketball game at London Friday night to swamp Tillsonburg Trojans 63-43. More than 2,000 fans witnessed the game.

Johnny Milliard, hard skating forward with Calgary Stampeders of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League, will leave Sunday for a two-game test with New York Rangers, Stampeder coach Marty Burke announced on Friday.

Bandit Gets $300

MONTREAL, Jan. 14—(CP)—A lone, armed bandit walked into the sub-branch of the Provincial Bank of Canada at suburban Abord a Plouffe Friday, threatened the two bank employees and grabbed about $300 from the till. The employees said the man was not masked.

$900,000 Damage

KELOWNA, B.C., Jan. 14 (CP) —An official Friday night hiked the fire damage estimated for Friday morning's destruction of the Rutland Gold Storage Plant here to close to $900,000. George Fitzgerald, president of the Kelowna (Fruit) Growers' Exchange, said the amount includes the 144,000 packed boxes of apples and several thousand more loose.

Dukes Still Riding High Trounce Owen Sound 6-2

By The Canadian Press.

The loss of their star centre hasn't slowed up Toronto Marlboros.

The Dukes still are riding high atop the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A loop, and odds are that they'll stay that way — even without the services of bean pole Johnny McCormack, who signed up with the parent Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday.

The Marlies proved that Friday night as they defeated the third place Owen Sound Mercurys 6-2 in Toronto. The victory gave them 56 points, 25 more than the second place Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen, idle last night.

In three Junior A games, the junior Marlboros had trouble in turning back Guelph Biltmores 2-1, Barrie Flyers downed Toronto St. Michael's College Majors 4-0 and St. Catharines Teepees beat Galt Black Hawks 10-3.

At Toronto, the outcome of the game was in doubt until the third period when the free-wheeling Marlies unleashed a drive that netted four goals.

The 2,910 fans saw Scotty Mair pace the Toronto team with two goals, with Gord Hannigan, Hugh Bolton, Flash Hollett and Chuck Blair getting singles. Buck Forslund and George McLagan produced the Owen Sound markers

Nine-point Lead

At Guelph, the victory gave the Junior Marlboros a nine point lead in the league race.

George Armstrong was the big difference. He fed Jack McKenzie a perfect pass for Toronto's first goal and then notched the winner himself early in the third period. Defenceman John Ashley scored Guelph's only goal in the first period.

Coach Alfie Pike took Cliff Hicks out of the goal for the last 30 seconds but the move failed to produce a goal scoring combination. Guelph outshot Toronto 38-28.

The Flyers got back on winning ways again as they took over fifth place with their victory. They took a 1-0 lead in the first period on a goal by Real Chevrefils and then Lionel Barber, Stan Lon gand John Bobenic added counters in the second to make it 4-0.

First Shutout

Jim Beasley scored his first shutout of the season and turned in a fine performance, especially in the first period when the Irish stormed the Barrie nets. Jerry Toppazzini of Barrie suffered an undetermined ankle injury in the third period.

At St. Catharines, the Teepees stayed in a second place tie as they went into a 2-0 lead in the first period, upped it to 6-1 in the second and then outscored the Black Hawks 4-2 in the final. Corcoran paced the winners with four goals apiece while Conn Switzer and Brown came up with singles. Bronco Horvath, Pete Conacher and George Ford tallied for the losers.

All NHL Clubs Weeping Over Troubles

By EDGAR SIMON:

They're crying so bitterly today in National Hockey League arenas that you can hardly hear the click of the turnstiles. From the first place Detroit Red Wings to the cellar dwelling Chicago Black Hawks every club in the league has troubles.

Jolly Jack Adams, whose Red Wings lead the pack by four full games, has a double week-end date with the second place New York Rangers. He also has a first string goaltender with a sprained ankle and a three game losing streak.

Harry Lumley, Detroit's able and fun loving goalie, sprained the ankle more than a week ago while cutting capers at a benefit performance against an amateur club Terry Sawchuk, an amateur youth from the Wings' Indianapolis farm club, filled in as best he could, but the club hasn't won a single game since.

Lynn Patrick, coach of the Rangers, isn't much happier. The Blueshirts may be the hottest club in the league but the probable loss of their best centre and one of their better defencemen may cool them off.

Other Doubtfuls

Edgar Laprade, currently playing the best hockey of his NHL career, is bothered by a groin injury and may be missing from his centre spot. Defenceman Wally Stanowski is another doubtful starter with a bad knee.

The third place Montreal Canadiens feel a little better, with only defenceman Hal Laycoe on the injured list. They take on the Black Hawks tonight in Montreal.

Boston Bruins have been winning lately but they're only a point ahead of Toronto Maple Leafs, who have camped persistently on their tail. Bruins hope to shake the Stanley Cup champions in Toronto tonight.

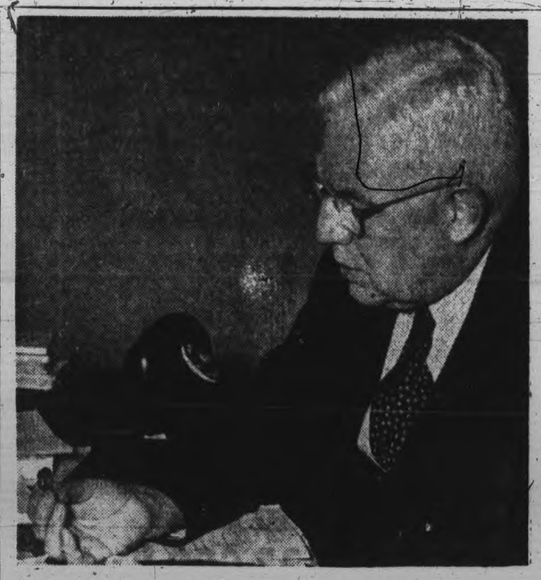
The Leafs have been hit by the injury bugaboo again. Just when one of their two sidelined centres —Ted Kennedy—got back to work, the Leafs lost leftwinger Harry Watson.

Watson will be out for a week with a hip injury, suffered in practice yesterday when he collided with a goalpost.

The Black Hawks, five points behind the Leafs, will spend the week-end on the road, tackling the Bruins in Boston Sunday night after their Saturday date with the Canadiens.

Cigar Lover Fears Feminine Invasion

EDMONTON, Jan. 14 (CP). — Joseph Woods Adair, prominent Edmontonian, sat back and watched the rich, aromatic smoke from his cigar spiral towards the ceiling.



"One of man's few remaining pleasures which has not lost its masculinity is the smoking of cigars," he said.

Chewing tobacco and cigars are still open to feminine invasion, but "I hope they leave the cigars to us," said Mr. Adair, who says smoking is not merely a habit but a science and an art.

"Untalented cigar smokers have brought certain disrepute to this fine grace. Persons who chew the ends until they resemble mops are psychological monstrosities."

Mr. Adair, colleague and longtime acquaintance of the late Bob Edwards of Calgary Eye-Opener fame, says he prefers his cigar with a cup of tea. Overindulgence in eating and drinking robs one of much of the enjoyment of cigar.

"The quality of a cigar all depends on how one smokes it," says Mr. Adair, who smokes an average of five a day, relighting each one six times.

Roseneath Rink Opens For 1950

ROSENEATH, Jan. 14 (ENS)— Roseneath's covered rink was opened for the season on Thursday evening, January 12th, with a multitude of children and adults rushing through the doors in the first half hour.

This covered rink is a large building on the Agricultural grounds with fifteen hundred square feet of floor space. The building is used on Roseneath Fair Day to display the ladies' work and vegetables. In the summer and early fall it is used for dances and large gatherings. In the late fall the floor is treated and flooding operations begin and are continued through the winter months as long as the skating season lasts. The dressing room, a few feet away, is the frame building used on Fair Day for the Baby Show. The people of the township are proud of their Agricultural grounds and buildings and make use of them.

Canadians Best Scottish Curlers Winning 41 to 20

PERTH Scotland, Jan. 14 (CP) —Canadian curlers Friday bested the B squad of Dunkeld, one of the world's oldest curling clubs.

The Canadians won 41 to 20, finishing 21 shots up on their hosts after a series of unforgettable exhibition matches.

In other practice matches here, rinks from Ontario, Alberta and the Canadian Royal Caledonian Curling Club defeated rinks from Ross and Cromarty by 24 shots 43 to 19.

Rinks from Saskatchewan, Manitoba and the Royal Caledonian downed the 51st Highland division 29 to 20. The match followed a banquet presided over by the Duke of Atholl. The Canadians were piped on to the ice by the division's kilted band.

The other victory in the Dominion's clean sweep at Perth was provided by New Brunswick, Alberta and Ontario rinks, which beat Invernesshire 36 to 29.

In Dundee, a Canadian A rink beat the Dundee Curling Club by 20 shots, 110 to 90.

Not Immigrants' Fault

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — (CP)— Demands by the Union of Unemployed Workers that the Federal Government suspend immigration brought a sharp reply on Friday from David Croll, Liberal member of Parliament for Toronto-Spadina. "You are taking a very short view when you blame a temporary situation on immigrants," he told a six-man UUW delegation which called at his law offices.

Institute Uses Flashlights, Lights Go Out

BUCKHORN, Jan. 14 — The Buckhorn W. I. met at the home of Mrs. C. Pearson on Tuesday evening with a goodly number present.

Just before the meeting was opened the lights went out and no lamps or candles were available but this did not stop the ladies. The meeting was carried out with the assistance the light of three flash lights.

Letters of thanks were read from those to whom Christmas cheer had been sent.

Mrs. Mason as convener for citizenship had charge of the programme. Mrs. Ferguson read a paper on citizenship written by a Russian comparing the advantages in this country over Russia. A poem was read 'Let me Live in a House By the Road" and a contest on "cities" was much enjoyed.

Mrs. W. Shearer delegate to the area convention in Toronto reported on the meetings. The lights came on just as the ladies finished a delightful lunch prepared and served by the hostess and her assistants.

Suggest Penances During Holy Year

OTTAWA, Jan. 14 (CP)—Roman Catholics in the Archdiocese of Ottawa are being urged during Holy Year to abstain on Sundays from drinking alcoholic beverages or watching public amusements and sports and to forego smoking on Fridays.

The penances are suggested by Archbishop Alexandre Vachon in a pastoral letter to the 275,000 Roman Catholics in the archdiocese which covers a section of the Ottawa valley around the capital on both the Quebec and Ontario sides of the river.

Leave Politics Out

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — (CP).— Political clubs at the University of Toronto were informed Friday that they cannot debate controversial provincial issues when they stage their mock parliament in the Queen's Park Legislative Chamber Thursday night. The Rev. C. M. Davies, Speaker of the Ontario Legislature, told the U of T Debating Union that any debate by the mock parliament must be more or less non-political.

Relax Newsprint Control

LONDON, Jan. 14 (AP)—The Labor Government Friday relaxed temporarily controls on newsprint. The action, taken so shortly before the general election Feb. 23, is regarded as a boon to the Conservatives who are supported by most newspapers. The Newsprint Supply Company said the government has granted enough additional paper to allow dailies to print about 50 extra pages any time they want between now and March 12.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

MAN'S AGE-OLD DREAM of controlled flight came true when the Wright Brothers, Orville and Wilbur, made the first successful mechanical "aeroplane" flight near Kitty Hawk, N.C., on Dec. 17, 1903. In the familiar picture (top) Wilbur Wright runs alongside the kite-like plane. Neither pioneer could foresee the incredibly rapid growth of the art of flying nor how man's complete mastery of the air would revolutionize warfare and peacetime transportation. Below is a symbol of aviation's advance—the newfound power of jet and rocket engines that has made the speed of sound seem laggard. But to remain aloft, today's mightiest aircraft must utilize the basic principles of flight worked out by the once-ridiculed Brothers Wright.

Councils Plan To Resurface Boundary Road

Resurfacing of the boundary road for a distance one mile west of Jackson Park was agreed upon this week by a joint meeting of Smith and North Monaghan councils.

The new council of Smith was sworn in Monday as follows: Reeve Ross Harrison; Deputy Reeve Gordon Fitzgerald; Councillors Allan B. Mann, Robert McAdam and Sidney Brown.

Reeve Harrison congratulated Mr. Fitzgerald on his election to the deputy position, and also welcomed the new councillors. He outlined some of the problems the council will have to deal with this year, and asked for the cooperation of all the members in conducting the business of the ratepayers.

William Telford was reappointed assessor and building inspector. Mr. A. I. Edmison, clerk and treasurer, was reappointed issuer of licenses under the Tourist Establishment Act, the fees to be turned over to the township.

By laws were passed to provide for borrowing from the Royal Bank, to issue debentures for laying a water main, and to appoint members of the Board of Health.

Won't Have Alcohol

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — (CP) — President Sidney Smith of the University of Toronto said that alcohol in any form will never be served, let alone sold, at the university. He was commenting Friday on a proposal by Bob Dnieper that a beer outlet be provided at Hart House, undergraduate men's club. Dnieper, sports columnist on the Varsity, student daily newspaper, estimated in his column that $150,000 a year could be raised by selling beer.

The earth's atmosphere extends to a distance of 10,000 to 15,000 miles ou from the surface of the earth.

Car Goes Through Ice Mayor Gets Dunking

PEMBROKE, Jan. 14 (CP) — The Mayor of a little Quebec community had a close call Friday when an automobile carrying him and his son went through the ice of the Ottawa river near here.

Irvine P. Cahill, Mayor of Chapeau, a village on Allumette Island in the middle of the river had to swim a few feet to safety when the ice gave way as he drove home from the Ontario mainland.

His son, Michael, managed to jump to the safety of the ice without getting soaked.

To Be Given Hearing

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — (CP) — Problems of Toronto suburbs are to receive a hearing before Hon. George Dunbar, Minister of Municipal Affairs. The Ontario government Friday invited representatives from 13 suburbs to a meeting on Monday to discuss housing, transportation, education, police and fire protection and water and sewage disposal.

Crown Drops Knife Charge

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — (CP).— A case in which a conviction would have made possession of a spring knife a felony fell through Friday. The Crown withdrew a charge of having an offensive weapon against William Manning, 19, who was arrested with a spring knife in his pocket. The long knives have figured in recent juvenile court cases here, one youth having been slashed with them. Manning still faces a charge of attempting to steal a brewery truck.

Urge Cattle Judging Be Enlarged At Royal

RIDGETOWN, Ont., Jan. 14 — (CP)—A beef cattle competition at next year's Royal Winter Fair which would include animal judging right through to the butchered meat stage, was recommended Friday by Pete Cameron, prominent Howard township breeder.

At the final day of Farmers' Week, sponsored by the Western Ontario Experimental Farm, the farmers had a practical demonstration of this type of judging.

Three steers shown in the ring on Wednesday, were slaughtered Friday and the sides of beef were displayed. The men had a practical demonstration of how their live placement compared to actual results revealed by the butcher's knife.

Unemployment Under Review

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — (CP).— Problems of unemployment occupied the opening sessions on Friday of the Ontario Provincial Federation of Labor (TLC) annual convention.

The discussion also centred about the Federation's demand for provincial legislation limiting the work-week to 40 hours with the same take-home pay. Provincial legislation at present sets the work-week at 48 hours.

The 400 delegates, representing an estimated 200,000 unionists heard TLC Secretary Gordon Cushing call on the government to prepare public works projects to give employment to the jobless.

Japan's History Studied

Regular meeting of St. Paul's Senior Auxiliary of the WMS was held in the Guild Room Friday afternoon. Mrs. Jas. Dutton was in the chair and Mrs. W. A. Cochrane was acting secretary. The treasurer's annual report advised that the allocation for last year had been exceeded. Mrs. C. A. Sollitt read a financial statement concerning the junior organizations. Miss M. Lees took charge of the devotions. This year these services are based on the Psalms. The new study book "Towards a new dawn in Japan" was introduced by Mrs. T. J. Carley who took up the first lesson. Reference was made to early Japanese history, which is largely legendary. Recorded accounts show that the present Emperor of Japan, who is the 124th ruler, is able to trace his descent directly to Prince Jimmu, recognized founder of the Empire, who took the throne in 660 BC. Missionaries went into Japan in 1549, were banished for 200 years, and again entered in 1853. The people readily adopted western ways and have become one of the most literate nations in the world. Because of overcrowding in the country they seized Manchuria and this has led to wars. Since the last World War and American occupation many changes are taking place and the challenge is presented to Christian people today of helping to rebuild Japan into a Christian nation.

CGIT Doings

GEORGE STREET

Executive members of all the groups met for a pot luck supper when they discussed sending girls to camp and programs for future meetings. This was followed by the regular meeting when worship was in charge of leaders, Mrs L. Copp and Miss Agnes McNab who used as their theme "New Year's Resolutions." Joan Tremaine, intermediate president was in the chair during remainder of the meeting. Marion Outram reported doings of Girls' Council and girls were chosen to make posters for CGIT week Plans were made to hold a skiing party in the near future. After dividing into groups, Seniors decided on plays and casts for a concert they plan to hold in February and Intermediates got an early start on spring housecleaning by cleaning windows.

KNOX

Joan Carveth reported that scripture was read by Inez Barrer at their meeting this week. The password was taken by Dorothy Drummond and Joan Carveth. June Drummond reported the meeting of Girls' Council and told the group that they would be responsible for two posters for use in advertising CGIT week. When the girls divided into groups, the Seniors had a discussion on "The Business of Living," while Intermediates chose "Paths of Uprightness" for their discussion. Games were played under the direction of Joan Dunn and Donna MacDougall.

MARK STREET

Ruth Hendren reported for Mark St. this week. After games were played under the leadership of Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Pepper took charge of the devotional exercises using as her theme "The New Year." Scripture was read by Ruth Brown and Marilyn Bentley read a poem and Mrs. Pepper read the story, "A Year of Days." During the business period plans were made to hold a church service on January 29. Jingle Boxes were distributed to the girls Mrs. Morwood's groups discussed Sunday recreation and the girls in Mrs. Pepper's group continued working on the stuffed animals which they are making for the Hospital for Sick Children.

TRINITY

A new song, "I Feel Sorry for Old Adam," was introduced to the group at the meeting this week. Members of the "Torch Bearers" were in charge of the worship when Marie Woodgate gave the Bible reading and the story "A Year of Days," was read by Anne Gordon.

Joan Krogh presided during the meeting when considerable business was transacted. It was decided to attend church as a group at the morning service on January 29, the beginning of CGIT Week. It was moved by Gaynor Galoska, seconded by Barbara Jones that the group request permission to place CGIT envelopes in the pews for that service. In planning a special meeting for February 6, it was moved by Anne Gordon, seconded by Maisie Shearer, that the girls' parents, as well as members of the Girls' Work Committee, be invited guests. Marilyn Windrim, Joan Henry, Barbara Jones and JoAnne Watson were named members of a committee to plan the program. An account of the meeting of Girls' Council was given by Anne Gordon, when she mentioned that middies are to be worn to school on Wednesday, February 1, to publicize CGIT Week.

Remainder of the meeting was taken up with the groups filling out "first reports," the Senior girls working on the wool for the Children's Aid. Marjorie Bryden's group made plans to hold a sleighing party next week. The girls elected Lola Jane Buckland as secretary, to replace Margaret Burnside who is moving from the city.

Hartnell Says Fashion Crazy Plans Slender, Simple Lines

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 13 (CP)—One of Britain's top designers has but a single word to sum up what he thinks of women's fashions at the moment — turmoil, simply turmoil.

Norman Hartnell, the man who designs court ball gowns for royalty, is in revolt against what he describes as these "crazy days of fashion when any style and skirt length is fashionable."

He hopes he'll be able to do something to change things in 1950. The purse now seems the guiding principle and he predicts styles will be more slender, daytime clothes more simple.

As for the short-skirted evening dress, he considers it "almost an insult to the hostess"—something that "looks as if the wearer hadn't bothered to go home and change."

Up to now, he says, confusion has resulted from the rivalry between designers, which urges them to keep on producing something different, and the desire to further financial turnover with no real regard to the wants of women.

'But a simple line must crystallize itself from this turmoil of conflicting fashion," says Hartnell, "a line conducive to present-day life.

"The time of frivolity in Women's fashions went out with the fall in bank balances. Women must dress according to their means which brings "separates" into the forefront of fashion.

"A good basic garment made of separate pieces, combined with changeable accessories, can fulfil so many today's necessities.

Mid-Calf Length

"Clothes for the spring must have freedom of movement with simplicity of line. Length will be mid-cal or just above. Shoulders will be softly padded giving a squarer top to offset the slimmer hips-downwards line.

"Jackets will be boxy with fullness gathered by a waistbelt accentuating the natural waistline. Suits will be classic in line Necklines will remain the most notable feature of dress design.

"This year I want to use color in my spring dresses because this drab life needs a little color.

'Plain dresses will have sharp contrasts and muted colors will be widely used in many shades of greys and blue-greys.

"Pastels will include new shades of green, blue and mauve," Hartnell says.

Hartnell was glad to hear that most of London's restaurateurs have dropped their ban on evening hats.

Hats, he says, are an "economical and worthy bid to be gay and even if you cannot afford a glamorous dress, you can perhaps indulge in a little fascinating nonsense on your head. . ."

Often Satisfy No Real Need

By ALICIA HART

Every feminine closet and dresser drawer is apt to be burdened by too many "toe covers." These are those useless but attractive objects which give a woman a sor' of emotional charge when she goes shopping. These superfluous additions to her wardrobe may or may not be bargains. Toe covers are sometimes marked high, sometimes priced low. They are always costly if they satisfy no real need and take up additional space in crowded quarters.

A toe cover usually fits in with nothing in a wardrobe. It may, for example, be a jeweled kid evening belt which a woman can't resist buying. She tells herself that she can use it for an evening dress some day, but she never does. In buying it, she passes up a tailored leather belt which she could use. The kid belt stays in a drawer month after month and is finally given to a friend or relative who probably won't find a use for it either.

But that doesn't prevent some women from buying more toe covers. There is, for example, a handsome handbag on sale; a really good one which is a real buy. It can't be resisted. The only thing wrong with it (and incidentally, the reason it's on sale) is that it's in a hound's tooth check wool bound with blue calf It's apt not to fit in a single outfit what the buyer owns or ever will own. Meanwhile, she passes up the white gloves which she really needs.

There are only two ways to battle down the temptation here: by using will power and intelligent wardrobe planning; by making up your mind never to buy anything which won't be useful or a workable part of a wardrobe. Once a wardrobe in planned, a woman's increased stamina for resisting temptation will come in handy.

Chemise Dress Popular In Spring Styles

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP).—The sheath chemise dress and matching jacket is the star of Anthony Blotta's spring and resort collection — but a costume done with an elegance of tailoring unique in the dress-and-jacket field.

Blotta, known as one of New York's "big three" tailors, varies from his classic suit theme this year by making a full dress beneath the jacket. These are done in every fabric from heavy Italian linen and silk to the sheerest chiffon-weight woollens from Britain.

The tailoring is identical with that of the classic skirt-and-jacket suit, but the costume becomes more versatile, as removal of the jacket reveals a sleeveless or cap-sleeved short dinner dress.

Two-piece suits also are present, slim-skirted and smooth jacketed, made of handsome, light-weight worsteds and tweeds. Some accompanied by harmonizing blouses in two layers of chiffon.

Herbert Sondheim also shows the dress-and-jacket costume, but usually with a contrasting bloused-and-belted jacket over a slim sheath. If there is not fullness above, you will find it below in this collection, as the designer likes the eased silhouette rather than the ruler-straight slimness of the majority this season.

Peplum jackets are shown over one-piece, thin wool dresses in pale neutral colors. Also shown in several variations is the strapless bra-top dress and matching jacke otrst oeiee ,n sryj (HiES jacket or stole, in jersey for resort wear, in taffeta for spring evenings.

Ontario Girls More Adventurous

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — (CP).—Ontario girls are ore adventurous than those in Quebec, says Renee Gagnon.

Miss Gagnon, daughter of Onesime Gagnon, Provincial Treasurer of Quebec, is in Toronto on behalf of an organization formed to promote national unity.

"It is time we Canadians got together in our thinking, time that we recognized we are one great nation," she said in an interview Friday.

New executive secretary of the Visites Interprovinciales, a Dominion-wide organization, she is going to speak at Ontario schools. Her group has for its objective the development of better relationships between England and French - speaking Canadians through exchange home visiting.

"Learning each other's language is after all only elementary in a better national understanding," said Miss Gagnon. "Intimate contacts to learn each other's way of life and break down barriers of prejudice are the most effective means of mutual understanding."

She said her group was puzzled for a while by the fact that more girls than boys from Ontario and more boys than girls from Quebec wanted the exchange visits.

"Then we realized that Ontario girls have a greater sense of adventure than have the Quebec girls who are not so prone to go away from home."

features detachable dickie front of soft canary yellow with crisp stand-up collar, dress-shirt tuckets and tiny buttons. Right, silky taffeta sprinkled with gay ostrich design highlighted by draped collar adapted from robes of Trappist Monks. Both designed by Judy 'n' Jill for smart wear.

One Handbag Not Enough

By ALICIA HART

Do you tote the same carry-all day after day just because that's so much easier than switching its contents to another handbag?

If you do, you aren't being very fair to your handbag or to yourself. The handbag has never been designed which will "go with" everything. A bag that's right for a dressy suit will be too sophisticated a companion for a tweed sports coats, and vice versa.

Many women carry one handbag because they think it's a nuisance or it takes too much time to change. Changing needn't ever be a problem and will prolong life of any handbag if some of the articles in it are reduced by a dozen or so items.

Do you really need everything that you carry around with you? Are old receipts, theater stubs, loose bobby pins, old letters, pieces of string, odd keys, and swatches of chintz or dress fabric really essential to lug around? Why not dump the contents of your handbag out on a paper spread over your bed and see just how much of its burden can be lightened? A check-up is certain to hold surprises.

Once you have winnowed out the number of things that you carry around, changing handbags won't be a chore. And the result will be that you'll find yourself swinging along with lighter footsteps, nicer posture, and feeling better organized and more efficient when you have to dig into your handbag for carfare, charge plate, house keys, or what-have-you?

Good Luck Charms Protect On Friday, the 13th At Purple and Gold Ball

Friday the 13th superstitions wield no power on members of Peterborough Civic Hospital Alumnae Association. These highly trained women defy and disprove dire predictions daily in their ministrations to the sick. So, without a qualm, they chose the very day on which Misfortune has tried to set her seal, for their annual Purple and Gold Ball.

The consequences cannot be unexpected to those familiar with nursing records. Success and Good Luck attended. The crowd had a delightful evening; the sponsors a delightful aftermath as they totalled the expressions of pleasure from departing guests.

Not knowing if all their guests had turned a deaf ear to soothsayers, the Alumnists arranged to provide them with the traditional jinx-killer, a rabbit's foot with handy key chain attached presented at the door. And then, after being greeted by the receiving line, each couple was bound to pass under a ladder, a purple and gold one, of course. Later in the evening this ladder was in the centre of the floor and those who missed had a chance to dance under it. If any further luck was needed, there were purple and gold horseshoes, in upright position on the tables, to ensure it.

Lovely new decor and fine lighting arrangements in the Brock Ballroom made a perfect setting for the beautiful gowns that were worn to this event Choosing the most outstanding dress from 300 is not an easy task and opinions differ widely. One however was quite distinctive, a model of gold lame trimmed with mink, which had an accompanying shoulder jacket of lame. It was brought to Canada from Jays of London for Mrs. John Nornabell Also very charming were delicately embroidered silk shawls worn over their gowns by Mrs. L. W. Thompson and Mrs. T. E. Currier

All superstitions vanished when two costumed figures appeared on the platform and did a novelty "pussy cat" number for which they got a round of applause. Miss Keitha Cronkright was a demure pussycat wearing red bow and apron, and the black cat was Dr. Donald Aitken who afterward became the "tagger" in a dance which resulted in Miss Merle Moncrief receiving the good luck prize. Prizes were also given for an elimination dance to Mrs. Fred Watson and Mr. Jack Stuart. Draws were made from ticket stubs for the major prize and winners were Mrs. Irene Dickie and Mr. John Lester.

Acting on various committees in connection with arranging the dance were Mrs. Earl Wellman, Mrs. Marion Logan, Mrs. H. I. Walker, Mrs. Roy Taylor, Miss Hazel Fee, Mrs. J. W. Thornton, assisted by Mrs. Alex. Watson, dance convener, and Mrs. M. B. Pringle. Taking tickets at the door were Miss Jean Gillespie and Mrs. S. Cotton, Miss B. Greatrix handed out the favors and Miss Ruby Cranfield attended the guest register.

Broadway Play Features Two Excellent Addresses

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Jan. 14—(CP)—"The Member Of The Wedding" brings to the New York stage a veteran actress and a relative newcomer in two of the finest performances to be seen here this season.

The veteran is Ethel Waters who plays a straight role as a kindly and understanding cook. The newcomer is 24-year-old Julie Harris, depicting a muddled and mildly neurotic 12-year-old girl.

The play by Carson McCullers has its shortcomings as a drama but as a study of an adolescent girl it is first class.

Both the principal characterization are splendid. Miss Harris brilliantly lives up to the promise she displayed in " The Young and Fair" and "Magnolia Alley" last season and in "Montserrat" last autumn. Miss Waters, heretofore better known as a singer, displays the distinction and warmth one could expect from her performances in "Mamba's Daughters" and "Cabin In The Sky."

Lonely Adolescent

The plot revolves about Frankie (Addams), a motherless girl living in a small Georgia town. Surrounded by not-particularly-understanding relatives, she feels lost and alone. Because of this, she desires to accompany her elder brother and his bride on their honeymoon. The play reaches its climax when she realizes this is impossible.

Structurally, "The Member Of The Wedding" is weak because it builds up slowly to its climax, packs all the action into one crowded scene and then tapers off to the finale.

Busy Week

Next week will be one of the most active of the dramatic season, with five productions due to arrive. The parade begins with "The Enchanted," a comedy by Jean Giraudoux, scheduled for Jan. 18. "Alive and Kicking," a musical revenue, and "The Man," a melodrama, are set to bow in Jan. 20, and T. S. Eliot's play "The Cocktail Party," Jan 21. . . The following week Broadway will see "The Happy Time," another production by that indefatigable pair, Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II, with an Ottawa setting, and "As You Like It" a revival of the Shakespeare comedy starring Katharine Hepburn.

Footlight Footnotes

Closing this week-end, in addition to "As The Girls Go," are Les Ballets de Paris and "The Father," in which Toronto-born Raymond Massey played the leading role and which he also directed. "Happy As Larry," the musical version of a play by Donagh MacDonagh, got the cold shoulder from the critics and folded after its third performance. . .

See Oklahoma Most Successful Musical in U.S.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 14 (AP)—With "Oklahoma!" back in town, it's time to re-evaluate what may well be the most successful musical of all time.

Perhaps you are one of the many, many people who have seen the musical hit since it opened April 1, 1943. If not, just sit tight and it will probably come to you.

Most patrons fall in love with "Okla!" Every time they see it. As in most love affairs, it's hard to analyze the object of affection. But having seen the show three times, I have tried to stand back and observe its beauties and its flaws, if any.

Good Blend

It seems to me that the great feature of "Okla!" is the perfect marriage of play and music. The Rodgers and Hammerstein tunes seem entirely natural coming from the characters of the Lynn Riggs play. "Carousel" was perhaps a better score, but lacked the naturalness of its predecessor.

In fact, everything seems natural about "Okla!" the male dancers actually look like cowboys and farmers, not chorus boys. The simple settings resemble the prairie. The villainy of Pore Jud seems real and not just cooked up for plot purposes.

Comedy Jars

Perhaps the only jarring note in the whole show is the comedy. For the chief comic character, Hammerstein resorted to that oldest of musical comedy devices—the dialect comedian. The suspicious, shotgun-toting father is not exactly new, either.

These can be forgiven, consider the effectiveness of the entire show. Its impact cannot be too well understood now that it's imitations have flooded the stage for seven years. But it was the giant of its time. It brought new life to the failing institution of the stage musical.

One thing still puzzles me about the show—why the ! in "Oklahoma!"?

What's Right

You are tempted to make a friendly gesture toward a new acquaintance but don't want the person to think you are pushing yourself.

WRONG WAY: Give up the idea, and sit back and wait for the other person to make the first move toward friendship.

RIGHT WAY: Trust your friendly instinct to lead you to do the kind, warm-hearted thing.

OPPORTUNITY!

We are looking for a man who is determined to make a success of his life. He has confidence in his own ability regardless of whether he has had sales experience or not. He is friendly, honest, is well liked in his community and he is willing to work hard — provided he can secure financial independence for himself and his family. He has seen others build up a successful business of their own and he is convinced that what others have done — he can do! Our company, over twenty years in existence, is now in a position to offer such a man an opportunity to establish himself in a pleasant and profitable business which is fully guaranteed to ride through any so-called depression. Send full details of background, experience, if any, etc., to Box 391. We will respect your confidence.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Claims Most Women Cursed Self-pity, a Martyr Complex

Women's chief vice is self-pity. Practically the entire sex is cursed with the martyr complex

Dorothy Dix

They are never so happy as when they are miserable, and there is nothing out of which they get such a kick as going on a jag of tears. When a fairy godmother drops her choicest gift in a girl baby's cradle she bestows upon her a constant grievance.

This explains so many things about women that are otherwise inscrutable mysteries of feminine psychology. Most of all, it explains why men can never understand women because the whole trend of a man's mind is away from sadness and depression, while the woman goes out and borrows trouble if she hasn't any of her own.

A man pushes aside his worries and tries to forget them. A woman broods over hers and coddles them and makes the most of them. When death takes from a man one he loves he does not shroud himself in funereal black nor spend his days in a darkened room nursing his grief, nor do his men friends augment his sorrow by pouring theirs upon him until the world just seems a welter of woe. On the contrary, he knows that life belongs to the living and that not rivers of tears could bring his dear one back again, and so he goes out among cheerful people and tries to divert his thoughts from his grief.

Esteem Sadness

Women esteem sadness as a virtue in a woman. They look askance upon any woman who is gay and lighthearted and who laughs out loud, and are sure that she is no better than she should be.

Now, as a matter of fact, women have no more troubles than men. Life is no more full of disappointments for women than it is for men. There are just as many unhappily married men as there are women. There are just as many fathers as there are mothers worrying over wayward children. But it is the women who are shedding most of the tears and doing most of the lamenting, but because they are having the time of their lives indulging in their favorite indoor sport of self-pity.

The real ridle of the Sphinx that nobody could guess has always been why wives stand husbands who make their lives a hell on earth to them, while there is an easy escape for them from their torture through the doors of the divorce court. All of us have some woman friend who comes to us and sobs out a piteous story of domestic misery. Sometimes it is a story of a drunken husband who has dragged her and her children down into the gutter with him. Sometimes the husband is a brute who beats her black and blue and of whom she lives in mortal terror. Sometimes the husband is a grouch who wrecks her nerves with his silences and who never speaks except to insult her. Sometimes he is a tightwad who begrudges her the very food she eats and who never gives her a penny of her own.

"But why don't you leave him?" you ask. "Why do you endure such abuse? Why don't you go out and get a job and make your own living? You would never have to work as hard for any employer as you do for your husband, and you would get pay for your labor instead of doing it for nothing. There is no sense in letting your life be ruined by a man whose only use for you is to make a slave of you and to have someone upon who he can vent his ill-nature."

But they never take your advice. They never leave. And you come gradually to realize that they are getting so much fun out of pitying themselves and being an object of sympathy to all who know them that it offsets having a mean husband about whom they can complain.

Enjoy Self-Torture

That women get a morbid, sadistic pleasure out of torturing themselves, nobody can honestly deny, because you see so many illustrations of it on every hand. You see so many women with so many things to make them happy who are yet miserable that you come to the conclusion that one might just as well have a real sorrow to worry over. She will make herself an imaginary one if she hasn't and she won't be happy until she gets it.

Apparently women never count their blessings, but they can do sums in compound interest in trouble in their heads. The woman who has a good job with a good pay envelope doesn't thank Heaven that she is financially independent. She moans and groans over her sad lot in having to work. The domestic woman laments over being a slave in her home instead of having a career.

The spinster weeps over the loneliness of not having a husband and children. And the married woman sheds gobs of tears over the slavery of being tied down to a husband and children. The woman who is married to a plain business man who is a good provider breaks her heart over his not being a romantic soulmate. And the woman who married a temperamental genius who can't make a living wails because he can't give her the luxuries she desires.

And so it goes. Women keep the world damp with their tears, but let us not begrudge them their diversion. They are having such a grand time pitying themselves.

WA Decide Not To Hold Bazaar

ROSENEATH, Jan. 14 (ENS)—Instead of holding a bazaar to raise funds, members of the Women's Association of St. James' Anglican Church will each donate the sum of $2. This was decided at the January meeting on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. W. Pacey. Miss Elizabeth Coyle was hostess. Presentation of annual reports was the main item of business.

The financial statement presented by the treasurer, Mrs. James Brown, showed receipts for the year were $386.38, and a balance of $238.26. The secretary's report was presented by Mrs. James Webb. Mrs. W. J. Robins presented the extra-cent-a-day report, showing a balance of $6.15. The Little Helpers report was given by Mrs. Jack Webb showing a balance of $7.70. Donations were sent from this department to educational missions and a special thankoffering donation was sent to the Diocesan Board. Mrs. Ray McCracken and Miss Doreen Nichol presented the auditor's report.

Canon C. R. Spencer voiced his appreciation to the members for their co-operation during the year.

President in Chair

The president, Mrs. Earl Braithwaite, presided, Miss E. Coyle was organist, and Mrs. Jack Webb, secretary. Canon Spencer was in charge of the devotional period and Mrs. Spencer of the study book.

Five aprons were donated to the society by a member. During the afternoon members quilted

Letters of thanks were received from recipients of good cheer at Christmas.

Mrs. R. B. Nichol will be hostess at the next meeting. Lunch was served by the hostess.

6—In Memoriams

FERGUSON—In memory of Pilot Officer William Kennedy Ferguson of 401 Spitfire Squadron RCAF, killed in active service January 15, 1943. Buried in the Communal Cemetery of St. Martin des Entrees, France.
Faithful unto God and man,
And to his duty true.
He died to live forever
In the hearts of those he knew.
—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ferguson and family, Strathroy, Ontario.

GAINER—In loving memory of Norman Whitfield Gainer who passed away three years ago today.
I have only your memory, dear father,
To remember my whole life through.
But the sweetness will linger forever
And I treasure the image of you —Ever remembered by his wife and family.

JULIAN ERNEST JAMES—In loving memory of Dad was passed away three years ago on Jan. 15, 1947.
While you, dear parent, rest and sleep
Your loving memory will always keep.
—Ever remembered by Linder and Will.

MULLEN—In loving memory of our dear mother Mrs. George Mullen, who passed away January 15, one year ago.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
As days tender fond and true,
There's not a day, dear mother,
We do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by Gordon, Dora and David.

STINSON—In loving memory of Mr. Albert Stinson who passed away January 15, 1946.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear,
Fond memories linger every day
Remembrance keeps him near.
Ever remembered by wife and daughter.

WARREN—In loving memory of Mrs. Bessie Warren who passed away a year ago to-day in Roseland, Ontario.
One year have passed, dear mother,
Since you were laid to rest,
Those who think of you today
Are those who loved you best.
—Your daughter, son-in-law, and grandchildren.

NOTICE

IN THE MATTER OF THE MUNICIPAL ACT AND IN THE MATTER OF A PROPOSED BY-LAW OF THE MUNICIPALITY OF THE TOWNSHIP OF DOURO, TO STOP UP AND CLOSE AN ALLOWANCE FOR HIGHWAY AND SELL AND CONVEY THE SAME TO THE CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY LIMITED IN EXCHANGE FOR A ROAD ALLOWANCE TO BE RECEIVED FROM THE CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY LIMITED.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to Section 498 of The Municipal Act, that the Municipality of the Township of Douro proposes to consider and if deemed advisable to pass at its Regular Meeting to be held at the Township Hall, on the Sixth Line of Douro, on MONDAY, THE SIXTH DAY OF FEBRUARY, 1950, at 1:30 o'clock p.m., a By-law to Stop Up and Close part of the Allowance for Road between Lots Numbers Five and Six, in the Eleventh Concession of the Township of Douro, which said Parcel is further described as follows, that is to say:

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain Parcel or Tract of Land and Premises situate, lying and being in the Township of Douro, in the County of Peterborough and the Province of Ontario, and being composed of that part of the Road Allowance between Lots Numbers 5 and 6, in the 11th Concession of the said Township which lies to the West of a limit drawn on a course north 54° 16' east through a point in the southern limit of the said Road Allowance distant 918.8 feet westerly from the northeasterly angle of Lot Number 5, in the 11th Concession of the said Township.

EXCEPTING THEREOUT that portion of the said Road Allowance now forming the right of way 66 feet in width, of River Road, the centre line of which said right of way is described as follows:

COMMENCING at the intersection of the said centre line with the northwesterly production of the northeasterly limit of Block E, according to Registered Plan Number 15 of the said Township.

THENCE north 38° 48' east, 392.6 feet.

THENCE north 25° 49' east, 481.0 feet.

THENCE north 44° 13' east, 204.1 feet,

THENCE north 38° 25' east to the northern limit of the said Road Allowance, which said Road Allowance excepting thereout the said part used as River Road, is shown coloured red on plan of survey made by J. W. Pierce, Ontario Land Surveyor, dated the 24th Day of January, 1947, and on file in his office in the Canadian Bank of Commerce Building, Hunter and Water Streets, Peterborough, Ontario, and contains by admeasurement 2.44 acres, be the same more or less, and sell and convey the above described Lands to Canadian General Electric Company Limited for the sum of $1.00 in exchange for part of an Allowance for Road.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE, That before passing the said By-law at its Meeting to be held at the time and place above mentioned, the Council of the Municipality of the Township of Douro shall then and there hear in person or by his counsel, Solicitor or Agent any person who claims that his land will be prejudicially affected by the said By-law and who applies to be heard.

DATED at Peterborough, this 30th Day of December, 1949.

J. J. COUGHLIN,
Clerk.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE LOT OWNERS OF THE LITTLE LAKE CEMETERY COMPANY will be held at the Office of the Company, 21 Crescent Street, Peterborough, on MONDAY, JANUARY 16, 1950, at Four o'clock in the Afternoon, to receive the Financial Statement and Reports for the year 1949, to elect a Board of Directors, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the Meeting.

E. J. SAUNDERS,
Secretary.

Natives Give Teeth To Tribal Tradition

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia, Jan. 14 — (CP). — One tribe of natives in Northern Rhodesia can always recognize fellow tribesmen and women — practically everyone is lacking six upper front teeth.

The removal rite is performed in youth and the "dentists," usually old men or women who inherit their honorable positions, knock the teeth loose with a hammer and iron chisel.

The origin of the rite is said to be a tribal taboo on the zebra, which was and is hunted for food. In order to appear as little like zebras as possible the natives started to knock out their own front teeth.

Reeve James Gifford Named To Executive

Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore was elected Friday to the executive of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture of which he was the first president.

The new president is J. C. Brodrick of St. Catharines, succeeding R. M. Morrison. Mr. R. A. Stewart of Almonte, who preceded Mr. Morrison in the presidency, was elected 1st vice-president; Wesley Down of Hilton, president; V. S. Milburn, is secretary-manager. Fred M. Rutherford of Campbellford was also elected to the executive.

Youths Return Hospitality With Robbery

COBOURG, Jan. 14 (ENS) — Gordon Harris and Russell Cane, two Toronto youths, who repaid a farmer's hospitality by robbing him, were sentenced to three months definite and two months indefinite in reformatory, when they appeared in police court on Friday.

Evidence revealed that Harris was at one time employed on the farm of Willard Fisher in Manvers Township, when he was a ward of the boys' training school. When he and Cane called at the Fisher home on Jan. 6, they were made welcome and invited for dinner.

Aware that their host was going out that night, they ostensibly left to continue their trip but returned after Fisher had left and stole some clothing, food and a watch.

Suggest Fee

would call for inclusion of matinees of plays suitable for school children on the season's program; the cost to be nominal.

Chief reason for the boost in rent was the fact the Board went into "the red" on last year's performances, K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, explained. The actors paid $80 a week but at the end of the season the Board faced a deficit of nearly $200, he said.

Unforeseen expenditures had to be met.

Another caretaker had to be hired to look after the building and an additional night man was taken on. About $650 was spent on these two and a similar expenditure would have to be made again.

The electric light bill would come to about $50 and another $100 was earmarked for extra insurance on the building requested by underwriters and directly due to its use for theatre purposes.

Capital expenditures, general wear and tear on the new auditorium, and another provision for damages to the property caused by its extensive use during the past season would all have to be budgeted for in the $200 figure.

Damage Caused

Committee members said they found a certain element among the actors "irresponsible." They invaded parts of the building forbidden to them, tore up sodding by parking motor vehicles on the sloping lawn, at times left doors unlocked, walked on the flat tar roof during warm weather, and damaged the new stage curtain by hammering tacks in it.

Mrs. Ann Rowell and Dr. Russell Morgan both contended the citizens of Peterborough had derived much enjoyment from the plays last year and both were of the opinion the Summer Theatre would be equally welcome this year.

Frank Jobbitt queried whether or not the school auditorium was the proper place for a commercial enterprise of this sort. The drill hall would be more suitable, he thought. He insisted that the minimum fee for rental should be $200 a week, particularly in view of the fact the auditorium was let out to local organizations at $50 a night.

Dr. H. M. Matthews, chairman of the supervision committee, spent the two-and-a-half hours of the committee meeting trying to reach a formula acceptable to all the members.

The matter will be decided at the special board meeting called for January 23 at 8 p.m.

At the meeting were Dr. Ross Matthews, Frank Jobbitt, Dr. Russell Morgan, Mrs. Ann Rowell and K. S. Wightman.

office. Pending the drilling of a well, water for present concrete work is being pumped from the farm swamp south of the CNR tracks which bisect the property.

Build Railway Spurs

In order to deliver the massive machinery to its new quarters at a later date, two railroad spurs are being built from the main line to the control and telephone buildings. Large crews of section men are driving their work along at a good pace. In fact, the whole project, according to Hydro engineer W. A. Moorehead, in charge, is well up to schedule. He is particularly proud of the fact that there has only been one minor accident to one workman since the job began. It has provided a great deal of work for workmen resident in the city, he said and in the spring their number will be increased. When the station is in full operation, it will require the services of about a dozen men on the operating shifts and several more on the permanent maintenance crew.

Identify Body

WOODSTOCK, Jan. 14 (CP)— Police said Friday night a man found dead on a county road near Sweaburg, five miles southwest of here Friday, has been identified as Harold Smith, of Ingersoll. [illegible] discovered by George Shelton, a farmer, who said he believed the man was the victim of a driver who did not stop.

RESPONSIBLE FOR ARRESTS—The sharp memory of M. A. Savaria (above) was responsible for the arrests of Consts. Jean. Paul Morin and Jean Marie Lavoie, of Montreal, on a charge of armed holdup. Savaria was held up Jan. 5 in his grocery store by two men, one of whom Savaria recognized as a former roomer in a house a few doors away from his store.

Fire Fighter 42 Years Walter Lowe Retires

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 13 (ENS)—On the night of June 15, 1907, the citizens of Campbellford were suddenly awakened at 11.45 p.m. by the sound of the fire bell. Walter Lowe dressed hurriedly and rushed to the livery stable where old Charlie, the fire horse, was nervously waiting to get into the harness. In a matter of minutes, Charlie was galloping at top speed, with the hose-cart bouncing behind, to a Raglan street house-fire. This was Mr. Lowe's initiation as a volunteer fire fighter with the local brigade.

Mr. Lowe reluctantly tendered his resignation on January 1, this year. "I should like to carry on," he said, "but I must make room for a younger man. The memory of it all is a deep satisfaction that comes only to those who serve," he declared.

"Modern equipment has robbed fire fighting of its glamor," said Mr. Lowe. "Half the town turned out to watch old Charlie in action. The modern pumper is more efficient but it lacks the intelligence and affection of the horse. Old Charlie was a one-cylinder nag but he had plenty of power."

Except for four years overseas during the First World War, Mr. Lowe had an unbroken record of 42 years with the fire department as a volunteer fireman. He saw it grow from the one-horse hose-cart to the high-powered pumper. He served under four chiefs, the late James Irwin, Charles Davidson, C. B. Williams and the present chief, Alex MacDonald.

He recalled the fire in the bleach room of the old paper mill and the blaze at Gair's Pulp Mill in 1932, when 7,000 cords of balsam and birch were destroyed, as the two worst conflagrations in his 42 years as a fire fighter. He said it was the grim determination of the men that conquered both fires.

Mr. Lowe was born in Portsmouth, England, and after losing his parents at the age of eight, he came to Canada, under the care of a benevolent society, to live with Wm. Stephens, he found employment in the paper mill. Later he took up blacksmithing and worked at the trade 10 years.

Joined Army

In 1915, he resigned his position as lock assistant with the Trent Canal to join the army. He served overseas in the Canadian infantry for the duration and on his return to Canada, continued his work with the canal until three years ago. Last year he was employed by the town to service the parking meters.

Mr. Lowe said that he made the best investment of his career in 1912 when he married Miss Laura Aikins of Campbellford. He has two sons, Adin of Toronto and Ronald of Niagara, Ont. Both served overseas during the Second World War, Adin as gun instructor and Ronald in the Canadian navy.

Mr. Lowe's activities extended over a wide area. He assisted in saving several lives from the river Trent and recovered, through dragging operations, 14 bodies. He was given the silver cross button for donating his blood during the war.

Blood-Group 192,000

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — (CP) — More than 192,000 Canadians, mostly industrial workers, have been blood-grouped by the St. John Ambulance since a federal government request in 1942, it was announced today from the orgaisation's Ontario headquarters. In casce of accidents, knowledge of victims' blood groups saves valuable time when blood transfusions are required.

In the steel industry, "bloomers" are heavy rolling mills used to reduce ingots to blooms.

WALTER LOWE, volunteer fire fighter in Campbellford 42 years, decided that from January 1 this year, he would make way for a younger man. On his retirement from voluntary fire fighting, he has a wealth of reminiscences. The pumper is more modern, but not intelligent like a horse, he says.

OBITUARIES

MRS. CHARLES McKELVIE

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 14 — (ENS)—Funeral services for Mrs. Charles E. McKelvie were held on Friday afternoon with the Rev. A. E. Toombs of the Campbellford Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial was in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Market Rise Encounters Heavy Selling

By The Canadian Press

Prices dropped sharply in the last two sessions of the week on the Stock Market after climbing to new highs earlier. Markets had been advancing with only minor interruptions for seven months before finally dropping back in what "Streeters" termed a "technical reaction."

The decline wiped out advances chalked up in 1950 and sent the average price level back to the lowest point since late December.

Brokers had been expecting a drop in the market but were surprised at the suddenness and sharpness of the break. Early trading in the week showed an increase in profit-taking and a switch by investors to lower-priced and largely-forgotten stocks.

Those investors who bought in the market last June were in a position to take good profits. Orders to sell at the market and a general jittery feeling because of heavy volume and little changes also helped the decline along.

New York advanced Monday but had difficulty weathering increased profit-taking sales on Tuesday. Prices resumed their advance Wednesday, touching the highest level since August 1946. The market moved in a narrow range for most of Thursday. Selling orders suddenly flooded the floor in the last hour sending prices spinning downwards in the worst setback since the presidential elections.

An About-Face

The market did another about-face yesterday, dipping steadily until the last half-hour of trading when offerings were withdrawn and sellers turned into buyers.

Volume was extra-heavy over the five days. The Associated Press 60-stock index closed at 71.7 yesterday, a loss of .9 from the previous Friday.

Canadian markets reflected Wall Street movements. Industrials broke sharply from a record high point on the exchange's index of 20 representative stocks Wednesday to lose 3.97. Interlisted stocks were the hardest hit in the decline. The break Thursday was the sharpest since the Canadian dollar was devalued last September.

Careless Driving Charge

A collision on George St. Friday at 9 p.m. resulted in the appearance of Melville Fountain, 659 Donegal St. in city police court today, where he faced a charge of careless driving. The case was adjourned.

Constable Claire McGillen, accompanied by Constable Douglas Farthing, investigated the incident and reports that Jack Wilson, 214 Rutherford Ave., was driving north on George St. when the rear of his car was struck by Fountain's car.

The rear bumper, right rear fender, gas tank and panel above the tank of Mr. Wilson's car were damaged. Damage to Mr. Fountain's car included a crumpled front fender and grill pushed back.

7 Trucks, Cars Ditched

ORILLIA, Jan. 14—(CP)—The ditching of five cars and a two-truck collision were caused Friday by glare ice on an unsurfaced section of the highway near Atherley Bridge. A truck driven by Hallie Checkley, 56, of Foxheead, went out of control on the ice and collided with a truck driven by Roy Lumree, of Orillia. Nobody was injured.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

Say Stronger English Groups Entered In Drama Festivals

OTTAWA, Jan. 14 — (CP) — Drama wil be one of the main features of capital city entertainment next month when Eastern Ontario Little Theatre Groups invade Ottawa for their regional festivals.

More than a week of plays is promised in the two contests planned to select entries for the Dominion Drama Festival at Calgary next May.

The French-language groups will be playing on familiar ground when they step on the stage of the Capital's Little Theatre. They have always had their regional skirmish in Ottawa. But this will mark the first year Ottawa has played host to the English-language companies that played at Brockville, last year and previously at Kingston.

New strength has poured into the English groups in the last year this, combined with the new regulations allowing only full-length plays in the Dominion festival, has doubled the length of their 1950 regional festival.

It is scheduled from Feb. 23 to March 1, and director Michael Meiklejohn promises "a good bag of plays."

Nine Groups Entered

Nine groups, four of them from Ottawa and the others from Kingston, Brockville, Peterborough, and Deep River, have entered the English-language competition with plays ranging from a translation of Euripedes "The Medea," produced by the faculty players of Kingston, to a production of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," by the Brockville Theatre Guild.

The two main awards of the festival will be the Davies Trophy, given by Senator W Rupert Davies, publisher of the Kingston Whig Standard, and the Fulford Shield, awarded by George Fulford of Brockville. The first is for the best full-length play, and the second goes to the group with the best one-act presentation. Prizes also are given the best actor and actress in the festival.

Production of a Canadian-written play would give competitors in the two festivals a chance at a new prize this year. Formerly a Dominion Festival Trophy, the Sir Barry Jackson award will go to the group with the best Canadian-written production of the Semi-finals.

Whether the French-language contest will have entries eligible for this trophy is not yet known as the complete program is not yet arranged. However the English festival has a possibility in "Overlaid," a one-act play written by Robertson Davies, editor of The Peterborough Examiner, to be the second entry of the faculty players.

While Peterborough Litlle Theatre has not decided definitely on its entries, it too is considering another one-act Davies play, "The Voice of The People."

No Entry

For the first time in many years the French-language festival will open without an entry from Le Caveau—the oldest and once the largest French theatrical group in Ottawa. The contest has been set to follow immediately after the English competition running from March 2 to March 4. Three groups enter—the three-year-old La Commedie Nouvelle of Ottawa, Cercle Saint Jean-Bantiste, also of Ottawa, and L'Ecole Dramatique of Hull, Que. Their plays have not yet been chosen.

In addition to a spot in the national contest, the French groups again will be competing for the challenge trophy, awarded to the best play by Le Droit, Ottawa's French-language newspaper.

One of the most interesting groups in the English festival is the Deep River players of Deep River, Ont., organized four years ago and entering competition for the first time.

The company wil present "Circle of Chalk," a five-act Chinese play translated by James Taver, curator of the Victoria and Albert Museum in London, England

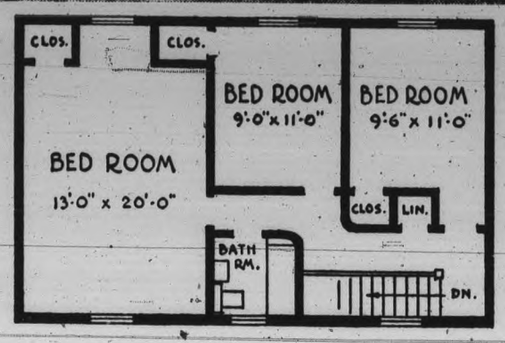
Canadian Premiere

"As far as we can gather it will be the Canadian premiere of this play," says Nathan Moss, who is co-directing the production along with Dr. Gertrude Goldschmidt. He describes it as a fantasy-tragedy, partly in poetry.

Others in the English-language festival include the Ottawa Drama League, presenting Terence Rattingan's "The Windlow Boy." the drama league's workshop has entered C. S. Forrester's "Payment deferred," adapted for stage by Jeffrey Dell of Ottawa. The Civil Service R. A. Drama Group will produce Lesley Storm's "Tony Draws A Horse."

The fourth capital city entry, Ottawa Junior Theatre, will present "Rumpelstiltzkin," adapted for stage by Marian Taylor of Ottawa.

Dies In Blizzard



SECRETAN, Sask., Jan. 14 — (CP)—Searchers Friday found the frozen body of Thomas Mustard, 55, who lost his life in a driving blizzard after disagreeing with his brother over the direction of their farm home. Mustard's body was found in a snowdrift, only his rubbers protruding, about a quarter mile from the farm Mustard operated with his brother Alex, 50.

THE EXAMINER'S FEATURE HOME

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

HOUSE NO. 149—Next to a square, a rectangular-shaped home such as this is the most economical to build and to heat! Window placement and front porch have given this simple Winnipeg home an air that is pleasantly different. Using the plan shown there are six and a half rooms including breakfast nook. With a full basement the house contains about 18,500-cubic feet. Outside walls are white clapboard, roof and shutters are pale blue. For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Rugs Must Complement Draperies and Wallpaper

Rugs play a major role in the decorating scheme of the home, and must be chosen carefully to complement draperies, lamps, pictures and wallpaper. Chances are you'll want a plain colour or textured effect (a rug that will go with modern or period furniture). . . . maybe wall-to-wall carpeting or just a room-size rug.

It may take a little while before you find the exact kind of carpet you have your heart set on. . . but when you do find it you'll want to know what you are paying for. So here are a few "quality guides" to follow in selecting a rug:

Examine For Strength and Body

In comparing rugs remember that each small square on the back of a rug represents one tuft. As long as tufts are of the same thickness, close tufts usually mean a denser pile. Check if the pile is made entirely of wool.

Grasping the rug in your hand you can usually tell whether what you feel is real strength and body or just stiffness. Wool that is somewhat soft and fine will tend to crush and mat and wear off rapidly. . . while stiff wools will break more readily. Rug manufacturers try to select and blend wools to give the stiffness and resilience for longest wear. While pile made of worsted yarn (longer wool fibre) will wear longer than woolen pile, most rugs made today have woolen pile.

Give Them Proper Care

As shampooing will often bring about a noticeable colour change in pastels, be sure your colour-fast guarantee includes sunlight, dry cleaning and shampooing.

Old rugs and new ones, too, will stay better looking if given the right care. All types of rugs should be vacuumed at least once a week. Rugs that receive especially hard wear need daily cleaning as dirt and grit collecting in the pile will grind together, cutting the fibre. Dirt wears out rugs faster than anything else. Vacuuming is also your best

Don't be alarmed when a new carpet or rug "fluffs" for a short time when it is first used. This is because the short fibres left in the pile when the yarn is cut gradually work loose. When a tuft protrudes. . . Don't try to pull it out. . . clip it flush with sharp scissors

In the past it was generally considered necessary to take even the very best rugs outside periodically and beat them mightily until no more dust came out. What a beating the fibres took. Now we know that beating cuts the fibres and loosens the pile of the rugs. Hanging them over the clothes line isn't good for them either . . . if a rug is to be aired better to place it on a dry, flat, grass-covered area, right side down if it's in sunlight.

Professional Cleaning Advisable

Rugs can be shampooed at home . . . or better still sent out for professional cleaning. New rugs won't need shampooing for at least a year, sometimes two. If a commercial cleaner is to be used at home, follow the directions on the container very carefully.

Always guard against too much moisture when shampooing rugs as it will weaken the fibre and may shrink the rug. Dry the rug as quickly as possible and then brush it out well. Most hard-twist or frieze construction rugs should not be washed as the moisture will likely remove the twist. Let the rug's label be your guide.

2 Oxygen Tents Given Hospital

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 14—(CP) The Children's War Memorial Hospital was the recipient Friday of two oxygen tents for babies, presented by the Ontario Phone Club in the form of a cheque which was made up of funds received from the club's annual dues and from short wave listeners in Ontario, New York, and Michigan.

Presentation was made by one of the club"s oldest members, James MacArthur, St. Thomas, and by Vice-president William Choat, Toronto, to Nurse E. P. McNiece, Children's Hospital supervisor.

Over 70 messages were received bearing 500 signatures from aamteur radio districts in North America covering Canada, the United States, Newfoundland, and the Yukon Territories.

Among the messages was one from Mayor W. L. Houck of Niagara Falls, Ont., wishing the hospital continued success on behalf of the people of that city.

Mayor Jack Peterson, St. Thomas, also sent a letter of congratulations to the hospital.

New Seamen's Union Will Be Organized

TORONTO, Jan. 14 — (CP)— An organizing meeting of the new Canadian Brotherhood of Seamen, opposing Canada's other two major seamen's unions, was held on Friday night. More than 100 seamen at the meeting agreed to call a founding conference here February 18-19 to draw up a constitution and proposals for contract negotiations with shipowners.

The Brotherhood will oppose the Seamen's International Union (AFL) and the Canadian Seamen's Union, expelled from the Trades and Labor Congress for alleged Communist domination. The new union is as yet unaffiliated with any labor group.

Kinsmen Bring Play To City

Peterborough is to have three performances of "Arsenic and Old Lace" at the end of this month, the cast to be composed of professional actors.

All but one of the cast will be Canadian and under the direction and management of Michael Sadlier, successful promoter of last year's Peterborough Summer Theatre The exception will be Frank Crawshaw, a British character actor.

Sponsors of the local production will be the Peterborough Kinsmen Club, proceeds to go their community projects. It will be held in the Collegiate Auditorium on the nights of January 30, 31 and February 1.

Touring Ontario

Most of the larger centres of southern Ontario will be visited by the cast which was more than two weeks in rehearsal and has reached a high level of professional competence according to press notices.

It opened in London, Ont., last week and will play in Hamilton, Kitchener, Niagara Falls, Toronto, Galt, Cornwall, Kingston Montreal, Brockville and Peterborough.

Scenery and other stage equipment used by the cast was accumulated in Peterborough last summer during the theatre season.

Top Executive's Son Arrested In Robbery

DETROIT, Jan. 14 (AP) — Police said today they are holding John E. Johnson Jr., for investigation of an armed robbery in which a gunman shot a tavern owner during an attempted holdup Thursday night at nearby Ferndale.

Johnson, 28, is the son of a General Motors Corp. top executive.

The tavern keeper, Harold Vanderburg, 48, was shot twice in the leg during a scuffle.

He told police Johnson held up his bar just before closing time.

Two patrons, Elroy Phillips, 24, and Russell Payne, 51, jumped the gunman and held him for police.

ROSENEATH, Jan. 14 (ENS) — Miss Aureen Brown has been appointed representative of the Farm Forums of Northumberland County, to attend the Farm Forum Folk School for zone 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Stewart, Otonabee.

Miss Brown is the teacher at SS No. 10, Percy Township, and will attend the course during this week-end. She is an active member of West Dartford Farm Forum in Percy Township.

$11,007 Spent On Twp. Roads

DOURO, Jan. 14 — (ENS) — The sum of $11,007.04 was spent on roads in Douro Township during 1949. At the Council meeting Monday the reeve and clerk were authorized to sign a statement to this effect and to apply to the Provincial Government for a subsidy payable under the Highway Improvement Act.

A bylaw was passed appropriating the sum of $13,000 for construction and maintenance of township roads during 1950.

The Council will borrow up to $25,000 for expenditures during 1950.

Owing to the increasing amount of work in the clerk's office, a salary increase of $100 a year was approved.

Favor Dogs For Deer Hunt

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 14 — (ENS).—Forest Dennis and Walter Higgins, appointed Wednesday by Campbellford District Fish and Games Association as delegates to the Confederation of Anglers and Hnters in Sudbury, January 30 and 31, will support the use of dogs in deer hunting, and also carry a petition for the fishing season to open June 15 and close October 1.

The delegates will stress the point of view that there are fewer hunting accidents in areas where dogs are allowed.

Plans for a drive in the spring to remove carp from the Trent waters were discussed. The club plans to have a "bee" and sell carp to commercial fishermen, thus boosting the club"s funds.

Bert Taylor, treasurer, reported a balance of $1,025.65 at the beginning of the year.

It was decided to hold a ladies' night at a date to be announced later. Forest Dennis was placed in charge of a commitee to make arrangements.

Among those attending the meeting was Reg. McCullough, local representative of the Department of Lands and Forests.

Speeds of 79 miles per hour have been obtained on four-man bob-sleds, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Cottesloe WMS Meets At Mrs. Kidd's Home

COTTESLOE, Jan. 14—(ENS)— Cottesloe W. M. S. met at the home of Mrs. J. S. Kidd, for the January meeting with the president, Miss Helen Tedford in charge.

Mrs. Fred Toms and Mrs. John Gallaher were appointed delegates to the Presbyterial to be held at Knox United Church, in Peterborough on January 24.

Letters of appreciation from Mrs. Wm Forsyth and Mrs. Albert Webster for plants received at Christmas were read.

The worship service in the Missionary Monthly was taken. Bible readings were given by Mesdames Fred Bolton, Dave Barr, Johnson Blakley, George Barr and Helen Tedford.

Mrs. Cleland, Norwood, spoke on the influence of the Bible on our lives. A daily study of the Bible meant a consecrated life she said. The Study Book was taken by Mrs. M. Clysdale and Mrs. H. Patterson.

Mrs. John Gallaher led in prayer and Helen Tedford sang. Mrs. Kidd served lunch. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Tom Webster.

Planning Study Of Alcoholism

TORONTO, Jan. 14 (CP) — Plans for a study of alcoholism in Ontario were outlined today by H. D. Archibald, director of research for the Ontario Liquor Control Board.

In an address to the annual conference of the Ontario Medical Officers and Nursing Supervisors, he said research conducted primarily in the United States indicated that alcoholism is one of the leading public health problems of today.

He asked for the co-operation of public health authorities, the medical profession, social and public welfare groups, the clergy and police in carrying out plans for the study.

Mr. Archibald said that the roots of alcoholism are to be found in deep social and psychological forces. The problem was not new for it has been a matter of concern since the discovery of the brewing and distilling process, he said.

". . . And like any social, psychological or physical disorder there will be alcoholics until we focus directly upon the disorder itself, recognizing that it is a disease, then proceeding by research, rehabilitation and community education to overcome it."

Let's have a frank talk

About COMPARATIVE PRICES

...and what they mean in EATON advertising!

Comparative prices are common currency in advertising. They're expressed in many ways, in terms like "Regularly" - "Ordinarily" - "Originally" - "Made to sell for" - "Worth twice the price" - and so on . . . phrases that are sometimes meaningful, sometimes misleading, often hard to prove or understand.

We would like our customers to know how we at EATON'S use comparative prices in our advertising . . . how we limit their use by strict regulations to ensure that their meaning will be consistently clear:

When we quote "comparative prices" — that is, compare an EATON special price with the ordinary price prevailing — "a thorough survey is made of the local market" — to make certain that the special price to be quoted is presently being sold in other stores as well as our own. Only when this condition is fulfilled will we quote comparative prices in our advertising.

Whenever we quote a "regular price," we refer to the last price at which the merchandise was sold at EATON'S . . . even though that price may have been a reduction of an earlier "regular price." Thus, if we sell an article at 4.95, reduce it to 3.98, and later on reduce it to 2.98—it will be advertised as Regular 3.98, Special Price 2.98. If we advertise an article "Regular 4.95, Special Price 3.25," we mean that this same article has been selling for some time on our counters for the regular price and has been reduced for some specific reason, which we state — such as "ends of lines," or "broken sizes," or "discontinued styles."

These strict limitations on the use of comparative prices represent only one of the many rules we rigidly adhere to in order to safeguard our customers' interests. In this — and many other ways, we work hard to keep our advertising clear and true and accurate . . . because we value above all things your confidence . . . and we safeguard it by sticking to this simple, straight-forward rule:

This is the text-book that guides our advertising writers in everything they say about our merchandise. It lays down hard-and-fast rules against exaggeration and misrepresentation, helps us to keep our advertising accurate and true!

EATON Advertising must mean what it says . . . and say what it means!

60,000 Men Defy Lewis, Won't Work

Pennsylvania Leads New Walkout Alabama Follows

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 16 (AP)—Nearly 660,000 soft coal miners in six states refused to obey John L. Lewis' suggestion they return to work today after a one-week strike.

Western Pennsylvania led the walkout with 45,000 of 56,000 miners idle. Alabama operators said 5,500 miners refused to work in that state.

About 4,000 Ohio miners stayed at home, and another 2,500 were out in West Virginia, the country's No. 1 producing state with some 110,000 miners.

In Kentucky, 2,000 miners, employed with the U.S. Coal and Coke Company, a United States Steel Corporation subsidiary, were not working.

In Full Swing

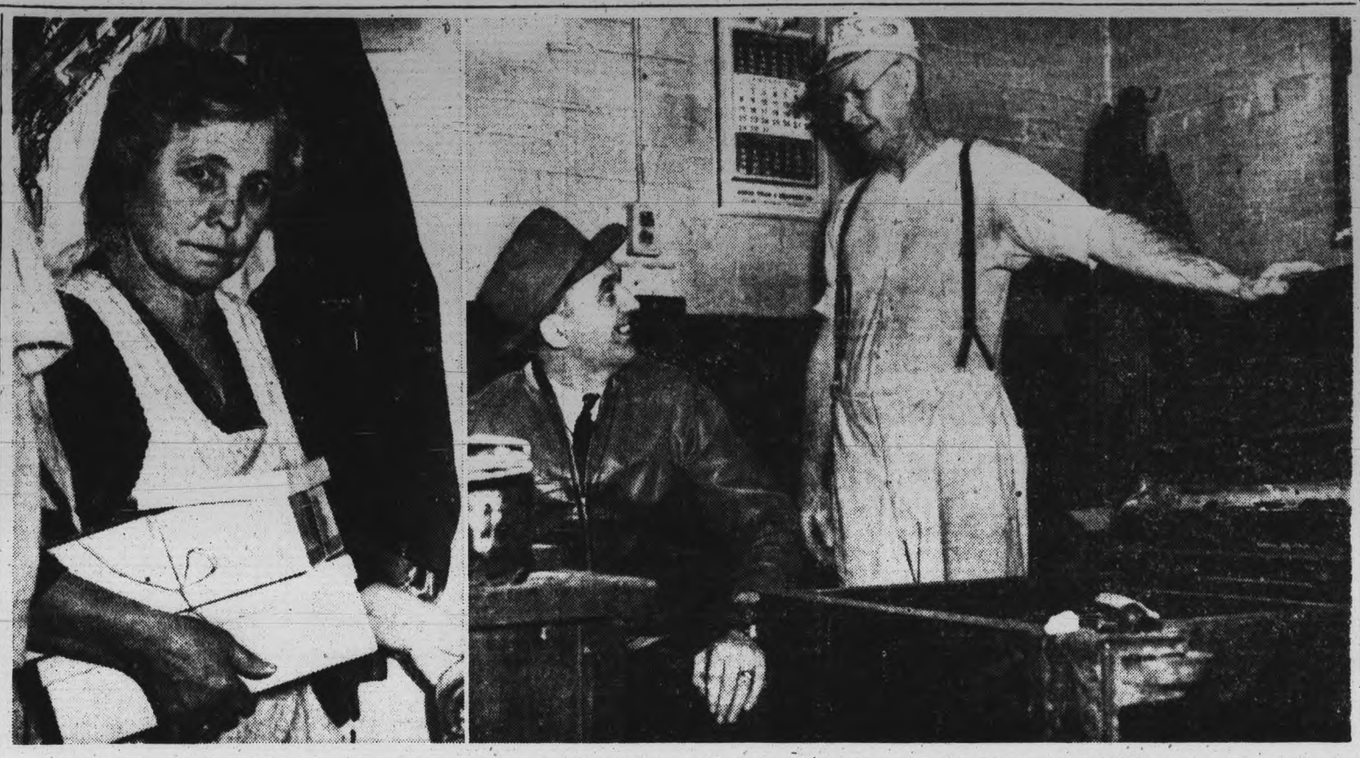
But in southwest Virginia, coal production was virtually in full swing, with only about 200 of the area's 15,000 miners choosing not to work.

Last Monday, 69,000 miners in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Virginia, Alabama and Utah stayed away from work in an unexplained strike. Last week Lewis suggested they resume production today.

Some of the 11,000 western Pennsylvania diggers who came to work were warned roving pickets would come around and pull them out again.

Typical of the feeling in Western Pennsylvania was the comment of one miner. He said:

"Regardless of what Lewis says now, there'll be 'no contract, no work.' They don't care if the Taft-Hartley Act is invoked. That at least, would give them 80 days in which they could work.



One Full Pay

"We drawn only one full pay since June and that's tough."

The miners have been working a three day week since their contract ran out last June 30. Lewis ordered the short work week as a substitute for the traditional no contract, no work policy of the UMW.

The Fayette County miners, most of whom are employed in steel company owned (captive) pits, paid no heed to this message from UMW District 4 headquarters, being broadcast at half hour intervals over the Uniontown radio station:

"United Mine Workers of America, President John L. Lewis asks all miners to return to work Monday. Miners to work on a three-day work week basis."

THREE BREAK-INS and thefts totalling more than $3,000 kept City Police busy during the weekend. Mrs. Thomas Sproat (LEFT) of 752 Armour Road, stands in the clothes closet from where thieves stole six $100 bonds Saturday night. The bonds were locked in two steel cash boxes, which were jimmied open. The house had been ransacked by the time Mr. and Mrs. Sproat returned home from a social visit at 12.30 a.m. Sunday. 2 More Houses Ransacked Get $800 Loot, Believed Separate Jobs

Trent Valley Bakery Safe Smashed Open Police Say Job Of Experts, Robbery Discovered By Baker Sunday

Safe breakers took $2,600 from the Trent Valley Baking Company, Dublin St., Saturday night or early Sunday morning and two houses, one on Armour Rd. and the other on Charlotte St. were ransacked and more than $800 in bonds, jewellry and cash stolen. When Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sproat, 752 Armour Rd., returned home at 12.30 a.m. Sunday, they found things strewn over the floors and six $100 bonds missing from the steel cash box kept in a bedroom closet.

Mrs. Jack Dormer, 645 Charlotte St., disturbed intruders in her house when she went home between 6 and 7 p.m. Saturday evening. The men escaped through a cellar window before she got inside the house, taking with them a $75 diamond ring, $30 in bills and 20 silver dollars. In their hurry to leave they left a hatchet and plastic bag on a chest of drawers.

All day Sunday Detective Sergeant John Stevenson and Detective Bud Clarke were investigating clues and Constable Bill Aggas was endeavoring to identify finger prints. Whether the three break-ins were made by the same group of people has not yet been determined.

8 People Held

Five men and three girls from Toronto, arrested early Sunday morning on George St., were held by city police Sunday on charges under the Liquor Control Act. No large sums of money were found on them, but they were held until police had time to investigate details of the break-ins.

City police and Provincial Police headquarters in Peterborough consulted together on the possibility of a car stolen Saturday from Port Hope connected with the incidents. The car was abandoned in a ditch on the highway near Welcome, when the driver realized he was being sought. He has not been traced by police but in the car were some tools, said to be the property of the CNR.

Give Preacher 50 Years For Killing Wife

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Jan. 16 (AP)—The Rev. George P. Hetenyi, 40-year-old Episcopal supply pastor, today was sentenced to serve 50 years to life in prison for the fatal shooting of his young wife.

Hetenyi was convicted Dec. 5. The sentence given by Judge Daniel J. O'Mara was 30 years more than the minimum possible under state law.

Hetenyi, who displayed no emotion during his trial, was said to have stalled and fussed today in his cell before being taken into court.

County jail officials said he protested because he did not have his suspenders, which were taken away from him after his conviction. The suspenders were returned to him at the last minute. Police had feared he might try to use them to hang or strangle himself.

The Hungarian-born clergyman was convicted of shooting his wife, Jean, 25, and throwing her body in the Genesee River, where it was found last April 23.

Hetenyi's two-week trial created a court-room sensation in that virtually no defence, in the usual sense of the word, was offered. The prosecution paraded 47 witnesses to the stand. The defence offered not a single one.

The defence consisied only of a summation.

Raging Winds Batter Ontario, Damage Heavy

TORONTO, Jan. 16 —(CP)—A raging winter gale left a path of destruction across eastern Ontario and the Niagara peninsula today that may run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Gusts that in some areas reached more than 75 miles an hour lashed town and countryside Saturday, unroofing barns and homes, flattening buildings, uprooting trees and communication poles, blocking highways and blowing out windows.

Pedestrians were bowled over by the savage gusts and scores of persons suffered injuries from flying debris.

At Kingston the motor ship Wolfe Islander, battered by huge waves on the St. Lawrence, hove to with her 32 passengers for some five hours. She drifted about 15 miles down river before putting her passengers ashore at Gananoque.

Two juvenile hockey teams narrowly escaped possible death or serious injury at Chesterville in the Ottawa district. They left the arena there minutes before the roof collapsed under the buffets of the wind.

The Ottawa-Toronto Canadian Pacific Railway line was blocked for some hours by wreckage.

Three drive-in theatres collapsed before the wind at Kingston, Belleville and Malton near Toronto. Roofs of the Quinte concrete products building and two other buildings at Belleville were torn off.

Save Miner Trapped 40 Hours

MAHANOY, Pa., Jan. 16—(AP)—Weary workers, spurred on by their rescue of one trapped coal miner, made a renewed effort today to reach his brother—still entombed by an underground rock slide. Joe Burda, 30, was brought to the surface Sunday after being trapped 40 hours on a sloping shaft 55 feet beneath the surface. Farther down the same slope behind tons of rock and debris is his brother, Eddie, 25. Rescuers, despite their feverish efforts, held out little hope that he was still alive.

Early today the rescue crews had reached a point 15 feet from where they believe Eddie is trapped. The two Burdas and a third brother Casmir, 32, were working on the slope when a rock slide partially filled the shaft on Friday. Casmir, near the entrance, was able to reach safety.

Joe, however, looked back and saw that Eddie was trapped. Rushing to help his brother with timbers, Joe himself was trapped by another rock fall.

From his bed in hospital at nearby Ashland, Joe Sunday told his story.

When he realized he was entombed, he said "I just sat and thought and prayed."

Then he made another effort to reach Eddie, later trying to blast his way out of the shaft with dynamite.

"I had to stop shooting," he said, "I was afraid for the folks above—and I was afraid I'd start another fall."

Those dynamite blasts were heard on the surface and spurred the rescue work.

The diggers sank a three foot shaft at a 60-degree angle down to the rock filled slope, working painstakingly to prevent any further falls. About dawn Sunday Joe was pulled to safety.

Once on the surface again, he gulped in the fresh air.

"It's wonderful."

The rescuers believe Eddie may be about 70 feet further down the slope, a total of 120 feet beneath the shaft entrance.

Soviet Bloc Delegations Stage Another UN Walkout

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 16—(CP)—Soviet Bloc delegates walked out of another United Nations body today in protest over the continued presence of Chinese Nationalists and said they would spread their boycott to all U.N. organs. The new walkout took place in the economic and social council's committee on procedure. This time Czechoslovakia joined Russia in the protest against further participation of the Chinese Nationalist delegation in U.N. agencies.

The Russian delegation walked out of the Security Council last Friday and announced it would not return as long as the Chinese Nationalists are at the table.

The Soviet Bloc countries meanwhile continued their two-year boycott of the year-around little assembly where Chinese Nationalist delegate T. F. Tsiang was ready to renew his demands that Russia be indicted for aiding the Chinese Communists.

This was the first 1950 meeting of the little assembly.

Yugoslavia With Reds

Yugoslavia, until last year a Soviet-bloc member and now one of its bitterest foes, may take her seat in the Little Assembly for the first time and challenge the credentials of the Chinese Nationalist delegation.

Arnold Smith of Canada's External Affairs Department, was scheduled to represent the Dominion.

Yugoslavia and India were the only two members of the 11-member Security Council which backed Russia's demand Friday that Nationalist China be thrown off the Council.

The Council meets Tuesday apparently set to go ahead with business despite the absence of Jakob A. Malik, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister. He walked out Friday, warning that he will not return until the expulsion of Dr. Tingfi T. Tsiang, top Chinese Nationalist delegate and Council president for January.

On the Council's agenda are a proposed world census of conventional (non-atomic) armaments and the dispute between India and Pakistan over Kashmir.

McCallum Has Plan For Housing Project

TORONTO, Jan. 16 (CP) — Mayor Hiram McCallum was reported prepared to propose a huge housing development for the Toronto area at a conference today with Premier Frost of Ontario and mayors and reeves of 13 suburban municipalities.

Mayor McCallum's plan was said to follow a suggestion that all municipalities along the lakefront from Long Branch to Scarboro's eastern boundary be incorporated in the metropolitan area. His contention is that there will be enough land north of these communities to provide for the housing development and that any successful scheme must maintain a proper balance of industrial and residential areas.

They Got Fooled

KITCHENER, Jan. 16 — (CP)—They didn't expect a vote at Plattsville for village trustees. There hadn't been one in 40 years so they did not even have an election date set, nor voters list prepared, when seven qualified for the three posts Saturday night. The candidates are Elmer Doan, John Brighty, Dr. Eugene Stevens, James Fenn, Fred Woolcott, Harry Lee Davidson and Cameron Hume.

Warns Building Industry Watch Costs

MONTREAL, Jan. 16—(CP)—Canadian construction this year is likely to be of about the same volume as in 1949, which established a record of more than $2,000,000,000.

Allan C. Ross, of Ottawa, made this prediction today in his presidential address to the annual meeting of the Canadian Construction Association.

And, he added, whereas increased volume has in recent years brought increased costs, the giant 1949 program was carried out without increase.

"Experience has varied somewhat, but in general costs now are roughly the same as a year ago.

"In 1950, however, we cannot anticipate any appreciable economies from further improvements with regard to the availability of construction materials.

"I would offer a few words of caution to both labor and to employers, particularly in our industry.

"Cost of construction has had a great deal of publicity in the last couple of years and the increase in cost is very, very largely due to increased wages and lowered productivity, both on the job site and in the materials production end.

"Wage increases in our industry have certainly not lagged behind others, and seasonal employment has improved greatly. I firmly believe that any further increases in our wage structure will stop or delay many a project and that unemployment and disruption will follow . . .

Provincial Bill Rights Urged By Labor Group

TORONTO, Jan. 16 — (CP) — Enactment of a provincial bill of rights pending consideration of a federal bill is urged by the Ontario Provincial Federation of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada (A.F.)

Among several resolutions passed by the federation in its final sesssion Sunday, the resolution urges a bill defining and guaranteeing individual liberty in the political, religious and trade union fields.

The convention lashed out in the final session against what it termed discrimination in employment because of race, creed or color. Cited in the debate on discrimination was the barring of Negroes from restaurants in Dresden, Ont.

Church Roof Lifted By Wind

NORWOOD, Jan. 16 (ENS) — The whistling wind tore off 30 feet of roofing from the southwest side of the Presbyterian Church and 15 feet on the opposite side Saturday morning. The sheet metal covering was ripped and the wooden rafters and roofing dumped on the lawn

Estimated damage was $1,000 but after snow and rain on Sunday, the toll is expected to be considerably higher.

The plaster ceiling of this 71-year-old church was exposed to the elements and it is feared this will fall inside the church.

The congregation worshipped in the United Church on Sunday.

The chimney of Richard Patterson's house, Hastings Road, was blown down Saturday morning and six rafters were damaged. The house was built last summer and Mr. Patterson moved in in September.

Gen. Hap Arnold Dies On Ranch

SONOMA, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP) —Gen. Henry H. (Hap) Arnold, who directed the United States air war against the Axis powers, died Sunday at his ranch home. He was 63 years old.

The veteran airman, wartime commander of the Army Air Force, succumbed to a heart condition. He had been ill since 1944. It wasn't until June 30, 1946, however, that he allowed himself to retire to his 50-acre ranch 40 miles north of San Francisco.

Hiccoughing Stops Hope Cure Permanent

MAGOG, Que., Jan. 16—(CP)—Olive McKelvey has stopped hiccoughing again but this time doctors hope the cure is permanent.

The 22-year-old Magog bank clerk was resting comfortably in hospital Sunday night following an injection of Novocain Saturday that brought the unusual 14-day affliction to a halt. She is expected to return home today unless the attacks resume.

Last Friday doctors thought they had succeeded in stopping the strange ailment only to have the hiccoughs return 11 hours later although not as violently as before.

British Officials Estimate 10,500 Deserters Escape

LONDON, Jan. 16 — (CP) — Officers of the Navy, Army and R.A.F. police services have completed a New Year list of 10,500 deserters who cannot be court-martialled.

They are men of the three services who fled to Eire (now the Republic of Ireland) when absent without leave and have stayed there. Present addresses of many of them are known, but they are safe from arrest and punishment so long as they do not return to Britain.

The Army lists a total of 12,200 deserters. The R.A.F. total is 4,270. Deserters from the Royal Navy number 3,100. Ten thousand five hundred of them are in the Republic of Ireland.

In addition there are at least another 1,000 deserters — the majority from the Army—living in Italy, France and Belgium.

"The number remaining in Britain is no more than 8,000 including a few servicemen," a War Office official said. "They are gradually being traced."

The R.A.F. has issued a list of forthcoming courts martial dealing with cases of alleged desertion. At East Drayton, Middlesex, recently, William Alexander Hayes, 42, was charged with the record number of 24 years' desertion, but the charges were dropped last week.

Hayes, the father of three children, joined the R.A.F. when he was 18 and "went missing" three months later. During the war he worked in an air raid rescue team. He went back into uniform four weeks ago and now has been given a discharge certificate which said his character was "very good." Reason for the discharge was that Hayes' services were "no longer required."

There has been much controversy in national newspapers over the question of an amnesty.

2 Die, 39 Injured In 3-Way Crash

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP) — A crowded bus and two other vehicles collided at rush hour this morning and careened into a group of high school pupils and other pedestrians. Two persons were killed and at least 39 injured.

Besides the bus, a trailer-truck and a passenger car were involved in the crash, which occurred near the Manhattan end of the Queensboro bridge.

Thirty-five of the injured were taken to hospital. Most of them were passengers on the double-deck bus.

[illegible] 10 of those hurt were pedestrians. They were felled when the bus, in collision with the trailer-truck, careened into the automobile and crushed it against a steel traffic-light pole. The pole was snapped off at its base.

Vancouver's Reputation Lost As Winter Paradise

VANCOUVER, Jan. 16—(CP)—Vancouver's reputation as a refuge from the rigors of a Canadian winter is taking a beating.

Shocked residents watched the mercury slide to zero Sunday, the lowest temperature in local memory. The previous low was 2.7 degrees above, set 43 years ago. Weather forecasters could promise no relief from the current cold spell.

Elsewhere in Western Canada records were on the verge of taking the count. Medicine Hat, Alta., registered 49 degrees below—two short of an all-time record. Edmonton reported 48 below, nine degrees off a record set in the 1890's.

Calgary had 36 below zero, Red Deer 45, and Grande Prairie and Whitecourt, farther north, 58 below.

An ice-fog accompanied by 40-below-zero temperature forced cancellation of a Western Canada Senior Hockey League game Saturday. Visibility was from zero to one quarter of a mile. It lasted through Sunday.

The Prairies felt knife-edged winds ranging from 20 to 30 miles an hour. Temperatures were from 20 below at Winnipeg to 40 at North Battleford, Sask. Brandon, Man., reported 30 below.

In British Columbia, government snowplows are busy opening traffic arteries clogged by intermittent blizzards over most of the week. The Hope-Princeton highway, link of the Trans-Canada highway from the head of the lower Fraser Valley to the Okanagan Valley, now is open, but the road south to the United States is still closed.

Over the weekend supplies were dropped to 500 Canadian Army engineers isolated by snow drifts at Chilliwack, 65 miles east of here.

Finland's President Faces Stiff Election

HELSINKI, Finland, Jan. 16—(AP)—Finland's elderly president, Juho K. Passikivi, faced a stiff re-election fight today as Russia's little neighbor began voting for a top man.

The Finns today and tomorrow ballot for 300 electors who meet Feb. 15 to choose a president. He will serve for six years. As official candidate of a majority Conservative-Liberal coalition, the 79-year-old Paasikivi is expected to win by a narrow margin.

But a split in the ranks of the Social Democrats, one party of his supporting coalition, and Moscow-backed Communist opposition made the incumbent president's position precarious.

Police Nab Two Robbers After Five Hours In Elmira Bank Hold-up

Grab $7,000 And Kidnap Two Drivers In Smooth Get-Away; 40 Cruisers Take Part In Police Web

KITCHENER, Jan. 16—(CP)—Charged with armed robbery in the $7,000 hold-up of the Dominion Bank branch at Elmira, 10 miles north of here, two men await trial today in Waterloo County jail. Police said additional charges may be laid. The two, George Hughes, 29, a native of New Glasgow, N.S., and Arthur George, 28, of Salem, Ont., were captured Saturday by a far-flung police radio web that brought more than 100 Provincial Police into action in 40 cruisers.

Police said most of the loot in the Saturday holdup was recovered. The two appeared Sunday before Justice of the Peace Leo Leyes and were remanded for court appearance later in the week.

Police said a taxi-driver and a salesman were kidnapped in the attempted escape of the alleged robbers. The suspects were arrested separately, George near Thamesford, 11 miles east of London, and Hughes near Brantford, five hours after the Elmira hold-up.

James Gane, 26-year-old University of Toronto student who drives a taxi on week-ends, told police he was forced to drive two men from Toronto to Elmira Saturday. He was forced to enter the bank ahead of the bandits.

Brandishes Revolver

One of the pair ran into the office of manager H. J. Bowing and the other walked into the teller's cage brandishing a revolver and ordering teller Raymond C. Uhrig to "hand it over."

When Uhrig complied the gunman stuffed the money into his pockets and circled the counter to help his accomplice herd the staff into the open vault. There were no customers in the bank at the time.

The bandits then took Gane's cab and drove to St. Clements, eight miles distant, where they abandoned the stolen taxi and kidnapped Elmer Schoope of Waterloo, a salesman. They forced him to drive to London, where the bandits got out and told Schoope to keep going. In his excitement Schoope didn't telephone police until he got back to St. Clements.

He told them that en route to London the two bandits counted the money like candy—"Here's one for you and one for me." At the same time they stuffed bills into Schoope's pocket. When he reached London he had $104.

Buy Clothing

Police said the two men bought new clothing in London and then hired different taxis. Hughes asked to be taken to Toronto. Near Brantford, Provincial Police stopped the taxi and arrested him.

Police from Woodstock division haled a cab driven by Anthony Caminiti at Thamesford and arrested George. Caminiti said the man sat beside him and asked if he'd heard anything on his radio. The cabby replied he hadn't.

"Well," Caminiti quoted George as saying, "two men robbed a bank and I'm one of them." George then took a gun out of his pocket and laid it between them. However, he offered no resistance when police halted the taxi.

When brought to London George was quoted as telling Traffic Inspector Robert Whitty: "Well, it was a good try inspector. I nearly dood it."

Marmora House Blown Down

MARMORA, Jan. 16 (ENS) — Clifford Woods' new bungalow in course of construction on Highway 7 one and a half miles west of Marmora village, collapsed during the wind storm on Saturday. The incomplete building "folded up" in such a way that it is expected to be re-assembled without difficulty.

Just outside the village of Deloro, the home of Donald Donaldson was threatened with serious chimney fire, which was extinguished before causing damage. This occurred in the early afternoon and about 4 p.m. the new fire siren of Marmora village sounded when a chimney fire was discovered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Logan. It was kept under control.

During the morning a chimney fire had broken out at the home of Joseph Scott but this was also extinguished.

A few trees were blown down a mile or so from Marmora just off the Cordova highway and also a short distance from Cordova on the Havelock highway.

Hold Postal Clerk For Stabbing Pair

SUDBURY, Jan. 16 — (CP) — Raoul Laviolette, 30, of Montreal, was arrested Sunday, shortly after his estranged wife and a man were found stabbed in an apartment here. He was charged with wounding with intent and is expected to appear in court today.

Police say they found Mrs. Raoul Laviolette bleeding from the nose and mouth. In another room they found Leo Lanfreniere, suffering from three stab wounds. Hospital authorities reported their condition as fair.

Laviolette, a postal clerk, was found an hour later hiding in another room of the apartment, police said. They said the couple had not been living together for more than a year.

Police said they found a double-sided ornamental dagger covered with blood.

Canada Glad To Sell Wheat For US Dollars

OTTAWA, Jan. 16 — (CP) — Canada will be "only too glad" to sell wheat to Franco Spain for United States dollars, trade officials said Sunday night.

Spain issued an official appeal Saturday for 500,000 tons of grain to meet a wheat famine. The Spanish Government offered to pay U.S. dollars for that amount of wheat — about 17,000,000 bushels.

Hit by drought, Spain already has completed one recent wheat deal with Canada—first in a decade—covering the shipment of about 900,000 bushels of western and Ontario wheat at more than $2 a bushel.

Couple Trapped

CINCINNATI, Jan. 16 (AP) —A young couple was trapped for a time Sunday night when a 40-foot section of brick wall crashed throught the roof of their third-floor apartment in the Hartwell section of the city. Firemen shot an aerial ladder to a window of the three-storey building to rescue 20-year-old Joseph M. Anderson Jr., and his 20-year-old wife Both were suffering from shock and were taken to hospital.

Engineer Dies

BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 16 (AP) —Dr. Ernest W. Wescott, 61, an engineer who served as a technical advisor to Gen. Leslie R. Groves in developing the atomic bomb, died Saturday night after a two-day illness.

Pen Officers Take Course About Criminals

OTTAWA, Jan. 16 — (CP) — Penitentiary officers from five provinces gathered in Ottawa today to delve into the question of what causes criminals to behave as they do.

The training course—one of a series for penitentiary officers—was opened by Maj.-Gen. R. B. Gibson, commissioner of penitentiaries. The course lasts until Feb. 25.

"It is one of the purposes of this course to give you some knowledge of the causes of criminal behaviour," Gen. Gibson said.

"In your daily contact in the shops you have opportunities for getting to know the men in a way that the ordinary officer has not. The more you can undersand them the greater will be your influence on them.

"One of the principal purposes of our penitentiaries is reformation of criminals. If you can encourage in the inmates working in your shops a changed pattern of behaviour, if you can assist them in acquiring skills, knowledge and habits that will help them to make their way in society, on release, without reverting to crime, you are performing a useful and constructive public service."

Officers attending included:

Kingston: H. A. Blackburn, W. J. Sands, J. S. St. Louis, W. M. Smith.

Collins Bay, Ont.: J. P. Fowler, W. E. Murphy, B. J. White.

MORE ABOUT—

High Gales

Prince Edward County lost contact with the outside world for a time Saturday. The swinging section of the mile-long bridge and causeway spanning the Bay of Quinte was blown off its track blocking traffic for three hours from crossing into the county.

Napanee, a town of 3,500, was without electricity for 10 hours after power lines blew down. Cornwall residents said it was the worst gale in 50 years. More than a dozen barns and many small buildings were blown down in and around Picton.

Niagara Buffeted

Uprooted trees and blown-down signs littered the Niagara Peninsula. Walls of new construction jobs in the Welland area collapsed. Boat houses along the Niagara river were heavily damaged. Scores of homes were damaged by wind, falling trees and branches in Hamilton.

At Georgetown, some 40 miles northwest of Toronto, only a change of wind direction saved 26 homes in a new housing development when a barn fire got out of control. The barn, owned by Mayor Harold Cleve, was destroyed with damage estimated at $40,000. Sparks from the fire landed a mile away.

At Guelph the King Edward Hotel was damaged when a chimney collapsed, sending bricks smashing through the roof into unoccupied rooms.

Tree Falls Breaking 'Phone, Hydro Lines

APSLEY, Jan. 16 (ENS)—During the gale on Saturday morning the large spruce tree in the grounds of St. George's Rectory was blown down. It fell across the street, breaking the telephone and Hydro lines. It also broke the fence across the front of the lawn.

For some time the traffic was halted and had to be diverted round the end of the tree but the highway gang was soon out to remove the obstruction.

Two huge logs were taken to Reddick's mill and the remainder was trucked away.

Estimated 500 Men Affected By CNR Cut

MONTREAL, Jan. 16 (CP)—Canadian National Railways said Sunday its operating officers estimate that nearly 500 men will be affected by the temporary reduction in passenger train service.

The CNR put into effect Jan. 9 a 25 per cent system wide cut in passenger train service because its coal reserves had been depleted by work stoppages in United States mines, the railway's main source of fuel.

"Under union agreements, seniority rights would be exercised and the men displaced would be those who are juniors with the least number of years of service.

Save 28 Fishermen

HOUGHTON LAKE, Mich., Jan 16 (CP) — State police and volunteers Sunday rescued 28 fishermen cut adrift by a break in the ice. The lake is about 150 miles northwest of Detroit Three suffered from exposure after falling into the icy water. Troopers said the 28 failed to notice a crack in the ice before it was opened by a high wind.

Veteran Sentenced To Eight Months

Pleading guilty to giving a worthless cheque for $1,200 as down payment on a 1948 model car, Edward Woodcock, 29, no fixed address, was sentenced to eight months definite and two months indefinite in the Ontario reformatory by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC, in police court today.

A second charge of passing a rubber cheque for $10 to Percy J. Harrison Sept. 7, was dismissed when no evidence was offered by the Crown.

Detective W. A. Clarke testified Woodcock had issued the $1,200 cheque to Revoy Motors Jan. 14 as down payment on the car priced at $1,750. He said the bank on which the cheque was drawn had an account in Woodcock's name with a balance of less than $1.

Detective Clarke said the car which had been left parked near Jackson's Park was returned to the used car dealer undamaged.

Evidence showed that Woodcock had had some psychiatric treatment as a result of wounds received during the war.

Find Four Bombs

CALCUTTA, Jan. 16.—(Reuters).—Calcutta police unearthed four bombs near the parade ground here where the Indian deputy prime minister, Vallabhbhai Patel, addressed 500,000 persons Sunday night. In his speech, Patel asked an end to violence.

Raps Federation On Farm Matters

ORILLIA, Jan. 16.—A strong attack on cartels and large corporations and criticism of the Federation of Agriculture for not being more active in economic problems, highlighted a farmers' protest meeting at Orillia YMCA on Saturday afternoon.

More than 150 farmers from Orillia district attended the meeting which was called by the Canadian Farmers' Union, an organization which had its headquarters at Oro Station.

Percy Crawford of Midland, president of the union, launched the bitterest attack on cartels and corporations, declaring they were largely responsible for the present difficulties facing farmers. people living in the rural areas represented 43 per cent of Canada's population. But they only received 17 per cent of the national income, he said.

Taken For Granted

"The farmers themselves must realize that they have been taken for granted too long," Mr. Crawford declared. "The squeaking wheel gets the most grease. Figures show that to produce eggs pork, potatoes and other farm produce, the farmer is only receiving about 50 cents an hour as a wage. The government has a farm price stabilization fund of $200,000,000. What are they doing with it? We need it now."

Turning to the Federation of Agriculture, Mr. Crawford said that that organization had done a splendid job among farmers in an educational and social way, but he said that they had fallen down on the job when it came to representing the farmers on economic matters.

"The federation should be more militant and there should be some real teeth in their economic program. It was because we did not feel that they were militant enough that we organized this farmers' union."

Otonabee Folk School Closing Sessions

"Considering the obstacles just before it got under way, the Folk School at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Stewart, Otonabee, has been a fine success," Mr. W. M. Ritchie, of Co-Op Services commented today to the Examiner.

"I was at some of the sessions, and I would like to have been at more. It will be hard to measure the results of this experiment. You have to attend to get the feeling and atmosphere of the school. It has been carried on in Denmark for one hundred years or more with great effect among the people."

The school was sponsored by the Farm Forum executive and the Federation of Agriculture. Attendance Sunday at dinner was thirty.

Today's subject is public health and the program includes Dr Harold Worton during the afternoon, and Dr. R. A. Kelly tonight preceding the Forum broadcast The school ends at noon Wednesday.

Youth Pleads Guilty To Four Charges

GUELPH, Jan. 16 (CP)—Leslie N. Phillips, 18, of Fergus, today pleaded guilty to four charges laid as a result of an automobile collision and was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $100 and costs. He was charged with syphoning gasoline from trucks and cars, careless driving and illegal possession of beer.

The court was told Phillips spent 23 days in hospital after the accident Dec. 18 on the Fergus-Belwood road. He suffered a severed artery and required blood transfusions.

Was He Guilty Of Breaking-In? Delay Judgment

Judgement was reserved in the trial today of 17-year-old Frank Thomas, 47 LaFayette St., charged with breaking, entry and theft Jan. 2 from McLeod's Drug Store. He was tried by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court.

Bert McLeod, proprietor of the store testified he found, after being notified by police, that about $60 in quarters and some pen and pencil sets, as well as a camera had been taken from his store. He said he knew the money was in a drawer when he left the store about 10.30 p.m. Jan. 1. He was not so sure about the other articles.

A crown witness, Garry Stewart, who lives in an apartment over the store, said he had been with Thomas to a midnight show. He said he left Thomas after the show and went home. But as he went into the entrance way to his apartment home, he noticed a connecting panel which led to the drug store was open. He said ordinarily it was nailed up, but had been pulled open.

He phoned Thomas and asked him to come around. When Thomas arrived, they talked for a time and then Stewart took the dog out for a walk. He went back into the apartment a short time later and saw Thomas counting quarters. He said Thomas gave him $20, which Thomas later won back from him in a crap game.

He said the panel was open when he left it, but it would not be wide enough for either himself or Thomas to get through without pulling it open wider.

It was on this point that Magistrate Philp reserved judgement. He was considering whether or not pulling open a partly opened panel constituted "breaking." If Thomas is not found guilty on the breaking, entry and theft charge, he may be found guilty of a lesser charge of theft.

Price Movements Narrow On Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 16 (CP) Activity slowed to a crawl as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Price movements were narrow and tended slightly easier. A few mining issues attracted comparatively brisk trading.

Volume for the first three hours was 510,000 shares.

Industrials were held to fractional changes in most cases as the list settled following two days of sharp decline last week. A few papers brightened as the session continued and Massey-Harris continued a strong point, up ¼ at 24¼, in expectation of a good annual report to be released shortly Refining oils and utilities tended lower and steels were mixed.

Golden Manitou again held the spotlight in base metals, trading heavily for a new high at $3.35 before settling at $3.20, unchanged from Saturday when the stock gained 41 cents. Rumors of drill results from the property in the Val d'Or district have been circulating on the street. Quebec Manitou with a large interest in Golden Manitou, was also active

Other base metal stocks slipped slightly. Noranda and Consolidated Smelters were off fractions Western oils brightened on a few penny gains and senior golds weakened.

"To our employers I would say do not lose your sense of balance and let your eyes or your appetite start you on a program that will before long be senseless and profitless.

"There is in this country plenty of work to go around on a basis that makes for high employment and a reasonable profit. Good keen competition is to be desired and welcomed, but cut-throat competition that is uneconomic leads to bankruptcy and unemployment . . .

Price Fairly

"I would suggest to manufacturers that they be careful to price and market their materials fairly . . .

"We have had some industries which in time of short supply have shown commendable restraint and an appreciation of their responsibility, and I think I can in fairness mention the cement industry."

Mr. Ross noted that governments had thought it well to let industry get rehabilitated and re-established to an enhanced peacetime program, without competing for scarce materials and labor.

"That period now has largely passed and our public bodies cannot longer delay some of their planned projects. I believe that if left in an orderly fashion they can be proceeded with without any disturbances to either the material or manpower background."

Two Reuthers Well Guarded

BRANTFORD, Jan. 16 (CP)—Walter and Victor Reuther, international leaders in the United Automobile Workers (CIO) were under police guard from the time of their arrival in Canada until their return to the United States following the week-end UAW conference here. The two brothers have been under constant guard since attempts were made on their lives in Detroit.

Victor lost an eye and Walter still has a badly shattered arm. At home they have armed bodyguards, who were not allowed to enter Canada carrying firearms. Instead, arrangements were made for police to take over the safety precautions.

Walter Reuther came to Brantford in an armoured car which the union bought for him after the attempt on his life.

Impose Curfew

ASMARA, Eritrea, Jan. 16 — (Reuters)—The British administration has imposed a curfew in Asmara and Decamere in the former Italian colony of Eritrea, after riots Saturday night in which Eritrean youths killed an Italian woman and injured a four-year-old child and six adults. Disorders broke out simultaneously in the two towns, which are 25 miles apart.

Driver's License Suspended 3 Months

Convicted of his second careless driving charge within two months, Melville Fountain, 27, of 659 Donegal St., was fined $25 and costs and had his driver's licence suspended for three months by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court today.

The charge was laid as a result of an accident Jan. 13 at Water and Murray Sts. Traffic Officer Claire McGillen said Fountain ran into the rear of a car stopped on Murray St. waiting for oncoming traffic to clear to make a left turn.

He said Fountain showed strong evidence of drinking. Fountain said the lights of the oncoming cars blinded him.

Delayed By Storm

TORONTO, Jan. 16 — (CP) — The Canadian Pacific Railway Vancouver - Toronto passenger train, due here at 7 a.m. today, is not expected to arrive until 4 p.m., company officials said. The delay was caused by storm conditions in British Columbia.

Garbo To Make Film

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 16 (AP)—Greta Garbo is coming out of retirement to play in "Lover and Friend," which will be photographed in England and France. Eagle-Lion studio announced today that the production, based on Honore de Balzac's "Duchess de Langeais," and will get under way in April.

500 Farmers Protest Falling Prices

PICTON, Jan. 16 — (CP) — Several members of parliament attended a Prince Edward county farmers' meeting Saturday protesting falling prices for farm products.

More than 500 farmers criticized the federal government for allowing farm prices to drop below the cost of production level. Resolutions were passed recommending cancellation of all orders for new farm equipment and that farmers stop all expenditures except for necessities.

George Tustin, Progressive Conservative member for Belleville, urged farmers to unite in presenting their case before the federal government.

Chairman of the meeting, held under Federation of Agriculture auspices, was ex-Warden Donald Thompson, of South Marysburgh.

Facing Crisis

"Farmers are facing a crisis which not only affects our future, but the economy of our entire country," the chairman stated. "The Ottawa government assured us we would be protected but they have forgotten the farmer."

He urged farmers across the land to unite in protest.

"The government has announced that the U.S. market will be opened to bacon producers. What good will that be when the market is already flooded?" Whytock Fox, president of the county Hog Producers' Association asked. "We are not asking for subsidies —all we want is a just and fair floor price for our produce."

"The farmer is the only man who can produce at a loss and will stay in business," Morley Williams, representing the poultry industry, stated "He can do this only by a low standard of living and neglecting property and buildings. The only weapon we have is to cut production. City people are chuckling now at lower food prices, but they won't chuckle if they can't get sufficient food."

Alvin Rintaul, Carleton Place, vice-president of Ontario Hog Producers' Association, said he was convinced if conditions similar to the 30's return, almost every semblance of democracy will disappear. "We are living in an age of pressure groups. We must make known our wants and back them up with action," he said.

The robbery at the Bakery was discovered Sunday morning at 6.15 when Sidney Revoy went in to set the dough. As he entered the empty building at 5:15 he noticed the window of the men's locker room was open, but gave the matter little thought.

Discovers Safe

It was an hour later when he realized things were not in order and then found the safe, turned over on its side and smashed open apparently by crowbars and a sledge hammer. A cash drawer in the first office had also been smashed open. The door to the inside office, where the safe was kept, had been jimmied open.

Archie Henderson, manager of the bakery, estimates there was o total of $2,533.24 of which $370 was in cheques and $40 in U S bills. Most of the money was kept in a canvas bag in the safe.

City detectives say "it was a clean job done by experts and could not have been done by one man alone.

Climb Through Window

The thieves at Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dormer's house appear to have gained entry through a cellar window, which was also their exit. Mr. Dormer had left the house only an hour before Mrs. Dormer returned. She drove the car into the garage and was putting her key into the door of the house when she heard people inside.

Reluctant to go in by herself, she went to a neighbour and by the time she returned, the men had gone. In the cellar she found coca cola bottles strewn on the floor. A woman's bracelet and silverware on the dresser in the living room had been handled but not taken away. The money had been taken from a drawer in the kitchen.

The two steel cash boxes in the clothes closet of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sproat's house had been jimmied open. On five of the $100 bonds the name Robena Sprout is typed and the sixth belongs to Mr. Sprout. Mr. Sprout originally had three bonds in the box, but had recently cashed two.

Goodyear Employees Accept Company Offer

TORONTO, Jan. 16 — (CP)— Employees of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plant here voted yesterday to accept a company offer of a 7-cent hourly pay increase. The 1,600 employees are members of the United Rubber workers (CIO). The increase boosts the average hourly rate to $1.41.

The new contract also reduced from 20 to 15 years the length of service required for three weeks annual vacation and increased from seven to eight the number of paid statutory holidays.

Apple Acreage Drops 20 p.c. In Nova Scotia

GOBOURG, Jan. 16 (ENS) — Loss of the export market for apples is reflected in the 1949 summary of the Nova Scotia apple situation which was given at the annual meeting here of the Northumberland and Durham Apple Growers' Association. A great many varieties are being eliminated so as to concentrate on those varieties which are more popular on the apple market.

There were 138 varieties of apples listed in the orchard survey. Reduction in acreage from 1939 was 20 per cent or a drop from 30,368 acres to 24,356 acres. The number of growers also decreased 20 per cent.

The number of apple trees listed in 1939 were 1,587,566 in 1939 and in 1949 this total had been reduced to 1,123,185 trees, or about 30 per cent. However there was an increase in plantings of such popular apples as McIntosh, Delicious, Spy, Crimson Gravenstein, Cortland and Rome Beauty. In 1939 these were 46.7 per cent of the total in the Annapolis Valley and last year the number was 32.3 per cent.

Culinary varieties such as Stark, Ben Davis, Baldwin, Blenheim were reduced to half of the number of 1939. The summary recommended that 120 varieties, making up 8 per cent of total trees, should be eliminated.

UAW Presents Three-Fold Aims

BRANTFORD, Jan. 16 (CP)—The three-fold aims of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) are pensions, medical care and a guaranteed annual wage.

Walter B. Reuther, international president of the Automobile Workers, said Saturday in the final day of a two-day union conference that a guaranteed annual wage is the third step in the union's program—after the goals of medical care and pensions have been achieved.

Mr. Reuther, the final speaker of the conference, said democracy has "failed" in the economic field and so has failed in the political field in many parts of the world.

He said Canada and the United States have only nine per cent of the world's population but have 50 per cent of the world's productive capacity. This meant that the two countries must contribute to the solution of problems on an international scale.

The UAW, he said, seek a society of free men which will enable economic security without sacrificing freedom. He added:

"If the industrial and political bosses knew the labor movement on both sides of our border was a united movement, it would make a great deal of difference in the attitude of industrialists and our politicians."

12 Trees Blown Down In Cobourg District

COBOURG, Jan. 16 (ENS) — Survey of the wind damage of Friday night and Saturday morning revealed that 12 trees took the count, most of them being old timers which were badly rotted in the trunk. A large tree fell alongside the dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson, dropping between the fence and the house with little to spare on either side. A tree also fell at the side of the house of Rev. J. P. Collins landing on Havelock Street and taking a telephone pole with it. A chimney blew down on Chapel Street and practically every street in town was littered with broken branches.

Mr. Neubert was educated at Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass. and Brown University, Rhode Island. He is among the continent's foremost retail management executves, and a gifted speaker.

Barns Destroyed In Seymour Twp.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 16 — (ENS)—Winds destroyed a barn on the farm of Don Forestell on No. 30 highway three miles north of Campbellford on Saturday. The roof was torn from the building, and one side of the 34 by 50 foot structure was blown completely out, the boards being scattered over a wide area in an adjacent field. There were 57 pigs, a pony and some farm machinery in the building at the time, but these suffered no damage. Mrs. Forestell, who was in the house at the time, did not know of the damage until her husband returned from work, and asked what happened to the barn. No wind insurance was carried and the barn will have to be rebuilt at a cost of about $2,600. The building was erected about two years ago, to replace the barn which was destroyed by a fire caused by lightning.

The number "two" once was regarded as cursed because it was ths first departure from unity.

Funeral Service Held For Mrs. David Payne

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 16 (ENS). —Funeral service for Mrs. David W. Payne, who died on January 8, was conducted at her home, 3rd Concession, of Dummer Township, on Wednesday by the Rev. J. W. Wilkinson, Oakwood, and the Rev. E. Unstead, Warsaw. Burial was in Lakefield Cemetery, and pall-bearers were Wesley and Earl Stark, Harold Wilson, Crawford Salt, Gordon Hamblin, and Hilliard Darling.

Flower-bearers were Ernest Wilson, Morris Little, Garbut Tory, Elwood Payne, Ronald Frankish, and Royden Cooper. The funeral was largely attended.

Matt Berry Flying 21 Years Wants No Soft Officer Chair

By GRAHAM TROTTER.

EDMONTON, Jan. 16 — (CP)— At an age when many men think of retiring Arthur Massey (Matt) Berry, pioneer bush pilot, is still relentlessly pursuing the job of opening up Canada's vast north country —a task that has already occupied 21 years of his adventure filled life.

The 1936 winner of the McKee Trans-Canada trophy, who admits to 57 years although other sources say he was born in 1888, prefers the cockpit of an airplane to a soft office chair in managing two charter airways and other northern interests.

"I started flying up north in 1928, taking in supplies and prospectors for a mineral exploration project of Jack Hammel of Toronto," the veteran aviator said, as he figeteld uneasily on a chair in his Edmonton office.

"But I've got a lot of flying years in me yet."

His love for the north— he says he wouldn't care to fly anywhere else— has made him one of Canada's mots famous airmen and has crowned with success a flying career that began overseas in 1917 when he found the role of an infantryman too tame.

Like Own Backyard.

The wild expanse of forest, lakes, muskeg, tundra and ice between Edmonton and the North Pole has become almost as familiar to Berry as a backyard to anyone else.

The lean six-footer who was born at March, Ont., just outside of Ottawa, hasn't kept a flight log for the last 17 years because he's been "too busy hopping around." Nor has he any idea of how many miles he has flown over the northern hinterland.

Berry's vast knowledge of the north was evident in 1936 when he flew far into the Arctic barrens to find two members of the RCAF who had been lost for a month.

The same year he made one of the farthest winter fligths into the north in Canadian aviation history. Berry flew 1,750 miles northwest of Edmonton to rescue a missionary and five others who were threatened with starvation. For these exploits he won the McKee award.

"I've never been lost myself," he maintains, although he admits he has been forced down in isolated regions several times.

Mining Interests.

Recently he took over Yellowknife Airways, carrying freight and passengers in and out of the Yellowknife gold town. He also operates Territories Air Service, which serves much of the north.

Berry has widespread mining interests and several years ago flew north of Coppermine, N.W.T., on the mouth of the Mackenzie River, to stake the first claim at a big lead deposit.

His other activities have included construction of small northern airstrips and an entry into politics. In the last federal election he was an unsuccessful Independent candidate for the Yukon-Mackenzie riding.

Save 50 Cattle In Barn Wind-Wrecked

By The Canadian Press

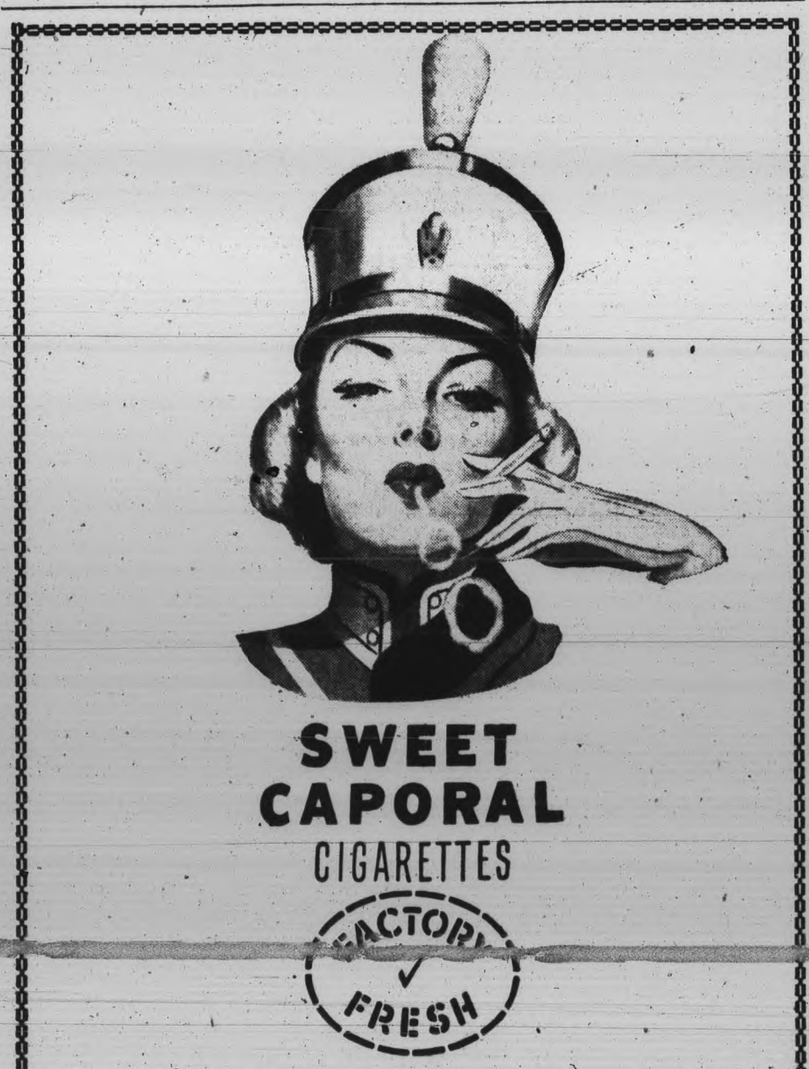
Odd stories of Saturday's gale, as reported from Ontario centres:

St. Catharines — "I really got out of bed with a jump," said Thomas Davis, Jr., telling of his experience when his parents' 100-year-old farm house roof blew off. "I thought the house was falling down. It pretty nearly did."

Napanee—Thousands of candles and lamps, purchased by residents during last year's power blackouts, were put into use when this town was without electricity for 10 hours.

Port McNicholl—A high voltage secondary power line fell onto a Penetang-Midland Coach Lines bus, causing no damage, but left the Canadian Pacific Railway grain elevator here without lights for four hours.

Cornwall—Fifty purebred cattle were rescued from a wrecked barn owned by John McLennan, farmer of Martintown, 12 miles northeast of here.



Picton — A barn at their fair grounds was hurled upside down against the Bata shoe factory plant. Percy Bailey's brick garage collapsed on top of his car.

Welland — Hydro-electric and telephone linemen worked until midnight repairing damage. Walls of new construction jobs in the district collapsed.

Hamilton — A 60-foot roof on the tennis court building was blown onto Duke Street, smashing a car owned by George H. Dunsmoor.

Mark The Peterborough Spot

This being Peterborough's centennial year and our thoughts flying back to progenitors and first fathers, could not something be done to give Adam Scott a place in Peterborough's present sun? Adam Scott, as all good citizens should know, was the first white settler on the town site and the founder of Peterborough industry, for he built the first grist and saw mill and the first brewery. The mill has disappeared, the site remains. This site could be marked (at King and Water streets) suitably with a small stone monument, or a wall plaque. The Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada, which puts up the roadside cairns commemorating battles, and bronze tablets on walls, could perhaps be interested in providing Peterborough with a plaque noting that Adam Scott, first Peterburian, did on this very spot erect the first mill in this part of the world. Or, since the mill site is presently not a sight to enrapture, a memento of the Adam Scott-Charles Fothergill journey by skiff in May, 1819 when they came to decide on the mill site, could be put up at the place where this party first put foot in Peterborough.

• • •

If the Historic Sites and Monuments Board would not undertake the fitting task—but properly presented to them, there is no reason to believe that they should reject the proposal—the city itself might attend to it.

To Devise Constitutional Formulas

The constitutional situation in Canada now appears to be this: Appeals to the Imperial Privy Council have been abolished and the Supreme Court is the final court of appeal. Canada, through the Federal Parliament, has the right to amend the British North America Act (in which Canada's constitution is imbedded) in all matters which are exclusively Federal—with several exceptions. Constitutional lawyers are of the opinion that the Provinces have, and always have had, the right to amend their Provincial constitutions. This situation leaves several matters still up to Britain, and a host of them up in the air or in a juicy tangle for the Supreme Court. The prime purpose of the Dominion-Provincial conference which has now ended its initial three-day session, was to devise some means agreeable to all the Provinces and to Ottawa, of bringing under full Canadian control the whole constitution.

A way has to be found to write into the constitution safeguards for rights still being safeguarded by Britain. The status of the two official languages; Provincial rights as laid down in the B.N.A. Act; the tenure of parliaments; these were specifically left out of the Address passed in the last session of Parliament whereby Canada secured the right to amend the B.N.A. Act. A way has to be found to deal with matters which are neither exclusively federal nor exclusively provincial. What is needed are formulas. Such formulas are devised by experts, under direction.

A step toward full constitutional control by Canada was taken by the eleven governmental heads at the conference when a report of the attorneys-general was adopted. The attorneys-general, as legal experts, will constitute a standing committee to find six formulas under which amendments to the B.N.A. Act may be made, from simple amendments by the Federal Parliament, to complicated ones involving several Provinces and Ottawa. It should not be beyond the capacity of Canadians to come to agreement with each other on constitutional matters and to devise formulas for legislation. It should not be beyond the capacity of Canadians to manage their own constitution completely and effectively. This conference shows signs of succeeding; the committee of experts and the placable tone of the conference are good omens.

President Truman Gains In Stature

In increasing measure, the Anglo-American world is beginning to realize that President Truman of the United States has been underrated in the past—or else he is extraordinarily quick to learn. The election victory which left most onlookers somewhat flabbergasted more than a year ago has been followed by a succession of shrewd measures, spotted here and there with political clumsiness, due largely to Mr. Truman's stubborn loyalty to his cronies. With his recent State of the Union message, however, and his calm announcement regarding the 1952 election, he became more than ever the dominant figure in United States politics.

The State of the Union speech was quietly optimistic, clever and popular. For the most part, it told the people of the United States what they wanted to hear, yet it plainly intimated that their government's program was going to cost them huge sums of money. Above any other effect, however, was the masterly manner in which it cut the Republicans' feet from under them. As Columnist Walter Lippmann put it, "Truman's technique is never to deal with problems, but only with the excellent results that would be achieved if the problems had been solved . . . . leaving the critic no target to shoot at, no antagonist to get hold of, only the thin air to thrash around in. No wonder so many Republican politicians exhibit the symptoms of being on the verge of a nervous breakdown."

Mr. Truman's election announcement for 1952 was confident to the point of cockiness. He told members of his Cabinet not to plan to run for any congressional office; he intended to run in 1952 and would like them to go to the country with him as a unit. Such a message would have aroused rude laughter early in 1948, but after that year's election it arouses nothing but apprehension in his opponents.

Hang Old Jesse James

An old geezer is holding court these days from his bed in a New York hotel and claiming that he is Jesse James. If he is Jesse James, he is 102 years old. Since 1882 this fellow has been known as J. Frank Dalton. Now, in company with cronies, press agents, lawyers, microphones, spotlights, and specimen bullets said to have been pulled out of his (Jesse James's body,) he is setting out to prove that he is indeed the outlaw, in the flesh—now wrinkled, wheezy and white-whiskered. He has filed affadavits in Missouri.

Jesse James, an expert marksman and partisan for the Southern cause in the Civil War, was outlawed after the war. From that time until his reported death in 1882 he was leader of a band which robbed banks and trains, terrorized the countryside, and became the great American symbol of frontier lawlessness.

If old J. Frank Dalton is the real Jesse James, why make a glamorous hulabaloo about him? If he is the real stuff, he is an outlaw, there is a price on his head ($10,000 since 1882, which at five per cent. should net his captor a small fortune now), and he ought to be locked up and prepared for the hangman's noose. An old man of 102 who is fool enough to claim that he is Jesse James deserves all he gets, the old goon. Why, he probably couldn't even shoot straight now.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

THERE has been in recent years a sad decline in the popularity of chamber music, the music of the home. Years ago it was by no means uncommon for a family to form a small ensemble and play together for their own enjoyment. Nowadays if one wants to hear a string quartet one has to go and hear them in a large concert hall, where they inevitably sound thin and scratchy. The average man in the street immediately concludes that this "long-haired stuff" is boring, not knowing that if he heard it in a small hall or, better still, a private house it would sound warm and intimate. The amateur is being pushed out of existence by the radio and the gramophone, and he is contenting himself with the passive role of a good listener. Musical appreciation is the catchword of the day, and this consists largely of listening to gramophone records and talking about them. Useful as this is, I cannot help suspecting that one can learn more about music and get more out of it by actually singing in a choir or taking a part in an amateur orchestra than by listening to recordings by the best artists in the world. If you have struggled through the second violin part of a Haydn quartet with three friends you will then be in a far better position to enjoy a recording of the same work by the Lener group.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE string quartet is as perfect a medium of music as anything that has ever been invented. To one sated with the sumptuous glitter of the full orchestra it comes as a refreshing draught of clear cool water. The senses are not jaded by bombastic climaxes or spicy orchestration; instead there is the sweet and reasonable conversation on equal terms of four nearly related instruments. Some go so far as to say that the summit of Beethoven's achievement was not the Choral Symphony or the Mass in D but the Quartete in C sharp minor. Modern composers find that there is still something to be said in this medium. Debussy, Delius, Hindemith, Bartok, Walton, Britten and Sibelius, to mention but a few, have contributed new works.

THE Canadian climate is undoubtedly hard on musical instruments. The sudden changes of temperature necessitate very frequent tuning of pianos, and the dry air of heated houses is bad for the woodwork and raises the dust. Those who have some form of air-conditioning in their homes are the most fortunate. Church organs have to stand great fluctuations of temperature in this country, and it is a wonder that they do not go wrong more often. In most churches the building is heated up to at least 70 degrees on Sunday. During the week, unless there are any special services the heating is turned off, and the temperature may fall to freezing point, or even below. Besides being very hard on the delicate and complicated action it is a deterrent to practice. It is possible in some churches, I believe, to erect a sort of tent over the console and keep warm by means of a small stove. Some churches that are heated with oil compromise by keeping the temperature at 50 during the week, and although this is not too cosy it is perfectly possible to practise in this temperature, economy is served, and the organ is not subjected to an unreasonable fluctuation of temperature. In this way everybody is satisfied.

A READER (I suspect a lady) writes, "Is music the food of love, as Shakespeare says?" My dear lady, the Bard made no such dogmatic statement. In the first place, these words were put into the mouths of one of his characters, and we earthlings may not presume to say that they are Shakespeare's own sentiments. As Matt Arnold said:

"Others abide our question—Thou are free!
We ask and ask—Thou smilest and art still,
Out-topping knowledge! So some sovran hill
Who to the stars etc. etc. etc."

Personally I would like to think that Shakespeare conceived the character of the Duke of Illyria (the character who speaks these lines in Twelfth Night) as one of those wealthy dilettantes who can talk glibly for hours at a stretch on the "refining influence of music" with a minimum of knowledge of the subject. In the second place the actual words were "If music be the food of love, play on". Note that little word "If". I would not be surprised to learn that Shakespeare, like many connoisseurs, preferred both his love and his music neat!

❖ ❖ ❖

TSCHAIKOVSKY'S music appears typically Russian to the outside world, and yet in his time he was accused of being too cosmopolitan in his style. There was a group of five composers, who felt that Russian music could never be Russian enough for their liking. They turned to the rich fund of Russian folksong in search of a new idiom. Curiously enough, only one of their number, Balakireff, started as a professional musician. Borodin was a professor of chemistry, Moussorgsky an army officer and later a government official, Cui (the least important of the group) a General, and Rimsky-Korsakoff a Naval officer. Undoubtedly the most gifted of this remarkable group was Moussorgsky. He never acquired the smooth technique of Rimsky-Korsakoff, but there is an element of dynamic power in his music that Rimsky-Korsakoff never achieved. His daring harmonic intuition anticipated the moderns. Pianists would do well to study his "Pictures from an Exhibition"—a suite of piano pieces which has become best known in Ravel's orchestration. These pieces are not for the average virtuoso. There are many clumsy passages which are very difficult to bring off on the piano—and yet there is more force and vitality in a few bars of this work than in pages of more scholarly and refined composers.

Canada's Sugar Bowl

The story of the sugar beet in Alberta parallels the story of irrigation, for controlling water supply is one of the major factors in successful sugar beet production there. The others are deep, rich soil, plenty of sunshine, adequate frost-free periods and experienced beet growers. Southern Alberta has all these, with the result that, besides the 130,000,000 pounds of sugar, it produces annually some 60,000 lambs and 20,000 cattle fattened on beet pulp and betalasses, by-products of the industry.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

CONTRACT LET

Canada's Great Men of the Half Century

(LETHBRIDGE HERALD)

ALMOST every magazine you pick up these days has its list of the 10 or 50 greatest men and women of the past 50 years. Few of them agree on who is the greatest person but all selections we have read so far contained the names of Churchill, Roosevelt, Lenin, Gandhi, Freud, Einstein, Sun-Yat-sen, Ford and Shaw. One, as a matter of interest picked Mrs. Roosevelt as a "greater" person than her husband.

So far we have seen no list of great Canadian men and women of the first half of the 20th century. Probably there have been lists published, but we haven't seen any. That is why today we have decided to start the ball rolling, as it were, and make a few nominations.

Our list is by no means complete. Many names which should be on have been left off. We think, nevertheless, that most of the 30 or so people we suggest would probably make any intelligent selection of, say, the 50 most influential Canadians of the first half of the present century.

❖ ❖ ❖

IN the realm of politics, for instance, you couldn't leave off the names of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Robert Borden, Mackenzie King and J. S. Woodsworth. Laurier was a great statesman, a great leader, and probably did more than anyone else to build up a national confidence. Borden was a successful war leader. King may rank as our most important political figure because of his humanitarian work, his unparalleled success as a party leader, and mainly because of the part he played in bringing Canada to her present important role in world affairs. Woodsworth, as the founder of the C.C.F. Party, deserves mention.

For opening up the west to immigration, Sir Clifford Sifton rates a place on the list. So does C. D. Howe, for his work in aviation circles and for his organization of Canada's wartime industrial effort. Canada has had numerous able finance ministers, J. L. Ilsley probably deserving special mention.

Other political men who probably would be given a place on the list are Arthur Meighen, Louis St. Laurent, Ernest Lapointe and R. B. Bennett. If you define great as a person who has achieved notoriety the late William Aberhart hardly could miss mention.

Probably the most outstanding Canadian of the past 50 years so far as the rest of the world is concerned is the late Sir Frederick Banting, co-discoverer of insulin. He assuredly would rate high on a "best 50" list and so would his brilliant colleague, Dr. Charles Best.

John W. Dafoe, the poet E. J. Pratt, and soldier-scientist A. G. L. McNaughton are men who have made large contributions to Canada's intellectual life and who certainly are among the 50 outstanding Canadians of the past 50 years.

So is Vincent Massey, a generous man who has done much for education and cultural activities. Others in the intellectual or cultural fields who could be included on the list are the humourist, Stephen Leacock, Edward Johnson, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company and himself a great singer, Sir Charles G. D. Roberts, the Rev. Charles Gordon and Bliss Carman.

❖ ❖ ❖

THREE outstanding men who did much in the field of transportation are Lord Shaughnessy, Sir Henry Thornton and Sir William Mackenzie. They probably would all gain inclusion on a list containing 50 names. So would Sir Charles Saunders, the discoverer of Marquis wheat, and so would Sir Adam Beck, who developed the Ontario Hydro system.

Other Canadians whom a person would have difficulty keeping off such a selection are Sir Lyman Duff, a truly great jurist; Henry Wise Wood, Alberta farm leader, and Sir Arthur Currie, soldier and educationalist. There are, of course, many, many others. In fact, if you sat down to it with a history book in one hand and a pencil in the other, you would probably be up half the night making out your list and then up all the next day revising it.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Lord, make me to know mine end, and the measure of my days, what it is; that I may know how frail I am. Surely every man walketh in a vain shew: surely they are disquieted in vain: he heapeth up riches, and knoweth not who shall gather them.

And now, Lord, what wait I for? my hope is in thee. Hear my prayer, O Lord, and give ear unto my cry; hold not thy peace at my tears: for I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner, as all my fathers were. (Ps. 39: 4, 6, 7, 12.)

Letters To The Editor

PENSIONS FOR FARMERS

Sir: The recent disastrous drop in farm produce prices has again demonstrated the insecurity of the farmers position in this country. The much tooted home market is a broken reed and while an increase of several millions in population would help, we can't continue to operate at a loss for the years it will take to hand pick and establish these immigrants. Besides 75 per cent. of them would be placed in agriculture, the movement defeating its own end by increasing production. The huge home market in the States hasn't prevented surpluses and depressed farm prices over there.

We didn't lose the British market because of lack of quality or quantity of our products but lack of dollars on Britain's part. And she lacks the dollars because high tariffs prevent our purchasing British goods. Canadian manufacturers are strong enough and influential enough to see that those tariffs are maintained. So we are in the position of having to compete on world markets with dairy products from Australia and New Zealand, eggs and bacon from Denmark, beef from Argentina and wheat from all over the world, but we are forced to buy in a closed market set by the Canadian manufacturer.

The only security in sight for farming is a pension plan made possible by a small tax on food. It should be $50 a month for every farmer at 65 years of age, raised to $75 at 70, and a full $100 a month at 80. The pensions should be taxable and contingent upon every farmer so benefitting, filing a yearly income tax form. That would also serve to silence those doubting souls who are sure the farmers who don't pay income tax, should. This pension would solve the old problem of how to keep the young people on the farm. It would also result in better farming methods and in conservation of the natural fertility of the soil which is now being depleted at an alarming rate. Another qualification for pension would be that the farmer at 65 should have been engaged in farming at least 35 years. The scheme should be non-contributory for any man who has worked 90 hours a week for 35 years deserves a crown in heaven as well as a pension on earth.

More and more labour unions are demanding shorter hours, more pay, free hospitalization, holidays with pay and sizable retiring pensions at 65, as well as the unemployment insurance and Workmen's Compensation now in force. All of us indirectly contribute to these, so they can have no objection if we ask for something in return. Of course the farmers would be also contributing indirectly to their own pensions by the tax on food they buy.

Stormy Weather Blamed For Death Toll

By The Canadian Press.

Icy roads, snow and a raging windstorm were held responsible for at least six of 12 violent deaths reported in Eastern Canada during the week-end.

In Ontario all seven reported deaths were the results of traffic accidents, a Canadian Press survey shows. The remaining five were recorded in Quebec province where two farmers were killed when knocked down by a near-gale. A falling stone and a traffic accident were blamed for the two remaining fatalities.

On the Nipigon highway near Pearl, 34 miles northeast of Port Arthur, three car passengers suffered fatal injuries in a collision with a truck. They were Jack Kennick, 33, driver of the car, William Oakley, 41, and his wife. All were from Cameron Falls, Ont.

Florence Cadeau, 8, of Port Severn, was killed during a snowstorm at Coldwater, Ont., when struck by a car.

Traffic Victims

Three other Ontario traffic victims were Phillip Nakizik, 55, of Toronto, struck by a street car; Richard Waive, 15, of Southampton, knocked down in the Port Elgin district, and Gary Wilson, of St. Catharines, hit by a car on the outskirts of the city.

In Quebec, two farmers, Ludovic Perreault, 76, of St. Marie Beauce and Paul Bilodeau, 60, of Ste. Claire, suffered fatal injuries when hit by barn doors blown from their hinges by violent winds.

Harry Weiss, 41, of Montreal, was crushed to death by a 400 pound stone, dislodged from the 11th storey of a midtown building. Pierette Chartier, 7, also of Montreal, died of head injuries after she was knocked down by heavy winds.

At St. Telesphore, Que., an automobile plunged off an icy highway into a ditch causing the death of Clara MacKinnon, 28, a postmistress at Green Valley, Ont. St. Telesphore is 10 miles east of Alexandria, Ont., near the Quebec-Ontario border.

Canadian Doctor Cures Skin Diseases By Hipnotism

By NORMAN CRIBBENS.

LONDON, Jan. 16 (CP) — A man who suffered eight years from psoriasis, a malignant skin disease says he was cured under hypnosis by Dr. A. P. Magonet, Canadian doctor now practising in London's Harley Street.

"Skin specialists and hospitals in and out of the army, had given me up as an almost hopeless case" London-born Simon Ziderman told The Canadian Press.

"My body was covered with sores and I felt I could not go on living under such conditions. Last July I went to see a doctor Magonet and today I am completely cured."

Ziderman, who says he contracted psoriasis while serving with the Royal Artillery in 1941, shows no trace of the complaint. His complexion, pale but healthy looking, is unblemished.

"After I was discharged from the army in 1942, I had to give up my business, feeling unfit to carry it on," he said. "I receive a pension from the army but it is not enough to keep myself, my wife and three children.

"Now I am going after another job."

Cures Skin Complaints

Dr. Magonet, a native of Glace Bay, N. S., who graduated from Dalhousie University in 1934, said he has cured many people of skin complaints and other physical disorders under hypnosis.

"Such disorders are caused by emotional and mental disturbances, bottled up within a patient, which find an escape at the weakest physical link.

"This is particularly apparent in cases of hysterial blindness and paralysis, where no physical injury or disturbance is apparent. The hypnotist's job is to draw out mental and emotional conflicts in the unconscious mind where they can do no incalculable harm."

Dr. Magonet recently formed an association of doctors called the Medical Hypnosis Association, admitting only qualified medical practitioners.

"Unfortunately, public hypnotism has become a vaudeville turn," he said. "I established it on a scientific basis, it is essential that it should be practised by qualified medical men who know how the body functions."

Final Treatment

When Ziderman returned to Dr. Magonet's surgery for a final treatment recently, a reporter watched him put into a hypnotic trance in less than a minute.

Ziderman sat in an easy chair. Magonet stood over him and in a slow, vibrant voice said: "Deep, deep, sleep. Deep, deep sleep." Ziderman's eyes closed, but his head turned from side to side as if he were in a restless dream.

"It is 1941," Magonet said. "How do you feel."

"Terrible," answered Ziderman in a dreamy voice. "I'm all covered in sores. It's horrible. horrible. Why can't they do something for me?"

On waking from his trance Ziderman said he had no recollection of discussing his former illness.

Saves RCAF Three Million Seeks $220,000 Royalties

OTTAWA, Jan. 16(CP) — A man who claims he saved the air force $3,200,000 and seeks $220,000 compensation will continue his case before the exchequer court Monday.

The man is Gordon C. Wilson of Ottawa, who claims that in 1939 before enlisting in the RCAF he invented a cartridge-type practice bomb which was more practical than the liquid-filled bomb then in use.

The Crown, opposing his claim contends that as a serving member of the RCAF it was his duty to assist in the improvement of such bombs.

The action was first brought with the filing by Mr. Wilson of a petition in 1948. The case came up about a year ago, but because of the voluminous evidence it was adjourned, hearing of arguments will begin Monday before Mr. Justice Cameron.

Wilson bases his claim on the ground that 2,200,000 bombs embodying his invention were used by the services with a consequent saving of $3,200,000. He claims a royalty of 10 cents per bomb.

OBITUARIES

ALBERT E. COLEMAN

Albert E. Coleman, 987 Western Avenue, died suddenly in Civic Hospital on Sunday, in his 68th year.

Mr. Coleman was born in England, the son of Shadrach and Caroline Coleman. He lived there until 36 years ago when he came to Peterborough. He was an employee of the CGE, where he was a member of the Quarter Century Club.

He is survived by his wife, the former Clara Padbury, two daughters, Mrs. L. Patterson (Evelyn) and Mrs. A. Crowe (Grace), and three sons, John, Ernest and Albert, all of Peterborough.

The funeral service will be held at the Comstock Funeral Home on Tuesday at 2 p.m., with Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite, of All Saints' Anglican Church, officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

WILLIAM RODGERS

William Rodgers of Glen Alda died on Saturday in hospital, after an illness of six months. He was in his 70th year. Son of the late Amos Rodgers and Sarah Smith he was born in Belmont Township, and had his schooling there.

He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Orville MacKay (Nellie) of Hamilton, a sister Mrs. Nellie Wannamaker of Havelock, and a brother David of Stamford Centre.

Mr. Rodgers was a laborer in Belmont Township.

The body will be at the Kaye Funeral Home until 11 a.m. on Tuesday, thence to Glen Alda United Church for service at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Glen Alda Cemetery.

MRS. PATRICK TOBIN

A resident of Peterborough for the past 40 years, Mrs. Patrick Tobin of 384 Murray Street died on Saturday in hospital after a short illness. She was in her 75th year.

Mrs. Tobin was the former Emiline Pottle, daughter of Frederick George Pottle and Victoria Sarah King. She was born and educated in England and came to Peterborough 40 years ago.

She leaves, besides her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Walter Bruce (Violet), Mrs. Leslie Calladine (Kathleen), and Mrs. Bernard Kearney (Mary), all of Peterborough, two sons John and James, also of Peterborough.

A memoer of St. Peter's Cathedral, she was also associated with the Altar Society and the Catholic Women's League.

The funeral will be Tuesday from the Anglesey Funeral Home to St. Peter's for mass at 9 a.m. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

MRS. GEORGE BAILEY

HAROLD, Jan. 16 (ENS)—Mrs. Maud Bailey, wife of late George Bailey, died suddenly Sunday afternoon at her home here in Rawdon Twp. She was in her 69th year.

Until a few hours before her death she had been in good health.

Born at Chatham, Ont., she was the former Maud Kirk, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kirk. She was educated in that locality and later moved to Harold as a bride, spending the remainder of her life here.

She leaves two daughters, Miss Cora Bailey of Peterborough, a teacher at Central School, and Miss Evelyn Bailey at home; five sons—William of Toronto, Clarence of Pembroke, Ross of Belleville, and Lorne and Gordon at home.

Also left are three sisters—Mrs. Earl Bailey of Stirling, Mrs. Edna Van Allen of Peterborough and Mrs. Edmund Carleton of Tyendinaga; and a brother, W. H. Kirk of Toronto.

Her husband died eight years ago.

Mrs. Bailey was a member of Springbrook United Church, the Women's Auxiliary there and the Women's Institute. She was also a member of Laurel Rebekah Lodge, No. 211, Stirling.

A memorial service will be held tonight at her home by the Laurel Rebekah Lodge.

The funeral will be from her home at 2 p.m. Tuesday to Springbrook United Church for service at 2.30 p.m. Burial will be in Mount Nebo Cemetery at Springbrook.

Robins, Jandrew Out For Warden

COBOURG, Jan. 16 — (ENS)—Counties council of Northumberland and Durham will open their January session tomorrow evening at which time there will be the election of warden. The majority of the 1949 council will be present when the roll of the 1950 council is called. Seven new faces will be on the council. This year the warden will be chosen from the Northumberland county representatives, the honour alternating between the two counties each year. Two have been named as contesting the wardenship, Reeve Bruce Jandrew of Murray township and Reeve O. J. Robins of Alnwick.

2 Police Constables Cleared In Robbery

MONTREAL, Jan. 16 (CP). — Two young city police constables, arrested last Thursday in connection with the January 5 armed robbery of an East-end grocery store, have been cleared of all charges, while another policemen and a Montreal citizen have been detained on similar charges, it was announced Sunday.

The original two policemen at the time of their arrests were identified as Constable J. P. Morin, badge No. 1219, and Constable J. M. Lavoie, No. 1172. Police authorities gave the badge numbers, they said, because other policemen on the force have the same surnames and initials. The names of the newly-arrested Policeman and the private citizen were withheld by police.

Reolace Strikers

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Arkansas Gazette announced Saturday night that it will begin employing replacements for striking employees. More than 20 editorial and photographic employees, members of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO), have been on strike since contract negotiations broke down Dec. 17.

Count On Roy

NEW GLASGOW, N. S.,—(CP) — Mayor Roy J. Bennett, who never missed a council meeting during four years as chief magistrate, is retiring from civic politics. Mr. Bennett was also a councillor for three years and during that time missed only three meetings.

Lecturer Allen and Poet Robert W. Service

Ex-Service Man Who Treked Across Canada In Illustrated Lecture To Parent-Teachers

Canadians have only a vague appreciation of the potential wealth of their country and of the qualities of their own character, says Phil Allen of North Battleford, Sask.

In that conviction and in a desire to promote a livelier spirit and understanding of Canadianism, Mr. Allen is speaking at the K. of C. Hall tonight under the sponsorship of the Parents-Teachers' Association of St. Peter's parish.

He is on a tour of 6,000 miles from the Pacific to the Atlantic, an idea born of his war time experience and an undergraduate period at the University of Alberta. Engagements in the Peterborough district have recently been at The Grove, Lakefield, Norwood Board of Trade, Campbellford, Tweed, Madoc and other places on his way east to Halifax.

Canadians are too steadily affected by their proximity to their big neighbor to the south, Mr. Allen says. They are influenced by American ideas and practices through agencies common to both countries, and in other respects they fall back upon their Anglo-Saxon background.

'A distinctly Canadian character is waiting to be developed and to much the same extent the material possibilities of their country."

Trek Through North

Mr. Allen speaks from direct observation and knowledge, acquired the hard way. What he calls his 6,000-mile odyssey took him beyond the Robert W Service country referred to in his poems, "Trails of '98," some 200 miles along the Arctic coast in the summer of 1947. On this trip he is bringing to eastern Canada the essence of the west expressed with the enthusiasm of a young ex-service man. Mr. Allen adds graphic effect to his travelogue with motion pictures

Judge's Plan Aid To Traffic Court

QUEBEC, —(CP)—Traffic accidents will be re-enacted realistically in magistrate's courts here with the aid of a novel system invented by Judge Edgar Rochette.

The judge, in exhibiting his system which he calls "legalized miniatures," expressed hope the gadgets will be helpful in offering descriptive illustrations of accidents if and when they result in court cases.

The system consists of a series of graphs of streets and intersections—13 in all—and minature motor vehicles.

To aid witnesses in refreshing their memories and revisualizing circumstances surrounding accidents, the minature automobiles or trucks will be brought into play.

An appropriate graph or map can be selected and the tiny motor vehicles manoeuvred about on a typical sketch of street or at an inter-section shown on the graph.

In this way it is hoped to help a witness tell about where and how the accident happened and assist the court in laying responsibility.

Rounds Cape Horn In Finnish Barque

VICTORIA, B. C., — (CP) — Dreams of rounding the Horn in a wind jammer never left Frank Swannell—and in 1949 he made them come true.

A retired surveyor, Mr. Swannell, 69, returned here recently after a 39,000-mile trip that took him around the world.

In spite of its rigors and dangers, he said, the lap from Port Victoria, Australia, to Wales in the Finnish barque Pattat was an enjoyable experience.

Mr. Swannell left here last January on the British Freighter Chulmleigh and went through the Panama Canal to Africa and Australia. In Australia he heard that the last of the famous grain races was about to start.

One of the barques entered—the Pamir — was manned by regular seamen but the Passat had a crew of amateurs.

"It was just luck that I was able to get aboard her," said Mr Swannell.

Lack of electricity, steam heat and refrigeration made the trip a rigorous one. Crew members were rtioned to a halfbucket of water a day and dim riding lights almost caused the ship to be run down several times.

Rounding the Horn, of course, was the highlight of the trip. Heavy seas hammered the 40-year-old, 3,130-ton barque, but she made the turn in one day.

Passengers weren't allowed, as such, on the voyage, so Mr. Swannell signed on as an able-bodied seaman. In addition he paid his passage.

5 Die In Bus Crash

GAYLORD, Mich., Jan. 16 (AP) —A bus collision in a driving snowstorm Saturday killed five persons and injured a score of others. A chartered bus carrying 20 members of the Michigan Tech hockey squad crashed head-on with a Greyhound bus. The dead included the student manager of the hockey team and one player and three passengers on the Greyhound.

Scandinavian Power

STOCKHOLM —(CP)—A plan for the transmission of electric power from Norway across Sweden to Denmark has been submitted to the governments of the three countries by a tripartite power committee. Much of the cost of the scheme will be for installations in Sweden.

See what happened in 1949 to families like these!

(A REPORT FROM THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA)

MEET THE BERTRAM'S son and daughter! Last year, life insurance helped put them both through college. For thousands of other Canadians, life insurance money made it possible to retire, travel, pay off mortgages or start new businesses.

Last year, more than $125 million was paid to living policyholders by the life insurance companies in Canada!

FOR SOME FAMILIES like the Coopers last year brought tragedy. But, although this family lost its father, there was enough money to maintain the home, pay living expenses and keep the children at school — thanks to life insurance.

Death claims paid by the life insurance companies in Canada in 1949 totalled more than $80 million!

TYPICAL OF PEOPLE who bought new life insurance policies this year are the Renaults. Since taking this step they have discovered greater peace of mind because it gives them more financial protection and retirement income for the future.

The amount of new life insurance bought in 1949 reached a record total of $1,600 million. Canadian families now own life insurance valued at a total of $14½ billion!

Life Insurance Served Everyone in These Important Ways!

BUILDING FOR PROGRESS. Last year over two hundred million dollars were invested on policyholders' behalf by the life insurance companies. Result: new schools, roads, bridges, industrial plants and many other projects were completed, promoting progress and creating jobs.

HELPING PEOPLE BUY HOMES. Life insurance companies invested many millions of dollars in mortgages for those who bought new homes last year. So from coast to coast, thousands of families are now happily settled in the homes they needed so urgently.

AIDING THE WAR AGAINST DISEASE. By contributing financial aid to medical research again last year, the life insurance companies helped science to fight cancer, tuberculosis, heart ailments and polio. This research promotes longer, healthier lives for all Canadians.

IT IS GOOD CITIZENSHIP TO OWN

LIFE INSURANCE

A useful citizen in your community

All the benefits of life insurance are founded on the work of the life insurance company representative. Thanks to his services, more than a million Canadian families had life insurance planned to meet their individual needs!

Marines Defeat Hamilton In Exhibition Hoop Game

A desperate last-period drive by Hamilton Strand Cycles fell short of its mark Saturday as the Outboard Marines zipped to cage victory 50-45 in the YMCA gym. In the preliminary game, the opener of the City League after an absence of four years, Doug MacPherson's squad nipped the Bill Tinn team 46-40.

Led by Jim Thornton and Joe Stewart, the Outboards came from behind early in the first quarter after baskets by Sam Hunter and Ross Peall had put the Strands up 6-5 at the five-minute mark. The Mariners had a six-point lead going into the second quarter, 18-12. Nearly all the Mariners sank a basket in the second as they outscored the Hamilton crew 11-7.

Bert Carrigan, with one-hand long shots, pulled the Hamilton boys up in the third quarter as he gained eight points. Twice he went through the Outboards from centre to sink points. This was the Strands' strongest period as they battled both ways. They checked the locals to a standstill; front 39-37 on the strength of then took the ball to score. But the Outboards managed to stay in baskets by Al Stewart, Chum Gillespie and Bill Dadson.

Play became rough in a fast, loose fourth quarter as the Mariners would move ahead by four points and the Strands would move up to within one point of the locals. Never did the Cycles manage to take the lead or even tie the score as the Mariners checked closely under the basket. When the final whistle went, the Outboards had chalked up their first win of the year in three starts, 50-45.

Missed Chances

The Hamilton Strands failed to cash in on the 12 foul shots awarded them by officials Bill Edger and Al Menzies. Only four went for points while the Outboards had eight foul attempts with four going for points. Gordie Burns was the bad man of the Mariners with three fouls as had Bert Carrigan and Sam Hunter of Hamilton.

Ross Peall, cool left guard of the Strands, starred in setting up the Strands' scoring attempts. Ted Payne, Joe Stewart and Gordie Burns were the standouts of the Outboards on their night's play.

Bert Carrigan led the scoring of both clubs with 12 points, eight being sunk in the third quarter. Joe Stewart was close on the heels of Carrigan with 11 points. Other scorers were: for the Marines, Ted Payne four, Jim Thorburn six, Ab Stewart five, Hugh Dibben two, Gord Burns nine, Chum Gillespie six, Bill Dadson two and Vic Griffin five; for the Strands, Stew Bard six, Ross Peall five, Sam Hunter eight, Bob Fisher five, Mike Yednoroz eight, and Bob Reader one.

Preliminary Game

Jim Thorburn was the thorn in the side of Bill Trimm's young squad in the opening game of the City League as he sank 16 points to lead the Doug MacPherson pack to a 46-40 win. The second game of the schedule will be played Wednesday in the YMCA gym between Ab Stewart's team and Gordie Burns' quintet.

Joe Stewart and Thorburn were dark clouds for the Trimm squad in the first half as they combined to score 22 of the 28 points as the score read 28-17 for MacPherson. Trimm's squad came back in the second led by Trimm, Hugh Dibben, Bill Thompson and Al Northcott to outscore the Macpherson squad 23-18, seven points short of a victory.

Thorburn led the scorers with his 16 points while Grafstein for Trimm had 11 points. Bill Moorhead had nine, Doug MacPherson six, Joe Stewart eight, and Doug Plunkett seven for the MacPherson squad as Hugh Dibben had eight, Al Northcott five and Trimm, Bill Thompson, Neil Thompson and George Hall each had four for the Trimm boys.

WILL MAKE NO MISTAKES —Yukon Eric, pictured above, who says he will not make the same mistake this Thursday that he made last week. The big Alaskan was disqualified by Referee Bunny Dunlop for standing outside the ropes while applying a bear-hug on the Aussie champ. It was the only decision Dunlop could make, and we thought Bunny turned in the best refereeing to date. In an effort to give local fans the best grapplers available, Manager Jim Laidlaw will not announce the preliminaries until tomorrow. He is still working on some top-flight matmen for this Thursday's show.

Stirling Defeated

MARMORA, Jan. 16 (ENS):— Marmora juvenile hockeyists delighted their supporters by winning their second league game with Stirling on Friday evening by the score of 6-1. The game was played on slushy ice, and in spite of the score was hard-fought. The visitors tired more than the homesters through having fewer spares. Towards the end of the first period, the linesman, T. Cousins, was struck below the eye with the puck. Mumby, Trumble and Darrah led the scorers. Teams:

Stirling — Goal, Donnan; defence, Faulkner and McCauley; centre, Robson; wings, Phillips and Wannamaker; alternates, Moran, Hannah, Burgess, Haslitt and Rogers.

Marmora — Goal, Sweet; defence, Darrah and Borland; centre, Trumble; wings, Mumby and Nicholson; alternates, Brooks, Brown, Mantle, Jones, Lavender, Brownlie, Johnston, Drummond.

Referee—J. Wright, Stirling.
Linesman—T. Cousins, Deloro.

Fenelon Victorious

BEAVERTON, Jan. 16—Fenelon Falls rode to a convincing 9 to 2 victory over Bowmanville in an ORHA intermediate A fixture led by Vern Sheehey and Max Putman with three goals each. The Falls club put on a fine display for the local fans and strengthened their position at the top of the group.

Soccer League Delegates At OFA Session

Peterborough was represented at the adjourned meeting of the Ontario Soccer Association on Saturday by Tom Garland, and Stroyan Leith, of the local association, in the King Edward Hotel, with a full attendance from all associations throughout the province.

Changes were made as follows:

Affiliation fees shall be on the ration basis—$5.00 for five clubs; $10.00 for ten clubs; $15.00 for 15 clubs, and $25.00 for 20 clubs and more; instead of the $5.00 affiliation fees with $2.00 per club.

Only three subs will be allowed in any game without any time limit when they may continue until the finish. No further last 18 minutes of play.

The greater part of the afternoon was taken up with many problems relative to the National League and other club matters.

In future all signing on forms —namely registrations—shall be completed by the local secretary and stub shall be forwarded to the club and second part to the OFA.

Files Complaint

Windsor Sterlings filed a complaint with OFA relative to their refusal by the National League to admit them to the league when they had been in the last few years, met all obligations and were financially successful from every angle. It was left with the OFA commission to report and conclude agreement.

The question of juvenile and junior soccer was discussed and it was revealed that juveniles shall be 18 years of age and juniors 21 according to DFA, but T. and D. have made for a special dispensation for 24 years of age that will be studied by the DFA.

Ted Blade, who was appointed by the government and tahe OFA to demonstrate soccer technique in the provinces through the medium of pictures depicting soccer playing over the whole world, and the fundamentals on how to play the game according to the book published by him. It is hoped that he will be in Peterborough soon to show those pictures to all school pupils and teachers, also the local high schools.

The special committee appointed to inquire into the complaints made by the T. and D. against the OFA, along with the counteraction by members of the OFA, made no progress after studying all the details from all angles, in the morning session. It was agreed that they shall meet again on Feb 14, to conclude the session, providing that the necessary information is presented to them.

Industrial Hockey

CGE now leads the Industrial Hockey League by one point over Brintons. The standing as of Jan. 14:

Games this week: Tuesday, Keene vs. Quakesr in Keene — but, if no ice, it will be at Civic Arena Thursday at 10 p.m.; Wednesday, De Laval vs. Westclox in Omemee, and Nashua vs. Vent. Shades at Civic Arena; Friday, Westclox vs. Keene in Keene. If there is no ice Tuesday between Keene and Quakers, the second game at Civic Arena will be Brintons vs. Quakers on Jan. 18.

Marmora Wins 10-1

MARMORA, Jan. 16 (ENS) — Playing at home on Saturday evening, Marmora Midgets easily accounted for Madoc, the final score being 10-1 in their favor. The Marmora team manifested superiority throughout in stickhandling and combination. In the first period O'Connor of the home team was accidentally struck over the eye by Shadbolt's stick requiring two stitches. Mantle, Hackey, Brooks and Parohiuk led the scorers.

Teams:

Madoc—Goal, Heyworth; defence, Shadbolt, Cassibo; centre, Nickle; wings, Coveney, Brough, alternates, Maher, Reid, Belanger, Shaw, Moon, Smith.

Marmora — Goal, Drummond; defence, Shannon, Brown; centre, Brooks; wings, Meehan, Mantle; alternates, Lynch, Hickey, Bell, McNally, Clemens, Logan, Paranuik, Bonter, O'Connor.

Referee, T. Cousins, Deloro; linesman, Jack Hatch of Madoc.

Bjornstad Wins Jump

FOX RIVER GROVE, Ill., Jan. 16—(AP)—Hans Bjornstad Sunday won the 44th annual Norge Ski Club jumping championship, leading his Norwegian countrymen to a sweep of the first three places. The 15,000 fans, watching rain, fog and wind reserved most of their cheers for Art Tokle of Brooklyn, who captured fourth place. He did not match the Norwegians on form points but outjumped them with a record-breaking leap of 208 feet. This bettered by five feet the hill's record set three years ago by Art Devlin of Lake Placid, N.Y.

In his weekly column last week, the Cobourg Sentinel-Star columnist, commenting on the OHA intermediate "A" group, said: "It looks very much like some other than Port Hope or Cobourg will win this league. Our guess is still as it was in early December and that is Bowmanville all the way. This takes in the upstart Lakefield club which, admitted only by the grace of the other four teams, has already tried to make it tough for Cobourg by insisting on a game out there last Wednesday in the face of the fact that the temperature was dangerously close to a mid summer's morn and rain was falling." Careful, pal, or the upstart Lakefield puckists will take it out on the Cobourg team.

* * * * * *

The week starts off at Civic Arena tonight at 8.30 with an OHA junior "B" joust, Lindsay Kinsmen vs. the local IOOF-ers. Bun Kingdon's crew want this one to stay up atop the heap, but the surprising Scugog hustlers have been knocking over all opposition lately and they'll certainly give the Oddfellows a hot battle this eve. More fans should come out and enjoy the streamlined junior scraps here. We still haven't the official dope on those extra games with Cobourg, Port Hope and Orono, but the Triple Links expect to meet one of these teams away this week, and the Links will be playing in Lindsay on Wednesday.

Two Agreeable To Race

Murray Fife and large Bill McMasters have agreed to a prospective skating race just previous to the next Petes-Legion game here. Johnny Russelle and Spiros Zakos have both put up prizes of $15 for the winner, but Johnny wants Joe Blewett in. We suggested Bill Crowley, too. If these two are willing, perhaps the entry could be closed of at four, though there are a few other speedy senior "B" puckists here. Curly Alberico has $25 to lay on Fife and Curly says: "If I win, it goes to the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto." By the way, the Petes are kicking in with a five-spot each to raise $100 for the Sick Children's Hospital, a nice gesture. Spiros Zakos will bet $15 on McMasters. Any takers, folks.

* * * * * *

Legion have signed Ralph Hamilton, capable forward or defenceman of Havelock. By the way, Coombs was not used by them in Belleville the other e'en, as he hasn't been okayed yet by the OHA. Also, we're told that Greenlaw (not Fryia) got the final goal, aided by Freddy Mortimer. Legionnaires go to Gananoque this Wednesday, if there's ice in that rink, to pick up a postponed game. The ex-servicemen turned in one of their best efforts of the season in knocking off the Diesels 9-4 before 2,000 Quinte customers (and a busload from Peterborough) Friday. Good going both ways up front with a strong defence and goalie.

Hitting Those Hoops

Concerning the cagers, Trenton girls play Towne Togs at the YW on Wednesday eve, while Port Hope junior boys meet St. Peter's at seven p.m. that night in the Collegiate here. Cobourg girls were awarded that disputed LOBA group game o'er the Togs. At the YMCA on Saturday, Marines staved off a fourth-quarter drive to defeat Hamilton Strands 50-45, Joe Stewart setting the scoring pace. The prelim City Loop tilt saw Doug McPherson's men yank out a 46-40 verdict against Bill Trimm's team. On Wednesday there, Al Stewart's squad plays Gord Burns' bunch. SPS lost in Lindsay last start. Lot of action coming up for the hoopsters this week.

* * * * * *

A clip from Belleville: "The score was 9-4 and our laddies were impotent against the fast-skating, hard-checking Legion lads from up Chemong way. Don't let them kid you that Legion are slowed up by a large ice surface. Brethren, they were as much at home on the big pond here Friday night as Bing Crosby on a golf course. Maybe it's a good thing the game wasn't played on the icy stretches of the Bay of Quinte. The Legion played brilliant hockey. You can't take that away from them. A sustained offensive all 60 minutes, passing was near perfect and they made every move count. Where the puck was, so was a Legionnaire. Their defensive work was outstanding and M'sieu Nicholls in the nets aided materially in the cause."

Hither And Yawning

Petes' ballsters are guests of Art Cauley tonight at the Capitol .... Recent junior "B" puck tilts saw Oshawa beat Kingston 6-5 and Orono 9-1, whilst Belleville and Orono tied 3-3 ... Weekend Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Bill Durnan, Montreal Canadiens goalie, who scored his sixth shut out of the season as the Habitants downed Chicago Black Hawks 3-0 Saturday.

Sid Abel of Detroit who scored the only marker to give the Red Wings a 1-0 victory over New York Rangers Sunday.

Toronto's Max Bentley who bagged two goals, including the winning marker, as Maple Leafs defeated Boston Bruins 4-3 on Saturday.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Scrappy Lew Hayman, dropped as coach of Toronto Argonauts in 1945, moved into Montreal's football picture four years ago today when he was appointed managing director and coach of the Montreal Indians in the Big Four league. In a major reorganization he became a major owner of the club and its name was changed to Alouettes. Under Hayman the Montrealers won their first Grey Cup in 18 years last year.

Four-Way Tie In Crosby Golf Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP)—Bing Crosby's $10,000 golf tournament, the one for which he puts up all the money, was one of the most unusual in its nine-year history.

The 54-hole invitation affair ended Sunday in a four-way tie for first place among the pros. There will be no playoff. They will split the money.

Slamming Sammy Snead, United States PGA champion, putted himself out of first place by missing an eight-footer on the final green. His 214 for the three rounds was equalled by Dave Douglas, Wilmington, Del., Jackie Burke, Jr., White Plains, N.Y., and Smiley Quick, Culver City, Calif.

The quartet each pocketed $1,237. Douglas grabbed an extra $500 for finishing third with Johnny Weissmuller, the Hollywood Tarzan, in the pro-amateur with a best ball of 202.

In the pro-amateur competition there was a two-way deadlock for top money. Amateur Bud Moe of Spokane, Wash., and pro Ralph Blomquist of Glendale, Calif., tied Don Edwards, San Jose, Calif., and Marty Furgol, Albuquerque, N.M., with best ball scores of 201 for the three rounds.

Little Ben Hogan, fighting his way back after a near fatal auto accident 11 months ago, was far back.

Hogan's dramatic comeback in the Los Angeles open last week, when he tied for first place with Sam Snead, was still fresh in the minds of the onlookers who saw him trudging soggy fairways here. Hogan will meet Snead in the playoff Wednesday in Los Angeles. But he was only an also ran in the classic Bing Crosby scramble.

Peewee NHL Clubs

Six teams made up the Peewee Pro Hockey League of Peterborough, including a Keene entry. Teams are: Keene, Red Wings; Boys' Town, Bruins; Trojan AC, Maple Leafs and Canadiens; W. Ovens' team, Rangers; and A. Olmstead's team, Black Hawks. The Hawks helped to open the new arena at Keene by playing the Keene boys, it also being the opener of the league.

The teams skated out in fine new sweaters. Hawks wore on their backs names and numbers of players they represent on the NHL Hawks. Dit Clapper and Dick Ouimet refereed. It was a fast and well-played game on soft ice. Keene scored early but the Hawks slowly forged ahead and kept it up. McCarthy counted from Shearer for Wings, while Guidolin scored from Stewart for the Hawks, Bodnar got another, and then he aided in Stewart's goal. The Hawks:

Goal, Smillie (Brimsek); defence, Goldie (Goldham) and Druery (Dickens); centre, Cairns (Prystai); wings, Olmstead (Olmstead) and Brown (Brown); alternates, Murphy (Bodnar), Doleman (Guidolin), Stewart (Stewart), Naish (Hamill), Armstrong (Bentley), Sharpe (Conacher), Beggs (Mosienko), Kimball (McCaig).

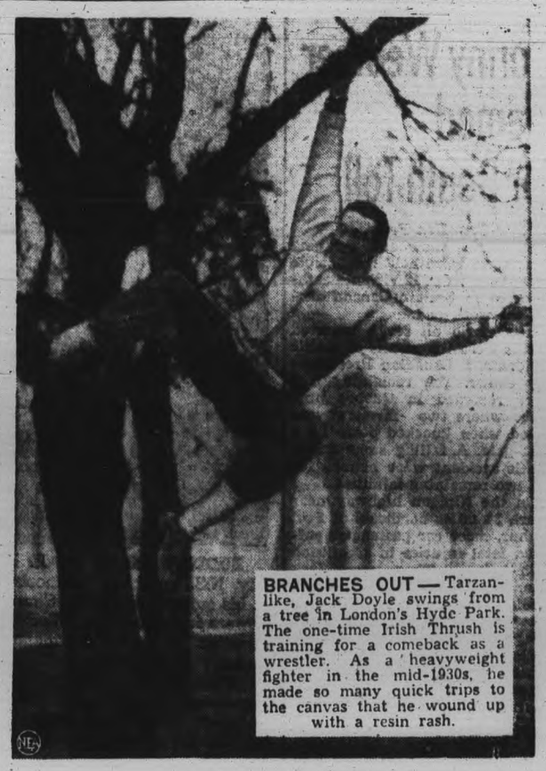
Norwood Ties C's

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. (ENS) — Norwood and Campbellford juveniles tied 5-5 here in a neat puck fray. Herd scored first and Morrison of Norwood tied it up. In the second, Darrah put the homesters one up but Spencer and Morrison put Norwood in front Ibey added one and Morrison and Darrah counted to make it 4-4 Darrah scored a nifty in the rougher third but Spencer sewed it up once more.

Norwood: Goal, Stockhouse; defence, Wrightly, Althouse; centre, Frederick; wings, R. Spencer, E. Spencer.

Campbellford: Goal, Scott; defence, Bennett, Hardy; centre, Jeffs; wings, Ibey, Dunk.

Hastings Victors



HASTINGS, Jan. 16 —(ENS)— The Hastings juvenile hockeyists edged out Havelock 4-3 here on slow ice. Jimmy Morrow starry local centre, suffered a bad gash on his nose and had to be treated in Peterborough. J. Laing and B. Lang scored in the first, with Morrow getting one in the next period. McMillen scored from Laver in the third, and Forde got one from Stevenson and Isaac. J. Laing hit the twine again from McMillen.

Havelock: Goal, Southward; defence, Kumpf, B. Pollock; centre, Smith; wings, R. Pollock, Thompson; alternates, B. Liang, Cosgrove, Broughan, Heath, J. Laing, Chevalier.

Hastings: Goal, West; defence, Chambers, Lockhart; centre, Laver; wings, Lynch, D. Forde; alternates, Condon, McMillen, K. Forde, Morrow, Fairman, Stevenson, Scriver, Wartman.

Carabins Down Gaels

MONTREAL, Jan. 16—(CP) — University of Montreal Carabins Saturday night downed Queen's University Gaels 9-5 in a fast-moving Intercollegiate Senior Hockey League fixture before 2,000 fans at the Suburban Verdun auditorium.

BRANCHES OUT — Tarzan-like, Jack Doyle swings from a tree in London's Hyde Park. The one-time Irish Thrush is training for a comeback as a wrestler. As a heavyweight fighter in the mid-1930s, he made so many quick trips to the canvas that he wound up with a resin rash.

Tigers-Dutchmen Tied 1-1 In Overtime

By The Canadian Press.

A goal by Tom Smelle with less than three minutes to play in regulation time gave Hamilton Tigers a 1-1 overtime draw with Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen on Saturday night and lifted the Bengals into a tie for the last playoff position of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

The ruling by the executive of the OHA that only the first three teams of the four-team Senior A loop will be admitted to league playoffs has made the way clear for a life and death fight between Hamilton and Owen Sound.

In other games Saturday night Toronto Marlboros eked out a 1-0 decision over Owen Sound Mercurys in a senior tilt, Oshawa Generals edged Stratford Kroehlers 3-2 in Junior A competition and St. Catharines Teepees blasted Galt Black Hawks 10-3. In a junior double bill at Maple Leaf Gardens, Guelph Biltmores upset Marlboros 4-3 and Toronto St Michael's walloped Barrie Flyers 4-2.

Art Hurst gave Kitchener-Waterloo a one goal lead in the first period of their game at the Waterloo Arena and the lead looked good enough to stand up until late in the third.

Outstanding Hockey

Both goal keepers, Bruce Dale for the Bengals and Bev Bentley for the homesters, played outstanding hockey in the nets through a scoreless middle session but pressure by the desperate Hamilton crew resulted in Smelle's pay-off tally at 17:05 of the final regulation period.

Bob Gilhooley's counter in the first period at Owen Sound was enough to give Marlboros a 1-0 victory. Pat Boehmer, who held off the scrappy Mercurys all the way, posted his fourth shutout of the season.

The loss was a costly one for the Mercurys. A win would have increased their hold on third slot to two points.

Oshawa General's close decision over Stratford Kroehlers moved them out of the Junior A cellar. They roared into a 3-0 lead in the first period and held the visitors to a single in each of the other periods.

George Samolenko, Enso Zanatta and Marcel Clements flashed the light in the first frame while Clause in the winners' nets held the Stratford attackers at bay. Doug Williams put Kroehlers on the score sheet in the second frame and added his second in the third when Stratford used four forwards, both teams having two men in the penalty box at the time.

Strengthen Position

St. Catharines strengthened their hold on second place with their crushing 10-3 victory over Galt Black Hawks, who now occupy the league cellar.

Obie O'Brien, Carl Boone and Jack McIntyre paced the winners' attack, each of them coming up with a two goal performance. Bill Altoft, Con Switzer, Jack White and Moon Mullin notched the other St. Catharines goals. The two Green brothers, Ken and Jack, each clicked for Galt while Pete Conacher added the other single.

The Biltmores led league leading Marlboros 3-0 before the Toronto lads counted their first goal in the third period. They had scored two in the opening frame but couldn't click in the second. Frank Palmer, Herb Dickenson, Andy Bathgate and Steve Brklacich clicked for the winners. Ron Hurst and Lorne Pirie scored for Marlboros.

Canadiens In Second Place Dump Black Hawks 3-0

By RENE LAGACE,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

It was a netminder's battle in the National Hockey League during the week-end with veteran Bill Durnan of Montreal Canadiens helping his mates into second place with a 3-0 shutout over Chicago Black Hawks Saturday night.

It was big Bill's sixth shutout of the season and moved him one goose egg ahead of Detroit's netminder Harry Lumley, who has five. Lumley has been out of action for a week but his chores were capably fulfilled Sunday by rookie Terry Sawchuck. Sawchuck shut out New York 1-0 in his fifth game with the league leading Red Wings.

On Saturday night, the Wings whipped New York Rangers 4-2. It was Detroit's first win in four straight clashes with the New Yorkers.

Detroit thus picked up ground while Montreal was vaulting over the Rangers into second place. The Canadiens have 41 points, 11 less than Detroit, and one more than Rangers.

In Sunday's tussle at New York Detroit's captain Sid Abel, tallied midway through the last period to blank the Rangers.

Edge Boston

Fourth place Toronto Maple Leafs, led by little Max Bentley with a brace of goals and an assist, shoved Boston Bruins into fifth position by edging them out 4-3 in a home game Saturday.

Bentley's second marker in the closing stanza clinched the verdict for the Torontonians.

Chicago's goalie Frankie Brimsek was spectacular as the Black Hawks gained their first victory in their last six starts by overpowering Boston 5-1 Sunday. A former Bruins' color bearer, Brimsek made 40 saves and was robbed of a shutout by a deflected shot.

With the Hawks leading 1-0, a 45 foot angle drive by Murray Henderson bounced off Chicago defenceman Ernie Dickens' chest and dropped into Brimsek's net after 38 seconds in the second period.

Metro Prystai then broke up the 1-1 deadlock and the Hawks rolled up the score in the finale.

Cellar dwelling Chicago will play host to the league leading Detroit Red Wings Wednesday night while Boston clashes with New York Rangers and the Montreal Canadiens meet their old enemy at Toronto.

Canadian Curlers Score Victories

PERTH, Scotland, Jan. 16 (CP) —Visiting Canadian curlers on Saturday scored victories at Perth and Dundee.

The Canadian B team beat West Perth by 16 shots in morning play and six shots in the afternoon session. At Dundee, the Canadian A side won by 22 shots.

In the morning games at Perth rinks from New Brunswick skipped by Walter Limerick of Fredericton; from Alberta, skipped by Alex J. Latta of Edmonton, and from Ontario, skipped by Percy H. Skitch of Lindsay, all won their games. The total score was Canada 77, West Perth 61.

In the afternoon the Canadian Royal Caledonian Curling Club of Quebec, skipped by Emmett Smith of Bourlamaque, won 22 to 4. But New Brunswick and Saskatchewan lost their games, leaving the final score Canada 63, West Perth 57 for the afternoon play.

At Dundee the Canadian A team beat the locals 102 to 80.

Tells Of Four Years In Hands Of Gestapo

LONDON. (CP)—Oloff de Wet, only Englishman to be condemned to death as a spy by the German People's Court, tells of his experience in his book, "The Valley of the Shadow" (Blackwood).

De Wet, as a boy of seven lived in Vancouver in 1919 when his father was in charge of transporting White Russian troops from Vancouver to Vladivostock in support of General Kolchak.

De Wet writes he was working for the French Secret Service when arrested by the Gestapo in Vienna in July, 1939. He claims he was tortured for days then sentenced.

He lived 4½ years under the gallows' shadow, and learned only after the war that his execution had been delayed because the British foreign office had put up a hostage for him.

County Council Meets Tuesday To Name Warden

The 1950 statutory meeting of Peterborough County Council opens Tuesday morning in the County Building when chief item of business will be the election of a new warden. And the field seems wide open.

Only Rork Ferguson of Norwood, James Gifford of Ennismore, Melville Johnston of North Monaghan and James Humphries of Asphodel have previously held that office.

From the standpoint of seniority in the County Council, Peter Pearson of Galway - Cavendish and Norman Wilson of Burleigh-Anstruther would be in line for warden. Both are beginning their sixth terms in 1950 and have not previously been elected.

In 1949 three names were proposed for warden: William Darling of Dummer, E. J. Leeson of Havelock and Mr. Wilson.

Both Messrs. Leeson and Wilson withdraw and Mr. Darling was elected.

Last time a reeve from a village was elected was nine years ago. Ernest W. Seeney of Havelock held the office in 1941. A strong contender from the villages would be W. C. Grant, beginning his fifth year as reeve of Lakefield.

It is 19 years since a Lakefield man was warden. The late Charles S. Tanner was warden in the early '30s.

Longest run of any of the municipalities without representation is Galway-Cavendish. Twenty-seven years ago John Clark of Galway was warden and the northern townships have not had the honor since.

Russel Hales of Chandos occupied the warden's chair in 1935, 15 years ago. All other municipalities have had wardens in more recent years.

Bruises Elbow As Car Jolts In Collision

Mrs. Roy Lambert, Toronto, was slightly injured when the car which her husband was driving met in collision with a car driven by John Fox, RR 2, Hastings, at Reid and Charlotte Sts. Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Lambert had a badly bruised right elbow. The Lambert car was proceeding east on Charlotte St.; Fox was driving north on Reid St.

Fox told Traffic Officer Claire McGillen that he stopped at Charlotte St. The whole right side of the Lambert car was pushed in.

The frame of the Lambert car was bent and when it jumped a curb, the left rear wheel was badly bent.

The front left fender and headlight of the Fox car was damaged.

Seven Acquitted Vagrancy Counts

Eight Toronto people, three of them women, who were picked up by city police about five a.m. on Sunday, were charged with vagrancy and an offence under the Liquor Control Act in police court today.

Seven of them, charged with vagrancy, were found not guilty. Norman Blair, 19, was fined $15 and costs when found guilty of having liquor in a car.

The seven others were: Irene Dymond, 18, Dorothy Lowther, 27, Janet Davis, 29, Wilfred Knight, 21, Vernon Evans, 21, George Duggan, 22 and Gordon Nixon, 21.

Constable Gordon Trennum said he saw an old model car parked outside a restaurant on George St. early Sunday morning. He said he heard a lot of noise and loud talk coming from it. Several men and women got out and went into the restaurant. Going to the car, he found one man sleeping in the back seat and one sleeping on the front seat. He found three quarts of beer in the car and numerous bottle tops on the floor.

He told the court the men did not seem to know where they were. He had considerable difficulty finding out who was the driver of the car. They had about $40 among them.

Knight said they were out for a drive. When in Oshawa someone suggested they go to Peterborough. He said they had just got into the town and had gone into the restaurant for something to eat when the police arrived. He said most of the group were working.

Hits Parked Truck Sends It 66 Feet

A parked truck was driven 66 feet before it crashed into a railroad crossing signal post, when hit from the rear by a car driven by Miss Loretta Booth, 247 Park St. Sunday on Park St.

Miss Booth told Constables Edward Niziol and E. McDonald she was driving north on Park St. She said she had to swing her car to the right to avoid being hit by a car coming in the opposite direction on the wrong side of the road.

In pulling to her right, she hit the back of a truck owned by William Rooney, 53 Park St., shooting it ahead.

The grill, hood, radiator and headlights of the Booth car were smashed. The truck had little damage. The tail board was smashed and the front bumper damaged a little.

Light Plane Hurled 35 Feet In Saturday's Heavy Wind

Saturday's high wind numbered among its casualties a light ski-plane moored on Lake Chemong. Damage to the aircraft is expected to run into hundreds of dollars. Property of the Rockland Airways, the ski plane was drawn up on a ramp and secured with five mooring ropes. But the 75-mile-an-hour westerly wind caught the craft with such force that the ropes were broken and it was picked up and hurled about 35 feet through the air.

It landed on its back in the water where it lay floating until salvaged later. The right wing, submerged in the lake water, had its main structure damaged, and the wing spars were also broken.

Despite the rough handling by the wind Rockland officials hope to have the sturdy little craft ready for flying shortly.

At the moment they are assessing the damage.

Extend Power Line To Aid Girl Of 14

CALLANDER, Jan. 16 (CP)—The Ontario Hydro is coming to help 14-year-old Elaine Ricker in her fight against infantile paralysis.

Special arrangements were recently completed with the Hydro to have a power line extended into the Ricker home on a small farm a short distance south of here. The power is needed so that the girl may have special heat treatments prescribed by doctors at the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children.

Reeve Leonard Wookey pushed the request on a recent visit to Toronto. He received the assurance of Hydro officials that the job would be done.

The North Bay Rotary Club recently presented the Ricker family with an electric heating pad for the girl's bed.

Swerve To Miss Bump Ditches, Damages Car

A sudden swerve to miss a bump on the road cost Lloyd Paudash of RR 2, Keene, about $200 Saturday night.

Paudash was driving along the 6th line of Otonabee, three and a half miles south of Highway 7, at about 9:15 p.m. when he saw the bump ahead.

He swerved in an easterly direction and the car went out of control and ran along the east ditch for 190 feet. It finally came to rest facing south.

Paudash was shaken up but uninjured.

Provincial Constables D. W. Coffey and Charles W. Tutton investigated.

CALLED TO TORONTO

Rev. C. C. Boyter, now of Brantford and formerly of Park Street Baptist Church, has accepted a call to Parkdale Baptist Church in Toronto, and will take over his duties there March 1. Before going to Calvary Baptist Church in Brantford 6½ years ago, he held charges in Walkerton, Thorold, and Peterborough. He is president of the Ministers' Conference and vice-chairman of the Home Mission Board of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec.

Freezing Rain Ties Up Cars

Sunday night's freezing rain was the indirect cause of a $100 motor vehicle accident near Fraserville.

Dr. E. J. Garfat of Peterborough was driving north on Highway 28 at about 8 p.m. when he started over the brow of a hill, slightly more than a mile south of Fraserville. As he topped the hill he noticed four cars in the ditch, all within a distance of 500 feet.

He immediately applied the brakes to avoid becoming involved and another northbound car, this one driven by Gerald Farrar of Trenton, crashed into the rear of the dentist's vehicle.

Dr. Garfat's car was knocked into the ditch but was undamaged while Farrar's sustained about $100 damage.

Provincial Constables Roy Feeley and Joseph Hanson investigated.

DIES IN TORONTO

Edward Blake Smith, 76, former traveller for J. M. Schneiders of Kitchener, died at his home in Toronto Saturday. He was employed by the Kitchener firm for 20 years before retirement a few years ago. A native of Brighton, he is survived by his widow, the former Jean Douglas Milis of Barrie.

Peterboro Sailor Acclaimed For His Act of Heroism When Sub Explodes In Arctic

When a U.S. Navy experimental submarine exploded below the Greenland Sea, 400 miles north of the Arctic Circle last summer, one of the greatest acts of heroism recorded in the annals of the American Navy was performed by Norman Walker of Peterborough, a former pupil of Sacred Heart and St. Peter's Schools. The submarine was the Cochino in which for 14 hours, the crew, burnt and gassed, fought explosions, fire and a raging storm before abandoning ship with a loss of seven lives and a cost to the U.S. Government of $7,000,000. The rescue ship was the U.S. submarine Tusk, also serving in the same area as an experimental station and among its crew was Norman Walker.

In a report of the terrifying incident presented by the commanders of the two submarines, Walker is listed with a small group of other men as a hero of the rescue.

For Walker this was the second test of endurance at sea. When his ship was torpedoed by an enemy submarine in the Indian Ocean during the war, he was adrift in a life boat for 10 days after being fired at by machine guns.

The trouble in the Cochino started when the submarine was being tossed by high waves in a polar gale. Hydrogen, one of the most dangerous gasses when confined in a small space, started generating in the battery and before long, caused an explosion.

Men from the control room rushed out yelling "fire". The submarine was quickly brought to the surface and a message sent three miles away to the Tusk. In addition to combating explosions and fire on the ship, there was the relentless gale to contend with. The Cochino rolled and pitched.

Commander Rafael Benitez, captain of the submarine, took his command station at the weather bridge. Icy waves spouted over the bridge, the commander's vision was obstructed by fog and he could not use his glasses because of the spray.

The fire was in the After Battery, smoke and heat had driven everyone out of the compartment and CO-two fire extinguishers were thrown in.

By this time gas had knocked a number of the crew unconscious. Reports came from aft that another explosion could be expected at any moment.

Eight Men Gassed

The conning tower was lashed open and the crew began to come up above, bringing the unconscious gas victims onto the freezing deck. There were eight gassed men, exposed to the elements of the Arctic region but in time, they responded to artificial respiration and regained consciousness.

It was an odd assortment of men that came out into the storm. Some had been sleeping and had no alternative than to rush up without putting on their top clothes. They shivered in their underclothes.

The men, crowded on top deck, were lashed to the superstructure and the waves rose over them. Suddenly the cry "man overboard" was heard and a crew member was seen in the icy water.

NORMAN WALKER

Another member of the crew went after him and managed to bring him alongside the submarine but by that time, was too weak to complete the rescue. So a third man went overboard and the three were brought to safety.

Family Of Eight Hurt In Car Crash

CORNWALL, Jan. 16 (CP) — Eight members of a Cornwall family were injured Sunday when their auto collided with another on the eastern outskirts of the city.

Gordon Hall, the driver, suffered a fractured right knee cap. His wife suffered a broken right leg and their nine-year-old son, William fractured his right thigh. He was hurled through the windshield.

Five other children including a month-old baby suffered cuts and bruises but were allowed to go home.

Police said the driver of the other car, Ivan Feldman of Montreal, was not injured.

8 Killed By Streetcar

PRAGUE, Jan 16—(AP). —At least eight persons were reported killed Sunday night when a street car running down hill crashed into a building. The tram plunged into a food store which was closed at the time.

Miss Mary Murty Aged 91 Died On Sunday

Last member of an old Peterborough family of which she was an only daughter, Miss Mary Ann Murty died late Sunday night at her home, 380 Brock St.

In her 91st year, Miss Murty was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Murphy who had lived for a time in Rochester, N.Y., after coming from Ireland, and then moved to Peterborough about the year 1855.

Father Lost His Life

Mr. Murty lost his life in an accident at Omemee when his son James was about 12 years old. It is related that he was interested in a farm property in the vicinity of that village. When he arrived there he found that the owner had fallen into a well. Mr. Murty climbed down into it in attempted rescue, but both men died.

The Murty family lived for years on Elm St., in the west end of city, but since 1908 the home of Miss Murty was at 380 Brock St., west of Downie St., a striking old gabled house that is said to have been built by a man named Hill, patterned after a much larger residence in England, the memory of which had remained with him.

Two Brothers Merchants

The Murty family is particularly recalled in two of the sons who were in business for years on Hunter St. Mr. Anthony J. Murty carried on a cigar factory, and James Murty was a hardware merchant on the north side of Hunter St., in the premises occupied by some time by Cherney Bros.

The brothers who preceded Miss Murty in death were: Anthony J., James J., Michael J. and Charles P. Surviving her are the children of her brother Charles who moved to Buffalo in 1915. Her nephews and nieces living in Buffalo and vicinity are: Michael J., John J., William C., Anthony J., Mrs. Albert (Mary) Kraus; Mrs. Ann Lapp; and Mr. Edward J. Murty of Kenmore, N.Y. Another nephew, James J. Murty, died last May in Buffalo.

The Murty family was prominent in Peterborough for many years in which they lived here, and especially in the west end of the city, apart from their business interests.

The late James Murty died six years ago at the age of 90. His home was equipped with the first pipe organ brought to Peterborough.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 9.45 a.m. from 380 Brock St. to St. Peter's Cathedral for requiem mass at 10 a.m. Interment will be at St. Peter's Cemetery.

G. S. Matthews 23rd Year Utilities Head

Beginning his 25th year as a member of the Utilities Commission, Gordon S. Matthews has been continuously chairman for 23 of those years. He was re-appointed at the Friday meeting of the commission by his two associates, George A. Macdonald and Fred Hills, who respectively moved and seconded the re-electing motion.

Mr. Matthews was first elected to the commission in 1926 for a three-year term, and in Jan., 1928, he was named chairman. There has been no break in Mr. Matthews' long service on the commission, and successively each year he has been retained in the chairmanship.

Election to the commission is for a three-year term. At the end of last December, Mr. Matthews completed his eighth term for a total of 24 years. This month he began his ninth term, which does not expire until the end of 1952. By that time he will have been a commissioner 28 years.

Forerunner of the Utilities was the Water Commission, which was organized in 1902, with the late T. Frank Matthews as chairman. In 1914 it was expanded into its present form and scope by the acquisition of the electrical departent. Mr. Matthews remained chairman from 1902 until 1919, a span of 18 years, five years less than the present service of his son.

W. H. Moore, KC, was chairman in 1920; Robert Hicks, 1921-24; Ernest F. Mason, 1925-26; W. H. Bradburn, 1927, and G. S. Matthews, 1928-50.

Of the 49 years since the institution of a commission to manage Peterborough's public utilities, the chairmanship has been occupied all but eight years by father and son, the late Frank Matthews and his son Gordon.

Papers To Get More Advertising Survey Says

TORONTO, Jan. 16 — (CP) — Indications are that daily newspapers will receive a considerable proportion of increased expenditures which many national advertisers are planning for 1950.

This is the forecast of "Marketing," weekly publication for advertising and sales executives, based on reports from more than 200 advertisers.

Of those responding to a questionnaire asking if they planned to spend more, the same or less in advertising in the next 12 months, 49.6 per cent said more, 39.7 per cent the same, 5.8 per cent less, and 4.9 per cent were undecided.

Other media to share in larger budgets will include direct mail, magazines, weekend papers, trade papers, radio and farm papers.

Increased expenditure will buy more space as well as take care of increased costs of engravings and other production materials and services.

Industrialist F. E. Robson Dies

TORONTO, Jan. 16 — (CP) — Frederick E. Robson, 66, industrialist and founder of fraternal movements, died Saturday.

Founder of what later became the Loblaw Chain Stores in Toronto, Mr. Robson also established the Big Brother movement, the Men of the Trees Society in Canada and the Canadicraft Society.

He was president of both the Big Brother and Men of the Trees organizations for years. At his death he was president of Robson Oil Company of Bowling Green, Ky., and of the English-Speaking Union.

Born in Lindsay, he was a merchandising counsel for firms in England, where he lived for 12 years. In 1937 he was awarded the Coronation Medal for his public services.

His widow survives.

Huge Douglas Fir Unloaded In London

LONDON, Jan. 16 — (CP). — A giant Douglas fir, gift of British Columbia to the London County Council, was unloaded Sunday from a ship in the Thames and will eventually become a flagpole near the County Hall. The pole, 108 feet long, with a diameter of 37 inches at the butt and 19 inches at the top, weighs six tons and contains 461 cubic feet of timber.

New Assistant Leader For Mission Band

MILLBROOK, Jan. 16 (ENS) — St. Andrew's United Church Mission Band met in the Sunday Schoolroom on Thursday with the new president, Alice Hawkins, in the chair and 31 children present.

Helen Ingham lighted the candles for the worship service.

Dorothy Ball, the new secretary, read a letter from Mrs. W. E. Ball, St. Petersburg, Florida, thanking the children for remembering her at Christmas.

A letter from Mrs. G. A. Spicer, chair leader, thanking the children for their help with the music of the Christmas service was read by Mrs. Arnold Fallis.

Frances Dawson, on behalf of the band, welcomed the new leader, Mrs. Cecil Ferguson, who is assisting Mrs. Fallis.

Mrs. Ferguson told the children a story from the story book, "The Flying Umbrella."

Elinore Crowly, the hostess, passed candy.

Toast Of Paris 50 Yrs. Gives Show In Canada

PARIS, Jan. 16 — (CP). — Perennially youthful Mistinguette, whose legs have been the toast of Paris for more than 50 years, will tour Canada this spring.

Winding up last week a seven-month run in "Paris S'Amuse," she plunged into preparation for the Canadian show.

"How long will the show last?" she laughed. "Why, as long as it draws crowds, of course. Then I am going to New York in another tour."

Born Jeanne Bourgeois, only recently did Mistinguette "admit" that guesses about her age were close at 65. Even her friends say she is erring in her favor. "To give a woman 15 more years than she has—that is naughty," maintains one vivacious trooper.

Hopes To Settle Stalin Score Says Welshman

LONDON, Jan. 16—(CP)—A working-class Welshman who became a power in Britain's Labor Party hopes to settle an old score with Joseph Stalin at next month's general election.

The Welshman is Morgan Phillips, 46, secretary of the Labor Party. Four years ago he headed a five-man British delegation to Russia. In a conversation at the Kremlin, Stalin told him Russia couldn't get excited about British Socialism because it wouldn't last.

Stalin said Winston Churchill would soon be back in power. Phillips, organizer of Labor's triumph at the polls in 1945, replied that the Conservatives were finished for at least a decade.

Today, naturally enough, Phillips still thinks he was right and Stalin wrong. Campaign organizers, unlike some football coaches, seldom issue melancholy statements. Thus it is Phillips' confident prediction that Labor will make it two straight in the Feb. 23 ballot.

Climbs Hard Way

Phillips was born in Aberdare, Wales. Like so many present leaders of the Labor Party, he became a pitboy while still in his teens; at 19 he headed a 12-mile march by unemployed miners to obtain food and clothing for their families; at 24 he went to a Labor college with a suit bought, his biographers say, with proceeds of a penny collection among the miners of Rhymney Valley.

Asked whether these sentimental stories weren't laid on a little thickly, Phillips smiled and said: "What happened was that I won a scholarship and my mates gave me a suit as a presentation. You have to allow for a little journalistic latitude."

College Liberals Quit Debate

TORONTO, Jan. 16 — (CP).—The University of Toronto Debating Union's Mock Parliament will sit as scheduled next Thursday in the Ontario Legislature But it will be held without representation of the campus Liberal Association.

The University Liberal Association Saturday resigned as "Government" for the forthcoming session after a telephone consultation with the Rev. C. M. Davies, Speaker of the Ontario Legislature. Mr. Davies had earlier barred controversial political subjects for debate by the Mock Parliament, and refused to relax his ruling when appealed to by the Liberal Association.

The campus Liberals had proposed two Bills for debate—one dealing with legal education, and the other calling for immediate repeal of Ontario's Charitable Gifts Act. Speaker Davies ruled the latter Bill out of order.

The University CCF Party will be invited to take over as government, said Debates Chairman Dave Quigley.

Kills Photographer

BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 16 (AP) —A scarred prowler killed Ben Swan, a photographer, and severely wounded two women Sunday night at Swan's home in Tonawanda, police said. The killer escaped. Swan's wife, Grace, and their married daughter, Mrs. Ladonna Davis, were taken to hospital. They were reported in critical condition.

Debts May Buy New Embassies

OTTAWA, Jan. 16 (CP) — Some of the funds owing Canada by European countries may be used to purchase embassies for Canadian representatives abroad, it was learned Saturday.

A government source said the purchase of buildings was only one of the uses to which the funds may be put.

France, Belgium, Luxembourg, Norway, Denmark, Greece, Yugoslavia, and Italy all owe Canada money for supplies furnished civilian population during the Second World War.

James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott and C. L. Read of the Finance Department have left for Europe to negotiate settlement of the debts.

France owes $12,000,000; Belgium, $8,000,000; Luxembourg, $439,000; Norway, $1,700,000; Denmark, $585,000; Greece, $612,000; Yugoslavia, $226,000; and Italy, $28,000,000. Holland owed some $14,000,000 but this claim has already been settled.

The government source said that one way of settling the debts might be to purchase embassies to replace the rented quarters of Canadian representatives abroad.

No building would be accepted if investigation showed that it would be uneconomical to run.

No final decision has been reached as to where embassy buildings will be purchased.

Fire Sweeps Church

CARLETON PLACE, Ont., Jan. 16 (CP)—Fire Sunday razed the roof and interior walls of Zion United Church, causing damage estimated at more than $50,000. The fire burned a gaping hole in the roof of the church—one of two United Churches in this town 27 miles southwest of Ottawa—and destroyed the main arches in the roof.

Uniform Procedure

TORONTO, Jan. 16 (CP) — A plan to have all Ontario municipalities adopt a uniform assessment procedure is reported in the final stage of study by the Ontario government. Mining Industry To Tell Romantic Story

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The romantic story of Canadian mining will come alive for a few days in Toronto in March.

Figures already almost legendary will "walk out of the pages of history" into the Convention Hall of the Prospectors and Developers Association's annual meeting, to celebrate a half-century of progress.

They will be celebrating an industry which has poured almost untold millions into Canadian life, adding to the pay cheques and prosperity of virtually every one in one way or another; which still is growing and producing at a rate close to $100,000,000 yearly.

They will be celebrating it while many of those who made the industry are still alive. For, as Mrs. Viola MacMillan, president of the asscciation, puts it:

"It is far from generally realized that many of the old-timers who staked out great mines and pushed back our frontiers, are still hale and hearty today. This can't be said of the mining industry of any other nation.

Federal and provincial governments are fully co-operating in our plans to stage the most colorful, productive gathering of our mining history. Pioneer prospectors from all over Canada will be present, and the association is scouring the industry for old photographs and maps."

Looking Ahead In Ottawa

Former Ontario Teacher To Head UN Delegation

OTTAWA, Jan. 16—(CP)—A former Ontario teacher will probably become a temporary head of Canada's delegation to the United Nations. The External Affairs Department is expected to name John Holmes, 39, present head of the U.N. division at departmental headquarters, to the post. He would succeed Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton whose term as delegation chief formally ended Dec. 31 but who will carry on until about the end of the month in an acting capacity.

Mr. Holmes, once a teacher at Pickering College, Newmarket, Ont., took over the U.N. division at headquarters about a year ago. He is not expected to succeed Gen. McNaughton on a permanent basis, probably acting until a permanent choice is made.

He studied at the Universities of Western Ontario and Toronto, and was National Secretary of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs before joining the Department in 1943. He has served in London and Moscow.

Copyright Fees

The three-man Copyright Appeal Board has set Jan. 20 as the date for hearing the annual representations on fees to be charged radio stations, orchestras, theatres and other establishments for the use of work of Canadian authors and composers.

The fees are charged and collected by the Composers, Arthurs and Publishers Association of Canada Limited. Some of the returns are paid as royalties to the authors and composers of the songs, music, plays or movies.

The fees are fixed annually but usually vary little from year to year. They are reviewed each time by the Copyright Appeal Board, headed by Mr. Justice J. T. Thorson, President of the Exchequer Court. The board's Decision usually is reserved for two or three weeks while it studies the representations made and the fees to be charged for the year.

This year as in the past, radio stations will be charged a lump sum based on the number of licensed radio receiving sets in Canada.

Selective Marriages

TORONTO, Jan. 16 (CP)—Dr. Ronald Aylmer Fisher of Cambridge University, British authority on genetics, Saturday said he favors selective marriages and urged intelligent parents to raise large families. He told an interviewer that selective marriages, in which each partner chooses the other on grounds of both intelligence and physical attractiveness, are bound to produce the most desirable children.

Plane Real Boon For Prospecting On Prairie Farm

REGINA — (CP) — Not every prospector's course can attract a flying farmer as a student. But the one put on here by the Saskatchewan department of mines did just that.

When the course opened, O Beamish of Marshall, 385 miles northwest of Regina, flew down from his 745-acre grain farm and took his place among his fellow "skyline prospectors."

His interest in prospecting and geology stems from the rocks he has found from time to time on his farm. Flying trips through the province's wild north country have added to his interest.

He has been flying for the last three years, and says now he could never again farm without an aircraft.

"It's like being in jail and having a key to your cell," is the way he puts it.

Since acquiring his plane, he has surmounted such obstacles as snow and bad roads. It saves him time, too.

During this year's harvest, the main jet in his diesel tractor broke down. To have had parts delivered from North Battleford the nearest source, would have meant the loss of at least 24 hours.

Instead, Mr. Beamish flew up at dawn, had the part back and the tractor working in the fields by 10 a.m. and 1,500 bushels harvested by the end of the day.

"I get more fun out of flying than out of golf or any other game, and on the prairies it is as safe as driving along a highway," he says.

HEADING WEST—Dr. Stanley Smith, president of the University of Toronto, leaves soon for a western trip highlighted by alumni functions in Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver and Victoria.

Suggest Changes In Playoff Rule

REGINA, Jan. 16—(CP)—The Western Interprovincial Football Union has revamped the playoff pattern for next season and recommended several changes in rules. Te recommendations will go before the Canadian Rugby Union at its annual meeting in Winnipeg next month.

The WIFU, which held its annual meeting here during the weekend, will prepare a schedule calling for seven home games, each counting two points. The playoff will be a three-game affair rather than the two-game, total-point series played in 1949.

Clubs finishing second and third respectively will play a sudden-death game Oct. 28. The second-place team will have choice of venue. The top team and the winner of the Oct. 28 game will play off Nov. 4, 11 and 13.

The WIFU decided to recommend to the CRU that the limit of five American imports carried by league teams stand for the 1950 season, rejecting the proposal of president Ralph Meisner and past president Eddie Armstrong of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers that the limit be raised to seven.

Warehouse Burns

CAMPBELLTON, N.B., Jan. 16 (CP) — The Imperial Oil Company's warehouse, office and sheds here were in ruins Sunday night after a $60,000 fire had burned for 18 hours. A gale blew flames toward huge gasoline tanks but these were saved, averting a serious explosion.

Stab Educationists

MANILA, Jan. 16 (AP) — The spear-pierced bodies of Dr. Robert F. Conklin and Prof. Marvin Pittman have been found in a canyon in the Ifugaro region of Northern Luzon. United States air force men who reported the find today said the two American educationists apparently had been stabbed to death around Christmas.

Experts Develop Using Radar As Safety Agent

By WILLIAM BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MALVERN, England, —(CP)— New uses for radar, now employed principally in air and sea navigation, are reported by the Tele-communications Research Establishment here.

It now may be used to detect clouds dangerous to aircrafts, measure wind speed and direction, investigate possibilities of rainfall and distinguish between continuous pack ice and which has reformed after being broken.

The ice-discrimination technique, which will be of use to ice breakers in Canada, was developed by the Swedish Defence Research Institute in the Arctic, and made available to Malvern in an exchange of information.

The Swedes found that smooth continuous ice gives no radar echoes, while the rough surface of once-broken ice gives reflections, even when covered with loose snow.

As reformed ice is more easily broken than the continuous kind, ice breakers will be able to choose lines of least resistance in plowing packs open.

Singapore Experiments

A cloud-detection apparatus has been developed for aircraft, based on experiments around Singapore. Scientists thereobserved cloud formations associated with heavy rainfalls and violent convection currents—combinations dangerous to aircrafts.

Aircraft equipped with the device can spot dangerous clouds 40 miles distant, while land stations can give warning of the approach of clouds 150 miles away.

For jet aircraft, which fly at great heights, data of wind speed and directions at those levels are important Technicians, drawing on wartime radar equipment which automatically trained anti-aircraft weapons on approaching planes, have devised means of supplying the information.

Releasing weather balloons to which small radio sets are attached; their ground radar stations automatically trace the balloons' course for upwards of 100 miles in the upper regions, recording direction and speed.

The Malvern staff observes that an increasing number of new uses are to be expected for radar, but that even so its value as a safety agent is not being fully exploited. Otherwise, they say, there still would not be instances of air crashes into mountains or cliff-sides through the crews being ignorant of their location.

A Record Flight

HALIFAX, Jan. 16 (CP) — An RCAF four-engine North Star transport plane landed at nearby Dartmouth airport Sunday, completing a 2,785-mile flight from Vancouver in eight hours and 25 minutes, said to be a record for a Canadian non-stop coast-to-coast hop.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

At Paisley, Scotland, Edmonton Mercurys wrested an 8-5 victory from Paisley Pirates on Saturday night to wind up their tour of Scotland with nary a loss. The Mercurys' previous victories were over Falkirk Lions, Ayr Raiders, and Dundee Tigers. Today the Edmonton squad, Canada's entry in the world championships, open their English exhibition tour at Nottingham.

Right wing Bob David led the Mercurys' attack against Paisley outfit with a brace of goals. Other counters were netted by Harry Allen, Doug Macauley, Bob Watt, Hassie Young, Marsh Darling, and Don Gauf. The strength of the Paisley attack apparently surprised the Mercurys, who found the Scottish team had four Edmonton players.

Grant Watson's Winnipeg curling foursome Saturday night each won a new car in the fourth annual automobile bonspiel at Nipawin, Sask., defeating Jimmy Welsh's Winnipeg rink 8-6. The win gave Watson the best-of-three final 3-2 in games. Welsh won the opener Friday night 9-8 and Watson came back with a 9-6 triumph Saturday afternoon. The Watson rink had Jimmy Guy of Kenora, Ont., skipping; Grant Watson at third, Dr. Gordon Dyker of Prince Albert, Sask., at second, and Charlie Read of Winnipeg at lead. For three members of the Watson rink it was their second car triumph in four years of automobile curling at Nipawin. Watson, Guy, and Dr. Dyker were on the rink that won the autos here in 1948. Prize for the runner-up rink was a diamond ring each.

At Agua Caliente, Mexico, an apprentice jockey, billed as a substitute for the great Johnny Longden, Sunday defeated Mrs. Wantha Davis in a match horse race here. Glen Lasswell, San Ysidro, Calif., youngster, booted Powrie, a five-year-old gelding, home 3½ lengths ahead of Mrs. Davis' Pleezwynne, a four-year-old filly. Time for the six furlongs on th muddy track was 1:12. Mrs. Davis, a veteran of county fair and bush track riding, defeated Longden in a match race here a month ago.

Jimmy McCaffrey said Sunday night Ottawa Rough Riders have an "open mind" on the question of a longer schedule for the interprovincial Football Union. McCaffrey, manager of the Rough Riders, declined further comment on the proposal of Lew Hayman, Montreal Alouettes coach, for the addition of six games to the schedule.

The Assumption College Purple Raiders trimmed University of Toronto Senior Blues 60-48 at Toronto Saturday in an exhibition basketball game. The Windsor, Ont. squad pulled into a lead shortly after the first tip-off and was never headed after that.

Gertrude (Gussie) Moran, United States net star, Sunday downed her compatriot, Mrs. Pat Todd 6-1, 4-6, 6-1, to win the final of the women's [illegible] the Northern India lawn tennis championships at New Delhi.

Mrs. Jackie Robinson, wife of the Brooklyn Dodger second baseman, gave birth to a six pound, three ounce daughter Friday night at New York. The newcomer has a three year old brother.

At Butte, Mont., Dean Griffing, former Western Canada football player and coach, Sunday night was reported recovering from injuries suffered in an automobile collision. His four year old daughter also is still in hospital but his wife has been discharged. Griffing, 36, lives in Calgary.

Providence Reds Snatch Lead

By The Canadian Press.

American Hockey League cards stacked up today after a weekend of wild shuffling show Providence Reds back on top of the eastern division and Cleveland Barons sporting a 17-point lead in the western division.

The Reds came through with a double win to give them a margin of three points over Buffalo Bisons who were defeated 5-2 on Saturday by Pittsburgh Hornets and edged 3-2 Sunday by Hershey Bears Zelio Toppassinni gave Hershey the triumph on a freak third period goal.

Saturday, St. Louis Flyers bowed to the defending champions 5-2 and the cellar dwelling Cincinnati Mohawks lost to the Reds 6-2 Sunday.

Cleveland polished off their closest rivals Saturday by thumping Indianapolis Capitals 10-0 before a home crowd of 10,318, largest this season in the league. It was goalie Johnny Bower's third shut out of the campaign.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Left-winger Ted Lindsay of Detroit Red Wings added three assists during the week-end to remain in the National Hockey League's individual scoring top spot for the 10th consecutive week.

Lindsay now also leads the assists division with 29, two more than Chicago's Doug Bentley who held that honor for several weeks. Lindsay's assists and 17 goals gave him a total of 46 points.

Teammate Sid Abel picked up two goals during the week-end to bring his total to 43. Montreal's Maurice Richard is third with 37 and Roy Conacher of Chicago is fourth with 36. Tied in fifth place with 35 each are Paul Ronty of Boston, Chicago's Doug Bentley and Gordie Howe, Detroit.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts
Lindsay, Detroit	17	29	46
Abel, Detroit	21	22	43
Richard, Montreal	25	12	37
R. Conacher, Chicago	15	21	36

Named Vice-President

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP) — Cluett, Peabody and Company Sunday announced Gerald E Amerman, assistant general works manager at Troy, N.Y. had been named vice-president and managing director of Cluett, Peabody and Company of Canada. He will make his headquarters in Toronto.

Slang, Idioms Difficult For Newcomers

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—A belief that "the whole English language is turning to slang, idioms and similes" has prompted a young displaced person in Lethbridge to write a book entitled "To Coin a Phrase."

In the foreword, 27-year-old Vojislav Miljevic, says:

The book "is meant to meet one of the greatest educational needs of immigrants in the English-speaking countries. New words, idioms and similes have been added to practically every language down through the ages, but the English language, more than any other, seems to be turning to idioms, particularly in the last 15 years. These are continually adding to the color of the language but at the same time necessitate a close study of all these additions."

The former Yugoslav guerrilla, now a department store clerk, has put 3,000 idioms and 900 similes in his book, written in English and Yugoslavian. They are drawn from law, business, romance, sport, the Bible and intent listening to all conversation. All are easily understood by Canadians but newly-arrived immigrants find them hard to grasp.

Some examples of idioms contained in the book are "make one's hair stand on end," "wash one's dirty linen in public," "rub the wrong way," and "laugh up one's sleeve."

Miljevic's book is the result of countless evenings of sweating over a strange language on his second-hand typewriter in a cramped room.

"Good usage in speaking and writing is a goal toward which all of us should be constantly striving," he says. "A study of English idioms, slang and similes will tend to make our vocabulary more vigorous and colorful."

Describes Crash

WATSON LAKE, Y.T. Jan. 16 (CP)—A United States air force flier, Lieut. John M. Fitzpatrick of Dayton O., Sunday described the dizzy crash of a jet plane as "just like a doggone long toboggan ride." His aircraft crashed last week 44 miles west of this Yukon settlement, skidding a mile down the Alaska highway before coming to a halt.

Their Own Find

ADELAIDE, Australia —(CP)— Last December D. Ellery and R. Evans spotted an island of about 100 square miles while making an aerial survey of Lake Eyre, in South Australia. They named it Ellery-Evans Island.

EXPELLED BY CZECHS—Lottie Levinson, of Vancouver, a welfare worker, has been ordered out of Czechoslovakia along with other employees of the American Joint Distribution Committee. The Czech government gave no reason for the order.

Thrift Lasted Even In Death

CAMBERLEY, Surrey, Eng. (CP)—Lt.-Col. Francis David Behrend was thrifty.

The 82-year-old retired officer lived by himself, darned his own socks, took care of the housework.

His will directed his body be cremated "and my ashes left in the furnace or cast on the dust heap."

His death disclosed his thriftiness was entirely voluntary. He left £46,946 ($145,532)—all to his great-niece, Mrs. Valerie Gordon.

"I thought he was a poor old man," said the surprised Mrs. Gordon.

Costly Throw

AMERSHAM, Buckinghamshire, England—(CP)—An empty condensed milk tin, tossed down a manhole, blocked the entire local drainage system. Repairs cost £500 ($1,550).

HILL-CREST CHICK PRICES REDUCED!

DON'T PANIC—READ ON!

To Our Customers And Others—

"IT'S CONFIDENCE THAT DOES IT"

Notwithstanding present prices, we still believe that in the over-all picture, eggs will be eggs in 1950.

At "Hill-Crest therefore, we are planning to hatch good chicks as usual and filling our pens to capacity with productive fall layers from those breeds and strains that have consistently, year after year, given us and our customers satisfactory production.

To do this with confidence, we again have mated our Government-banded and blood-tested White Leghorn (Hollywood) and R.I. Red (Parmenter) females with selected Hatchery Approved and R.O.P. quality males. In addition, this year, in response to a very popular demand for a vigorous, heavier bodied bird with characteristic Leghorn and R.I.R. laying qualities, we are mating sturdy pure (in-bred) R.I.R. males with big-egg 2-year-old pure (Hollywood) Leghoorn females. This cross has proved very popular of late years, both in U.S. and Canada, as prolific layers of big eggs, as well as bringing better prices when marketed.

From reliable hatchery reports: As yet few early chicks have been sold, therefore, for the man who buys good chicks NOW, feeds good feeds, and exercises good management, again we say for him, 1950 can still be at least a normal year.

We already have several good unsolicited orders from satisfied customers, some of whom have been buying "Hill-Crest" chicks continuously for 15 and even 20 years. We advise getting your chick order in NOW.

As we still have a good market for our A-1 carton eggs, this year we will SET ONLY TO ORDER, not subject to cancellation later. We appreciate the continued patronage we have received from friends throughout the years and can assure new buyers you will find "Hill-Crest" chicks and service right. To our customers with quality eggs, wishing to ship direct, we can supply you with good new cases, Keyes trays, and a market for 50 new shippers that will bring you much higher returns for your eggs. Inquire.

Although we have been facing continually rising costs in our hatchery operation, we have made no advances in chick prices since pre-war days. At this time, however, in the face of a national emergency to egg-producers, while we realize that the initial price of the chick bears little relation to its total cost of development, we have decided for this year at least, as a gesture of good will and encouragement to those chick buyers who wish to stay in, to reduce the price of our high quality Canada Approved, day-old mixed chicks by 2c per chick (all-breeds), 4c per pullet ($44.00 actually saved the Feb. 14th purchaser of 1,100 R.I.R. pullets) in the hope that further economy may be fostered in the cost of feeds, poultry services and equipment

Assuring you of our willingness to give you, as poultrymen, our assistance in every way possible at this time, we remind you that Canada will buy over $300,000,000 worth of eggs this year, if available. To get your share of this valuable market, buy chicks. Don't wait for our circular—order now.

Sincerely,

HILL-CREST POULTRY FARM — G. A. Brethen and L. R. McMillan, Proprietors.

Peterobro Sailor Acclaimed

Next came the second explosion, convulsing the ship from stem to stern, and it was not long before the commander knew his submarine was in grave danger of sinking.

Down below there was trouble in the battery room and some one was needed to pull the switches. This was a suicidal job.

But Lt. Commander Wright got into the rescue breathing apparatus, sprang to the door and grabbed the quick-opening lever. He jumped back. The hot metal had burnt his hands through his protective gloves.

A hollow boom like a small explosion echoed from the battery room but he had not yet managed to open the door. He tried again and as the door sprung open, the gas was released followed by billows of thick black smoke.

He went in through the smoke and as he put his hands out to pull the switches he saw a brilliants white flash which immediately turned orange and then he felt himself struck in the body by a great hammer and battered through space. He was lying on deck almost naked. All his clothes except his shoes had been burnt off and other members of the party were also burnt.

Only parts of Wright which was not burnt were his face and chest. Four others had their hair burnt off, their faces blistered and the skin loosened from their hands, like gloves. They all rested in bunks, the blankets pressing painfully against their burns.

By this time the Tusk was closing in and preparing to send a rubber boat with medical supplies. Ensign John Shelton and a civilian electronics expert, Robert Philo were to ride the rubber boat back to the Tusk, to tell of the plight of the maimed submarine.

After waiting to catch a lull between the huge waves, the two set off, surf riding fashion. The waves which they had expected to recede, deceived them and kept rising, lifting the Cochino with it.

Peterborough Man Helps

Seaman Norman Walker of Peterborough, lowered himself over the side of the Tusk and secured a line round Philo's waist. A wave rocked the ship, Philo was rescued but Shelton was thrust back into the sea. He was quickly rescued, however. The two men were safe.

But at this point anothe rhuge wave broke over the foc'sle against the port life lines. All the men in the rescue party were swept overboard. The one-and-one-half inch steel stanchions which supported the life lines were sheared off at the base.

Eleven Tusk men held hands in a circle in the water so as to stay together. Philo, unconscious, had disappeared. The sea was too rough for them to avoid dragging one another under and so they released hands and the wind and sea scattered them.

A message came through from Commander Benitiez that he might have to abandon ship.

During the next two hours Commander Robert Worthington, skipper of the Tusk, directed operations to rescue the men overboard. Five were ultimately brought on board. The other seven were lost.

The men on the Cochini had seen the Tusk move away, not knowing however, that she was rescuing her own men. Commander Benitiez was the last to leave and no sooner had he set foot aboard the Tusk than the plank fell between the two ships.

The Cochino was lost but the crew was safe.

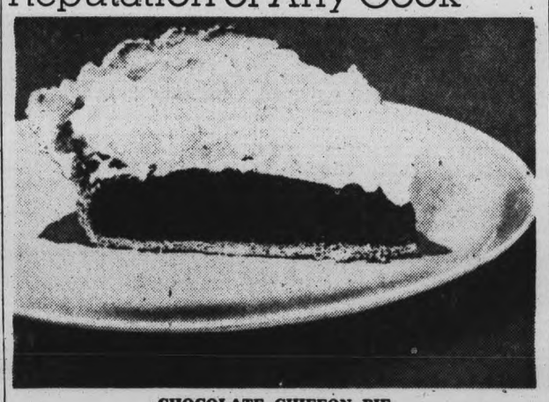
Adrift Ten Days

When Walker risked his own life to save that of a fellow sailor he knew the feeling of being abandoned in mid-ocean. When his ship was torpedoed in the Indian Ocean during the war, he had no rescuer for ten days. He had managed to get into a life boat, but the enemy submarine fired machine guns at the survivors, whose only cover was the small boats.

He and his comrades got out of the small boats and sheltered under them until the submarine fired at them. At night, when the enemy had departed, they got back into their craft and found bullet holes in every seat. One of the water tanks had been hit.

There had been several lifeboats in the sea, but when the submarine had finished firing, only Walker and 24 others in one small boat had survived.

These men were 300 miles from Bombay. On a daily ration of two ounces each of water, some malted milk tablets and pemicon they sailed the sea for ten days. The sun was hotter than it has ever shone in Peterborough and all they had to protect them was a large distress flag.



After ten days of alternately rowing and drifting they sighted a British merchant ship. They were picked up and taken to Karachi, about 600 miles from Bombay.

Walker is the son of the late Robert Walker, whose home was 52 Howden Ave., Peterborough, and Mrs. Walker, who recently left this city to live with her daughters in London, Ont.

START MARRIED LIFE IN CANADA—After a visit to Peterborough, last spring, 23-year-old Michael R. Ward of Surrey, Eng., was so impressed with this city he returned home, was married New Year's Eve and arrived in Halifax Thursday aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France. Mr. Ward hopes to open a business here.

Elegant Pies that Boost Reputation of Any Cook

CHOCOLATE CHIFFON PIE

By MARY MOORE

A manufacturer asked me to make up four or five different brands of the ready-mixed pastries that are available these days. I did this and made pie fillings, etc. to go in them and sent them to his plant for his critical inspection.

Meanwhile my family had a hey-day, for Peter never would endure something going on in that kitchen of ours that was not sampled — generously — by him. Marianne made a lemon filling and coyly served the pie she put it in to one of her callow admirers,—and he promptly began to talk about the kind of a home he was going to have when....

Perfect Lemon Pie

One baked pie shell (this is out-of-this-world if you use puff pastry—see elsewhere on this page); 1½ cups sugar less 1 tablespoon, ½ cup flour, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, ½ teaspoon salt, 2¼ cups boiling water, 3 eggs, yolks and whites separated, 7 tablespoons lemon juice, 3 tablespoons finely grated lemon rind, 6 tablespoons sugar (meringue). Mix together in top of the double boiler 1 cup of the sugar, the flour, cornstarch, and salt. Stir into them the boiling water, until thick, over boiling water. Cover and cook 15 minutes Beat the egg yolks with the remaining half cup sugar less 1 tablespoon and gradually pour the hot mixture over them, stirring. Return this all to the double boiler and cook about 5 minutes. Just before removing from the heat add the lemon juice and rind, and, if desired, 3 tablespoons butter. Stir well and cool. Pour into baked shell. Cover with meringue made by beating the remaining egg whites until half stiff, then beat in the 6 tablespoons sugar until stiff Spread in peaks on filling. Bake meringue in oven of 300 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes. (This is just enough for 1 9-inch pie.)

Chocolate Chiffon Pie

(This filling is good in both plain pastry or graham cracker crust shell. The graham cracker crust is fine for those who are not confident of their pastry; furthermore the graham cracker crust pie is improved if made ahead of time, and is good for a meal where time and help are in short supply.)

Three-quarters cup sugar, 4 egg yolks well beaten, ½ cup milk, 2 ounces unsweetened chocolate, ½ tablespoon gelatine, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 egg whites beaten frothy pie shell. Beat 6 tablespoons of the sugar into the yolks. Cook these in double boiler until creamy, stirring constantly. Heat milk with the chocolate shaved into it. Blend these 2 not mixtures, stirring fast. Soak the gelatine in 1 tablespoon cold water for 5 minutes, then dissolve it by stirring into the chocolate-milk mix. Add the vanilla and chill Beat whites with remaining sugar until stiff. Fold them into the chilled chocolate mixture. Pour into baked shell and chill.

Graham Cracker Crust: 1 cup finely rolled and sifted graham crackers, ¼ cup sugar ½ to 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1½ tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons egg white (borrowed from the whites called for in the filling of the pie) Combine the graham cracker crumbs with the sugar cinnamon and salt. Work the butter into them with a wooden spoon until thoroughly mixed. Mix the whites with it and press this into the pie plate to form a lining of uniform thickness, having it smooth and even at the top edge Bake 5 minutes at 350 deg Fahr. It is now ready to fill without further baking.

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

In my interview for today with John Crawford, one of the country's great Canasta players, I asked him "What is one of the most difficult points of strategy to teach the beginner?"

Mr. Crawford replied, "Watching the score." Our interview proceeded as follows:

Question: Give me a specific case to illustrate what you mean by "watching the score?"
